Cong In New Overture To Viet Peace

Six-Month Withdrawal Period In New Proposal

PARIS (AP)—A Viet Cong spokesman said today that if the United States and its allies agreed to an uncondtional withdrawal from Vietnam over a six-month period, the parties would then discuss "guarantees for safety during the withdrawal."

The mentioning of a six-month period was a new element in the Paris peace talks scene but the demand for an unconditional withdrawal—a stumbling block—remained. Previously the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had spoken of a rapid withdrawal over a period of a few months.

The Viet Cong position was put forward by Ly Van Sau at a news conference.

THEN DISCUSSION

He said, "If the United States says that it will unconditionally withdraw all its troops from South Vietnam in a period of six months and the members of the American camp follow suit, the parties will discuss the calendar for the withdrawal and guarantees for security during the withdrawal."

Sau said the United States had the means to rapidly pull out its troops and referred to a statement he attributed to an American commander that a withdrawal could be made in three or four months.

"We give them six months," Sau said. "How can we show a more comprehending attitude? I think this is reasonable."

COULD BENEFIT

Sau suggested that allied troops could benefit from the same "no fire" declaration that the Viet Cong has for Philippine troops who are to leave Vietnam this month. Sau dismissed the contention that the Philippine contingent was not a fighting unit and said they had "committed numerous crimes" under the name of the pacification program.

He went on to say that if the Australian government said it would immediately withdraw its force then "I an certain that our commanders will have a policy of clemency and humanity toward them which would allow them to return to their country rapidly and in conditions of safety." Australia has about 8,000 men in Vietnam.

U.S. Firm On Viet Turnover

PARIS (AP) — In the absence of a breakthrough in the Paris peace talks, the United States looks to Vietnamization as the fastest way to get Americans out of Vietnam and the best way to achieve the U.S. objective there, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today.

At the same time, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told an interviewer here President Richard M. Nixon has no plans for thei mmediate appointment of a successor to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. negotiator in Paris who has quit. Rogers seemed to suggest he saw no prospects at this time for a break in the Paris deadlock.

Laird spoke at a news conference.

"Barring a breakthrough in Paris, for which we all hope, Vietnamization still provides the best and quickest route to achieving our objective," Laird said.

Vietnamization is Nixon's program for turning over to the South Vietnamese military forces the burden of carrying on the fight against the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

Laird contended this provides a means for the orderly disengagement of U.S. troops from combat "without impairing our objective—the right of self-determination of the people of South Vietnam."

He described this as an alternative to a negotiated settlement. He added that in 1970 the United States would pursue

Los Angeles Panthers, Police Stage Shootout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police fired tear gas into Black Panther headquarters for more than four hours today — drawing automatic weapons fire and blasts from homemade grenades — before eight to 10 occupants surrendered.

Three officers were wounded, one critically, at the start of a series of raids aimed at serving warrants in connection with an alleged cache of illegal weapons.

Three of those inside the Panther headquarters were reported injured, none seriously.

A force of 300 officers surrounded the building. Police said two were shot as they first tried to serve a warrant. The other was hit in later gunfire.

A standoff of more than four hours ensued.

The raid was one of three on locations of the militant Negro organization. Police said they had information that machine guns and other weapons had been stored there and they wanted to serve warrants on two persons.

At one point officers issued an ultimatum by bullhorn to those in the headquarters: "Come out with your hands up" or we'll come in." One man came out. Finally the others followed.

The wounded officers were not immediately identified.

One was reported hit in the chest and groin. Another was reported hit in the foot and the third in the leg.

A 16-block area was sealed off during the confrontation. Police deployed themselves along wide, shop-lined Central Avenue and stayed under cover.

The area is south of downtown Los Angeles, near Wrigley Field, former home of the California Angels baseball team. Homes line adjoining streets and residents clustered on lawns to listen to shots and blasts.

About 14 persons were arrested in raids at two other locations, where no resistance was encountered.

"Those guys have automatic weapons and they're throwing grenades," a police inspector told newsmen during the morning.

Officers said that homemade grenades were then tossed toward police from the building, bursting in the street. No one was hurt by the grenades.

A police spokesman said the building had been sandbagged at doors and windows by the Panthers.

A contingent of police blocked off the entire area. Classes were dismissed for the day at a nearby school.

The downtown police building was put under heavy guard. Officers with shotguns were sta-

Neighborhood Peace Walks Planned

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — "Neighborhood peace walks and educational rallies" to rebuff the Nixon administration's contention that the "silent majority" supports its Vietnam War policy will be held Saturday in 14 Marin communities.

Plans for the demonstrations were announced today by three Marin residents who said they thought up the idea to meet the need for the "silent majority" to show it opposes the war policy of the administration.

The three, who appeared at a press conference in the St. Francis Hotel, are Rev. Gene W. Burris, pastor of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church; William M. Taylor of San Anselmo, an investment-insurance broker, and Richard M. Adams of Belvedere, an attorney.

The aim of the demonstrations, Adams said, will be to urge President Richard M. Nixon to make "a clear, unequivocal, irreversible commitment to withdraw all our forces." The timetable of this complete withdrawal would be up to Nixon, he said, adding it should be "as soon as is possible, consistent with the safety of the American troops."

Nixon's speech on the war last month "spoke of peace, but not of taking us out of the war," Admas said. The President mentioned withdrawal only of "ground combat troops," he said, "but the withdrawal should include all support forces, naval and air forces, too."

Adams stressed that it was "more meaningful to stand up in our own community than to bury ourselves in San Francisco among a few hundred thousand people" in massive peace marches.

Burris added that "it's more important for me to be a face than a body. We want him (Nixon) to know we'll no longer be the 'silent majority.'

"A lot of people have a very difficult time disagreeing with their president," he acknowledged, adding he also had been silent until last month, when he led about 130 "middle-class, professional" Sleepy Hollow residents in a community Moratorium Day march.

"Given an opportunity," Burris predicted, "a lot of people will be willing to stand up in their community. I believe most people are pretty disenchanted with the war — they want out of this war, and they want out fast."

He estimated that 2,000 people would attend the 14 rallies.

Taylor termed the trio "all moderates." He said "millions of Americans are too intimidated to oppose the President because it seems to be the unpatriotic thing to do. But it is important to say where we stand. We are hopeful this will have some impact."

Petitions on a letter to the President will be circulated at each rally stating that "leadership doesn't belong to the office of the President alone, and the United States needs to discover that a great nation can face her mistakes.

"Human lives are more importatnt than past commitments that were never intended to stand forever and that certainly have proven to be undesirable for us and the Vietnamese people," the letter declares.

Sirhan Goes On A Hunger Strike In Isolation Protest

The lonely isolation of his special cell on San Quentin's Death Row has apparently got to Sirhan Bishara Sirhan.

Protesting one facet of his severe seclusion, the 25-year-old killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has gone on a hunger strike, according to Associate Warden James W. l. Park.

Since Nov. 28, Sirhan has eaten nothing and has drunk only instant cocoa and coffee, Park said.

Early last month, Sirhan sent Park a note protesting "tyranny, sadism and so-called benevolent despotism." He asked that alight outside his cell be dimmed and that he be permitted to exercise with the other Death Row inmates.

Prison officials put a shade on his light, but refused the second request because there has been at least one threat on his life from within the row, Park said.

Prior to his hunger strike, Sirhan sent another note to Park who is in charge of Death Row. It said, "Fxxx you and your prison. I am going on a hunger strike to protest this Nazi concentration camp-like treatment of yours. Hitler had more mercy than you do."

He also replaced his exercise request with one asking removal of a screen so he could talk more easily with other prisoners.

Sirhan's cell, No. 33, is isolated by two empty cells on either side and two steel mesh screens 15 feet apart between his cell and the corridor. He asked that the screen nearest his cell be removed, Park said.

Park said prison officials are concerned about his safety but Sirhan is not and even offered to sign a waiver taking the ressponsibility on himself.

However, Park said removing the screen would put Sirhan

Tate Grand Jury Hears Lab Expert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles police crime lab specialist was the first of 10 scheduled witnesses to take the stand today in what the district attorney's office hoped will be the final day of a grand jury investigation into the slaying of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

Sgt. M.F. McGann was the lead off witness at 9:37 a.m. in the second day of the grand jury probe which began Friday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron H. Stovitz said he may also call four unidentified female material witnesses, "but only if we get information that they have something to say."

Nixon Is Urged To Name Massacre Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has been urged by two influential Democrats to appoint an independent fact-finding panel to investigate the alleged massacre of civilians by U.S. soldiers at the South Vietnam village of My Lai.

The proposals came separately yesterday from Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stennis said the panel should be composed of persons "outside the government and outside the military" and should survey the March 1968 incident, determine the facts and make a special report to the President.

Humphrey told newsmen the panel should be similar to the Warren Commission, which probed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The former vice president said in Los Angeles "enough has been said that there needs to be an examination."

Stennis said the special panel's probe could be undertaken while trials of the accused are under way.

But the senator spoke against a full-scale congressional investigation, saying "if we in the Congress go to holding a hearing now and before that trial is over, it will go off in different directions, be highly confused and totally unfair to the defendants."

Stennis spoke on the ABC interview program "Issues and Answers."

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in the company which led the assault on My Lai, faces a court-martial on charges of killing 109 Vietnamese civilians. A staff sergeant also is charged with assault to commit murder.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg and a group of jurists Thursday urged Nixon to appoint such a commission. But they suggested the probe go beyond My Lai to the entire area of American conduct in Vietnam.

The Army is investigating the My Lai charges and a special panel headed by Lt. Gen. William Peers is holding closed hearings to determine whether there was a coverup of the incident by military officials in Vietnam.

Secretary of the Army Stanley J. Resor also said yesterday the Army's general counsel is studying two possible ways of trying soldiers who were at My Lai—one by military commission, the other by a general court-martial.

Panel Splits On Kinds Of Disobedience

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bare majority of the National Violence Commission—publicly divided for the first time—condemned today the use of massive civil disobedience as a tactic to change the law.

A six-member minority of th commission—including its two Negroes—contended that the tactic, when practiced without violence, is perhaps the only effective means of overturning unjust laws.

The commission divided over the kinds of disobedience—restaurant sit-ins and violation of segregation laws—that led to enactment of major civil rights legislation in the 1960s.

Speaking for the seven-man majority, Houston attorney Leon Jaworski said its views were a direct result of those instances of disobedience.

Tribunal Upholds Power To Punish Major Drug Sellers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the government's power to punish unregistered sellers of heroin and marijuana.

A 6-2 decision, delivered by Justice Byron R. White, swept away as illogical the argument that sellers are subjected to unconstitutional self-incrimination.

The only danger of incrimination, White said for the court, was to the purchaser who is supposed to obtain an order form from the government.

Since a purchaser is unlikely to do this, White said, "there is no real and substantial possibility" that the seller's name would be given to the government.

Justices William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black dissented. They said that since the government provides order forms only for lawful heroin sales it should not have the power to punish a man for making a sale without such a form.

The ruling, in two related cases, upheld the conviction of James Minor and Michael Buie of New York City. Minor sold unregistered heroin and Buie unregistered marijuana to undercover narcotics agents in separate transactions in 1967.

Last May, in voiding a conviction of drug experimenter Timothy F. Leary, the court held purchasers and importers of marijuana are protected by the

Neighborhood Peace Walks Planned

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — "Neighborhood peace walks and educational rallies" to rebuff the Nixon administration's contention that the "silent majority" supports its Vietnam War policy will be held Saturday in 14 Marin communities.

Plans for the demonstrations were announced today by three Marin residents who said they thought up the idea to meet the need for the "silent majority" to show it opposes the war policy of the administration.

WORK CUT OUT—Piles of debris litter the Altamont Speedway—near Livermore—scene of Saturday's rock concert featuring the Rolling Stones which attracted 300,000. Officials figure it will take a week to clear up the area. (UPI Telephoto)

Aftermath Of West's Biggest Rock Concert: Tons Of Debris

LIVERMORE (UPI) — Tons of debris and a few hundred cleanup volunteers remained today from the biggest one-day musical bash ever held.

Dick Carter, manager of the motorcyle race track where the free concert was given Saturday by the Rolling Stones and 20 other rock groups, figured it would take a least a week to clean up the mess made by 300,000 young rock fans.

Four deaths, two births, hundreds of "bad trips" on drugs, and trouble by "Hell's Angels" motorcycle toughs marred the concert.

"I have about 200 youngsters staying to help me clean up but I could use thousands," Carter said.

Tons of empty wine bottles and garbage were strewn on the hills around the Altamont Speedway, 50 miles southeast of San Francisco.

"My neighbors will probably want to shoot me," Carter said. "I stopped by some people's houses and told them if there was any damage I'd help fix it up. They called me a Communist. You'd think I was Hitler."

Carter had less than 24 hours to prepare for the huge crowd, which also heard such groups as the Jefferson Airplane, Grateful Dead and Santana.

"I expected about 10,000. I was surprised how orderly things went."

John Jaymes, president of Young American Enterprises which promoted the Stones American tour, said the musicians were also "very happy and pleased in the way things went. Particularly how everybody left orderly."

It was doubtful law enforcement officers would agree. Sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen investigated a fatal stabbing, a drowning and two traffic deaths.

Detective Sgt. Bill Foster of the sheriff's office said Meredith Hunter, 18, Berkeley, was stabbed to death in a scuffle near the stage while the Rolling Stones performed. The policeman said Hunter pulled a revolver after five or six "Hell's Angels types" knocked him down.

Witnesses said Hunter was flung to the ground again and when his attackers climbed off he had been stabbed. However, Foster said the witnesses didn't see the knife and couldn't identify the assailants.

An unidentified young man drowned in an irrigation ditch near the race track and two men were killed when a car ran them down as they sat around aroadside campfire after the concert. The driver fled after hitting Richard Salov, 22, and Mark Feiger, 19, both of Berkeley, and seriously injuring another man and a woman.

Thousands got high on wine and drugs openly peddled in the crowd.

A few men and women danced naked in front of the bandstand. One youth on a "bad trip" broke his pelvis after leaping 40 feet off a freeway overpass.

Cars were backed up for 20 miles on the main road from San Francisco and youths hiked up to 10 miles after abandoning their cars.

Writer To Prison

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syria's Supreme State Security Court sentenced a Lebanese journalist, Jalal el-Turk, to six years and three months in prison for spying for Israel. The journalist confessed during his trial to passing information to Israel about Arab guerrilla organizations.

Best Actress

LONDON (UPI) — The British magazine Films and Filming named Shirley MacLaine as its choice for the year's best actress yesterday for her role in "Sweet Charity." It named the movie "True Grit" as the best Western for 1969 and "The Night They Raided Minsky's" as the best comedy.

Sierra Club Announces Ecology Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Sierra Club announced yesterday it will seek federal and state constitutional amendments insuring the right to a "clean, healthy environment."

Michael McCloskey, upon his appointment as executive director at a national meeting of the conservationist group's board of directors, said the campaign would be launched in the near future.

McCloskey had served as chief of staff since last May, when Executive Director Davis Bower left his post.

The directors called for a ban on the manufacture and use of DDT and similar pesticides.

They also asked that stringent limits be placed on vehicles so that by 1975 "adequate air purities will be insured." If necessary, the directors said, the internal combustion engine should be banned.

A policy resolution was adopted that urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to reject a California Department of Water Resources report on the peripheral canal. McCloskey said the proposal recommended by the department "releases too little water into the Delta."

Dumke Asks More Power To Govern

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Colleges Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke is asking the trustees to give him more power to help the 19-campus system better cope with "the turbulence of a revolutionary society."

Dumke recommended to trustees in a recent memo that they "confront the issue of centralization versus decentralization at an early meeting."

Dumke said the "traditional system of academic governance has proved its inability to cope with the bigness of modern institutions, systemwide organization . . . and the turbulence of a revolutionary society."

CURRENT CRISIS

He added that "the present situation, where the campus has the authority, but (my) office and the trustees must assume the responsibility, is becoming less and less tenable."

Dumke said he knows his proposals to place some activities on the often troubled campuses under closer supervision of his office would bring charges that campus autonomy is being challenged.

But he repeated his goal to leave most administrative decisions at the campus level. "I have no brief for bureaucracy. We should have as little of it as possible.

"But if the trustees are to hold the chancellor responsible for the running of the system, then they must give him the means and authority to do it, and stand behind him in his efforts," Dumke said.

Dumke's five-page memo dealt with the centralization issue in general terms. Dumke said the absence of a strong central agency has led to "numerous problems."

He said the problems include strong independent faculty political pressure groups, an overemphasis on growth with an under-emphasis on faculty quality, and enrollment of some unqualified students.

Saying the admissions systems of some colleges is "frankly sloppy," Dumke recommended a centralized admissions system for state colleges.

Dumke also recommended that each college campus' advisory board be asked to become involved in matters deemed of "public concern." Dumke said issues could receive the determination from himself, the college board chairman or a campus president.

Lodge Rules Out Any Politics

BOSTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge says he does not plan to become involved in politics but has left the door open to further diplomatic work.

Lodge, returning home after resigning as chief U.S. delegate to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, said Saturday at Logan International Airport: "I am not going to run for public office"

Lodge

There had been speculation that Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., might ask Lodge to run against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy next year. Lodge lost the seat to the late John F. Kennedy in 1952.

Lodge, an ambassador at large, said Saturday he expected to "stay in Massachusetts the rest of my life," but would not rule out the possibility of another ambassadorial assignment.

Lodge makes his home in Beverly, a community north of Boston.

Leadership Hunt

TOKYO (AP) — A "cultural revolution" to raise a crop of "reliable successors" to the present Communist Party leadership is under way in North Korea.

The official Korean Central News Agency said North Korean schools have become a "base for training a large contingent of reliable national party cadres, a powerful weapon of the ideological revolution and base of the cultural revolution."

The program is the result of the "great ideas and original theory" of party secretary Kim Il Sung, the report said.

Few Incumbents

NAIROBI (UPI) — Voters in Kenya's first general election in nine years returned only 35 per cent of the incumbents to Parliament in balloting that appeared to reflect mounting opposition to President Jomo Kenyatta.

Kenyatta lost five of his 20 cabinet ministers and 13 of his 30 junior ministers as they failed to retain their seats in 158-man parliament.

Because the president banned the opposition Kenya People's union in October, everyone elected to the new Parliament was a member of his Kenyan African National Union.

Kenyatta himself was unchallenged but many of the incumbents faced opposition from as many as five opponents.

Joint Talks

TRIPOLI (UPI) — Joint talks begin today on the evacuation of British bases in Libya. Announcement of the negotiations was made Saturday by the Libyan government.

Asking Advance

MANILA (AP) — The Phillippine government has asked the United States to make an immediate advance deposit of $100 million the U.S. government is expected to spend next year at its bases in the islands. The money is needed to bolster dwindling reserves of foreign exhange.

A presidential spokesman said the money would not be payment for the bases because there is no rental fee. He said it would be an advance of the money the United States will spend during the year on goods, services and salaries of Filipines employed by the bases.

During the first eight months of the year, imports into the Phillippines exceeded exports by $200 million, and the foreign exchange reserve dropped $50 million, to $145 million at the end of October.

Is Zodiac Killer In Oklahoma?

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—A man claiming to be the "Zodiac" slayer, who has bragged of killing seven persons in the San Francisco area, told an Oklahoma City radio talk show last night he left California because "it got too hot for me."

KTOK New Director Larry LaMotte said the caller was "an awfully good imitator" of a man who called a San Francisco television talk show on Oct. 22, claiming to be Zodiac.

NOT THE MAN

Authorities in California said they are convinced the October caller was not the man who has claimed seven killings in a series of letters and cryptograms to police and newspapers.

Newsman Tony Garrett of KTOK said he reported last night's call to Oklahoma City police, who felt that call may also be a hoax.

The man called the station during a regular talk program last night when people are given an opportunity to express their views on unlimited subjects.

The man was breathing heavily and spoke emotionally.

BECOME TOPIC

Police said they had calls from people who heard the conversation. The call became the topic of the next few callers to the radio station.

At the start of the conversation, the man asked LaMotte if he knew who he was.

LaMotte told the caller he sounded like "an awfully good imitator" of the man who had called a broadcast media in California.

"Oh," the caller said, "I left California because it got too hot for me."

"Are you trying to tell me," LaMotte asked, "that you are the Zodiac killer?"

The caller said "I could be" and added it was better for him in Oklahoma because so many people were killing themselves on the highways and "that makes it legal."

WORK CUT OUT—Piles of debris litter the Altamont Speedway—near Livermore—scene of Saturday's rock concert featuring the Rolling Stones which attracted 300,000. Officials figure it will take a week to clear up the area. (UPI Telephoto)

Aftermath Of West's Biggest Rock Concert: Tons Of Debris

LIVERMORE (UPI) — Tons of debris and a few hundred cleanup volunteers remained today from the biggest one-day musical bash ever held.

Dick Carter, manager of the motorcyle race track where the free concert was given Saturday by the Rolling Stones and 20 other rock groups, figured it would take a least a week to clean up the mess made by 300,000 young rock fans.

Four deaths, two births, hundreds of "bad trips" on drugs, and trouble by "Hell's Angels" motorcycle toughs marred the concert.

"I have about 200 youngsters staying to help me clean up but I could use thousands," Carter said.

Tons of empty wine bottles and garbage were strewn on the hills around the Altamont Speedway, 50 miles southeast of San Francisco.

"My neighbors will probably want to shoot me," Carter said. "I stopped by some people's houses and told them if there was any damage I'd help fix it up. They called me a Communist. You'd think I was Hitler."

Carter had less than 24 hours to prepare for the huge crowd, which also heard such groups as the Jefferson Airplane, Grateful Dead and Santana.

"I expected about 10,000. I was surprised how orderly things went."

John Jaymes, president of Young American Enterprises which promoted the Stones American tour, said the musicians were also "very happy and pleased in the way things went. Particularly how everybody left orderly."

It was doubtful law enforcement officers would agree. Sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen investigated a fatal stabbing, a drowning and two traffic deaths.

U.S. Vietnam Troop Count Is Lowest In 25 Months

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. headquarters said today 8,800 GIs have left Vietnam in addition to the 60,000 involved in President Richard M. Nixon's pullout program, reducing American troop strength to its lowest level in 25 months.

This coincided with reports of nine clashes along the Cambodian border Saturday, yesterday and today, with U.S. troops counting 158 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed against three Americans slain and 16 wounded.

TROOP REPORT

The troop strength report said 4,300 U.S. servicemen left the number of GIs in Vietnam to 475,200, fewest since November of 1967.

It meant the number of war zone GIs is 8,800 lower than the 484,000 ceiling authorized by President Nixon once his two-phase withdrawal of 60,000 men is completed by Dec. 15.

Those 8,800 troops left the war zone at the end of their tours of duty and were not replaced.

ISSUES STATEMENT

A spokesman for the U.S. command issued this statement in answer to speculation that the withdrawal of American troops was continuing past the 60,000 mark without an announcement from the White House:

"This decline in strength below the authorized 484,000 results from a temporary slowdown in the replacement flow and does not represent an additional redeployment increment."

President Nixon was to hold a nationally televised news conference tonight amid reports he might be ready to announce a further troop cutback from Vietnam.

'TO CONTINUE'

Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard said Friday withdrawals of American troops "are going to continue" in line with the progress made in the program to turn over the war to the South Vietnamese.

As part of the "Vietnamization" program, headquarters announced that the Saigon government would assume command Tuesday of a U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the sixth turned over to the South Vietnamese for patrolling the South China Sea coast.

On the battlefield, headquarters reported 44 overnight shellings against Allied targets, killing two Americans and wounding six. Official sources said there were 25 attacks in the provinces surrounding Saigon, the most in two months.

NORTH OF SAIGON

Troopers of the U.S. First Air Cavalry Division fought all nine of the clashes reported from the Cambodian frontier north and northwest of Saigon, including a two-hour fight this morning that left 33 North Vietnamese dead against no American losses.

Headquarters sent eight waves of B52 bombers on raids along the frontier during the night in an attempt to head off an expected "high point" of Communist activity around Christmas.

Novato Council To Eye De Long Avenue Extension

Alignment of the easterly extension of De Long Avenue will be discussed by the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

When the freeway bypass is constructed, the De Long Avenue interchange will be the main one for downtown Novato. The state Division of Highways wants to plan the exact route of de Long eastward to Olive Avenue.

There are two routes under consideration. A lower route on the hillside would approach existing houses and connect to Rosalia Drive to Olive Avenue. The higher route over the hilltop would not connect to Olive Avenue until 3,000 feet east of Rosalia. Gnoss Estates Association insists on the higher route.

Other items to come before the council include the rezoning of 710 acres south of Highway 37 west of Black Point to planned community for John E. Kenney; a poll on a park bond issue; reorganization of the street maintenance department; San Marin Drive overlay and appointments to the planning, parks and recreation downtown study, beautification and plan review committees.

Mink Stole Taken

A mink stole valued at $1,500 was stolen Friday from a coat rack in the San Pablo Room of the San Rafael Holiday Inn, San Rafael police reported today. The theft was reported by Warren Alexander Copp of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, police said.

Bible Policy Change Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California School Boards Association asked the state Board of Education yesterday to reconsider its decision to include the Bible's version of man's beginning in public schools curriculum.

The association's convention here approved the action by voice vote, but stopped short of endorsing court action.

A compromise resolution by president-elect Alfred W. Newman, a Vallejo attorney, was approved to say:

"The CSBA expresses concern about the introduction of religious beliefs in the scientific curricula, in contrast to the study of religious in other proper area of curricula."

The resolution also urges the state board to "reconsider the inclusion of Genesis theory in science texbooks."

Santa Rosa Man Jailed In Pot

A Santa Rosa man was arrested yesterday by Petaluma police on suspicion of possession of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphrenalia.

Larry Lee McGraw, 29, was booked into the city jail and scheduled for arraignement today in Southern Sonoma Muncipal Court.

Police said McGraw was stopped at 12:30 p.m. while walking on Petaluma Boulevard North and that a record check showed a $10 traffic warrant had been issued by the San Mateo sheriff's office. While booking him on the traffic warrant, police said they found marijuana and narcotics equipment juana and narcotivs equipment

Both Sides Say No To Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. and two unions leading a nationwide strike against the giant corporation have rejected each others' latest offers as the strike enters its seventh week.

The weekend exchange was the first significant development in negotiations to resolve the strike that began Oct. 27.

John R. Baldwin, chief G.E. negotiator, said the company was "extremely disappointed" that the unions immediately had refused G.E.'s offer, made Saturday, of a three-year contract.

U.S. Vietnam Troop Count Is Lowest In 25 Months

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. headquarters said today 8,800 GIs have left Vietnam in addition to the 60,000 involved in President Richard M. Nixon's pullout program, reducing American troop strength to its lowest level in 25 months.

This coincided with reports of nine clashes along the Cambodian border Saturday, yesterday and today, with U.S. troops counting 158 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed against three Americans slain and 16 wounded.

TROOP REPORT

The troop strength report said 4,300 U.S. servicemen left the number of GIs in Vietnam to 475,200, fewest since November of 1967.

It meant the number of war zone GIs is 8,800 lower than the 484,000 ceiling authorized by President Nixon once his two-phase withdrawal of 60,000 men is completed by Dec. 15.

Those 8,800 troops left the war zone at the end of their tours of duty and were not replaced.

ISSUES STATEMENT

A spokesman for the U.S. command issued this statement in answer to speculation that the withdrawal of American troops was continuing past the 60,000 mark without an announcement from the White House:

"This decline in strength below the authorized 484,000 results from a temporary slowdown in the replacement flow and does not represent an additional redeployment increment."

President Nixon was to hold a nationally televised news conference tonight amid reports he might be ready to announce a further troop cutback from Vietnam.

'TO CONTINUE'

Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard said Friday withdrawals of American troops "are going to continue" in line with the progress made in the program to turn over the war to the South Vietnamese.

As part of the "Vietnamization" program, headquarters announced that the Saigon government would assume command Tuesday of a U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the sixth turned over to the South Vietnamese for patrolling the South China Sea coast.

On the battlefield, headquarters reported 44 overnight shellings against Allied targets, killing two Americans and wounding six. Official sources said there were 25 attacks in the provinces surrounding Saigon, the most in two months.

NORTH OF SAIGON

Troopers of the U.S. First Air Cavalry Division fought all nine of the clashes reported from the Cambodian frontier north and northwest of Saigon, including a two-hour fight this morning that left 33 North Vietnamese dead against no American losses.

Headquarters sent eight waves of B52 bombers on raids along the frontier during the night in an attempt to head off an expected "high point" of Communist activity around Christmas.

Novato Council To Eye De Long Avenue Extension

Alignment of the easterly extension of De Long Avenue will be discussed by the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

When the freeway bypass is constructed, the De Long Avenue interchange will be the main one for downtown Novato. The state Division of Highways wants to plan the exact route of de Long eastward to Olive Avenue.

There are two routes under consideration. A lower route on the hillside would approach existing houses and connect to Rosalia Drive to Olive Avenue. The higher route over the hilltop would not connect to Olive Avenue until 3,000 feet east of Rosalia. Gnoss Estates Association insists on the higher route.

Other items to come before the council include the rezoning of 710 acres south of Highway 37 west of Black Point to planned community for John E. Kenney; a poll on a park bond issue; reorganization of the street maintenance department; San Marin Drive overlay and appointments to the planning, parks and recreation downtown study, beautification and plan review committees.

Mink Stole Taken

A mink stole valued at $1,500 was stolen Friday from a coat rack in the San Pablo Room of the San Rafael Holiday Inn, San Rafael police reported today. The theft was reported by Warren Alexander Copp of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, police said.

Bible Policy Change Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California School Boards Association asked the state Board of Education yesterday to reconsider its decision to include the Bible's version of man's beginning in public schools curriculum.

The association's convention here approved the action by voice vote, but stopped short of endorsing court action.

A compromise resolution by president-elect Alfred W. Newman, a Vallejo attorney, was approved to say:

"The CSBA expresses concern about the introduction of religious beliefs in the scientific curricula, in contrast to the study of religious in other proper area of curricula."

The resolution also urges the state board to "reconsider the inclusion of Genesis theory in science texbooks."

PANTHERS

tioned at every entrance as a security precaution.

Charles Garry, legal counsel for the Black Panther group, denounced the police action. Of the police statement that the raids were unconnected with those made on Panthers in other cities he said: "That is an unadulterated lie. This is all part and package of a national scheme by the various agencies of government to destroy and commit genocide upon members of the Black Panther party."

When a newsman called Panther headquarters by telephone, a voice that sounded like that of a woman said: "The pigs are attacking us. Send the press and send us people."

Today's confrontation was the first of its kind in Los Angeles, although there have been individual clashes between officers and Panthers during or after street arrests.

Police said today's raids came after a two-week investigation. Officers carried warrantes for the arrest of Paul Rede and Elmer G. Pratt, charging assault with a deadly weapon against a police officer in connection with an incident a week ago.

In Illinois, meanwhile, demands were raised for an investigation of the shootout last week on Chicago's West Side in which two Panther leaders met death and four others were wounded along with two policemen.

Linda Heiser Is Selected Junior Miss

Linda Heiser, Novato High School senior, was chosen Junior Miss at the pagent in the Novato Community House Saturday night, sponsored by Novato jaycees.

She received a $150 scholarship and a trophy. She will go on to the state pageant in Santa Rosa in January. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heiser of 1316 Leafwood Drive, Apt. 11.

First runnerup was Angela Spells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curnel Spells of 377 Alameda Del Prado. She received a $75 scholarship and trophy.

Second runnerup was Laura Jane Kinard, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Kinard of 1490 San Jose Boulevard. She received $50 scholarship and trophy. Both are seniors at Novato High School.

Stinson Man Is Booked On Several Counts

A 22-year-old Stinson Beach man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of resisting an officer, on a bench warrant and on an Army hold.

Wtephen John Borner was arrested after sheriff's deputies were called to the home of Janice M. Kelly, 22 Seakeeper, No. 6, Stinson Bach, on a complaint that Borner had beaten her and threatened her with a sawed-off shotgun.

Deputies said they found Borner in a house a block away and that he resisted them as they attempted to make the arrest.

The bench warrant was issued last April 17 after Borner failed to appear to answer a charge of possession of dangerous drugs. He was originally arrested March 31 by Sausalito police who said he had 39 orange capsules in his pocket.

At that time the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Borner had been AWOL from the Presidio of San Francisco since October 1967. The Army hold was still outstanding.

Borner was held on bail of $1,625 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Senate Passes Military Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today a $1.7 billion appropriation for military construction, including $15 million for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

There was no controversy as the bill cleared the Senate on an 82 to 0 roll call vote, whittling to six the number of appropriations bills for the current year still awaiting Senate action.

Three of those measures have not yet passed the House.

President Richard M. Nixon has warned he will summon Congress into session after Christmas unless the appropriations bills for the year which began July 1 have been completed before the holiday recess.

McAskill To Close Store In Novato

Harley A. McAskill, owner of McAskill's men's wear at 1559 South Novato Boulevard, is going out of the retail men's wear business.

He is liquidating his business in a sale that starts at 9 a.m. Thursday.

McAskill, mayor of Novato, said he is closing the business for personal reasons.

He has been in the men's clothing business for the past 17 years in Novato and with his father, Harley A. McAskill Sr. for eight years prior to that, in Petaluma.

McAskill said that he has no definite plans for the future, but will probably stay in the men's clothing trade, but not on the retail level. He said that his store may reopen later under a different name.

The mayor said that closing his store will not affect his position on the city council.

close enough to the other prisoners that one could stab him with a bedspring, a sharpened toothbrush or some other tool.

The death threat which prison official are convinced came from a Death Row inmate was intercepted before it reached Sirhan.

It was a newspaper clipping with his picture. A black hand was drawn over the photo, the word "doomed" written alongside and stick figure with a knife drawn in the margin.

Park said there are "one or two people" on Death Row who would be capable of such an action.

So far, the associate warden said, the hunger strike does not seem to have affected Sirhan. His weight now hovers between 105 and 106 pounds, the same as when he was committed May 23.

His normal diet, Park said, is one meal a day and he eats only one or two teaspoonsful of that.

A doctor visits Death Row daily and if there is any sign his health is deteriorating he will be force fed, Park said.

Rainstorm Pelts Marin

A rainstorm, probable harbinger of the long-awaited "winter rains," spread over Marin and Southern Sonoma Conties today, dumping up to .64 of an inch on some areas.

At 11 a.m. today, the rain, apparently spawned by an offshore weather front moving into the Pacific Northwest, had measured .64 of an inch in Larkspur and .51 in San Rafael.

Readings at other reporting statons at 8 a.m. were: Sausalito, .58; Terra Linda, .40; Bolinas, .59; Woodacre, .44; Novato, .35; Civic Center, .49; San Anselmo, .42; Petaluma, .53.

Tomorrow's forecast called for a 60 per cent chance of rain with mild winds.

For the record, it rained .65 of an inch on this date a year ago, taking the season's rainfall to 8.68 inches compared to 6.45 inches so far this season.

fectively by one individual or a small group. While the judicial test is in progress, all other dissenters should abide by the law involved until it is declared unconstitutional."

Disputing that argument, U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., who is black, said:

"If the majority's doctrine of 'everyone wait until the outcome of the one individual test case' had been applied by black Americans in the 1960s, probably not one present major civil rights statute would have been enacted. I fear that the majority's position ignores the sad actual history of some of the most tragic 'legal' repression of the civil rights of Negroes in this country."

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the commission, was on the minority side of the question but unlike four minority members did not issue a statement.

A source close to Eisenhower said he was strongly opposed to the majority view but took a neutral public stance in order not to dilute his authoruty over the 13-member panel.

"further implementation of our phased program for turning over full responsibilities to the Republic of South Vietnam."

Rogers, in an interview with a correspondent of the American Broadcasting Co., was asked about reports here that Nixon was downgrading the peace negotiations.

"Well," Rogers said, "we're just looking at the peace talks in a practical way. At the moment there has been no reason to have any more people here.

"Having two or three negotiators here with nothing to negotiate doesn't make any sense," he added.

Rogers said Philip C. Habib, who will carry on for Lodge although he ranks below an ambassador, "is a very capable man and is perfectly able to handle any of the discussions that are taking place."

"If it should appear that there is a prospect for some more active negotiations, then we would want to consider sending another delegate," Rogers said.

When preliminary talks with the North Vietnamese began in May 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed W. Averell Harriman, a diplomat with long experience, to handle the American peace talks. Nixon followed suit by naming Lodge, another diplomat whose name reflected prestige.

Rogers and Laird are in Paris for conferences with the U.S. delegation to the peace talks. They attended the North Atlantic Treaty Orgnization meetings last week in Brussels, Belgium.

Laird said he does not anticipate that Nixon will announce any more troop cuts in Vietnam in his televised news conference in Washington tonight. He noted that the U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam had been lowered this year from 549,500 men to 484,000.

But he did not rule out a new withdrawal announcement before the end of the year.

Nixon To Meet Press Tonight On National TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon holds his first news conference in two and one-half months tonight and is certain to be asked of his news of the reported My Lai massacre.

(In New York the major television networks—NBC, CBS and ABC—announced they will carry the news conference live from Washington at 6 p.m. PST.)

As usual, Vietnam is expected to dominate the meeting with reporters. Asked this morning if the President might make any announcement of a new troop withdrawal, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "No."

The President spent Saturday night and yesterday at Camp David, in the Maryland mountains, where about two inches of snow fell yesterday as he alternated planning for the news conference and watching football on television.

Fifth Amendment from being compelled to give their names to the government.

Today's ruling reiterates that view, saying the Leary decision makes it even more unlikely that a seller's name would go to the government.

Under the federal marijuana tax law it is illegal to transfer marijuana unless the recipient has paid a transfer tax and filled out an order form carrying the name and the address of both the buyer and the seller and the amount dealt.

Buie argued that the law forces a seller to insist on an order from linking him to an illegal transaction and thereby incriminate himself.

White, in discounting this argument and related ones, said "we have concluded that there is no real and substantial possibility that Buie's purchaser or purchasers generally would be willing to comply with the order form requirement even if their seller insisted on selling only pursuant to the form prescribed by law."

The justice explained: If a buyer applies for an order form he must announce he intends to purchase marijuana, a transaction which is illegal under both federal and state law if he is not a registered purchaser. Therefore, White said, a purchaser is unlikely to obtain a form, listing the seller, even if the seller insisted.

Therefore, White said, the seller of marijuana, unlike Leary or any buyer, does not face a Fifth Amendment dilemma.

Brother Antoninus Will Marry

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Brother Antoninus, the famed beat poet and Dominican monk, has announced he will not take his final vows and will marry a 22-year-old woman instead.

The 57-year-old monk, who helped spark San Francisco's literary revival in the 1950s, stripped off his habit and announced he would marry during a poetry reading at the University of California campus here yesterday.

The announcement came as Brother Antoninus was reading a series of poems of Pluto and Persephone, king and queen of nether earth.

"By now, you probably realize I am not writing about Pluto and Persephone, but about myself," he told an audience of 300. He said he planned to marry a woman he met four years ago but did not identify her.

"She came to me for counseling," he said. "Now I go to her for counseling."

Brother Antoninus, who lived in the Dominican Priory in Kentfield for several years, already had gained a reputation as a poet when he converted to Catholicism and entered the Dominican Order in 1951. His first major volume, "The Residual Years," had won the Guggenheim award in 1949.

Brother Antoninus currently is stationed at St. Albert's College in Oakland. A spokesman for the Western Dominican Province said today he had pronounced his first vows as a Dominican in 1964 and would have been eligible for final vows in 1970.

Alternate Ridge Plan On Tap

An alternate proposal for access to Mill Valley's North Ridge development will be studied when the Corte Madera Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The original plan, for access onto Corte Madera Avenue at the ridge line, is strongly opposed by Corte Madera officials. The alternate would connect with Camino Alto 600 feet south of the Corte Madera town limit.

The commission also will hold public hearings on prezoning of an unincorporated Lucky Drive are for single family houses and prezoning of an unincorporated area off Paradise Drive for commerical use.

Robbers Take $450 At Gunpoint

Robbers forced the 21-year-old night attendant of a San Rafael firm last night at gunpoint to open the safe and escaped with $450 in cash.

According to police two men, one carrying a .38-caliber revolver, entered the Rail Tunnel office at 620 Second Street at 10 p.m., The man holding the gun jabbed it into the back of employee Gary Franklin Gunn, ordering him "not to move or turn around."

After Gunn opened the safe, he was taken to a rear storage area where his hands were tied with a rope and the men used his own belt to bind his feet.

After 15 minutes Gunn was able to free himself and summon police.

Planners To Eye Fence Heights

Possible revision of the city's fence height standards will be discussed by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The commission had scheduled the discussion for its Nov. 25 meeting, but postponed action until completion of a study of present fence heights throughout the city.

The commission also will consider a use permit to raise a freestanding sign at the Holiday Inn by 10 feet, for a total of 35.2 feet.

Architectural approval and a use permit are asked for a nine-unit apartment development at 16 Marion Court by B. and H. Construction Inc. The apartments would have 14 off-street parking spaces.

Summer School Budget On Agenda

A preliminary summer school budget for 1970 will be discussed by the Kentfield School District board at 8 p.m. today in the library at Wolfe Grade School.

Also on the agenda will be a progress report on construction of a building for educationally handicapped children in the county.

Adams is a potential candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Fourth Senatorial District seat held by Republican John F. McCarthy.

School Finance Report Is Due

A report on the district's finances will be given to Dixie School District trustees at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Frank Solomon, chairman of the citizens advisory group on the district's finances, will make the report.

The board will also hear reports from special teachers and principals on the special teacher program in the district.

The board will appoint Ruth Kilby to head the multi-ethnic studies program.

Other items to come before the board include discussion of negotiation procedures, the state mandated reading tests given last spring and setting a date for a closed meeting on nonreemployment of personnel.

Three Injured As Autos Crash

Marian Ida Copp, 42, of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for minor scrapes and bruises received when her car hit another at 6:55 p.m. on Nave Boulevard near the Ignacio Boulevard overcrossing.

Also injured were Nancy Jean Betts, 23, of Sacramento, with bruised knees, and Warren Betts, 59, of 65 Fairway Drive, Novato, a passenger in Miss Betts's car, with a cut forehead. Both said they would see their own doctor, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Mrs. Copp's car crossed the double yellow line, hitting Miss Betts's car, after making a right hand turn off the Ignacio Boulevard overpass onto Nave Boulevard.

Bolinas-Stinson Budget On Tap

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board will begin its 1970-71 budget considerations at its 8 p.m. meeting today at the Bolinas School.

Also on the board's agenda tonight is a review of the function of the board.

Point Reyes Lists Tripled Visitor Rate

More than 79,000 persons visited Point Reyes National Seashore during November, more than three times the number who came during the same period last year, according to Supt. Edward J. Kurtz.

A total of 909,772 persons have visited the seashore this year, Kurtz said.

To Name Parkettes

Names for two parkettes along Manuel T. Freitas Parkway will go to the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. Wednesday at city hall. The commission is expected to choose names and announce winners of a contest held to name the miniparks.

An estimated 500,000 to 2,000,000 wombats inhabit Australia's southeastern state of Victoria. Authorities offer a bounty for each animal. The Wombat Preservation Committee, on the other hand, has suggested the creation of a national park to protect the animals.

MARY ALICE LANGDALE

OBITUARIES

Mary Alice Langdale Dies At 91

Mary Alice Langdale, 91, the last direct descendant of the Lucas family, early pioneers of Marin County, died Friday in southern California, friends here learned today.

Mrs. Langdale, who lived most of her life in Marin County, had moved to Glendale, Los Angeles County, two months ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Bernard F. Darby. She had lived at 160 Palm Avenue in San Rafael.

A granddaughter of John Lucas, Mrs. Langdale spent her childhood years at the Lucas ranch, later the Freitas ranch, which is now Terra Linda. The Lucas home stood on the present site of St. Isabella's Catholic Church in Terra Linda.

Lucas was the heir of Don Timoteo Murphy, who was given a 22,000-acre land grant by the Mexican government in 1844.

Mrs. Langdale was preceded in death by three brothers and sisters.

Born in Oakland, Mrs. Langdale lived in Marin County all of her life except from 1927 to 1949 when she lived in Southern California. Her husband died in 1952.

She was graduated from the old Dixie School in 1891 and later attended Holy Name College in Oakland. She studied nursing at the Fabiola Hospital in Oakland but never practiced nursing because of her marriage.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

A requiem mass will be said at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

San Francisco Man Booked In A Drug Probe

A 20-year-old San Francisco man was arrested today on suspicion of possessing drug paraphernalia and littering after he was found hiding in the rear of a truck parked in the Delong Chevrolet yard, San Rafael police reported.

Willie Earl Snell was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $315 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today. Oakland police have issued a hold on Snell for a traffic warrant.

According to police, Snell was seen in the fenced area at the rear of Delong's at 550 Francisco Boulevard at 2:41 a.m. by a passing patrolman.

A pipe which could be used to smoke marijuana, two cigar boxes holding apparent marijuana debris and a switch blade pocket knife were found in Snell's car which was parked in the lot of the San Marin Lumber Co. at 600 Francisco Boulevard.

Annex Petition Before Trustees

The Sausalito School District board tonght will consider petitioning the Mill Valley School district for annexation of the entire Marinview development in Tennessee Valley.

Consideration of the matter is on the board's agenda for its 7:30 p.m. meeting at the district offices. The new Marinview development currently is split down the middle between the two districts, and board trustee David E. Freedheim has said he will ask that the entire development be put into the Sausalito district.

In other action tonight, the board will receive reports from its finance and salary committee and from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on the district's free breakfast program.

San Pedro Widening On Joint Agenda

The San Rafael City Council will meet with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m. today in San Rafael City Hall to follow the present route or to discuss the controversial next phase of San Pedro Road widening.

At issue is the alignment of the widened road, whether to put the widened road on marshland in Bayside Acres.

Parking On Agenda

Nonconforming uses in residential districts will be discussed when the San Anselmo mayor's committee on off-street parking and nonconforming uses meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

tioned at every entrance as a security precaution.

Charles Garry, legal counsel for the Black Panther group, denounced the police action. Of the police statement that the raids were unconnected with those made on Panthers in other cities he said: "That is an unadulterated lie. This is all part and package of a national scheme by the various agencies of government to destroy and commit genocide upon members of the Black Panther party."

When a newsman called Panther headquarters by telephone, a voice that sounded like that of a woman said: "The pigs are attacking us. Send the press and send us people."

Today's confrontation was the first of its kind in Los Angeles, although there have been individual clashes between officers and Panthers during or after street arrests.

Police said today's raids came after a two-week investigation. Officers carried warrantes for the arrest of Paul Rede and Elmer G. Pratt, charging assault with a deadly weapon against a police officer in connection with an incident a week ago.

In Illinois, meanwhile, demands were raised for an investigation of the shootout last week on Chicago's West Side in which two Panther leaders met death and four others were wounded along with two policemen.

Linda Heiser Is Selected Junior Miss

Linda Heiser, Novato High School senior, was chosen Junior Miss at the pagent in the Novato Community House Saturday night, sponsored by Novato jaycees.

She received a $150 scholarship and a trophy. She will go on to the state pageant in Santa Rosa in January. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heiser of 1316 Leafwood Drive, Apt. 11.

First runnerup was Angela Spells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curnel Spells of 377 Alameda Del Prado. She received a $75 scholarship and trophy.

Second runnerup was Laura Jane Kinard, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Kinard of 1490 San Jose Boulevard. She received $50 scholarship and trophy. Both are seniors at Novato High School.

Stinson Man Is Booked On Several Counts

A 22-year-old Stinson Beach man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of resisting an officer, on a bench warrant and on an Army hold.

Wtephen John Borner was arrested after sheriff's deputies were called to the home of Janice M. Kelly, 22 Seakeeper, No. 6, Stinson Bach, on a complaint that Borner had beaten her and threatened her with a sawed-off shotgun.

Deputies said they found Borner in a house a block away and that he resisted them as they attempted to make the arrest.

The bench warrant was issued last April 17 after Borner failed to appear to answer a charge of possession of dangerous drugs. He was originally arrested March 31 by Sausalito police who said he had 39 orange capsules in his pocket.

At that time the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Borner had been AWOL from the Presidio of San Francisco since October 1967. The Army hold was still outstanding.

Borner was held on bail of $1,625 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Senate Passes Military Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today a $1.7 billion appropriation for military construction, including $15 million for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

There was no controversy as the bill cleared the Senate on an 82 to 0 roll call vote, whittling to six the number of appropriations bills for the current year still awaiting Senate action.

Three of those measures have not yet passed the House.

President Richard M. Nixon has warned he will summon Congress into session after Christmas unless the appropriations bills for the year which began July 1 have been completed before the holiday recess.

McAskill To Close Store In Novato

Harley A. McAskill, owner of McAskill's men's wear at 1559 South Novato Boulevard, is going out of the retail men's wear business.

He is liquidating his business in a sale that starts at 9 a.m. Thursday.

McAskill, mayor of Novato, said he is closing the business for personal reasons.

He has been in the men's clothing business for the past 17 years in Novato and with his father, Harley A. McAskill Sr. for eight years prior to that, in Petaluma.

McAskill said that he has no definite plans for the future, but will probably stay in the men's clothing trade, but not on the retail level. He said that his store may reopen later under a different name.

The mayor said that closing his store will not affect his position on the city council.

close enough to the other prisoners that one could stab him with a bedspring, a sharpened toothbrush or some other tool.

The death threat which prison official are convinced came from a Death Row inmate was intercepted before it reached Sirhan.

It was a newspaper clipping with his picture. A black hand was drawn over the photo, the word "doomed" written alongside and stick figure with a knife drawn in the margin.

Park said there are "one or two people" on Death Row who would be capable of such an action.

So far, the associate warden said, the hunger strike does not seem to have affected Sirhan. His weight now hovers between 105 and 106 pounds, the same as when he was committed May 23.

His normal diet, Park said, is one meal a day and he eats only one or two teaspoonsful of that.

A doctor visits Death Row daily and if there is any sign his health is deteriorating he will be force fed, Park said.

Rainstorm Pelts Marin

A rainstorm, probable harbinger of the long-awaited "winter rains," spread over Marin and Southern Sonoma Conties today, dumping up to .64 of an inch on some areas.

At 11 a.m. today, the rain, apparently spawned by an offshore weather front moving into the Pacific Northwest, had measured .64 of an inch in Larkspur and .51 in San Rafael.

Readings at other reporting statons at 8 a.m. were: Sausalito, .58; Terra Linda, .40; Bolinas, .59; Woodacre, .44; Novato, .35; Civic Center, .49; San Anselmo, .42; Petaluma, .53.

Tomorrow's forecast called for a 60 per cent chance of rain with mild winds.

For the record, it rained .65 of an inch on this date a year ago, taking the season's rainfall to 8.68 inches compared to 6.45 inches so far this season.

fectively by one individual or a small group. While the judicial test is in progress, all other dissenters should abide by the law involved until it is declared unconstitutional."

Disputing that argument, U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., who is black, said:

"If the majority's doctrine of 'everyone wait until the outcome of the one individual test case' had been applied by black Americans in the 1960s, probably not one present major civil rights statute would have been enacted. I fear that the majority's position ignores the sad actual history of some of the most tragic 'legal' repression of the civil rights of Negroes in this country."

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the commission, was on the minority side of the question but unlike four minority members did not issue a statement.

A source close to Eisenhower said he was strongly opposed to the majority view but took a neutral public stance in order not to dilute his authoruty over the 13-member panel.

"further implementation of our phased program for turning over full responsibilities to the Republic of South Vietnam."

Rogers, in an interview with a correspondent of the American Broadcasting Co., was asked about reports here that Nixon was downgrading the peace negotiations.

"Well," Rogers said, "we're just looking at the peace talks in a practical way. At the moment there has been no reason to have any more people here.

"Having two or three negotiators here with nothing to negotiate doesn't make any sense," he added.

Rogers said Philip C. Habib, who will carry on for Lodge although he ranks below an ambassador, "is a very capable man and is perfectly able to handle any of the discussions that are taking place."

"If it should appear that there is a prospect for some more active negotiations, then we would want to consider sending another delegate," Rogers said.

When preliminary talks with the North Vietnamese began in May 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed W. Averell Harriman, a diplomat with long experience, to handle the American peace talks. Nixon followed suit by naming Lodge, another diplomat whose name reflected prestige.

Rogers and Laird are in Paris for conferences with the U.S. delegation to the peace talks. They attended the North Atlantic Treaty Orgnization meetings last week in Brussels, Belgium.

Laird said he does not anticipate that Nixon will announce any more troop cuts in Vietnam in his televised news conference in Washington tonight. He noted that the U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam had been lowered this year from 549,500 men to 484,000.

But he did not rule out a new withdrawal announcement before the end of the year.

Nixon To Meet Press Tonight On National TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon holds his first news conference in two and one-half months tonight and is certain to be asked of his news of the reported My Lai massacre.

(In New York the major television networks—NBC, CBS and ABC—announced they will carry the news conference live from Washington at 6 p.m. PST.)

As usual, Vietnam is expected to dominate the meeting with reporters. Asked this morning if the President might make any announcement of a new troop withdrawal, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "No."

The President spent Saturday night and yesterday at Camp David, in the Maryland mountains, where about two inches of snow fell yesterday as he alternated planning for the news conference and watching football on television.

Fifth Amendment from being compelled to give their names to the government.

Today's ruling reiterates that view, saying the Leary decision makes it even more unlikely that a seller's name would go to the government.

Under the federal marijuana tax law it is illegal to transfer marijuana unless the recipient has paid a transfer tax and filled out an order form carrying the name and the address of both the buyer and the seller and the amount dealt.

Buie argued that the law forces a seller to insist on an order from linking him to an illegal transaction and thereby incriminate himself.

White, in discounting this argument and related ones, said "we have concluded that there is no real and substantial possibility that Buie's purchaser or purchasers generally would be willing to comply with the order form requirement even if their seller insisted on selling only pursuant to the form prescribed by law."

The justice explained: If a buyer applies for an order form he must announce he intends to purchase marijuana, a transaction which is illegal under both federal and state law if he is not a registered purchaser. Therefore, White said, a purchaser is unlikely to obtain a form, listing the seller, even if the seller insisted.

Therefore, White said, the seller of marijuana, unlike Leary or any buyer, does not face a Fifth Amendment dilemma.

Brother Antoninus Will Marry

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Brother Antoninus, the famed beat poet and Dominican monk, has announced he will not take his final vows and will marry a 22-year-old woman instead.

The 57-year-old monk, who helped spark San Francisco's literary revival in the 1950s, stripped off his habit and announced he would marry during a poetry reading at the University of California campus here yesterday.

The announcement came as Brother Antoninus was reading a series of poems of Pluto and Persephone, king and queen of nether earth.

"By now, you probably realize I am not writing about Pluto and Persephone, but about myself," he told an audience of 300. He said he planned to marry a woman he met four years ago but did not identify her.

"She came to me for counseling," he said. "Now I go to her for counseling."

Brother Antoninus, who lived in the Dominican Priory in Kentfield for several years, already had gained a reputation as a poet when he converted to Catholicism and entered the Dominican Order in 1951. His first major volume, "The Residual Years," had won the Guggenheim award in 1949.

Brother Antoninus currently is stationed at St. Albert's College in Oakland. A spokesman for the Western Dominican Province said today he had pronounced his first vows as a Dominican in 1964 and would have been eligible for final vows in 1970.

Alternate Ridge Plan On Tap

An alternate proposal for access to Mill Valley's North Ridge development will be studied when the Corte Madera Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The original plan, for access onto Corte Madera Avenue at the ridge line, is strongly opposed by Corte Madera officials. The alternate would connect with Camino Alto 600 feet south of the Corte Madera town limit.

The commission also will hold public hearings on prezoning of an unincorporated Lucky Drive are for single family houses and prezoning of an unincorporated area off Paradise Drive for commerical use.

Robbers Take $450 At Gunpoint

Robbers forced the 21-year-old night attendant of a San Rafael firm last night at gunpoint to open the safe and escaped with $450 in cash.

According to police two men, one carrying a .38-caliber revolver, entered the Rail Tunnel office at 620 Second Street at 10 p.m., The man holding the gun jabbed it into the back of employee Gary Franklin Gunn, ordering him "not to move or turn around."

After Gunn opened the safe, he was taken to a rear storage area where his hands were tied with a rope and the men used his own belt to bind his feet.

After 15 minutes Gunn was able to free himself and summon police.

Planners To Eye Fence Heights

Possible revision of the city's fence height standards will be discussed by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The commission had scheduled the discussion for its Nov. 25 meeting, but postponed action until completion of a study of present fence heights throughout the city.

The commission also will consider a use permit to raise a freestanding sign at the Holiday Inn by 10 feet, for a total of 35.2 feet.

Architectural approval and a use permit are asked for a nine-unit apartment development at 16 Marion Court by B. and H. Construction Inc. The apartments would have 14 off-street parking spaces.

Summer School Budget On Agenda

A preliminary summer school budget for 1970 will be discussed by the Kentfield School District board at 8 p.m. today in the library at Wolfe Grade School.

Also on the agenda will be a progress report on construction of a building for educationally handicapped children in the county.

School Finance Report Is Due

A report on the district's finances will be given to Dixie School District trustees at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Frank Solomon, chairman of the citizens advisory group on the district's finances, will make the report.

The board will also hear reports from special teachers and principals on the special teacher program in the district.

The board will appoint Ruth Kilby to head the multi-ethnic studies program.

Other items to come before the board include discussion of negotiation procedures, the state mandated reading tests given last spring and setting a date for a closed meeting on nonreemployment of personnel.

Three Injured As Autos Crash

Marian Ida Copp, 42, of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for minor scrapes and bruises received when her car hit another at 6:55 p.m. on Nave Boulevard near the Ignacio Boulevard overcrossing.

Also injured were Nancy Jean Betts, 23, of Sacramento, with bruised knees, and Warren Betts, 59, of 65 Fairway Drive, Novato, a passenger in Miss Betts's car, with a cut forehead. Both said they would see their own doctor, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Mrs. Copp's car crossed the double yellow line, hitting Miss Betts's car, after making a right hand turn off the Ignacio Boulevard overpass onto Nave Boulevard.

Bolinas-Stinson Budget On Tap

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board will begin its 1970-71 budget considerations at its 8 p.m. meeting today at the Bolinas School.

Also on the board's agenda tonight is a review of the function of the board.

Point Reyes Lists Tripled Visitor Rate

More than 79,000 persons visited Point Reyes National Seashore during November, more than three times the number who came during the same period last year, according to Supt. Edward J. Kurtz.

A total of 909,772 persons have visited the seashore this year, Kurtz said.

To Name Parkettes

Names for two parkettes along Manuel T. Freitas Parkway will go to the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. Wednesday at city hall. The commission is expected to choose names and announce winners of a contest held to name the miniparks.

An estimated 500,000 to 2,000,000 wombats inhabit Australia's southeastern state of Victoria. Authorities offer a bounty for each animal. The Wombat Preservation Committee, on the other hand, has suggested the creation of a national park to protect the animals.

OBITUARIES

Mary Alice Langdale Dies At 91

Mary Alice Langdale, 91, the last direct descendant of the Lucas family, early pioneers of Marin County, died Friday in southern California, friends here learned today.

Mrs. Langdale, who lived most of her life in Marin County, had moved to Glendale, Los Angeles County, two months ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Bernard F. Darby. She had lived at 160 Palm Avenue in San Rafael.

A granddaughter of John Lucas, Mrs. Langdale spent her childhood years at the Lucas ranch, later the Freitas ranch, which is now Terra Linda. The Lucas home stood on the present site of St. Isabella's Catholic Church in Terra Linda.

Lucas was the heir of Don Timoteo Murphy, who was given a 22,000-acre land grant by the Mexican government in 1844.

Mrs. Langdale was preceded in death by three brothers and sisters.

Born in Oakland, Mrs. Langdale lived in Marin County all of her life except from 1927 to 1949 when she lived in Southern California. Her husband died in 1952.

She was graduated from the old Dixie School in 1891 and later attended Holy Name College in Oakland. She studied nursing at the Fabiola Hospital in Oakland but never practiced nursing because of her marriage.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

A requiem mass will be said at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

San Francisco Man Booked In A Drug Probe

A 20-year-old San Francisco man was arrested today on suspicion of possessing drug paraphernalia and littering after he was found hiding in the rear of a truck parked in the Delong Chevrolet yard, San Rafael police reported.

Willie Earl Snell was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $315 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today. Oakland police have issued a hold on Snell for a traffic warrant.

According to police, Snell was seen in the fenced area at the rear of Delong's at 550 Francisco Boulevard at 2:41 a.m. by a passing patrolman.

A pipe which could be used to smoke marijuana, two cigar boxes holding apparent marijuana debris and a switch blade pocket knife were found in Snell's car which was parked in the lot of the San Marin Lumber Co. at 600 Francisco Boulevard.

Annex Petition Before Trustees

The Sausalito School District board tonght will consider petitioning the Mill Valley School district for annexation of the entire Marinview development in Tennessee Valley.

Consideration of the matter is on the board's agenda for its 7:30 p.m. meeting at the district offices. The new Marinview development currently is split down the middle between the two districts, and board trustee David E. Freedheim has said he will ask that the entire development be put into the Sausalito district.

In other action tonight, the board will receive reports from its finance and salary committee and from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on the district's free breakfast program.

San Pedro Widening On Joint Agenda

The San Rafael City Council will meet with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m. today in San Rafael City Hall to follow the present route or to discuss the controversial next phase of San Pedro Road widening.

At issue is the alignment of the widened road, whether to put the widened road on marshland in Bayside Acres.

Parking On Agenda

Nonconforming uses in residential districts will be discussed when the San Anselmo mayor's committee on off-street parking and nonconforming uses meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

Jefferson Airplane Emerges On New Trip

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jefferson Airplane soars higher each trip, its six-man crew scanning the horizon for artistic satisfaction to go with their commerical success.

The Airplane, formed in 1965, bore the San Francisco brand of rock music to America and Europe. Two hit singles in 1967, "Somebody to Love" and "White Rabbit," made it one of the country's best-known groups.

But times have changed for Jefferson Airplane. Even as they play to sold-out concerts around the country, the Airplane pushes hard against criteria by which rock musicians are measured. Making money and selling records are unimportant now, the Airplane says.

The Airplane sings openly now of a generation's confrontation with convention. Its new, sixth album, "Volunteers," was delayed by a dispute with a record company over the lyrics of some songs. The Airplane won, the "obscene" words are clearly heard.

There are no stars in the Airplane, or six stars. They mesh and come apart and mesh again, each weaver working to his own vision of what the song should be. When it works, the audience is enveloped in a loud, lyrical web. When it's not working, onlookers are left to watch six struggling musicians trying to get together.

The Airplane is Grace Slick and Marty Balin, singing; Paul Kantner, singing and rhythm guitar; Jack Casady, bass guitar; Jorma Kaukonen, lead guitar, and Spencer Dryden, drums.

On their last visit to New York City, where they played to more than 15,000 people in three days at the Fillmore East, Paul Kantner and Grace Slick reflected on their music and philosophy in an interview. Excerpts follow.

Question: How do you work on stage?

Grace: It's hard for us to get it together, 'cause nobody plays the same thing twice. So you can't just assume the drummer is doing the same thing he did last night. We can on some songs, some are predictable, but most of 'em aren't.

Paul: You've got a vague idea of what's supposed to happen and you play what you feel like playing at the time and you sing like you feel like singing . . . Sometimes during a jam Grace or Marty or I will sing somebody else's song, or we'll pick up someone else's lyrics, like Grace last night singing one of Crosby, Stills and Nash's new songs.

Q: Jack and Jorma play to each other, don't they?

Paul: Well, we all do in a sense. Jack and Jorma probably more than the others, but everybody still playing to everybody else in a sense. There's no conscious direction, where it's all focused down on the drumbeat or anything like that. It just either works or it doesn't.

Grace: You move around the stage for a definite reason; to hear, to be physically close to imply something. The music is so loud and kinda strong that you often have to use your whole body to imply something to a member of the group. Like, Spencer will play with his head down and you'll have to bend down and do stuff like that to get his attention.

Q: Who decides the program for the night?

Grace: Paul's the only one who knows what we're gonna play, and he changes it in the middle of a set. That's why after we get through playing a song there are people wandering around the stage. That's his thing, keep it a secret until he's ready. Sometimes two members won't know what the song is and Paul will start playing and they'll say, 'Oh, that's it, okay.' It's very loose.

Q: What about the audience?

Paul: When you're on stage, it doesn't really matter whether there are four people watching us or nobody watching us or a million people watching us. We sorta feel the same.

Q: How does the group learn a song?

Paul: Whoever wrote it plays it. Then we just start playing it, learn the chord structure, change it if you want to.

Usually one person has the song, or the basic idea of the song.

Q: Do you care about selling records?

Grace: Selling records is no problem. You can go straight to something, build a freeway and go straight to it or you can travel around here and look at stuff on the way. Either way is all right. There are some people who make top 40 records; That's good, they go straight through and make that record. You know if you get on the freeway it's going to take a certain amount of time and you're gonna see certain things and you know where you're gonna get. You don't particularly know when you take a side road how you're gonna get there, or if you're gonna get there.

Q. Do you feel restricted by the confines of the group?

Grace: Sure, occasionally.

Q. Any chance of breaking up?

Paul: It seems to be working. When it stops working, everybody can do whatever they want, if Grace wants to go out and make an album, she can if she has the time.

Q. I guess at this point you've made it financially.

Paul: No. We don't save money, we spend a lot of money. I mean we spend a lot of money that we wouldn't otherwise have. We pay Glenn McKay's Head Lights to come out. We don't need a light show. We put more work on our album covers, it costs us more money. We carry all that sound equipment, the sound equipment costs a mint.

Grace: We don't have any money stashed anywhere, it's in constant use.

Q: For the first time, you've put politics in your songs. Why?

Paul: I don't see us as being political in our songs. "Volunteers" is not political, outlaws aren't political. That's what the song is about. . . . I don't get involved with crazy revolutionaries . . . they're spending all their time being paranoid when they could be out on the West Coast enjoying themselves, getting high, meeting lotsa people and ignoring it all.

Q: What about the song "Meadowlands"? That's the song of the Red Army.

Paul: We put it in there because we thought it would offend a lot of people. We also put it in there because it's really a beautiful melody, a beautiful song, nice and strong, great melody.

Grace: Musicians play music, other people impose political or leadership qualities on the musicians. The media has decided we're spokesman for this generation . . . we're not the ones who decided it. So when they ask us questions about politics, it's stupid.

Paul: Musicians are true anarchists, they just do what seems to be the thing to do that day.

Q: But aren't you leaders by setting an example, by the prestige that accrues to you? Doesn't your taking acid set an example?

Paul: That's not being a leader, that's saying a possibility for good. . . . Drugs are no more important to our scene than guitar strings. They're useful and they're enjoyable and they foster a certain way of thinking; they're not hardly at all a major factor, it's like 10 per cent.

Grace: You stay in a rut of what's around you. If I'd been around in 1910, I'd have written songs about cars or airplanes, they were new and interesting and hadn't been tried out.

Q: But you're aware that a lot of kids are trying these things out just because rock groups are doing them?

Paul: Yeah, good. Good.

Grace: I'm going to go around and be whatever I am and say whatever I please. If some guy wants to run up and jump off a cliff because I'm putting him on about it, there's nothing I can do about it.

Q: What's in the future for the Airplane?

Paul: We'd like to go to Japan, the Far East, the Iron Curtain countries. Don't know about that, might have trouble with both sides. Getting in, and our government probably doesn't think we're the best representatives to send abroad.

Two Big Fires Total $400,000

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Two spectacular fires, one in a restaurant and the other in a supermarket, erupted here yesterday within a five-hour period. Damage was estimated at nearly $400,000.

A one-alarm blaze caused about $100,000 damage at Caesar's Dining Room, where two previous fires have occurred in recent months.

Less than five hours later, a three-alarm fire brought more than 100 firemen to the Purity Market, where damage was estimated at "between $200,000 and $300,000."

Ending Of Rail Route Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Garner Shriver, R-Kan., protested today to the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission against the planned discontinuance of the Santa Fe Railroads' Grand Canyon Limited passenger trains between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Shriver wrote to Mrs. Virginia Mae Brown, ICC chairman, asking that the service be continued pending an ICC investigation of the matter.

Zoning Issues To Be Studied

Public hearings on prezoning two areas will come before the Corte Madera Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the town hall council chamber.

The commission will weigh zoning a portion of Lucky Drive single family zoning and the area between Paradise Drive and Koch Luggage Co. commerical.

It will review the ultimate boundary map of the city.

It will review the designs for a proposed Texaco Station at 150 Nellen Avenue, an addition to the Church of All Faiths at 5461 Paradise Drive and two signs on the Loch Luggage property for H. Koch and Sons on Highway 101.

Police Protect Patrons Of Opera

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — About 1,000 policeman ringed the La Scala Opera House last night to protect patrons from about 100 demonstrators on the season's opening night performance of "Ernani."

The demonstrators booed and hissed the patrons, claiming them to be the perpetuators of the "establishment."

Tree Farms Reflect The Pioneer Spirit

Marin and Southern Sonoma residents with a pioneer spirit can cut their own Christmas trees at six tree farms in Marin and Southern Sonoma this holiday season.

The 1969 crop is excellent, according to Al Schleth, owner of Schleth's Tree Farms, at 210 Sprauer Road Petaluma. Schleth reported he has about 7,000 trees ready this year, compared with 4,000 last year. "They are better looking, too, because we pruned more extensively," he said.

"Our trees have good color and good growth," said Charles E. Hancock, manager of the Bolinas Bay Christmas Tree Ranch, located north of Stinson Beach on Shoreline Highway. Hancock, who has approximately 1,000 trees for sale, said he specializes in long needle pines, including Monterey and Bishop and Sequoia redwoods.

Other popular trees, according to farm owners, are Grandi and white firs, Douglasfir and Scotch pine.

Other area tree farms include Larsen's, 319 Marshall Avenue; Oluf's, 295 Sprauer Road; Rancho Petite, 1399 Springhill Road, and the Anderson's, 628 Marshall Avenue, all Petaluma.

At most farms, guides are available to direct tree hunters to choice cutting areas. Most also supply saws for cutting.

Tree prices range from 75 cents to $1 per foot. Hancock charges $5.95 for any tree, no matter what height.

On downtown lots in Marin and Sonoma, prices range from 95 cents to $2 per foot, depending on type and size of tree. Colored flocked trees cost about 75 cents more per foot.

BCDC May Be Given Sanitation Powers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission to operate waste disposal facilities in the nine San Francisco Bay Area counties will be introduced next year by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig.

Dolwig, R-Atherton, said Friday if support cannot be obtained for making BCDC a multi-purpose regional agency, he will mend his measure to create a special agency to handle Bay Area waste disposal.

Usually one person has the song, or the basic idea of the song.

Q: Do you care about selling records?

Grace: Selling records is no problem. You can go straight to something, build a freeway and go straight to it or you can travel around here and look at stuff on the way. Either way is all right. There are some people who make top 40 records; That's good, they go straight through and make that record. You know if you get on the freeway it's going to take a certain amount of time and you're gonna see certain things and you know where you're gonna get. You don't particularly know when you take a side road how you're gonna get there, or if you're gonna get there.

Q. Do you feel restricted by the confines of the group?

Grace: Sure, occasionally.

Q. Any chance of breaking up?

Paul: It seems to be working. When it stops working, everybody can do whatever they want, if Grace wants to go out and make an album, she can if she has the time.

Q. I guess at this point you've made it financially.

Paul: No. We don't save money, we spend a lot of money. I mean we spend a lot of money that we wouldn't otherwise have. We pay Glenn McKay's Head Lights to come out. We don't need a light show. We put more work on our album covers, it costs us more money. We carry all that sound equipment, the sound equipment costs a mint.

Grace: We don't have any money stashed anywhere, it's in constant use.

Q: For the first time, you've put politics in your songs. Why?

Paul: I don't see us as being political in our songs. "Volunteers" is not political, outlaws aren't political. That's what the song is about. . . . I don't get involved with crazy revolutionaries . . . they're spending all their time being paranoid when they could be out on the West Coast enjoying themselves, getting high, meeting lotsa people and ignoring it all.

Q: What about the song "Meadowlands"? That's the song of the Red Army.

Paul: We put it in there because we thought it would offend a lot of people. We also put it in there because it's really a beautiful melody, a beautiful song, nice and strong, great melody.

Grace: Musicians play music, other people impose political or leadership qualities on the musicians. The media has decided we're spokesman for this generation . . . we're not the ones who decided it. So when they ask us questions about politics, it's stupid.

Paul: Musicians are true anarchists, they just do what seems to be the thing to do that day.

Q: But aren't you leaders by setting an example, by the prestige that accrues to you? Doesn't your taking acid set an example?

Paul: That's not being a leader, that's saying a possibility for good. . . . Drugs are no more important to our scene than guitar strings. They're useful and they're enjoyable and they foster a certain way of thinking; they're not hardly at all a major factor, it's like 10 per cent.

Grace: You stay in a rut of what's around you. If I'd been around in 1910, I'd have written songs about cars or airplanes, they were new and interesting and hadn't been tried out.

Q: But you're aware that a lot of kids are trying these things out just because rock groups are doing them?

Paul: Yeah, good. Good.

Grace: I'm going to go around and be whatever I am and say whatever I please. If some guy wants to run up and jump off a cliff because I'm putting him on about it, there's nothing I can do about it.

Q: What's in the future for the Airplane?

Paul: We'd like to go to Japan, the Far East, the Iron Curtain countries. Don't know about that, might have trouble with both sides. Getting in, and our government probably doesn't think we're the best representatives to send abroad.

Zoning Issues To Be Studied

Public hearings on prezoning two areas will come before the Corte Madera Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the town hall council chamber.

The commission will weigh zoning a portion of Lucky Drive single family zoning and the area between Paradise Drive and Koch Luggage Co. commercial.

It will review the ultimate boundary map of the city.

It will review the designs for a proposed Texaco Station at 150 Nellen Avenue, an addition to the Church of All Faiths at 5461 Paradise Drive and two signs on the Loch Luggage property for H. Koch and Sons on Highway 101.

Police Protect Patrons Of Opera

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — About 1,000 policeman ringed the La Scala Opera House last night to protect patrons from about 100 demonstrators on the season's opening night performance of "Ernani."

The demonstrators booed and hissed the patrons, claiming them to be the perpetuators of the "establishment."

Two Big Fires Total $400,000

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Two spectacular fires, one in a restaurant and the other in a supermarket, erupted here yesterday within a five-hour period. Damage was estimated at nearly $400,000.

A one-alarm blaze caused about $100,000 damage at Caesar's Dining Room, where two previous fires have occurred in recent months.

Less than five hours later, a three-alarm fire brought more than 100 firemen to the Purity Market, where damage was estimated at "between $200,000 and $300,000."

Ending Of Rail Route Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Garner Shriver, R-Kan., protested today to the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission against the planned discontinuance of the Santa Fe Railroads' Grand Canyon Limited passenger trains between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Shriver wrote to Mrs. Virginia Mae Brown, ICC chairman, asking that the service be continued pending an ICC investigation of the matter.

Tree Farms Reflect The Pioneer Spirit

Marin and Southern Sonoma residents with a pioneer spirit can cut their own Christmas trees at six tree farms in Marin and Southern Sonoma this holiday season.

The 1969 crop is excellent, according to Al Schleth, owner of Schleth's Tree Farms, at 210 Sprauer Road Petaluma. Schleth reported he has about 7,000 trees ready this year, compared with 4,000 last year. "They are better looking, too, because we pruned more extensively," he said.

"Our trees have good color and good growth," said Charles E. Hancock, manager of the Bolinas Bay Christmas Tree Ranch, located north of Stinson Beach on Shoreline Highway. Hancock, who has approximately 1,000 trees for sale, said he specializes in long needle pines, including Monterey and Bishop and Sequoia redwoods.

Other popular trees, according to farm owners, are Grandi and white firs, Douglasfir and Scotch pine.

Other area tree farms include Larsen's, 319 Marshall Avenue; Oluf's, 295 Sprauer Road; Rancho Petite, 1399 Springhill Road, and the Anderson's, 628 Marshall Avenue, all Petaluma.

At most farms, guides are available to direct tree hunters to choice cutting areas. Most also supply saws for cutting.

Tree prices range from 75 cents to $1 per foot. Hancock charges $5.95 for any tree, no matter what height.

On downtown lots in Marin and Sonoma, prices range from 95 cents to $2 per foot, depending on type and size of tree. Colored flocked trees cost about 75 cents more per foot.

BCDC May Be Given Sanitation Powers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission to operate waste disposal facilities in the nine San Francisco Bay Area counties will be introduced next year by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig.

Dolwig, R-Atherton, said Friday if support cannot be obtained for making BCDC a multi-purpose regional agency, he will mend his measure to create a special agency to handle Bay Area waste disposal.

Black Point Master Plan Due Review

The controversial Black Point planned community master plan will come before the Novato Planning Commission for the second time at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

John E. Kenney's plan for 1,800 mobile homes, 300 apartments, 200 single family homes, a shopping center and 75-acre lake on 710 acres south of Highway 101 west of Black Point was opposed by homeowners organizations at a Oct. 6 hearing.

At that time, the commission postpone any action on the master plan pending changes in it. Tonight's meeting is expected to bring out the same opposition.

Other items to come before the commission include applications for use permits for a veterinary clinic on Highway 101, north of Vallejo Avenue for John R. Glassmaker; for the Boys Club of Ameica to locate a clubhouse on the north side of Lamont Avenue, west of the Northwestern Pacifc Railroad, and for Taco Bell drive-in restaurant on the southeast corner of Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue.

Marin Veterinarians To Install Officers

Dr. Charles W. Owens of Woodacre will be installed as president of the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association at a Christmas party and initiation dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday at the San Geronimo Country Club.

Other officers to be installed are Dr. Ray Johnston, vice president; Dr. G. Douglas Thye, secretary, and Dr. David L. Mohler, treasurer.

Tate Slaying Suspect Linked To 'Revolution'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Onetime friends of Charles Manson, leader of the hippie cult linked with the Sharon Tate slayings, say Manson spoke of a "revolution" using dune buggies mounted with machine guns to trigger a Negro vs. white war.

This was part of the portrait that emerged yesterday of the man who, according to one of his followers, ordered the Tate deaths and the carving-fork slayings of a wealthy supermarket owner and his wife the same weekend. The cult, also described as a "harem," is under suspicion in four other killings.

Manson's hippie friends, most of whom declined to be identified when interviewed at a Topanga Canyon hippie community, said the 35-year-old man began to talk of a "revolution" about eight months ago.

"He said he was building a bunch of dune buggies (stripped automobiles modified for desert travel). He said he was going to mount machine guns on them," one young man with long hair recalled.

"He said he'd take his army of dune buggies and kill every white mother—every white pig—between here and the desert." He then planned to take his followers to Death Valley and "sit back and watch the revolution," they said.

"You see, he hated the Establishment. It wasn't that he felt it owed him anything. He just didn't belong.

"He had strong antiblack feelings. They came from those years he spent in the penitentiary, I think," one of the hippies recalled.

Manson is in jail in Independence, Inyo County, on charges of possession of stolen dune buggies, pending action to return him here. He and his followers were arrested in October in Death Valley on charges of operating a car theft ring.

kHis friends weren't clear on exactly how Manson planned to blame blacks for the killings, but the bloody scrawling of variations of the word "pig" at the scene of the Tate killings and two other murder sites was believed to be an attempt to point a finger at black militants.

Passenger Is Hurt In Auto Accident

Paula Tagliareni of 706 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, was to see her own physician for neck pain, according to police, as a result of a two-car collision yesterday in the Emproium parking lot in Northgate Shopping Center.

Mrs. Tagliareni was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Vito, 40, when it was struck from the rear at 3 p.m. by a car driven by Leroy Evan Coates, 21, of 1315 Leafwood Drive, Novato.

Middle Line Is Taken On Penalties

The president of College of Marin today took a middle line in ordering penalities for five students who disrupted an October meeting of the Marin Junior College District board.

Acting Supt. — President Louis H. Herkenhoff hardened the penalties recommended Nov. 26 by the student conduct committee, but did not go as far as those recommended by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond after the Oct. 16 incident.

Herkenhoff recommended disciplinary probation for the rest of the semester for Elena Badell and William Nason, and disciplinary probation for the rest of the school year for Del Mar Jackson and Brigardo Groves. He let stand the committee recommendation that William Acosta receive an official reprimand.

The committee had recommended probation for Groves and Jackson, but only for the semester. The committee had recommended only reprimands for Nason and Miss Badell.

Diamond had ordered disciplinary probation for Acosta and suspension for the other four.

The probation, Herkenhoff ordered, will include removal from all offices in college organizations, and a ban on participation in college or student sponsored activities. Jackson is parliamentarian of the Associated Students.

In a report for the board of trustees, Herkenhoff said he was "convinced I would be unable to satisfy anyone" if the case.

He said he believes that when possible "frustrations are better eased by early vocalization . . . than by later acts that might be violent. Unfortunately my tolerance of the language used and of the noise level of frequently raucous meetings gave the impression to at least some people that anything and everything would be tolerated.

"Let this statement set the record straight: not all angry behavior will be tolerated."

Herkenhoff disagreed with committee findings that Nason and Miss Badell did not sweep materials from the board table at the Oct. 16 meeting. Diamond and Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy reported seeing those actions, he said.

According to Diamond, Jackson, Miss Badell and Nason swept board materials to the floor, Groves shouted obscenities during the disruption, and Acosta took part in a chanting.

"He said he'd take his army of dune buggies and kill every white mother—every white pig—between here and the desert." He then planned to take his followers to Death Valley and "sit back and watch the revolution," they said.

"You see, he hated the Establishment. It wasn't that he felt it owed him anything. He just didn't belong.

"He had strong antiblack feelings. They came from those years he spent in the penitentiary, I think," one of the hippies recalled.

Manson is in jail in Independence, Inyo County, on charges of possession of stolen dune buggies, pending action to return him here. He and his followers were arrested in October in Death Valley on charges of operating a car theft ring.

kHis friends weren't clear on exactly how Manson planned to blame blacks for the killings, but the bloody scrawling of variations of the word "pig" at the scene of the Tate killings and two other murder sites was believed to be an attempt to point a finger at black militants.

Passenger Is Hurt In Auto Accident

Paula Tagliareni of 706 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, was to see her own physician for neck pain, according to police, as a result of a two-car collision yesterday in the Emproium parking lot in Northgate Shopping Center.

Mrs. Tagliareni was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Vito, 40, when it was struck from the rear at 3 p.m. by a car driven by Leroy Evan Coates, 21, of 1315 Leafwood Drive, Novato.

Middle Line Is Taken On Penalties

The president of College of Marin today took a middle line in ordering penalities for five students who disrupted an October meeting of the Marin Junior College District board.

Acting Supt. — President Louis H. Herkenhoff hardened the penalties recommended Nov. 26 by the student conduct committee, but did not go as far as those recommended by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond after the Oct. 16 incident.

Herkenhoff recommended disciplinary probation for the rest of the semester for Elena Badell and William Nason, and disciplinary probation for the rest of the school year for Del Mar Jackson and Brigardo Groves. He let stand the committee recommendation that William Acosta receive an official reprimand.

The committee had recommended probation for Groves and Jackson, but only for the semester. The committee had recommended only reprimands for Nason and Miss Badell.

Diamond had ordered disciplinary probation for Acosta and suspension for the other four.

The probation, Herkenhoff ordered, will include removal from all offices in college organizations, and a ban on participation in college or student sponsored activities. Jackson is parliamentarian of the Associated Students.

In a report for the board of trustees, Herkenhoff said he was "convinced I would be unable to satisfy anyone" if the case.

He said he believes that when possible "frustrations are better eased by early vocalization . . . than by later acts that might be violent. Unfortunately my tolerance of the language used and of the noise level of frequently raucous meetings gave the impression to at least some people that anything and everything would be tolerated.

"Let this statement set the record straight: not all angry behavior will be tolerated."

Herkenhoff disagreed with committee findings that Nason and Miss Badell did not sweep materials from the board table at the Oct. 16 meeting. Diamond and Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy reported seeing those actions, he said.

According to Diamond, Jackson, Miss Badell and Nason swept board materials to the floor, Groves shouted obscenities during the disruption, and Acosta took part in a chanting.

Teen Nabbed As Suspect In Narcotics

A screaming girl on a bad trip from mescaline led to the arrest Saturday afternoon of a 17-year-old El Cerrito youth who also was badly affected by the drug.

Sheriff's said they got a report at about 1 p.m. from the Pan Toll ranger station on Mount Tamalpais of a screaming girl being put into a camper atop a pickup truck.

Deputy Kenneth Froberg, with a description of the truck, halted it on Panoramic Highway, east of Sequoia Valley Road, and after hearing screams from the camper, located the girl, Pamela McNabb of Richmond, who was sent to the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

The driver, Kathleen Teresa Snider, 20, of El Sobrante, and a passenger, Mark R. Strandberg, 17, of El Cerrito told deputies that Laurence Irvin Rockwell, 17, also of El Cerrito, had given the girl mescaline.

Rockwell had fled while the deputy was attending to the girl, but he turned up about 15 minutes later at the yard of Donald Nordhoff, 687 Sequoia Valley Road.

He was in a bad way "on a trip," Nordhoff told deputies.

Rockwell was booked at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of furnishing narcotics to a minor, resisting arrest, being under the influence of narcotics and being beyond parental control.

Adoption Of Business License Next

San Anselmo's controversial new business license ordinance, which was approved by a split vote last Tuesday, will come up for adoption at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

If adopted, the watered-down version of the ordinance would go into effect on Jan. 1.

Last Tuesday's meeting had been billed as a work session and both Mayor Woodrow V. Caprurro and Councilman Robert M. Scott objected to taking a vote then. The ordinance now calls for a $20 business license plus 30 cents per $1,000 gross receipts. An earlier version of the ordinance had 40 cents per $1,000 gross receipts.

City Mgr. Alfred C. Kaeppel is asking authority to invest tax money when it comes in, in time deposit. New legislation allows cities to place greater amounts of tax money in time deposit and get more interest, he said.

The council will introduce an ordinance setting up new garbage collection rates which were agreed on at the Nov. 25 council meeting.

Other items to come before the council include amendment to the agreement with Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District, storm damage on Redwood Road, a form for keeping residential building records and undergrounding utilities on Greenfield and Red Hill Avenues.

Jilted Suitor Kills Bride, Husband, Himself

PORT CRANE, N.Y. (AP) — A bride of six days who screamed for help over a telephone was gunned down in her home yesterday by a rejected boyfriend who also killed her husband and himself, police said.

Broome County deputy sheriffs, eight miles away from the home of Mrs. Charles Jarrarde in this Binghamton suburb, said they were on the telephone in response to her call for help when they heard her yell to her husband:

"Don't open the door, don't let him in." After that, deputies said, they heard a commotion and shots.

They found Jarrarde, 37, dead from a shotgun blast in his chest. Mrs. Jarrarde, 35, had been shot several times and then clubbed with the butt of a 16-gauge shotgun.

The gunman, deputies said, was Arthur J. Reynolds, 37, of Port Crane, north of Binghamton, who they said died of a self-inflicted wound.

$30,000 Homestead Valley House Fire Also Claims Dog

Fire destroyed a Homestead Valley home Saturday night while the occupants were out to dinner and their dog died in the blaze.

The fire, of unknown orgin, destroyed the main living area of the home of Gerald H. Frank at 980 Greenhill Road, reported the Tamalpais Valley Fire Department.

A neighbor, M. N. Finisy, reported the blaze at 7:56 p.m. and when firemen arrived the house was totally involved, they said.

Damage to the two-story, three bedroom, wood frame house and contents was estimated at $30,000.

The only area not burned out was the family room in the bottom story and the foundation, firemen said.

Three engines and 20 men were sent to the scene.

Arizona has a water surface of only about 334 square miles.

$106 Is Taken From Youths

Two Southern Marin youths were accosted in Marin City Friday night by thieves who took $106 in cash from one of them, sheriff's deputies have reported.

John N. Murphy, 19, of 103 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry, told deputies, he and his companion, William Kelley Just, 19, of Midvale Way, Homestead Valley, were approached while walking near 261 Drake Avenue on their way to visit a home at 10:15 p.m.

Two men wearing scarves around their hair, approached and demanded their money, Murphy said.

The two men took $106 from Just and left, deputies reported.

Young Kennedy Greets Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy was smoothly narrating Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" at a Christmas concert of the Washington National Symphony yesterday when a voice from the audience interrupted her.

"Hi, Mommy," yelled out her 2-year-old son, Patrick, several times after recognizing his mother on stage.

His mother smiled and attempted to continue but lost her place momentarily. She recovered and her husband, Sen. Eward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took Patrick on his lap and pacified him.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

The new Mercedes-Benz 250. To some, it doesn't "look" worth $5,299. Read why it is.*

Yesterday's dreamboats had enormous tail fins.

Today, it's fastbacks, racing stripes, and wall-to-wall chrome grilles.

Obviously, there are millions every year who are willing to buy a car that's "in vogue"—even though they know newer gimcracks and styling quirks will soon erode their investment.

But Mercedes-Benz refuses to play the "planned obsolescence" game.

At Mercedes-Benz, iron-willed engineers, not stylists, rule the roost. And they insist on putting value where they think it belongs: at the heart of their machines.

That's why Mercedes-Benz motor cars can cost anywhere from about $4,600* to $27,000* without, to some tastes, "looking" it.

Form follows function

Make no mistake. The perfectionists at Mercedes-Benz do not apologize for those classic lines—free of faddish touches—that will still be handsome years from now. They simply think form should follow function instead of fashion.

The contours of that 250 sedan at right were dictated by the need to provide proper headroom, hiproom, legroom and protective packaging for five adults. Dictated by the proportions required for nimble maneuverability.

The car is both shorter and leaner than its overweight rivals. Yet it bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans.

A superb machine

Too sophisticated, some critics say. Nonsense, retort Mercedes-Benz engineers. If a man can afford to invest thousands of dollars in a superb driving machine, he is entitled to get something superb.

What he gets in a Mercedes-Benz is legendary in automotive circles.

An expert from Car and Driver tested the "new" 250 when it was released early in 1968 after an incubation period of five years. His verdict: "Offhand, I can't think of any other 4-door sedan in the world—with the possible exception of the Maserati Quattroporte—that handles, steers and stops like the Mercedes."

Scrapping the solid rear axle system of most domestic cars, the 250 uses an all-independent suspension—plus anti-sway bars front and rear. This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels. Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks. Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this gruelling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

Full color brochure

If you'd like more facts on this remarkable $5,313* machine, mail the coupon for a full-color brochure.

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:

280S Sedan—the most roadworthy car you can buy in the luxury class, $6,408*.

280SL Roadster—a sports car for grown-ups, combines soul-stirring performance with comfort, $7,478*.

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,887*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $10,934*.

Freed Americans Report Peking Mobilizing For Soviet-U.S. War

HONG KONG (UPI)—Two Americans realeased from 10 months in Communist Chinese captivity say Peking is mobilizing its population for a war with the Soviet Union and the United States.

The two, Simeon Baldwin, 57, a businessman formerly of Laguna Beach and Bessie Hope Donald, 47, a secretary formerly of Bristol, Va., were towed to Hong Kong on Baldwin's yacht by a Chinese junk yesterday.

"There are preparations for war everywhere," Baldwin said. "There are roadblocks and militia training everywhere and the Chinese told me they were preparing against American and Soviet invasions."

Baldwin, an aircraft engineering executive, and Mrs. Donald were among 15 persons detained by Chinese authorities Feb. 16 while on a pleasure cruise from Hong Kong to Macao, the Portugese territory 45 miles south west of here.

The Chinese released the others April 3. Baldwin said he and Mrs. Donald were suspected as spies and thus were held longer. He said they added to Chinese supicion by throwing their passports into the water just before capture and pretending to be of another nationality.

They said they were "well treated" by the Chinese, given sufficient food, cigarettes, medical care and were permitted to take walks to keep fit. Mrs. Donald said she was offered a teaching post at Canton University but rejected it.

Before their release, they signed statements "admitting our crime for illegally entering Chinese waters by mistake," Baldwin said. "We repeatedly wrote confessions because the Chinese said they wanted rewording of the confessions to their understanding."

A New China News Agency dispatch announcing their release Sunday said, "After the Chinese authorities concerned had examined and verified the facts, the two Americans admitted their mistakes of trying to conceal their identity and intruding into China's territorial sea."

Baldwin said they were held in solitary confinement, first in Heung Chau, a small town north of Macao, then in a place called the Happy People's Commune, 60 miles northwest of Canton. Finally, about a month ago, they were moved to the Red Star People's Commune outside of Canton.

Both Baldwin and Mrs. Donald said they lost weight during their ordeal but declined to say how much. Both appeared composed, in good health but tired.

Rockefeller Grants To Cal, Salk Institute

NEW YORK (AP) — The University of California and the Salk Institute of La Jolla are among various institutions named by the Rockefeller Foundation to receive more than $6 million in grants.

Noting that the United States is rapidly exhausting the capacity of air, water and soil to absorb wastes, the foundation said yesterday the grants included $1.85 million to begin a program to better the quality of environment.

The Berkeley and Riverside campuses of the University of California will share $600,000 with Cornell and Illinois Universities to search for pesticides that do not persist in toxic form for long periods of time.

The Salk Institute was granted $750,000 for reproduction research and UC Davis $200,000 to enable scholars to accept assignments in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Mrs. Jean C. Appleton, 28, of 77 Laurel Avenue, Larkspur, suffered a cut upper lip and a nose bleed yesterday in a one-car accident on Highway 101, a mile north of the Novato dump entrance, the California Highway Patrol reported.

She was a passenger in a southbound car driven by her husband, John W. Appleton, 36, when the right front tire blew out and the car struck a dirt embankment at 1:40 a.m. officers reported.

Appleton, building and planning superintendent for the city of Larkspur, was driving a city-owned sedan, officers reported. Mrs. Appleton told officers she would be treated by her own doctor.

Tamalpais Creek 'Funeral' Features Planting Of Tree

"Nobody's going to save the land for us," warned Marty Kent Jones Saturday, predicting Corte Madera Creek and other tributaries would go the way of Tamalpais Creek.

Mrs. Jones spoke at a "funeral" for Tam Creek in a scene much calmer than her last public appearance there last spring when she and dozens of others were arrested for trying to save the creek.

The work objected to — a concrete lining and fencing by the Army Corps of Engineers — is finished now and Saturday's happening was billed as Tam Creek's farewell.

"We said 'it can't happen here,' but it did," said Mrs. Jones, recalling events of the spring. She read from a book written by President Theodore Roosevelt's chief forester in 1910, noting it could well have been today.

She commented on the absence of the press from the Saturday event, noting news media was there when there was a confrontation. "They are missing the essence of the thing," she said, urging the 60 persons present to work individually for conservation. However, there were reporters present.

A tiny oak tree planted beside the creek was dedicated along with a plaque, commemorating the "destruction" of Tamalpais and Corte Madera creeks.

Mrs. Jones also reported a documentary on the spring effort is being prepared and is expected to be ready in January.

In the crowd Saturday were several who were at the creek in the spring, including Mrs. Jones's sister, Nancy Danielson, Lawrence Halprin, Kimo Campbell and Richard Beban. Others present included San Anselmo City Councilman James F. Reed, Pat Arrigoni, wife of Marin Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., and Betty Fleming, a grape strike activist.

British Public Opposes Ending Death Penalty

LONDON — (London Express News Service) — A survey carried out for the Daily Express by Louis Harris Research Ltd. reveals that 84 per cent of Britain's voters want the death penalty restored as the ultimate crime deterrent.

Supporters of the death peanlty for murder are planning a new campaign to stop parliament from rushing through an act to abloish hanging.

The leader of the drive, Duncan Sandys, Conservative member of Parliament, said he was not surprised by the results of the poll.

"This confirms once again that the citizens of this country want the protection of the death penalty for crimes of murder," Sandys said.

"On a straightforward issue like this, which is not a matter of party politics, the man in the street is able to form his own opinion as well as a member of Parliament and should be heard."

Freed Americans Report Peking Mobilizing For Soviet-U.S. War

HONG KONG (UPI)—Two Americans realeased from 19 months in Communist Chinese captivity say Peking is mobilizing its population for a war with the Soviet Union and the United States.

The two, Simeon Baldwin, 57, a businessman formerly of Laguna Beach and Bessie Hope Donald, 47, a secretary formerly of Bristol, Va., were towed to Hong Kong on Baldwin's yacht by a Chinese junk yesterday.

"There are preparations for war everywhere," Baldwin said. "There are roadblocks and militia training everywhere and the Chinese told me they were preparing against American and Soviet invasions."

Before their release, they signed statements "admitting our crime for illegally entering Chinese waters by mistake," Baldwin said. "We repeatedly wrote confessions because the Chinese said they wanted rewording of the confessions to their understanding."

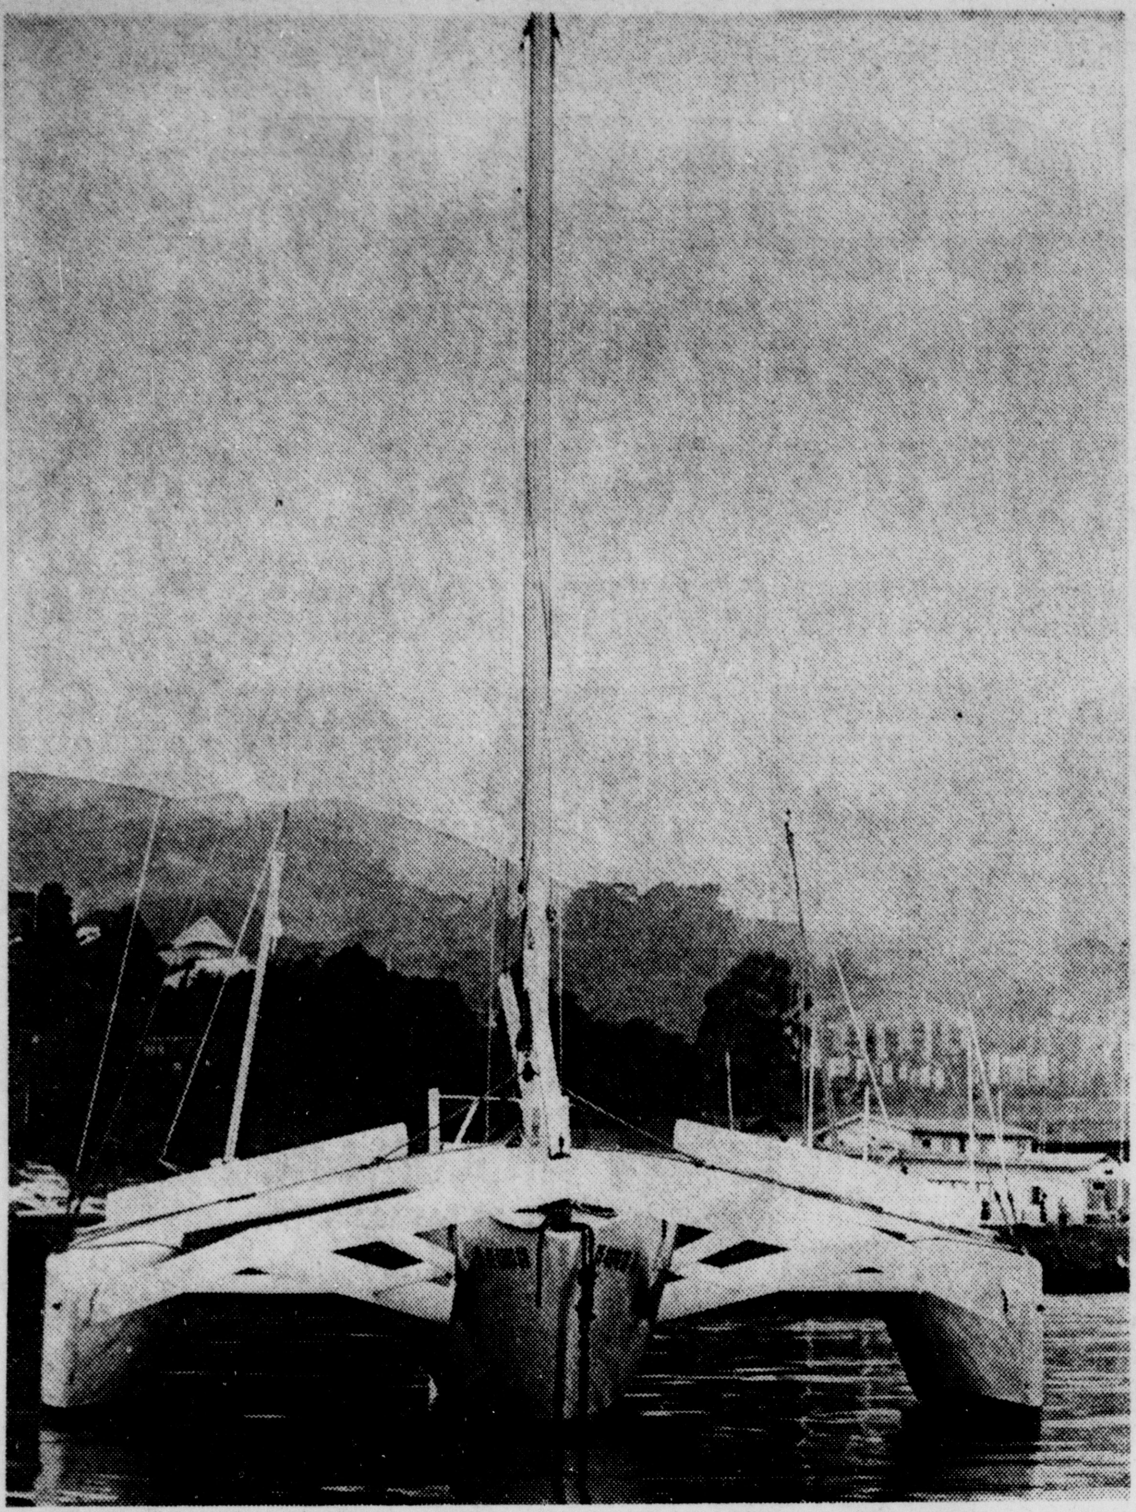
Marinite Will Try Ocean Trip Aboard A Hydrofoil



HAWAII BOUND—The 31-foot hydrofoil, the Williwaw, built by David Keiper, stands ready for a voyage to Hawaii. Keiper has tested the boat for two years in preparation for the ocean trip. (Independent-Journal photos by Alfred Arn)

By CHARLES YOAKUM

A few years ago, the Williwaw was an idea bouncing around in David Keiper's head.

Today Keiper was to pull anchor and set sail in his 31-foot "idea," trying to be the first man to sail a hydrofoil on an ocean voyage.

His destination: Hawaii.

"With any luck, I will make it in eight days, which would be a record," the tall, slender Sausalitan said Saturday.

The Williwaw is no ordinary boat. Keiper built the hydrofoil sailing yacht about three years ago in Black Point and his sailing ideas are considered pretty revolutionary. He's tested the boat in San Francisco waters for the past two years and has been able to hit 20 knots with only a 15 knot wind, due to the use of four special hydrofoils he designed himself.

How did the Williwaw come to be?

"I was sailing back east several years ago," said the 38-year-old bachelor, "and our sailboat was bounding and bouncing in a heavy breeze, the sails were bent about double, but we were still only making about seven knots. I decided there must be a better way."

The Cornell University graduate attacked the problem with his physics background and gradually came up with the answer. The Williwaw came to be — after about seven months of hard work.

Keiper, who taught physics at College of Marin last semester, has had some experience with ocean sailing. Several years ago, he took an all-female crew on a voyage around the South Pacific on another boat he has since sold. This time he will have one crew member.

Male or female?

"I was afraid you'd ask that," he grinned. "Female."

The Williwaw has 380 square feet of sail and with any luck, Keiper hopes to make between 300 to 400 nautical miles per day on his Hawaiian voyage.

The boat is built for speed and while the living space — the compartment below deck — is not spartan-like, its not the Ritz Hotel either. Two single bunks, one on either side, are balanced amidships. There is also a small kerosene stove. The rest is used for storage.

"Eating is no problem," said Keiper. "We take a lot of canned things and eggs. Of course we can't take any fresh meats because it would spoil."

Keiper said he hopes to return to the mainland in the spring, again in the Williwaw.

"I'll probably charter the Williwaw out while I'm in Hawaii," he grinned. "After all, I've got to make some kind of a living."

The Williwaw has a plywood hull covered with fiberglass. It has two sails. When under full sail in a good breeze, the four hydrofoils lift the 16-inch hull almost completely out of the water.

While Keiper has had up to nine persons aboard the boat, it is designed for two or three people, plus supplies. It has no engine and relies on its sails. The helmsman and passengers are able to sit in a deep cockpit, having full visability, yet out of the elements.

Keiper admits that it will take a lot of luck to reach Hawaii in the eight days, noting that at this time of the year, the winds are inconsistant.

Keiper has somewhat distant plans for marketing his boat, which he said would cost $15,000 if he built it for someone else. He said the existing major boat companies haven't bought his idea or copied it "because they are too tradition bound."

But Keiper admits that he's somewhat less than an ambitious man. He prefers taking his own boat to Hawaii than building one for someone else.

ABOARD THE WILLIWAW—David Keiper, who hopes to be the first man to sail a hydrofoil on an ocean voyage, inspects his boat for final adjustments before leaving for Hawaii, a trip he expects will take eight days.

Pope Orders Publication Of 1st Council Documents

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has ordered the publication of all the documents and letters pertaining to the First Vatican Council, which decreed papal infallibility, the Vatican announced today.

Many of the documents from the council had already been made public. But to mark the centenary of the council's opening — Dec. 8, 1869 — the pontiff declared that a new edition on the council be put out, containing all relevant documents.

Theologians, historians and other scholars have already been asssigned to the task. They will work from the files in the Vatican archives.

Vatican observers expect the work to take at least a year.

Vatican Council I was the first of 20 general councils of the Roman Catholic Church to be held in St. Peter's Basilica. About 800 cardinals, bishops, patriarchs and abbots took part, under the stewardship of Pius IX.

The council was filled with controversy on the question of papal infallibility. Most Roman Catholics at the time favored it but there was a good deal of confusion about its meaning.

Some wanted all papal pronouncements considered infallible. In the end, the council votes its approval of a document called Pastor Aeternus—Eternal Pastor—which said the Pope was infallible in making certain pronouncements on matters of dogma. To signal the use of the infallibility provision, a pontiff must make such pronouncements 'ex cathedra' — from the chair.

Since Vatican I the ex cathedra formula has been used only once, when Pope Pius XII proclaimed the dogma of the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary into heaven. He did this on Nov. 1, 1950.

The vote on the infallibility document took place July 18, 1870, with Pius XI presiding. It passed 433-2. Both Bishops who voted no accepted the document immediately afterward. They were Luigi Riccio of Italy and Edward Fitzgerald of Little Rock, Ark.

Arms Talks Postponed For Today

HELSINKI (AP) — The eighth working session of the U.S. — Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, scheduled for today, was postponed at the request of the U.S. delegation.

The U.S. request seemed sure to give rise to speculation that trouble had developed in the talks, although an American spokesman insisted this was not the case. He said the session was postponed over the weekend by mutual agreement because "we did not have the required information."

The spokesman declined to explain further but said the session probably would be held tomorrow. There is "no issue, no setback," he insisted.

There was no public inkling of the postponement until the U.S. delegation failed to show up at the Soviet embassy this morning.

The U.S. and Soviet delegations have agreed not to give out substantive information about the talks, making it impossible to know whether the public displays of good will are being matched by any real agreement on specific points.

The talks are supposed to be working out arrangements for substantive negotiations on limitation of the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals. Conference sources had predicted that these preliminary talks would end in a week or 10 days with agreement to hold full-scale talks early in the new year.

The last working session was held Friday, but the two delegations saw each other Saturday at a ball given by President Urho Kekkonen for Finnish Independence Day.

The chief U.S. and Soviet delegates, Gerard Smith and Vladimir Semenov, chatted at length and amiably with each other, and other members of the two delegations spent much time together at the ball and seemed to be on the best of terms.

Potlatch totem poles were used to mark major ritualistic or festive occasions. Some towered 80 feet, emblazoned with brightly painted figures of land animals, birds, fish, and perhaps the owner's image.

Useful And Decorative Cats Make Her Giant Collection

MOST PRIZED of all Mrs. Henry F. Clouette's cats is this only live one — Vixen, a purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby. Some of Mrs. Clouette's collection will be seen at Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club. Independent-Journal photos)

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Guests and members visiting Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club, in which members are exhibiting their cherished possessions, will see only a few things in the fabulous cat collection of Mrs. Henry F. Clouette.

To appreciate it fully, one must go to her home in Sausalito that is literally filled with more than 500 useful and decorative felines of all kinds Only one is live Vixen, a pampered purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby.

Wearing gold and pearl cat-head earrings and a gold pendant watch topped by a cat, Vera Clouette took me on a tour of the house that has cats in every conceivable place, including lampshades. They look down in smug complacency even from valances above the windows.

Yet, the effect is not one of clutter, for she apparently has a gift for organization.

The cats are in dimensions ranging from the thumb-tip sized one that started her collection in 1947, a year after she had completed a four-year tour of duty as a WAC captain and came to Sausalito in 1946, to two-foot-tall black iron andirons with shining eyes.

Some of the materials they are made of are Venetian glass, brass, resin, Spode china and ceramics, candles, iron and paper. There is even one fashioned from a fungus and some edible ones in chocolate and marzipan.

One small cupboard is filled with nothing but salt and pepper shaker cats. An especially cherished piece is a silver cat napkin ring that had belonged to Chlotilda Reed, the granddaughter of the famed Marin pioneer John Thomas Reed.

Some of the collection is in albums, such as the fancy little napkins and very impressive postage stamps from 31 countries, each having a cat head or other feline design on it. "There are none from the United States," Vera laments.

"I have been interested in cats ever since I was a child living on a farm, where everything was my pet," she says. "Recently I have had only two live cats, first a male I called Puma — because I like wild animal names. He lived 15 years. Vixen," she said, as she stroked the handsome gold-eyed animal, "is eight years old. She has her own dining room under the sink and opens the door herself."

Originally from Pennsylvania, Mrs. Clouette was a social worker before she was employed in personnel work as a WAC captain during World War II. Sent to the West Coast, she worked at Fort Mason two years in San Francisco before she settled in Sausalito, where she has been a member of the Sausalito Woman's Club many years.

Her WAC background led to her membership in the American Legion Post 284 in Mill Valley, for which she is oratorical contest chairman at present. She was county council commander when there were 12 posts in Marin, the only woman ever to hold that position, and she is a past commander of the now defunct Marin Women's Post of the American Legion.

While cats are her major hobby, Vera Clouette has many other interests. She and her husband, a retired official of the Northwest Pacific Railroad, are members of the California State and Marin Historical Societies. On the board of the Marin Society 12 years, she is deeply involved in the compiling of a history of Marin.

For many years she has been a member of the California Geneagological Society. A past regent of the El Marinero chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Vera was DAR state chairman for historical spots.

Pointing to a tall ceramic cat, she said, "that one was an engagement present from the DAR when Henry and I announced our engagement."

Completely different interests of this remarkable woman are weaving and music. She is just learning to play her Wurlitzer console organ, and she is an accomplished weaver. Evidence of that was some handsome material she is making for a coat seen on her loom.

"I learned to weave in a class at the College of Marin,"

MRS. HENRY F. Clouette, who will have some of the 500 items in her cat collection at Thursday's Sausalito Woman's Club "Treasure Chest" show, pours tea from a cat teapot. From left on one table are a Kilkenny cat from Ireland, a tall cat given her as an engagement present by her DAR chapter, a gold resin cat and a gray china cat. From left on the other table are a silver napkin that belonged to Chlotilda Reed, the first tiny cat that started the collection and a white china cat.

Eating On A Welfare Budget

(Last of a series on the six Marin families' experiment to live on the equivalent of a welfare food budget.)

By BARBARA HOSMER

"We're glad it's not for 52 weeks."

"I didn't make it."

"We gained weight."

"We lost two pounds."

"We never spend that much for food anyway."

"It takes so much time to plan."

"Horse meat helps, but it's illegal for people to eat it."

"Peanut butter saved us."

The six families who have just finished the Operation Tight-Belt project to live for two weeks within the equivalent of a welfare food budget sat around a table at the Marin Civic Center and compared their experiences with two mothers whose families actually receive public assistance.

Their problems were similar and their solutions and comments eagerly picked up by all.

ALL FELT a genuine interest in good nutrition for their families and found it rough to provide on a low budget. But it could be done with plenty of careful menu planning and shopping the specials.

"I really had to plan menus to balance them and include enough vitamin C and so forth," remarked Mrs. Bruce Stilson of San Rafael, whose family had just finished Operation Tight-Belt.

"I found I just couldn't feed the neighborhood kids — I had to send them home. Then I devised snacks such as carrots for them," she said.

The mother of two young boys, Val Stilson fed her family a lot of peanut butter during the two weeks experiment.

"The children love it," she said.

"We do too," chimed in Mrs. Florence Gardner, whose family actually does live on a public assistance budget. "We buy the biggest jar we can get — the old fashioned kind that is not hydrogenated and lower in cholesterol."

If you can get it on sale so much the better, they agreed.

Cocoa with skim milk was another good way to fill the hungry void, Mrs. Stilson commented.

"Yes, I buy the unsweetened cocoa because I found that it's cheaper to add the sugar yourself," added Mrs. Jocelyn Bell, whose family receives Aid to Families With Dependent Children assistance. The mother of six children under 16, she said, "The kids drink up a large container in no time. But you have to cook it first for better taste."

"We use concentrated liquid milk," put in Mrs. E. B. Johnson of Novato, whose family of nine found the Operation Tight-Belt food budget quite possible, as she is used to planning her menus very carefully.

The use of the cheaper, powdered milk for drinking was vetoed by most, who found their families simply didn't like it.

But it's good to use in recipes, said Mrs. Kenneth Behnken, wife of the Peace Lutheran Church pastor in Mill Valley. They and their three daughters found the Tight-Belt experiment not too difficult.

A RETIRED couple who also were on the experiment, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beans of Forest Knolls, said that they prefer a high protein diet and drink the reconstituted powdered milk by strengthening the mixture a bit.

Mrs. Beans said she couldn't have stayed anywhere near the food budget for the two weeks if she hadn't had a fairly large refrigerator and a car to shop in Fairfax instead of a market near their Forest Knolls home.

"And of course I had the flu one day and didn't feel like eating anything, so that helped."

Her husband remarked that bananas were good and inexpensive, and that they also liked whole grain cereal mixtures.

"We're older people and can't eat a lot of starch or we'd put on weight. We stayed on a high protein diet," said his wife. Following the low income food budget for two weeks "I was more tired and had to sleep longer. When you get older you can't sponge on food," she said.

The experiment caused the wives to shop around more than usual and they found quite a difference in prices around the county for certain foods.

But you have to have a car to do that, they agreed, and families on a welfare budget or with an equivalent low income often cannot afford one.

Mrs. Bell remarked that her family of eight persons relies on a 1959 car that cost $200, "But it uses so much gas."

The Johnsons did a careful study over a year and found that it costs them $62 a month to run their car.

The state welfare department estimates the average car cost is $60 a month, pointed out Betty Presley, director of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, which sponsored the experiment with the Volunteer Bureau.

"Yes, and the welfare allotment for transportation is one dollar per person a month," Mrs. Merall Roth of Greenbrae added.

EACH FAMILY had been given the figure of what public assistance would be for various household expenses when the Tight-Belt project began.

"Did anybody have an emergency in the household?" asked Betty Presley.

"I got a parking ticket," Mrs. Roth said, "and that would have to come out of the food money."

A super-planner with her husband and seven children to feed, Mrs. Johnson said that the public assistance food budget was reasonable. "We got along well — it's about what I normally spend," she said. "If a welfare family could spend the food allowance for food it would be all right, but," she said, "when anything comes up the only place you can get the money for it is from the food budget. Rent and utilities you can't cut — they're constant."

Had they been on welfare the total monthly grant for the nine members of the Johnson family would have been $542.

"It's just not realistic," Mrs. Johnson said, citing housing, transportation and utility costs especially.

The Johnsons managed to come out $5 ahead on their two weeks food budget, took the children out for tacos, cold

Novato Parents Are Club's First Leaders

Mr. and Mrs. James Dirk Van der Beets are serving as the first presidents of the Sinaloa Junior High School Parent-Teacher-Student Club in Novato.

Beverly Van der Beets is a teller at the Santa Rosa Savings and Loan in Novato and James Van der Beets is director of athletics and a teacher of physical education and science at San Marin High School.

Mrs. Van der Beets was graduated from Capuchino High School in Millbrae and her husband was graduated from Burlingame High School and San Jose State. He also attended Sonoma State and San Francisco State colleges. His fraternities are Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Epsilon Kappa, an honorary society. He was on the track team for two years at San Jose State. James is a member of the Novato Community Club and is past president of the North Bay League Coaches Association and is now president of Novato Coaches Association for the Novato secondary schools. Golf and gardening are his hobbies.

The couple have lived in Marin County 10 years. They have three children, Jim, 13, Debbie, 12, and Heidi, 8 years old. Camping and traveling are the interests of Mrs. Van der Beets.

Projects planned by the parent-teacher-student club are vocational and educational night, father-son dinner, mother-daughter fashion show and athletic awards dinner.

Useful And Decorative Cats Make Her Giant Collection

MOST PRIZED of all Mrs. Henry F. Clouette's cats is this only live one — Vixen, a purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby. Some of Mrs. Clouette's collection will be seen at Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club. Independent-Journal photos)

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Guests and members visiting Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club, in which members are exhibiting their cherished possessions, will see only a few things in the fabulous cat collection of Mrs. Henry F. Clouette.

To appreciate it fully, one must go to her home in Sausalito that is literally filled with more than 500 useful and decorative felines of all kinds Only one is live Vixen, a pampered purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby.

Wearing gold and pearl cat-head earrings and a gold pendant watch topped by a cat, Vera Clouette took me on a tour of the house that has cats in every conceivable place, including lampshades. They look down in smug complacency even from valances above the windows.

Yet, the effect is not one of clutter, for she apparently has a gift for organization.

The cats are in dimensions ranging from the thumb-tip sized one that started her collection in 1947, a year after she had completed a four-year tour of duty as a WAC captain and came to Sausalito in 1946, to two-foot-tall black iron andirons with shining eyes.

Some of the materials they are made of are Venetian glass, brass, resin, Spode china and ceramics, candles, iron and paper. There is even one fashioned from a fungus and some edible ones in chocolate and marzipan.

One small cupboard is filled with nothing but salt and pepper shaker cats. An especially cherished piece is a silver cat napkin ring that had belonged to Chlotilda Reed, the granddaughter of the famed Marin pioneer John Thomas Reed.

Some of the collection is in albums, such as the fancy little napkins and very impressive postage stamps from 31 countries, each having a cat head or other feline design on it. "There are none from the United States," Vera laments.

"I have been interested in cats ever since I was a child living on a farm, where everything was my pet," she says. "Recently I have had only two live cats, first a male I called Puma — because I like wild animal names. He lived 15 years. Vixen," she said, as she stroked the handsome gold-eyed animal, "is eight years old. She has her own dining room under the sink and opens the door herself."

Originally from Pennsylvania, Mrs. Clouette was a social worker before she was employed in personnel work as a WAC captain during World War II. Sent to the West Coast, she worked at Fort Mason two years in San Francisco before she settled in Sausalito, where she has been a member of the Sausalito Woman's Club many years.

Her WAC background led to her membership in the American Legion Post 284 in Mill Valley, for which she is oratorical contest chairman at present. She was county council commander when there were 12 posts in Marin, the only woman ever to hold that position, and she is a past commander of the now defunct Marin Women's Post of the American Legion.

While cats are her major hobby, Vera Clouette has many other interests. She and her husband, a retired official of the Northwest Pacific Railroad, are members of the California State and Marin Historical Societies. On the board of the Marin Society 12 years, she is deeply involved in the compiling of a history of Marin.

For many years she has been a member of the California Geneagological Society. A past regent of the El Marinero chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Vera was DAR state chairman for historical spots.

Pointing to a tall ceramic cat, she said, "that one was an engagement present from the DAR when Henry and I announced our engagement."

Completely different interests of this remarkable woman are weaving and music. She is just learning to play her Wurlitzer console organ, and she is an accomplished weaver. Evidence of that was some handsome material she is making for a coat seen on her loom.

"I learned to weave in a class at the College of Marin,"

Eating On A Welfare Budget

(Last of a series on the six Marin families' experiment to live on the equivalent of a welfare food budget.)

By BARBARA HOSMER

"We're glad it's not for 52 weeks."

"I didn't make it."

"We gained weight."

"We lost two pounds."

"We never spend that much for food anyway."

"It takes so much time to plan."

"Horse meat helps, but it's illegal for people to eat it."

"Peanut butter saved us."

The six families who have just finished the Operation Tight-Belt project to live for two weeks within the equivalent of a welfare food budget sat around a table at the Marin Civic Center and compared their experiences with two mothers whose families actually receive public assistance.

Their problems were similar and their solutions and comments eagerly picked up by all.

ALL FELT a genuine interest in good nutrition for their families and found it rough to provide on a low budget. But it could be done with plenty of careful menu planning and shopping the specials.

"I really had to plan menus to balance them and include enough vitamin C and so forth," remarked Mrs. Bruce Stilson of San Rafael, whose family had just finished Operation Tight-Belt.

"I found I just couldn't feed the neighborhood kids — I had to send them home. Then I devised snacks such as carrots for them," she said.

The mother of two young boys, Val Stilson fed her family a lot of peanut butter during the two weeks experiment.

"The children love it," she said.

"We do too," chimed in Mrs. Florence Gardner, whose family actually does live on a public assistance budget. "We buy the biggest jar we can get — the old fashioned kind that is not hydrogenated and lower in cholesterol."

If you can get it on sale so much the better, they agreed.

Cocoa with skim milk was another good way to fill the hungry void, Mrs. Stilson commented.

"Yes, I buy the unsweetened cocoa because I found that it's cheaper to add the sugar yourself," added Mrs. Jocelyn Bell, whose family receives Aid to Families With Dependent Children assistance. The mother of six children under 16, she said, "The kids drink up a large container in no time. But you have to cook it first for better taste."

"We use concentrated liquid milk," put in Mrs. E. B. Johnson of Novato, whose family of nine found the Operation Tight-Belt food budget quite possible, as she is used to planning her menus very carefully.

The use of the cheaper, powdered milk for drinking was vetoed by most, who found their families simply didn't like it.

But it's good to use in recipes, said Mrs. Kenneth Behnken, wife of the Peace Lutheran Church pastor in Mill Valley. They and their three daughters found the Tight-Belt experiment not too difficult.

A RETIRED couple who also were on the experiment, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beans of Forest Knolls, said that they prefer a high protein diet and drink the reconstituted powdered milk by strengthening the mixture a bit.

Mrs. Beans said she couldn't have stayed anywhere near the food budget for the two weeks if she hadn't had a fairly large refrigerator and a car to shop in Fairfax instead of a market near their Forest Knolls home.

"And of course I had the flu one day and didn't feel like eating anything, so that helped."

Her husband remarked that bananas were good and inexpensive, and that they also liked whole grain cereal mixtures.

"We're older people and can't eat a lot of starch or we'd put on weight. We stayed on a high protein diet," said his wife. Following the low income food budget for two weeks "I was more tired and had to sleep longer. When you get older you can't sponge on food," she said.

The experiment caused the wives to shop around more than usual and they found quite a difference in prices around the county for certain foods.

But you have to have a car to do that, they agreed, and families on a welfare budget or with an equivalent low income often cannot afford one.

Mrs. Bell remarked that her family of eight persons relies on a 1959 car that cost $200, "But it uses so much gas."

The Johnsons did a careful study over a year and found that it costs them $62 a month to run their car.

The state welfare department estimates the average car cost is $60 a month, pointed out Betty Presley, director of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, which sponsored the experiment with the Volunteer Bureau.

"Yes, and the welfare allotment for transportation is one dollar per person a month," Mrs. Merall Roth of Greenbrae added.

EACH FAMILY had been given the figure of what public assistance would be for various household expenses when the Tight-Belt project began.

"Did anybody have an emergency in the household?" asked Betty Presley.

"I got a parking ticket," Mrs. Roth said, "and that would have to come out of the food money."

A super-planner with her husband and seven children to feed, Mrs. Johnson said that the public assistance food budget was reasonable. "We got along well — it's about what I normally spend," she said. "If a welfare family could spend the food allowance for food it would be all right, but," she said, "when anything comes up the only place you can get the money for it is from the food budget. Rent and utilities you can't cut — they're constant."

Had they been on welfare the total monthly grant for the nine members of the Johnson family would have been $542.

"It's just not realistic," Mrs. Johnson said, citing housing, transportation and utility costs especially.

The Johnsons managed to come out $5 ahead on their two weeks food budget, took the children out for tacos, cold

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Can Fashion's Latest Fad Be Domesticated Cat Fur Coats?

DEAR HELEN:

I heard on television that the latest fad is fur coats out of cat fur. I mean domesticated cats. Could anyone sink that low?

I get visions of catnappers who would steal children's pets to sell them to furriers. Would you wear a cat coat? REVOLTED

DEAR REV:

No way!

But then I don't wear a sable coat either — and for different reasons. —H

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is the kind of man any woman would want. That's the trouble. They do.

Especially at the annual Christmas party given by his office. The secretaries who plan these brawls make it clear that wives aren't invited, and at least three of them are eager divorcees who have made unsuccessful plays for my man. He is resistive but he is human. He has to attend as he is one of the bosses.

He even has to contribute money for the liquor that those gals hope will start a "beautiful relationship" — with somebody else's husband. I happen to know as I was a secretary once myself and listened in on the plans. Many an office affair got its start at the Christmas party.

Well, this year things will be different. Today I called every one of the wives, disguising my voice. I said I was "Miss Smith, in charge of the Christmas party, and we were making wives the special guests of honor this year, so be sure to come." All but one accepted immediately.

There wil be a lot of surprised men at the dinner table tonight. By the time the secretaries hear about the hoax, it will be too late. I can't imagine even the most brazen calling up the wives and saying, "It was a mistake — you aren't wanted at our party."

I write this in hope that you'll put in in your column and give other disgruntled wives an idea about how to squash the annual Christmas orgy. — SMART AND SNEAKY

DEAR S AND S:

Do let me know how things turn out. I'm a patsy for happy endings — H

DEAR HELEN:

We've heard how terrible townspeople act toward the hippies, but how about the other side of the story?

I have a country store near a hippie commune. They'd wander in barefooted and ragged, with clothes so dirty they were stiff. If that wasn't enough to drive off other customers, they'd unscrew the lids of jelly and peanut butter, dip their fingers in and lick them. Their "share the wealth" policy meant they would pick up anything loose and put it under their ponchos.

Finally, I made a rule that one one member of the commune could buy for all. That way, I could watch him — STOREKEEPER

DEAR HELEN:

I agreed with the middle-aged lady who stood up for the hippies. My husband is in business where he comes in contact with these people. We have noticed that they are kind, not only to each other but even to people who don't treat them very well. They are consistently polite and have some of the best mannered children around. Also, they are nice to talk to. — I.F.K.

Two Weeks On A Welfare Budget

drinks and ice cream, and the parents dined alone at a smorgasbord restaurant one night.

"We have a rural background and we eat well but not fancy. We had a nice Thanksgiving, but I saved toward that," Mrs. Johnson explained.

Mrs. Behnken said that the food allotment was realistic for her family of five.

"I never spend that much anyway. I'm a frugal shopper, I bargain hunt and am a coupon saver."

The Behnkens managed to have flank steaks bought on sale, London broil and stroganoff.

"We like casseroles and the children love hotdogs and beans," Mrs. Behnken said. "But there's nothing worse than a bad hotdog," she said with a wry laugh, raising the whole discussion about hotdog quality brands and fat content along the table.

MANY OF the families had lived in other parts of the country before Marin and find housing, some food and transportation costs higher, but utilities lower.

Out in West Marin where the housing costs are cheaper, utilities and transportation costs rise, Betty Presley put in.

"So many people think welfare people live high on the hog — it's impossible!" remarked Sue Roth.

The Tight-Belt families talked about the psychological effect it would have on them to know that they had to live poor.

"You couldn't own your own home because you could never make the payments. You would have to give up all your insurance policies. By the time you get down to the value of your own family the psychological factors are defeating," remarked Val Stilson.

"And it would be hard on a child to know that he could never — not even some day — have something of his very own new to wear," Mrs. Johnson said.

"It's a way of life for us," commented Mrs. Bell, who works part-time and whose husband works and whose older children she has taught to save half their baby-sitting money for times of need.

"We never get anything new except shoes. Clothes are from the secondhand store," she said.

"I never tried to buy new clothes. I couldn't do it and I think I budget very well," commented Mrs. Gardner, who has nine children.

"It's the style now to look funky, but when the children were younger they were unhappy about their clothes," Jocelyn Bell said.

SPEAKING ABOUT the low income situation in Marin, Betty Presley estimated that some 5,000 persons received public aid, and that average length of time persons stay on welfare is 21 months. Most live around San Rafael and Novato; with the Ross Valley area and Marin City ranking behind them.

She pointed out that, in contrast to city areas, low income families are scattered among average and upper middle income families in Marin which means that low income children go to school along with those of much greater means.

All of the Operation Tight-Belt families felt that they have gained a greater awareness that such low income families exist — and what they must exist on. And many hoped to get together again and trade a few tips and recipes.

CAT HOBBY

she says. "I'm vice president of the Tamalpais Weavers Guild and a member of the weavers' section of the Marin Society of Artists.

"Recently I joined the Cruikshank Tapestry Weavers, a new group in Marin. I've just started a piece of tapestry on that small loom." The subject? What else? A cat.

Then there are the cat organizations in which Vera is active.

"I've been a member of the Marin County Cat Fanciers since its organization over 20 years ago and served as its treasurer six years," she says. "I also served as treasurer of the American Shorthair Cat Association three years. This was founded in San Francisco and is now a national association.

"You know, now that I think of it," she laughed, "I guess I must be a joiner."

Terry J. Bergeron To Wed Haleen Young In June

A June wedding in San Rafael is planned by Haleen Young of San Rafael and Terry J. Bergeron of San Anselmo.

The future bride is the daughter of Mrs. Aileen Young of Vallejo and Harold J. Young of Concord. She is the sister of Donald, Karen and Charlotte Young of Vallejo and Jay and Kevin Young of Concord. Haleen was graduated from St. Vincent Ferrer High School in Vallejo and attended Solano College and College of Marin. She is employed in the personnel department of Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. Her local grandmother is Mrs. Aileen Adriansen of Vallejo.

Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rumburg of Sacramento. He is a graduate of Armijo Joint Union High School in Fairfield. The future bridegroom attended American River College in Sacramento and College of Marin and is employed in the nursing department of Kaiser Foundation Hospital. Francis X. HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Can Fashion's Latest Fad Be Domesticated Cat Fur Coats?

DEAR HELEN:

I heard on television that the latest fad is fur coats out of cat fur. I mean domesticated cats. Could anyone sink that low?

I get visions of catnappers who would steal children's pets to sell them to furriers. Would you wear a cat coat? REVOLTED

DEAR REV:

No way!

But then I don't wear a sable coat either — and for different reasons. —H

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is the kind of man any woman would want. That's the trouble. They do.

Especially at the annual Christmas party given by his office. The secretaries who plan these brawls make it clear that wives aren't invited, and at least three of them are eager divorcees who have made unsuccessful plays for my man. He is resistive but he is human. He has to attend as he is one of the bosses.

He even has to contribute money for the liquor that those gals hope will start a "beautiful relationship" — with somebody else's husband. I happen to know as I was a secretary once myself and listened in on the plans. Many an office affair got its start at the Christmas party.

Well, this year things will be different. Today I called every one of the wives, disguising my voice. I said I was "Miss Smith, in charge of the Christmas party, and we were making wives the special guests of honor this year, so be sure to come." All but one accepted immediately.

There wil be a lot of surprised men at the dinner table tonight. By the time the secretaries hear about the hoax, it will be too late. I can't imagine even the most brazen calling up the wives and saying, "It was a mistake — you aren't wanted at our party."

I write this in hope that you'll put in in your column and give other disgruntled wives an idea about how to squash the annual Christmas orgy. — SMART AND SNEAKY

DEAR S AND S:

Do let me know how things turn out. I'm a patsy for happy endings — H

DEAR HELEN:

We've heard how terrible townspeople act toward the hippies, but how about the other side of the story?

I have a country store near a hippie commune. They'd wander in barefooted and ragged, with clothes so dirty they were stiff. If that wasn't enough to drive off other customers, they'd unscrew the lids of jelly and peanut butter, dip their fingers in and lick them. Their "share the wealth" policy meant they would pick up anything loose and put it under their ponchos.

Finally, I made a rule that one one member of the commune could buy for all. That way, I could watch him — STOREKEEPER

DEAR HELEN:

I agreed with the middle-aged lady who stood up for the hippies. My husband is in business where he comes in contact with these people. We have noticed that they are kind, not only to each other but even to people who don't treat them very well. They are consistently polite and have some of the best mannered children around. Also, they are nice to talk to. — I.F.K.

JUDGING THE FESTIVAL

Two Weeks On A Welfare Budget

drinks and ice cream, and the parents dined alone at a smorgasbord restaurant one night.

"We have a rural background and we eat well but not fancy. We had a nice Thanksgiving, but I saved toward that," Mrs. Johnson explained.

Mrs. Behnken said that the food allotment was realistic for her family of five.

"I never spend that much anyway. I'm a frugal shopper, I bargain hunt and am a coupon saver."

The Behnkens managed to have flank steaks bought on sale, London broil and stroganoff.

"We like casseroles and the children love hotdogs and beans," Mrs. Behnken said. "But there's nothing worse than a bad hotdog," she said with a wry laugh, raising the whole discussion about hotdog quality brands and fat content along the table.

MANY OF the families had lived in other parts of the country before Marin and find housing, some food and transportation costs higher, but utilities lower.

Out in West Marin where the housing costs are cheaper, utilities and transportation costs rise, Betty Presley put in.

"So many people think welfare people live high on the hog — it's impossible!" remarked Sue Roth.

The Tight-Belt families talked about the psychological effect it would have on them to know that they had to live poor.

"You couldn't own your own home because you could never make the payments. You would have to give up all your insurance policies. By the time you get down to the value of your own family the psychological factors are defeating," remarked Val Stilson.

"And it would be hard on a child to know that he could never — not even some day — have something of his very own new to wear," Mrs. Johnson said.

"It's a way of life for us," commented Mrs. Bell, who works part-time and whose husband works and whose older children she has taught to save half their baby-sitting money for times of need.

"We never get anything new except shoes. Clothes are from the secondhand store," she said.

"I never tried to buy new clothes. I couldn't do it and I think I budget very well," commented Mrs. Gardner, who has nine children.

"It's the style now to look funky, but when the children were younger they were unhappy about their clothes," Jocelyn Bell said.

SPEAKING ABOUT the low income situation in Marin, Betty Presley estimated that some 5,000 persons received public aid, and that average length of time persons stay on welfare is 21 months. Most live around San Rafael and Novato; with the Ross Valley area and Marin City ranking behind them.

She pointed out that, in contrast to city areas, low income families are scattered among average and upper middle income families in Marin which means that low income children go to school along with those of much greater means.

All of the Operation Tight-Belt families felt that they have gained a greater awareness that such low income families exist — and what they must exist on. And many hoped to get together again and trade a few tips and recipes.

CAT HOBBY

she says. "I'm vice president of the Tamalpais Weavers Guild and a member of the weavers' section of the Marin Society of Artists.

"Recently I joined the Cruikshank Tapestry Weavers, a new group in Marin. I've just started a piece of tapestry on that small loom." The subject? What else? A cat.

Then there are the cat organizations in which Vera is active.

"I've been a member of the Marin County Cat Fanciers since its organization over 20 years ago and served as its treasurer six years," she says. "I also served as treasurer of the American Shorthair Cat Association three years. This was founded in San Francisco and is now a national association.

"You know, now that I think of it," she laughed, "I guess I must be a joiner."

ON THE AGENDA

Marion Hayes Cain To Present Program Of Poetry In Mill Valley

Members of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will hear dramatic readings by Marion Hayes Cain at a Christmas tea to be held Thursday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Cain, actress, director and writer, will present a short play by Irish poet William Butler Years, "The Hour Glass" and a dialogue from Menotti's opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

MARION HAYES CAIN

Born and educated in San Francisco, Mrs. Cain moved to Marin in 1949. She is the mother of three grown sons and has been constantly involved in theater and children's education. For 22 years she has taught from nursery school to college level and is now teaching "Creativity Through Drama" in Marin schools and to teens and children at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

She has directed Little Theater and Marin Junior Theater and has been president of the Mountain Play for the last eight years. She has organized "The Magic Circle" and tour plays for children each year around the Bay Area.

Club members will bring gifts for distribution to the convalescent homes in Mill Valley, Santa Venetia and Novato.

Mrs. Mary Marsh will decorate the clubhouse and tea will be prepared and served by Mmes. William Moen and Charles McAuliffe, assisted by Mmes. Fred Wight, John Norris, William Niedecker, Paul Thompson, Roy Simpkin and Richard Smith.

A PREVIEW of new dental health movies will be combined with a Christmas cookie and candy recipe exchange when the Dental Hygienists of the Redwood Component meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marinwood home of Mrs. George Unsoeld.

THE DECEMBER Christmas luncheon of Welcome Wagon will be tomorrow at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda at 11 a.m. A Christmas auction will follow. Mrs. Melvin Mitchell is chairman.

A VIGIL SERVICE and caroling in the church will preceed the annual Christmas party of St. Patrick's Guild tomorrow at 8:15 p.m., at the church in Larkspur. There will be a gift exchange and wassail bowl.

MEMBERS OF Our Lady of Mount Carmel Women's Club in Mill Valley will hear a talk on professional uses of stitchery by Mrs. Charles Patera at their meeting Wednesday at noon in the rectory.

A resident of Mill Valley, Mrs. Patera started stitchery in 1965 and has won awards in shows throughout the state. Her work is currently appearing in "Better Homes and Gardens," "Christmas Ideas," "Family Circle" and "Holiday Helps" and is being sold in retail stores in the Bay Area.

Mrs. Patera received her education in art at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio, and the Central Academy of Commercial Art in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her professional work included package design, graphic design for films and slide presentations, five years in Chicago, Ill., and eight years in San Francisco.

THE NOVA Marin Grandmothers Club members will have a Christmas party at the Green Mill Restaurant in Cotati on Wednesday.

A "happy hour" will be at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at noon. Mrs. Robert Farrell is chairman and Mrs. Ross Stangle is in charge of decorations. A gift exchange will also be held.

The Grandmothers Club is sponsoring an 8-year-old Navajo Indian girl. Lena Helen Natoni lives at the Navajo Gospel Mission at Oraibi, Ariz. Club members will also be sending clothing and other items during the year when they learn of the ages of other family members.

THE PETER Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society will visit clinic day at the Oakland Children's Home Society Wednesday to present layette items for babies to be used as they are placed for adoption and go into foster homes.

At 12:30 p.m., a champagne luncheon will be held to honor the charting of the Society in 1891. Mrs. James Reese is chairman.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS of the Golden West will welcome Nancy J. Conens, grand president, when she makes an official visit at the Veterans Memorial in Sonoma tonight. Hosting the affair will be Sonoma Parlor 209 and Petaluma Parlor 222.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged at the next meeting of the Petaluma Parlor tomorrow at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma.

ZERO POPULATION Growth, Inc., will meet at the Community Church, Olive and Throckmorton in Mill Valley on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Mr. T. W. Wooster with the Dept. of Fish and Game and Planned Parenthood will speak on "The Population Explosion and Family Size."

WOODWARDIA CIRCLE of the Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold its annual Christmas Party Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Temple, San Rafael. There will be singing of carols and exchanging of gifts. Mr. George Hall acting as Santa Claus will distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO High School Parent-Faculty Club executive board will meet at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the high school.

The board meetings are open to the general membership and plans for a holiday booth for a bazaar will be made.

PETALUMA REBEKAH Lodge 86 will hold its annual Christmas dinner Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn in Cotati. Following dinner, the group will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. George for a gift exchange.

Newly nominated officers are Mrs. Robert Megaw, noble grand; Mrs. James Swan, vice grand; Mrs. Ivan Stice, recording secretary; Mrs. Hattie Dane, treasurer; and Mrs. Gladys Pollock, financial secretary.

"ASTROLOGY AND You" will be the subject of a two-hour lecture given by Mrs. Ruth Moscrop, at the Marin Y-Wives meeting at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Church of the Redeemer in San Rafael.

Mrs. Moscrop will discuss the history of astrology, the signs, symbols and planets of the zodiac and give individual thumbnail sketches of members and their guests.

STUDENTS OF the Petaluma Parent Cooperative Nursery School will visit the Pine Tree Farm on Queens Lane, Petaluma, Wednesday to select Christmas trees for the three and four year old students' rooms at the school.

The 45 youngsters who will go to the farm in a school bus, will be permitted to pet the tame animals kept on the farm for that purpose.

When Santa Claus visits the school on Friday, he will see the decorations they are making for the trees, including popcorn and cranberry chains. Santa will distribute Christmas cookies and candies as well as present each child with a gift.

The Christmas party for the mothers will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at McNear Elementary School in Petaluma, according to the school directors, Mrs. Beth Peters and Mrs. Harriett Johnson.

ON THE AGENDA

Marion Hayes Cain To Present Program Of Poetry In Mill Valley

Members of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will hear dramatic readings by Marion Hayes Cain at a Christmas tea to be held Thursday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Cain, actress, director and writer, will present a short play by Irish poet William Butler Years, "The Hour Glass" and a dialogue from Menotti's opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

MARION HAYES CAIN

Born and educated in San Francisco, Mrs. Cain moved to Marin in 1949. She is the mother of three grown sons and has been constantly involved in theater and children's education. For 22 years she has taught from nursery school to college level and is now teaching "Creativity Through Drama" in Marin schools and to teens and children at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

She has directed Little Theater and Marin Junior Theater and has been president of the Mountain Play for the last eight years. She has organized "The Magic Circle" and tour plays for children each year around the Bay Area.

Club members will bring gifts for distribution to the convalescent homes in Mill Valley, Santa Venetia and Novato.

Mrs. Mary Marsh will decorate the clubhouse and tea will be prepared and served by Mmes. William Moen and Charles McAuliffe, assisted by Mmes. Fred Wight, John Norris, William Niedecker, Paul Thompson, Roy Simpkin and Richard Smith.

A PREVIEW of new dental health movies will be combined with a Christmas cookie and candy recipe exchange when the Dental Hygienists of the Redwood Component meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marinwood home of Mrs. George Unsoeld.

THE DECEMBER Christmas luncheon of Welcome Wagon will be tomorrow at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda at 11 a.m. A Christmas auction will follow. Mrs. Melvin Mitchell is chairman.

A VIGIL SERVICE and caroling in the church will preceed the annual Christmas party of St. Patrick's Guild tomorrow at 8:15 p.m., at the church in Larkspur. There will be a gift exchange and wassail bowl.

MEMBERS OF Our Lady of Mount Carmel Women's Club in Mill Valley will hear a talk on professional uses of stitchery by Mrs. Charles Patera at their meeting Wednesday at noon in the rectory.

A resident of Mill Valley, Mrs. Patera started stitchery in 1965 and has won awards in shows throughout the state. Her work is currently appearing in "Better Homes and Gardens," "Christmas Ideas," "Family Circle" and "Holiday Helps" and is being sold in retail stores in the Bay Area.

Mrs. Patera received her education in art at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio, and the Central Academy of Commercial Art in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her professional work included package design, graphic design for films and slide presentations, five years in Chicago, Ill., and eight years in San Francisco.

THE NOVA Marin Grandmothers Club members will have a Christmas party at the Green Mill Restaurant in Cotati on Wednesday.

A "happy hour" will be at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at noon. Mrs. Robert Farrell is chairman and Mrs. Ross Stangle is in charge of decorations. A gift exchange will also be held.

The Grandmothers Club is sponsoring an 8-year-old Navajo Indian girl. Lena Helen Natoni lives at the Navajo Gospel Mission at Oraibi, Ariz. Club members will also be sending clothing and other items during the year when they learn of the ages of other family members.

THE PETER Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society will visit clinic day at the Oakland Children's Home Society Wednesday to present layette items for babies to be used as they are placed for adoption and go into foster homes.

At 12:30 p.m., a champagne luncheon will be held to honor the charting of the Society in 1891. Mrs. James Reese is chairman.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS of the Golden West will welcome Nancy J. Conens, grand president, when she makes an official visit at the Veterans Memorial in Sonoma tonight. Hosting the affair will be Sonoma Parlor 209 and Petaluma Parlor 222.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged at the next meeting of the Petaluma Parlor tomorrow at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma.

ZERO POPULATION Growth, Inc., will meet at the Community Church, Olive and Throckmorton in Mill Valley on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Mr. T. W. Wooster with the Dept. of Fish and Game and Planned Parenthood will speak on "The Population Explosion and Family Size."

WOODWARDIA CIRCLE of the Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold its annual Christmas Party Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Temple, San Rafael. There will be singing of carols and exchanging of gifts. Mr. George Hall acting as Santa Claus will distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO High School Parent-Faculty Club executive board will meet at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the high school.

The board meetings are open to the general membership and plans for a holiday booth for a bazaar will be made.

PETALUMA REBEKAH Lodge 86 will hold its annual Christmas dinner Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn in Cotati. Following dinner, the group will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. George for a gift exchange.

Newly nominated officers are Mrs. Robert Megaw, noble grand; Mrs. James Swan, vice grand; Mrs. Ivan Stice, recording secretary; Mrs. Hattie Dane, treasurer; and Mrs. Gladys Pollock, financial secretary.

"ASTROLOGY AND You" will be the subject of a two-hour lecture given by Mrs. Ruth Moscrop, at the Marin Y-Wives meeting at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Church of the Redeemer in San Rafael.

Mrs. Moscrop will discuss the history of astrology, the signs, symbols and planets of the zodiac and give individual thumbnail sketches of members and their guests.

STUDENTS OF the Petaluma Parent Cooperative Nursery School will visit the Pine Tree Farm on Queens Lane, Petaluma, Wednesday to select Christmas trees for the three and four year old students' rooms at the school.

The 45 youngsters who will go to the farm in a school bus, will be permitted to pet the tame animals kept on the farm for that purpose.

When Santa Claus visits the school on Friday, he will see the decorations they are making for the trees, including popcorn and cranberry chains. Santa will distribute Christmas cookies and candies as well as present each child with a gift.

The Christmas party for the mothers will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at McNear Elementary School in Petaluma, according to the school directors, Mrs. Beth Peters and Mrs. Harriett Johnson.

Roni Spellins Is Wed To Philip A. Torre

Roni Faye Spellins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Spellins of San Anselmo, became the bride of Philip A. Torre of San Francisco Saturday in a ceremony at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

A reception followed at the San Geronimo National Golf and Country Club.

Maid of honor was Sandra Rosentangle of Sausalito, and bridesmaids were Mmes. John Boudette of Ross, Gary Ragghianti of San Rafael, Donald De Bisschop of Greenbrae and Charles Cazazza of San Francisco.

Michael Kuschmann of Menlo Park was best man, and Gary Ragghianti, John Boudette, Vern Smith of San Rafael and Dean Robinson of San Francisco ushered guests to their seats.

The bride is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended Grace Ball Secretarial School in San Francisco.

Philip is the son of Mrs. John Torre. He was graduated from Bellarmine Preparatory High School in San Jose, Stanford University and the University of San Francisco Law School.

Roni and Philip are both employed by Bagshaw, Martinelli, Corrigan and Jordan law firm in San Rafael. They will live in San Rafael following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

Cheryl R. Keys Is Engaged

The engagement of Cheryl Rose Keys to James Michael Hills has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Keys, Petaluma, the bride-elect's parents.

Cheryl, the sister of Debrah and Lauri Keys, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Keys of Petaluma. She was graduated from Petaluma High School.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hills Jr., Bowling Green, Ky. He is the brother of Mark, Daniel and Debbie Hills. A specialist four in the U.S. Army, he is stationed at Two Rock Ranch station in Petaluma.

The couple will be married on Feb. 6 at the Bellevue Community Church in Santa Rosa.

Ponchos, Shawls

Ponchos and shawls will make the scene in plentiful ways come spring. The same for belts and bows and gold buttons.

Gail Ann Edinger Bride Of Canadian

MRS. PAUL D. MANLEY

Gail Ann Edinger became the bride of Paul Douglas Manley Nov. 29 in a ceremony at St. Clement's Episcopal Church in Berkeley. A reception at the Berkeley home of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Nash followed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mary Lee Edinger of Salem, Ore., as maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Allen Shivas of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, as bridesmaid.

Leslie Blackie of Vancouver, British Columbia, was best man, and Allen Shivas and the bride's brothers, Bill and Carl Edinger of San Rafael ushered.

Gail is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edinger Jr. of San Rafael. She was graduated from high school in Courtland and from Stephen's College in Columbia, Mo.

We were pleasantly fascinated by the phenomenal response to our first real sale: brought in more dough in 3 days than we usually see in a month, just because we slashed prices beyond all reason. Therefore, and herewith, let it be known to all those buying presents: the ridiculous low prices on everything in the store—leather, leather accessories, natural skin area rugs, fabrics, garments, jewelry, all of it, not just clearance items.

UNUSUAL GIFTS IN MARIN DESIGNERS MARKET

3001 BRIDGEWAY, SAUSALITO

We were pleasantly fascinated by the phenomenal response to our first real sale: brought in more dough in 3 days than we usually see in a month, just because we slashed prices beyond all reason. Therefore, and herewith, let it be known to all those buying presents: the ridiculous low prices on everything in the store—leather, leather accessories, natural skin area rugs, fabrics, garments, jewelry, all of it, not just clearance items.

WHO KNOWS WHAT EVIL LURKS IN THE HEARTS OF USED CARS?

We invite you to compare our cars with others. Because we at Felton's know a used car can be a thing of beauty on the outside and a mass of corruption on the inside. Our 16-point inspection takes us to parts of the car rarely traveled by used car dealers. When we find it pure at heart . . . then it's ready for you.

Good Can Still Triumph Over Evil!

WHO KNOWS WHAT EVIL
LURKS IN THE HEARTS OF USED CARS?

We invite you to compare our cars with others. Because we at Felton's know a used car can be a thing of beauty on the outside and a mass of corruption on the inside. Our 16-point inspection takes us to parts of the car rarely traveled by used car dealers. When we find it pure at heart . . . then it's ready for you.

Good Can Still Triumph Over Evil!

NOTICE OF DATE FIXED FOR SUBMITTING ARGUMENTS ON SCHOOL DISTRICT MEASURE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an election to be held in FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT of Marin County, California, on February 17, 1970, there will be submitted to the voters the following measure:

Shall the proposed increase in the maximum tax rate from Two Dollars and five cents ($2.05) to Three Dollars and five cents ($3.05), such rate to be in effect in the Fairfax School District for an indefinite period, the revenues of which are to be used for general school district purposes, be authorized?

Arguments for or against this measure may be submitted to the County Superintendent of Schools at his office at 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, California, not later than December 29, 1969, which has been determined by the County Superintendent of Schools under the authority of Section 1462 of the Education Code to be a reasonable date based upon the time reasonably necessary to prepare and submit the arguments. No argument shall exceed 300 words in length. Arguments may be submitted by the Governing Board of the district or a member or members authorized by it, any individual voter, any bona fide association of citizens or any combination of such voters and citizens.

Pursuant to Section 1461 to 1463 of the Education Code, one argument for and one argument against said measure will be selected for printing and distribution to the voters with the card notice of election. Preference and priority in selection will be given to arguments of the following, in the order named:

(1) A member or members authorized by the Governing Board.

(2) Bona fide associations of citizens.

(3) Individual voters.

All arguments submitted must be verified. The proper form of verification is available from the County Superintendent of Schools.

Dated: November 28, 1969.

NOTICE OF DATE FIXED FOR SUBMITTING ARGUMENTS ON SCHOOL DISTRICT MEASURE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an election to be held in FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT of Marin County, California, on February 17, 1970, there will be submitted to the voters the following measure:

Shall the proposed increase in the maximum tax rate from Two Dollars and five cents ($2.05) to Three Dollars and five cents ($3.05), such rate to be in effect in the Fairfax School District for an indefinite period, the revenues of which are to be used for general school district purposes, be authorized?

Arguments for or against this measure may be submitted to the County Superintendent of Schools at his office at 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, California, not later than December 29, 1969, which has been determined by the County Superintendent of Schools under the authority of Section 1462 of the Education Code to be a reasonable date based upon the time reasonably necessary to prepare and submit the arguments. No argument shall exceed 300 words in length. Arguments may be submitted by the Governing Board of the district or a member or members authorized by it, any individual voter, any bona fide association of citizens or any combination of such voters and citizens.

Pursuant to Section 1461 to 1463 of the Education Code, one argument for and one argument against said measure will be selected for printing and distribution to the voters with the card notice of election. Preference and priority in selection will be given to arguments of the following, in the order named:

(1) A member or members authorized by the Governing Board.

(2) Bona fide associations of citizens.

(3) Individual voters.

All arguments submitted must be verified. The proper form of verification is available from the County Superintendent of Schools.

Dated: November 28, 1969.

12-Foot Waves Leave A Layer Of Sand And Mud

VENTURA, (UPI)—Waves up to 12-feet high flooded homes and streets and left a layer of sand and debris in at least five beach cities in Southern California during the weekend.

Major damage was reported to at least two of 39 homes flooded in the Rincon Beach area near here and a fire station was evacuated as 12-foot waves pounded the coast.

At one point along the Pacific Coast Highway here, where the freeway is separated from the sea by only a retaining wall and narrow strip of beach, breakers covered the four-lane highway with sand and seaweed. Traffic backed up for three miles as workers cleared the thoroughfare.

Fifty homes were flooded at Surfside Colony and Seal Beach and water again crossed the Pacific Coast Highway in the area one-third of a mile inland.

A police spokesman said residents along a five-block area in Seal Beach constructed a three-foot high wall of sand bags to protect their homes. The Seal Beach Fire Department used large pumps to clear flooding water out of the five-block residential area.

In the Rincon area, 38 firemen were evacuated when the surf began swirling through their stationhouse. Fire equipment was removed and the men put to work sandbagging the facility to keep it in service.

In Oxnard, police said a group of residents rented a bulldozer to build a sand wall to retain the unusually high waves and tides. Five homes were flooded earlier in the area and streets in a six-block area were covered with sand from the rushing water.

In Newport Beach, a police spokesman said there was shallow water up to 20-inches in a residential area next to the main beach area. The water backed up in storm drains as waves up to seven-feet high were recorded.

At Sunset Beach, waves swept inland across the beach, flooding the Pacific Coast Highway a third time and a residential street.

Attorney's Car Believed Stolen

A car, believed parked at San Francisco International Airport by an attorney bound for Los Angeles, was found at 9 a.m. Saturday at Bay View Road and Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Mrs. George T. Choppelos told authorities the car must have been taken from the airport, where it had been left by her husband who was to fly to Los Angeles.

Missing from the car were personal possessions valued at $177, according to Marin sheriff's deputies.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

TV REVIEW

ABC To Start A Half-Hour News Series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Everyone in network television news wants more prime time programming to deal with topical issues. One of the single greatest problems of video, it is generally agreed, is the lack of a weekly news series in the prime viewing hours.

There used to be a number of such weekly shows, and they added much solidity to the program schedules—"Eyewitness," "David Brinkley's Journal," "Chet Huntley Reporting," the lengthy ABC-TV series on Vietnam, and other notable offerings.

SEPTEMBER FINALE

Now comes some good news: Starting Monday, March 23, ABC-TV will start up once more a weekly, half-hour prime time news series that seems intent on dealing, at least partly, with immediate issues. Although the series will end in September, when ABC-TV begins broadcasting pro football games in Monday prime time each week, it is nevertheless a step back toward the right direction.

And considering recent criticism from various quarters about networks and their coverage of topical, controversial issues, it is a step that required some backbone to take.

According to Elmer Lower, boss of ABC news, the network's new 26-week series will examine such subjects as race relations, narcotics addiction, education, public health and environmental pollution. The broadcasts will be on from 10:30 to 11 p.m. EST.

THE FORMAT

"The half-hour format of these weekly programs permits ABC news to deal specifically and forthrightly with more of the pressing subjects of today," says Lower.

Happy holidays?

Happiness is speaking a kind word when it's least expected. Happiness is seeking the good in everyone. Happiness is not turning your back when you see injustice. Happiness is befriending the unfriendly, welcoming the lonely, listening to the troubled. Happiness is giving something out of your heart, not your pocket. Happy holidays? It doesn't take money. All it takes is you.

12-Foot Waves Leave A Layer Of Sand And Mud

VENTURA, (UPI)—Waves up to 12-feet high flooded homes and streets and left a layer of sand and debris in at least five beach cities in Southern California during the weekend.

Major damage was reported to at least two of 39 homes flooded in the Rincon Beach area near here and a fire station was evacuated as 12-foot waves pounded the coast.

At one point along the Pacific Coast Highway here, where the freeway is separated from the sea by only a retaining wall and narrow strip of beach, breakers covered the four-lane highway with sand and seaweed. Traffic backed up for three miles as workers cleared the thoroughfare.

Fifty homes were flooded at Surfside Colony and Seal Beach and water again crossed the Pacific Coast Highway in the area one-third of a mile inland.

A police spokesman said residents along a five-block area in Seal Beach constructed a three-foot high wall of sand bags to protect their homes. The Seal Beach Fire Department used large pumps to clear flooding water out of the five-block residential area.

In the Rincon area, 38 firemen were evacuated when the surf began swirling through their stationhouse. Fire equipment was removed and the men put to work sandbagging the facility to keep it in service.

In Oxnard, police said a group of residents rented a bulldozer to build a sand wall to retain the unusually high waves and tides. Five homes were flooded earlier in the area and streets in a six-block area were covered with sand from the rushing water.

In Newport Beach, a police spokesman said there was shallow water up to 20-inches in a residential area next to the main beach area. The water backed up in storm drains as waves up to seven-feet high were recorded.

At Sunset Beach, waves swept inland across the beach, flooding the Pacific Coast Highway a third time and a residential street.

Attorney's Car Believed Stolen

A car, believed parked at San Francisco International Airport by an attorney bound for Los Angeles, was found at 9 a.m. Saturday at Bay View Road and Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Mrs. George T. Choppelos told authorities the car must have been taken from the airport, where it had been left by her husband who was to fly to Los Angeles.

Missing from the car were personal possessions valued at $177, according to Marin sheriff's deputies.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

TV REVIEW

ABC To Start A Half-Hour News Series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Everyone in network television news wants more prime time programming to deal with topical issues. One of the single greatest problems of video, it is generally agreed, is the lack of a weekly news series in the prime viewing hours.

There used to be a number of such weekly shows, and they added much solidity to the program schedules—"Eyewitness," "David Brinkley's Journal," "Chet Huntley Reporting," the lengthy ABC-TV series on Vietnam, and other notable offerings.

SEPTEMBER FINALE

Now comes some good news: Starting Monday, March 23, ABC-TV will start up once more a weekly, half-hour prime time news series that seems intent on dealing, at least partly, with immediate issues. Although the series will end in September, when ABC-TV begins broadcasting pro football games in Monday prime time each week, it is nevertheless a step back toward the right direction.

And considering recent criticism from various quarters about networks and their coverage of topical, controversial issues, it is a step that required some backbone to take.

According to Elmer Lower, boss of ABC news, the network's new 26-week series will examine such subjects as race relations, narcotics addiction, education, public health and environmental pollution. The broadcasts will be on from 10:30 to 11 p.m. EST.

THE FORMAT

"The half-hour format of these weekly programs permits ABC news to deal specifically and forthrightly with more of the pressing subjects of today," says Lower.

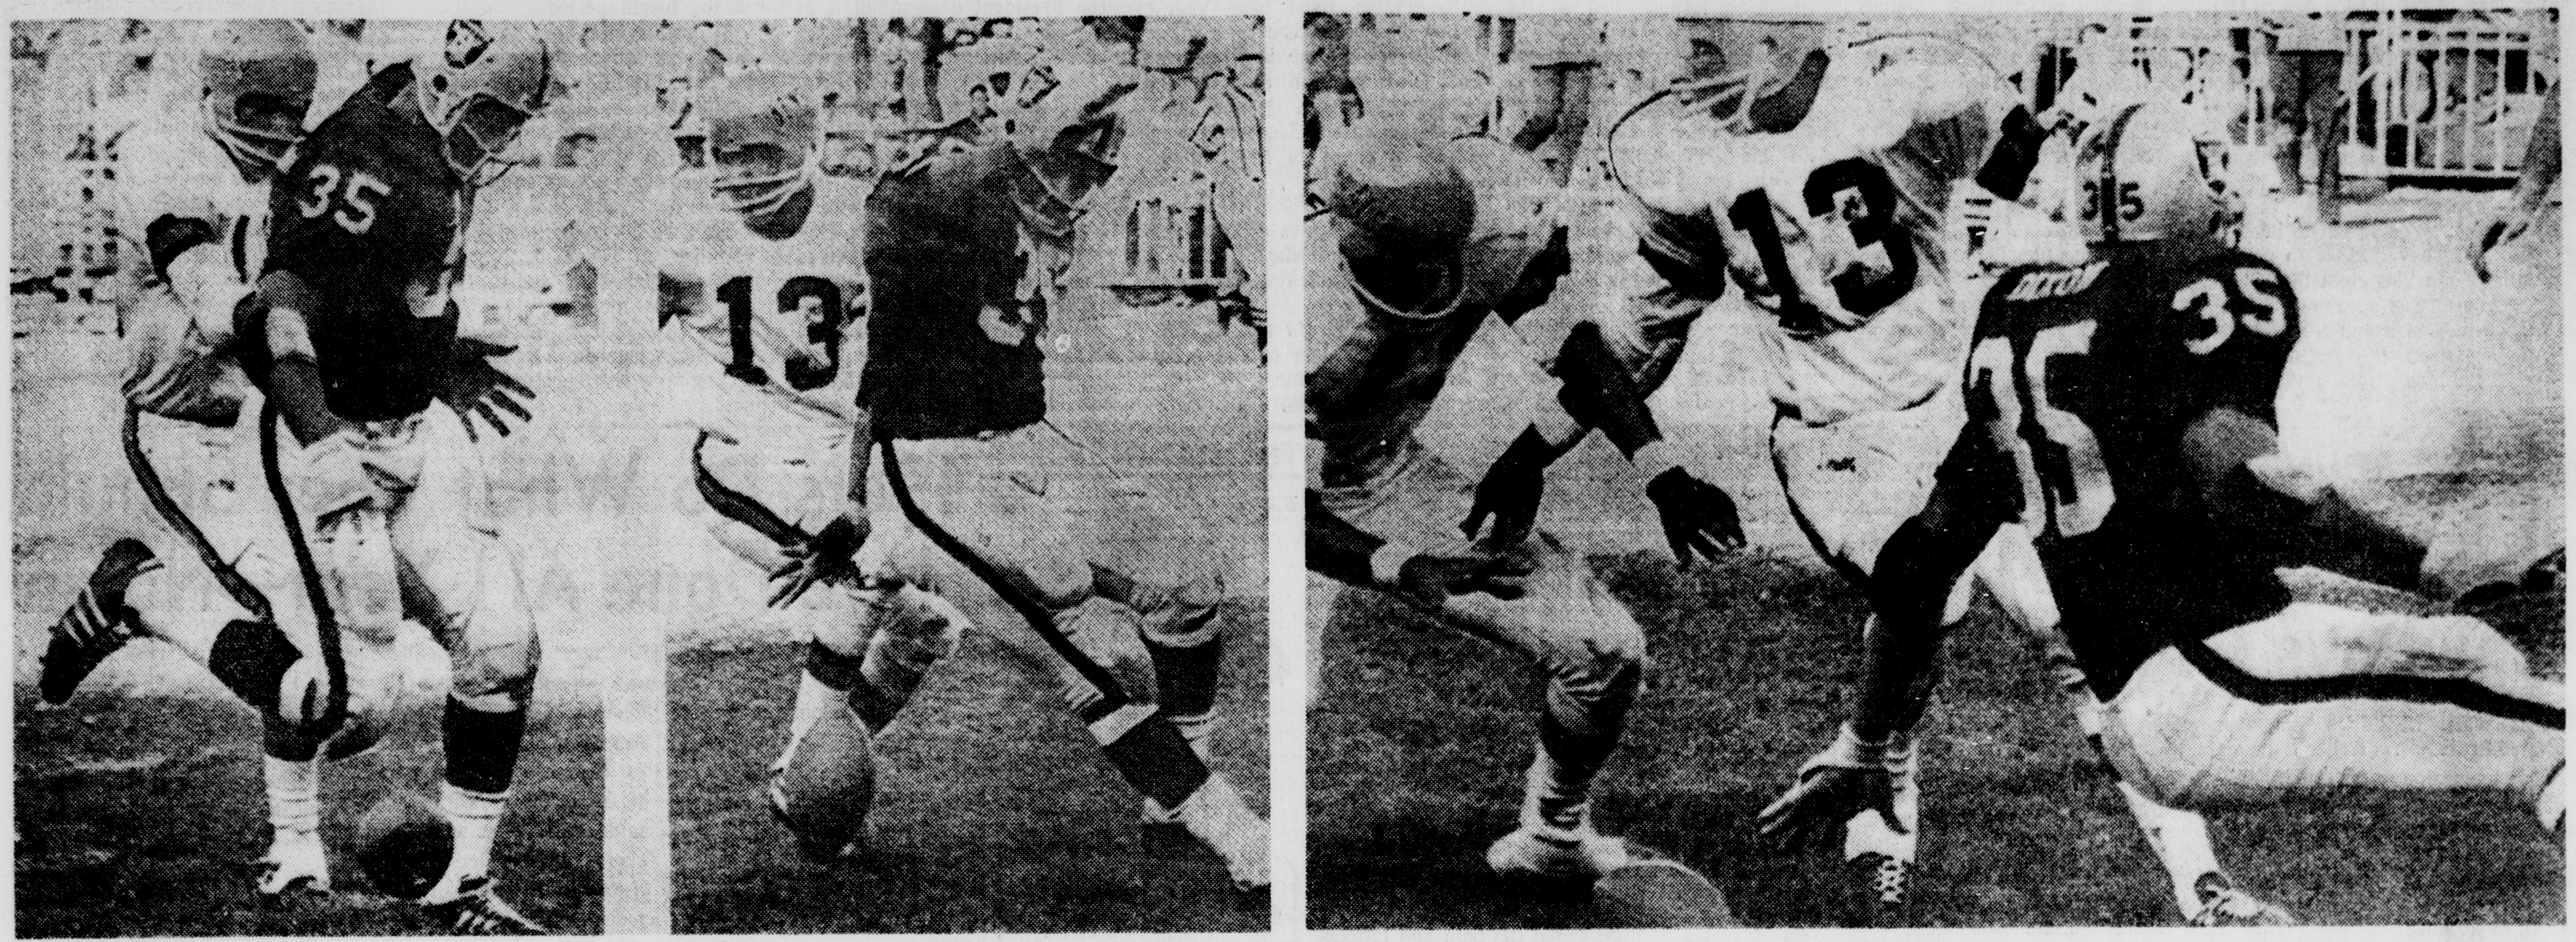
Raiders Gunning For Kansas City Showdown



Oakland's Hewritt Dixon has the ball knocked out of his hands by Cincinnati's Ken Riley (13) and Bengal Alvin Coleman (23), trailing the play, falls on ball in end zone for a touchback.
(UPI Telephoto)

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Raiders gained a measure of revenge over the Cincinnati Bengals, but found themselves without the time to bask in its glow.

Raider Coach John Madden had his thoughts on the future after Oakland's 37-17 victory yesterday over the Bengals, the only team to beat the Raiders this year.

"It used to be," he said, "that you'd take an hour or so to think about the game you've just won.

"But I started thinking about Kansas City as soon as the gun went off."

Oakland and the Kansas City Chiefs will clash here for the American Football League's Western Division title Saturday and though both clubs have clinched a spot in the league playoffs, both will want to win.

"It's very important to win this one next week," said Raider tackle Tom Keating, "because we want to play those other games at home."

A Raider victory Saturday would make them the hosts for the first playoff game against the runner-up in the Eastern Division and, if they win that one, they would also play the AFL championship game here.

"Our preparation for Kansas City is tough," said Madden, "because they give you such a wide variety of formations both on offense and defense. It's not a special preparation, but it's tough because they give you a lot of things no one else does and you've got to be ready for them."

Daryle Lamonica threw three scoring passes yesterday to come within three of the pro football record shared by George Blanda and Y. A. Tittle. Warren Wells caught two of those passes, for 51 and 16 yards, and another 16-yarder from Blanda. Fred Biletnikoff caught one from Lamonica, also for 16 yards.

Lamonica spent the night before the game in the hospital getting treatment for a shoulder pain. Earlier he was hospitalized with the flu the night before leading the Raiders past San Diego.

"I couldn't believe it," said Lamonica of the injury. "This is the first week I've really felt sound all

O'Doul Dies; Ex-Bat King

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Joseph "Lefty" O'Doul, who twice won the National League batting championship during his 40 years in baseball and help-introduce the game in Japan, is dead at 72.

LEFTY O'DOUL
Dead at 72

He was "coming along fine" at French Hospital here where he had been since Nov. 12, recovering from a stroke, when a massive heart attack ended his life yesterday afternoon, Dr. P. Edmund Stalteri said.

Only a half hour before the fatal attack he had talked at length by phone with friends, telling them he wanted to visit Japan again "as soon as I get out of here — probably in the spring."

It was in 1931 on a tour with Babe Ruth that he helped get baseball started in Japan, and he had been back there 30 times to promote the game's growth.

O'Doul had the highest lifetime batting average of any living major leaguer, .349 for 10 seasons. The honor now passes to Ted Williams, whose lifetime average is .344.

PITCHED, TOO

O'Doul's baseball career began in 1917 with Des Moines of the Western League and he started in the major leagues as a pitcher for the New York Yankees in 1919. He batted and threw left-handed.

After a 1923 season with the Boston Red Sox he went back to the minors with arm troubles, but returned in 1928 with the New York Giants. In the following year, as an outfielder, he won his first National League batting crown with Philadelphia.

He won the batting title again in 1932 with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who traded him to the Giants in the following season.

SEALS MANAGER

After ending his playing career, O'Doul returned to his native San Francisco to manage the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League from 1935 to 1951. He stayed in the PCL and managed at San Diego, Oakland and Seattle until 1957.

Since 1958 he had operated a restaurant here — Lefty O'Doul's.

During his PCL managerial days he was credited with developing Joe and Dom DiMaggio, Joe Marty, Ferris Fain, Bob Chesnes, Larry Jansen and many others.

HOW ABOUT THAT!—Arnold Palmer wears his famous grin after winning the $125,000 Danny Thomas Golf Classic by coming from behind to nick Gay Brewer. (UPI Telephoto)

'THIS MEANS EVERYTHING'

Palmer's Finest Hour

MIAMI (AP) — The charge was there, the shouting, stampeding gallery was there and it was the Palmer of old.

"Charge, Arnie, Charge," they shouted, and Arnold Palmer grinned that infectious grin, hitched up his britches with a characteristic gesture, and responded.

He responded like the Palmer of years gone by, charging up from six strokes off the pace with a seven-under-par 65 that brought him the title in the $125,000 Danny Thomas-Diplomat Golf Classic and left Gay Brewer—the front-runner for three days—panting in the dust of Arnie's whooping army.

"This thing, this winning, means everything to me," said Palmer, a non-winner for more than a year and now author of consecutive triumphs, the only player to score that feat this year.

"Getting it going again is probably the thing I wanted most in my life. I knew I was going to play again, but I didn't know how successfully. There were some doubts in my own mind."

If anyone had any lingering doubts, any thoughts that last week's victory was a fluke, the old master dispelled them with a game from out of his past, a game in the tradition of the dramatic style that was his trademark in the decade he dominated the game.

The gallery was relatively small, about 10,000, but they all were with Palmer.

"Go, Baby, Go," they pleaded. He started to move on the fifth hole, canning a 10-foot birdie putt while Brewer, with a six-shot lead going into the day's play and playing one twosome back, took the first of three consecutive bogeys.

Palmer put a wedge six feet from the pin on the next hole and canned the putt. He just missed a hole in one on the ninth, tapped in for another bird, and turned just one shot back.

"You have a feeling, a sixth sense sort of thing when it's going to happen," Palmer said.

Drake Quintet Off To A Flying Start

Drake High School, which usually gets off to a slow start in basketball, is off and running to a speedy one this season.

The Pirates won their second game in two days, nicking Analy at Sebastopol, 58-53, Saturday on some steady free-throw shooting, to give them a 2-0 won-lost record going into this week's Drake Invitational Tournament at San Anselmo, Wednesday through Saturday.

The Pirates trailed at the half, by a point, but seven straight free throws in the final period nailed down the verdict.

Lanky Jeff Meeker of Drake poured in 27 points to lead all scorers.

In other games, San Marin evened up its season record at 2-2 with a 65-53 win over visiting Healdsburg, the Mustangs' second win of the season over Healdsburg; and Marin Catholic lost to Cardinal Newman High at Santa Rosa, 66-47.

Gary Howard and Dana LaFerriere combined for 46 points to lead San Marin with the 6-foot-7 LaFerriere getting 25 points and Howard 21.

Tim Stone topped Marin Catholic scoreres with 12 points.

Marin Booters Win

College of Marin's soccer team pushed its season record to 6-5-1 with a 5-3 win over a San Quentin team at San Quentin yesterday.

Fred Chardt scored four goals for Marin.

USF Frosh Too Much For Marin

College of Marin's basketball team shot well, rebounded well, and generally played well but lost to a super-talented University of San Francisco freshmen team in San Francisco Saturday night, 82-73.

The Tars, now 1-3, on the won-lost ledger led most of the first half, fell behind by five points at the end of the half, and ten points early in the second half, closed it to two points midway through the final half and finally faded.

USF ONSLAUGHT

They fell under an onslaught led by Bob Murphy, star of Sacred Heart High School's Tournament of Champions team last year as well as Castlemont ace Mike Quick, the TOC's most valuable player last spring. Murphy pumped in 25 points and Quick had 20.

Pat Schafer poured in 23 points for the Tars and steady Bob Tate got 13 points and topped the rebounders with 10 grabs.

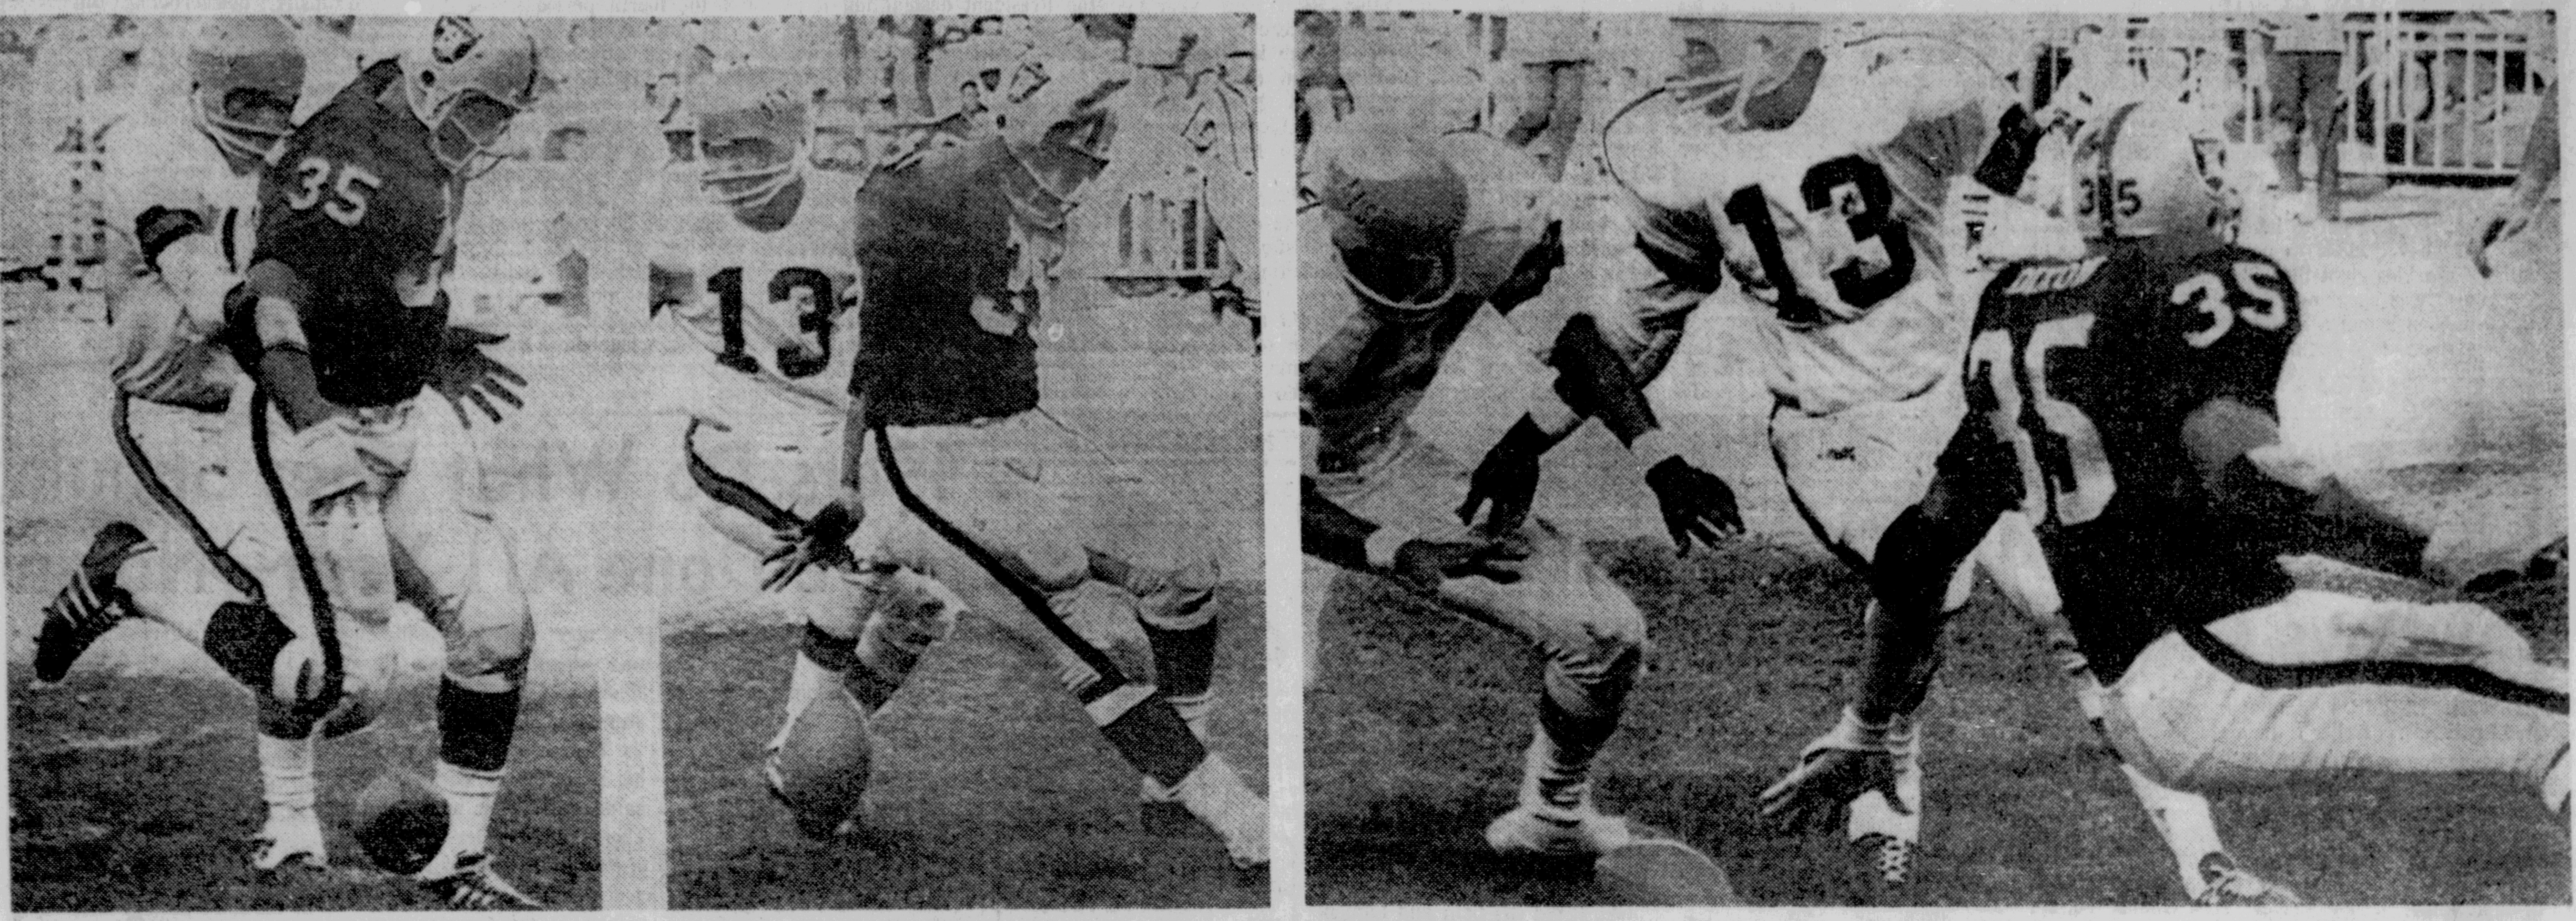
Raiders Gunning For Kansas City Showdown



Oakland's Hewritt Dixon has the ball knocked out of his hands by Cincinnati's Ken Riley (13) and Bengal Alvin Coleman (23), trailing the play, falls on ball in end zone for a touchback.
(UPI Telephoto)

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Raiders gained a measure of revenge over the Cincinnati Bengals, but found themselves without the time to bask in its glow.

Raider Coach John Madden had his thoughts on the future after Oakland's 37-17 victory yesterday over the Bengals, the only team to beat the Raiders this year.

"It used to be," he said, "that you'd take an hour or so to think about the game you've just won.

"But I started thinking about Kansas City as soon as the gun went off."

Oakland and the Kansas City Chiefs will clash here for the American Football League's Western Division title Saturday and though both clubs have clinched a spot in the league playoffs, both will want to win.

"It's very important to win this one next week," said Raider tackle Tom Keating, "because we want to play those other games at home."

A Raider victory Saturday would make them the hosts for the first playoff game against the runner-up in the Eastern Division and, if they win that one, they would also play the AFL championship game here.

"Our preparation for Kansas City is tough," said Madden, "because they give you such a wide variety of formations both on offense and defense. It's not a special preparation, but it's tough because they give you a lot of things no one else does and you've got to be ready for them."

Daryle Lamonica threw three scoring passes yesterday to come within three of the pro football record shared by George Blanda and Y. A. Tittle. Warren Wells caught two of those passes, for 51 and 16 yards, and another 16-yarder from Blanda. Fred Biletnikoff caught one from Lamonica, also for 16 yards.

Lamonica spent the night before the game in the hospital getting treatment for a shoulder pain. Earlier he was hospitalized with the flu the night before leading the Raiders past San Diego.

"I couldn't believe it," said Lamonica of the injury. "This is the first week I've really felt sound all

O'Doul Dies; Ex-Bat King

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Joseph "Lefty" O'Doul, who twice won the National League batting championship during his 40 years in baseball and help-introduce the game in Japan, is dead at 72.

LEFTY O'DOUL
Dead at 72

He was "coming along fine" at French Hospital here where he had been since Nov. 12, recovering from a stroke, when a massive heart attack ended his life yesterday afternoon, Dr. P. Edmund Stalteri said.

Only a half hour before the fatal attack he had talked at length by phone with friends, telling them he wanted to visit Japan again "as soon as I get out of here — probably in the spring."

It was in 1931 on a tour with Babe Ruth that he helped get baseball started in Japan, and he had been back there 30 times to promote the game's growth.

O'Doul had the highest lifetime batting average of any living major leaguer, .349 for 10 seasons. The honor now passes to Ted Williams, whose lifetime average is .344.

PITCHED, TOO

O'Doul's baseball career began in 1917 with Des Moines of the Western League and he started in the major leagues as a pitcher for the New York Yankees in 1919. He batted and threw left-handed.

After a 1923 season with the Boston Red Sox he went back to the minors with arm troubles, but returned in 1928 with the New York Giants. In the following year, as an outfielder, he won his first National League batting crown with Philadelphia.

He won the batting title again in 1932 with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who traded him to the Giants in the following season.

SEALS MANAGER

After ending his playing career, O'Doul returned to his native San Francisco to manage the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League from 1935 to 1951. He stayed in the PCL and managed at San Diego, Oakland and Seattle until 1957.

Since 1958 he had operated a restaurant here — Lefty O'Doul's.

During his PCL managerial days he was credited with developing Joe and Dom DiMaggio, Joe Marty, Ferris Fain, Bob Chesnes, Larry Jansen and many others.

Gambling, Gutsy Texans Await Notre Dame Challenge

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —It was hours after the sting of defeat and Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was reflecting on the play that turned Texas into the probable national champion and gave the Longhorns a ticket to the Cotton Bowl.

"It was real gutsy," said Broyles. "You've got to hand it to 'em. They decided to go for all the marbles right there."

Broyles was speaking of Texas' bomb on a fourth and 3 situation from the Longhorn 43 with less than five minutes remaining.

Texas quarterback James Street, who has guided the Longhorns to 19 consecutive victories, found end Randy Peschel with a 44-yard strike to the Razorback 13. Two plays later Jim Bertelsen scored from the two and Happy Feller kicked the point for a 15-14 victory.

"That Street is one of the most exceptional players I've ever seen," said Broyles, who hosted a group of sports writers for dinner although he wasn't in the most festive of moods.

Texas coach Royal admitted the play was a bold gamble with Arkansas leading 14-8 at the time.

"Every now and then you just have to suck it up and pick a number," Royal said. "You don't use logic and reason. You just play a hunch."

With the victory over the second-ranked Razorbacks, who swarmed the Longhorns and shut down their offense for three quarters, Texas is a shoo-in to finish at the top of the Associated Press final regular season poll.

But Texas must uphold the ranking against Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day because there is another poll after all the bowl games. Undefeated Penn State meets Missouri in the Orange Bowl and the Nittany Lions feel they have a claim to the national title.

Broyles said "The game was a fitting climax to college football's 100th birthday. I know it was the most exciting day of my life."

President Nixon agreed, saying it "was one of the great games of all time."

Texas was given a plaque by the President designating it as the No. 1 team and this didn't settle too well in Pennsylvania.

In fact, editors of the Penn State newspaper sent hundreds telegrams to the White House, protesting Nixon's action.

President Nixon said "the fact that you (Texas) won a tough game and the fact that you didn't lose your cool makes you deserving of No. 1."

There will be hot stove arguments over the game in the Ozarks for years to come, particularly on Street's 42-yard touchdown run on the first play of the fourth period.

Street dropped back to pass, failed to find a receiver and broke tackles. He picked up several blocks, including one that was close to being a clip, and dashed to the score that breathed life into the embattled 'Horns.

Then there was the third down situation on Texas' seven-yard line with Arkansas leading 14-8 in the fourth quarter.

The Razorbacks elected to pass for a touchdown instead of setting up a short pop at a field goal.

Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery threw slightly behind Chuck Dicus on a "safe" slant-out pattern and Danny Lester leaped in to intercept.

"We had the decision to make and made it," Broyles said. "You can't replay them. You have to live with them."

Broyles said he isn't certain whether he would want to set back next year's Texas-Arkansas game to December for it to be nationally televised although ABC-TV estimated 50 million persons saw Saturday's game.

Rams Lost It On Kickoff; Cowboys Clinch Division

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

An early happening in Los Angeles helped shatter the Rams' dreams of an unbeaten season and left them thinking about a Dec. 27 date in the Minnesota northland when a lot more than pride will be at stake.

"That kickoff return was something that just happened," Minnesota Coach Bud Grant said yesterday after the Vikings handed the Rams their first defeat of the season after 11 straight victories.

What happened on the return of the kickoff—the opening one of the game—was a 78-yard run by Charlie West to the Los Angeles 22 to set up Dave Osborn's four-yard touchdown run that gave the Vikings a lead they never lost.

It was the 11th straight victory after a season-opening loss for the Central Division champion Vikings, who will play the Coastal Division champion Rams for the Western Conference title Dec. 27 in Minnesota.

Dallas, 9-2-1, struggled through the rain and snow in Pittsburgh to edge the Steelers, 1-10, and clinch the Capitol Division and the right to meet Century Division winner Cleveland for the Eastern Conference championship.

In other NFL action Sunday, Washington, 6-4-2, outlasted Philadelphia, r-7-1, 34-29; the New York Giants, 4-8, smashed St. Louis, 4-8-1, 49-6; Cleveland, 9-2-1, topped Green Bay, 6-6, 20-7; Atlanta, 4-8, drubbed New Orleans, 4-8, 45-18, and Detroit, 7-4-1, tied Baltimore, 7-4-1, 17-17. San Francisco, 3-7-2, walloped Chicago, 1-11, 42-21 Saturday.

Kansas City edged Buffalo 22-19, San Diego downed Boston 28-19, Oakland took Cincinnati 37-18 and Miami nipped Denver 27-24 Sunday and the New York Jets defeated Houston 34-26 Saturday in the American Football League.

17-7 AT HALF

After Osborn scored, Minnesota took a 14-0 lead on Bill Brown's one-yard touchdown run. Bruce Gossett then kicked a 37-yard goal and the Vikings' Fred Cox booted a 39-yarder as Minnesota built up a 17-7 halftime lead.

Cox and Osborne exchanged second half field goals and then Roman Gabriel brought the Rams their touchdown on a four-yard pass to Larry Smith with about three minutes left. The Rams got the ball again but couldn't move out of their own territory.

Dallas built a 10-0 halftime lead on Mike Clark's 32-yard field goal and quarterback Craig Morton's 12-yard touchdown run, then held off Pittsburgh the fourth quarter. The Steelers' touchdown came on a 29-yard pass from Dick Shiner to Jon Henderson.

LOMBARDI WINNER

Vince Lombardi, in his first season as Washington coach, was assured of at least a .500 season when the Redskins got past Philadelphia. Trailing 16-13 at halftime, Washington came back as rookie defensive end John Hoffman recovered a Norm Snead fumble for a touchdown, Sonny Jurgensen fired his second scoring strike and Larry Brown scored from one yard out. Snead passed for two Philadelphia touchdowns.

But a rubdown before the game and heat-pad treatments on the sidelines during the contest eased the pain and Lamonica completed 11 of 22 passes for 199 yards and the touchdowns.

Blanda got in at the end of the game and completed two tosses for 36 yards, moving past the 20,000-yard mark with 20,029 yards for his career. Only Jack Kemp of Buffalo has thrown for more yards in the AFL.

Blanda also kicked three field goals and four extra points, giving him 153 conversions in a row, a league record.

But the Raiders' running game was even more potent than its passing.

Led by Pete Banaszak with 81 yards, Hewritt Dixon with 78 and Charlie Smith with 60, Oakland rolled to a club rushing record of 309 yards far surpassing its previous mark of 265 set here against the Bengals last year.

Cincinnati's Paul Brown was not unhappy with his team's performance even though it couldn't repeat its earlier victory over the Raiders.

49ers Do What They Should Have Done All Year—Nolan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "This," said San Francisco 49er Coach Dick Nolan, "is what we should have been doing all year."

The 49ers, led by a couple of runners who have spent most of the season on the bench, posted their biggest score of the season Saturday, beating the down-and-out Chicago Bears 42-21.

Rookie Jimmy Thomas scored twice on spectacular plays and Bill Tucker went in for three more touchdowns as the 49ers rolled up 186 yards on the ground.

Virgil Carter, Chicago's quarterback for the first time this season, collected about 300 yards passing but three interceptions undid him and the Bears.

In addition, the 49ers recovered a Chicago fumble and blocked two field goal attempts by Mac Percival.

"I don't believe in going back and haunting anyone," said Roosevelt Taylor, whom the 49ers picked up in a trade with the Bears earlier this year. But his performance earned him a game ball along with the one Thomas got. Taylor blocked one of Percival's field goal attempts and Roland Lakes, who also picked up the fumble, went in to knock down the other one.

Thomas scored on a 75-yard dash from scrimmage in the second period. It was the longest San Francisco run since J. D. Smith went 80 yards against Green Bay in 1958.

In the third quarter, Thomas took a 25-yard pass from Steve Spurrier at the 50 and ran the rest of the way for the score.

Two other gallops by Thomas set up a second-quarter touchdown from one yard out by Tucker.

Later, John Brodie threw an 18-yard scoring pass to Tucker, a third-year runner from Tennessee State. And in the final period, Tucker scored on a 23-yard run.

Brodie suffered a knee sprain in the second period and may miss next week's game at Minnesota. Chicago receiver, Jerry Simmons broke and ankle in the third period.

Arnie's Army Roars Again

"I thought at six, when I birdied and Gay bogeyed, that I might have it going."

Brewer, who finished with a 73 for 272, and Palmer parred the next three holes but Gay went one more ahead with a birdie on 13. He might as well have waved a red flag at a bull.

Palmer put a four iron eight feet from the hole on 14 and made the putt. He was one stroke back. A nine iron to four feet on the 15 and it was even.

Gay bogeyed the 16th from the woods and Arnold was alone in front.

He nailed it down with birds on the last two holes, two-putting the par five 17th and running in a 12-footer on the last hole.

"Nothing went right," Brewer said.

Lee Trevino closed with a 66 to take third at 274 with Hal Underwood and Larry Hinson sharing fourth at 275, each with a final 69. Masters champion George Archer had a course record 64 and was alone at 276.

Palmer's victory pushed his earnings past $105,000 for the year and put him in the top 10. It was only the third time in his remarkable career—which now includes 55 tour victories—that he had scored consecutive triumphs. The last time was in 1962.

"I remember some tournaments like this before," he said, then grinned. "But not recently."

RON CERRUDO FALLS SHORT

Ron Cerrudo, ex-Marinite now living in Napa, failed in his bid to capture the No. 60 spot among this year's golf money winners.

Cerrudo, formerly of San Rafael, needed to win $617 in the Danny Thomas Diplomat Golf Classic in Miami this weekend, in order to overhaul Jack McGowan, who had held the No. 60 spot going into the tournament.

Cerrudo finished with a total of 72-71-73—288, good for only $194. The top 60 golf money winners are exempt from qualifying for the regular tournaments on the tour.

Gambling, Gutsy Texans Await Notre Dame Challenge

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —It was hours after the sting of defeat and Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was reflecting on the play that turned Texas into the probable national champion and gave the Longhorns a ticket to the Cotton Bowl.

"It was real gutsy," said Broyles. "You've got to hand it to 'em. They decided to go for all the marbles right there."

Broyles was speaking of Texas' bomb on a fourth and 3 situation from the Longhorn 43 with less than five minutes remaining.

Texas quarterback James Street, who has guided the Longhorns to 19 consecutive victories, found end Randy Peschel with a 44-yard strike to the Razorback 13. Two plays later Jim Bertelsen scored from the two and Happy Feller kicked the point for a 15-14 victory.

"That Street is one of the most exceptional players I've ever seen," said Broyles, who hosted a group of sports writers for dinner although he wasn't in the most festive of moods.

Texas coach Royal admitted the play was a bold gamble with Arkansas leading 14-8 at the time.

"Every now and then you just have to suck it up and pick a number," Royal said. "You don't use logic and reason. You just play a hunch."

With the victory over the second-ranked Razorbacks, who swarmed the Longhorns and shut down their offense for three quarters, Texas is a shoo-in to finish at the top of the Associated Press final regular season poll.

But Texas must uphold the ranking against Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day because there is another poll after all the bowl games. Undefeated Penn State meets Missouri in the Orange Bowl and the Nittany Lions feel they have a claim to the national title.

Broyles said "The game was a fitting climax to college football's 100th birthday. I know it was the most exciting day of my life."

President Nixon agreed, saying it "was one of the great games of all time."

Texas was given a plaque by the President designating it as the No. 1 team and this didn't settle too well in Pennsylvania.

In fact, editors of the Penn State newspaper sent hundreds telegrams to the White House, protesting Nixon's action.

President Nixon said "the fact that you (Texas) won a tough game and the fact that you didn't lose your cool makes you deserving of No. 1."

There will be hot stove arguments over the game in the Ozarks for years to come, particularly on Street's 42-yard touchdown run on the first play of the fourth period.

"I don't believe in going back and haunting anyone," said Roosevelt Taylor, whom the 49ers picked up in a trade with the Bears earlier this year. But his performance earned him a game ball along with the one Thomas got. Taylor blocked one of Percival's field goal attempts and Roland Lakes, who also picked up the fumble, went in to knock down the other one.

Thomas scored on a 75-yard dash from scrimmage in the second period. It was the longest San Francisco run since J. D. Smith went 80 yards against Green Bay in 1958.

In the third quarter, Thomas took a 25-yard pass from Steve Spurrier at the 50 and ran the rest of the way for the score.

Two other gallops by Thomas set up a second-quarter touchdown from one yard out by Tucker.

Later, John Brodie threw an 18-yard scoring pass to Tucker, a third-year runner from Tennessee State. And in the final period, Tucker scored on a 23-yard run.

Brodie suffered a knee sprain in the second period and may miss next week's game at Minnesota. Chicago receiver, Jerry Simmons broke and ankle in the third period.

Arnie's Army Roars Again

"I thought at six, when I birdied and Gay bogeyed, that I might have it going."

Brewer, who finished with a 73 for 272, and Palmer parred the next three holes but Gay went one more ahead with a birdie on 13. He might as well have waved a red flag at a bull.

Palmer put a four iron eight feet from the hole on 14 and made the putt. He was one stroke back. A nine iron to four feet on the 15 and it was even.

Gay bogeyed the 16th from the woods and Arnold was alone in front.

He nailed it down with birds on the last two holes, two-putting the par five 17th and running in a 12-footer on the last hole.

"Nothing went right," Brewer said.

Lee Trevino closed with a 66 to take third at 274 with Hal Underwood and Larry Hinson sharing fourth at 275, each with a final 69. Masters champion George Archer had a course record 64 and was alone at 276.

Palmer's victory pushed his earnings past $105,000 for the year and put him in the top 10. It was only the third time in his remarkable career—which now includes 55 tour victories—that he had scored consecutive triumphs. The last time was in 1962.

"I remember some tournaments like this before," he said, then grinned. "But not recently."

RON CERRUDO FALLS SHORT

Ron Cerrudo, ex-Marinite now living in Napa, failed in his bid to capture the No. 60 spot among this year's golf money winners.

Cerrudo, formerly of San Rafael, needed to win $617 in the Danny Thomas Diplomat Golf Classic in Miami this weekend, in order to overhaul Jack McGowan, who had held the No. 60 spot going into the tournament.

Cerrudo finished with a total of 72-71-73—288, good for only $194. The top 60 golf money winners are exempt from qualifying for the regular tournaments on the tour.

COAST COLLEGE BASKETBALL

UCLA Coach: 'We're Overrated'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend basketball was good for most West Coast teams meeting eastern rivals, but UCLA Bruin Coach John Wooden modestly feels his team was overrated while still taking Minnesota 72-71 in overtime.

"I know Bill Fitch felt like he just had his pocket picked losing a game where he was leading with 23 seconds to play," Wooden said of the Gophers' coach.

Wooden noted UCLA lost "four of our top six scorers, including three regulars and Lew Alcindor. We're playing a different style than what we played with Alcindor. This will take time to develop."

Fitch says, "I think it was a tremendous effort by UCLA. They've got a great ball club."

In overtime, Minnesota's Ollie Shannon hit a field goal and one free throw to put the Gophers on top 71-70 with a minute to play, but UCLA took home the cake when Henry Bibby hit a jump shot for the final margin.

Southern California took an early lead in Los Angeles where visiting Vanderbilt couldn't catch up. It was 108-89 for Vanderbilt's first loss in three starts.

Dennis "Moe" Layton led the Trojan attack with 23 points, but five other USC players also scored in double figures, staving off a Vanderbilt rally that cut USC's 23-point lead early in the second half to 81-73 with 6:43 to play.

Two University of Washington players scored more than 20 points to lead the Huskies in an 88-68 win over Montana State

California narrowly took it from Brigham Young University 77-75, when a BYU player was called for goal tending.

Oregon pivot man Stan Love dropped in seven fast points as the Ducks nipped New Mexico 60-59. Love finished with 25 points.

Washington State Cougars stopped Hawaii 96-80 for their second consecutive victory of the season. Cougar Rick Erickson and Rainbow John Penebacker led their teams with 20 points each.

The University of San Francisco pulled off its second straight win, 84-71, over St. Peter's of New Jersey. Dons' guard Rich Ames, out last season with a broken arm, led San Francisco with 22 points. Stanford meets USF at San Francisco tonight.

SPORTS SHORTS

Leotis Eyes Boxing Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Leotis Martin, winner of a stuning upset over Sonny Liston; is trying to get a fight fith Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis for a piece of the world heivyweight title.

"I'll take either one, any time or any place," Martin said.

The World Boxing Association recognizes as champion, Ellis, who defeated Martin early in the WBA heavyweight elimination series Aug. 5, 1967. Frazier is champion of five states.

The North American Boxing Association, composed of nine states and Mexico, now recognizes Martin as North American champion.

Martin, 29, a 13-5 underdog, suddenly knocked out the 37-year-old former champion Saturday with a left hook and right cross in 1:28 of the ninth round.

It was the first loss in 15 starts for Liston since his second defeat by Cassius Clay in 1965.

Liston was still out cold, flat on his face, several minutes after the fight. After he was revived he said he would be "doing better next time."

Martin said of the fourth-round knockdown: "He caught me up high but didn't hurt me. He's old but he's good. I tried to pace myself for 12 rounds."

BASEBALL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The Washington Senators conditionally purchased second baseman Bob Schroder from San Francisco's Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

GOLF

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand — Australian Kel Nagle edged New Zealand's John Lister for the first prize in the Christchurch Garden City Classic Golf Tournament with a final round 1-under-par 72 and a 72 hole score of 272.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK — Texas was named winner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame's MacArthur Bowl, awarded to the top college football team of the nation.

BOWLING

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — Mike McGrath of El Carrito, defeated Bill Allen of Fresno, 212-211 in the final game to capture the $65,000 Professional Bowlers Association Championshp.

FOOTBALL

PASADENA — John Featherstone, a diminutive end who could have been sitting on the bench, instead won the honors as top offensive player in Saturday's Pasadena Bowl football game.

The 160-pounder who stands just 5-feet-8, gathered in two long scoring passes as San Diedo State finished a perfect season, 11-0, with a 28-7 victory over Boston University before 41,276 in the Rose Bowl.

HOUSTON — The New York Jets clinched the Eastern Division title in the American Football League with a 34-26 victory over the Houston Oilers Saturday.

MIAMI — Hubert Ginn scored two touchdowns as Florida A&M edged Grambling, 23-19, in the Orange Bowl football classic Saturday.

HORSE RACING

NEW YORK — Arts And Letters was named the Thoroughbred Racing Association's 1969 American champion. Arts And Letters also was named 3-year-old champion colt by the TRA.

AUTO RACING

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Bobby Isaac won the $93,150 Texas 500 auto race with an average speed of 144.265 miles an hour.

St. Louis Soccer Team Tops USF

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Maybe the NCAA should start a special classification for the St. Louis University soccer team.

The Billikens won their seventh straight championship Saturday with a 4-0 victory over the University of San Francisco.

After a scoreless first period, Al Trost and Garry Rensing tallied goals on penalty kicks, Joe Leeker booted in a six-yarder and Mike Seerey scored from 11 yards out to account for the St. Louis scoring.

The victory gave the Billikens a perfect 13-0 season record. The Dons wound up at 7-2-4.

The NCAA champions also captured two individual honors with Pat Leahy named the top defensive back and Trost picked as the best offensive player.

Coach Fills In As Sad Warriors Nurse Wounds

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The battered San Francisco Warriors, riddled with bruises and breaks, face the Atlanta Hawks tomorrow night in sad shape.

How many Warriors will be able to play is a question. That was evident from the number of players who worked out—sort of—before the team left San Francisco today.

There were only six on the court, "and I," said coach George Lee, "was one of them."

Joe Ellis is getting a splint on his tendon-tender right-shooting-hand and his appearance is iffy.

Jerry Lucas and Al Attles, both with broken hands, will be out another two weeks. Fact is, the Warriors are down to three forwards.

Andretti Climaxes Brilliant Season

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Mario Andretti had won eight U.S. Auto Club championship races this year but the pre-race favorite for the final race of the tour — the Rex Mays 300 — just had to be Dan Gurney.

Gurney seems to own the Riverside course. He lives not far away in Costa Mesa and for 99 laps yesterday it seemed that Andretti, suffering early mechanical troubles, would be defeated by the local pro.

The favored Gurney took over the lead early in the race after Mario, of Nazareth, Pa., was forced to make an unscheduled pit stop to fix a broken wheel and failing rear brakes. But Gurney, unlike other races here, failed to pull away with authority, as is his custom.

MARIO'S HORSES

And Andretti was the one with the horses. He drove his STP Hawk Ford to an average speed of 109.44 miles an hour and won the race and first money of $19,650 when Gurney-as is his custom — suffered mechanical troubles.

With less than eight miles to go, on the 117th lap, Gurney's Olsonite Eagle Ford suffered a broken half shaft and slowed almost to a halt. On came Andretti for the victory and right back of him for second and $13,250 was Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M.

Gurney finished third with Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, fourth in an Eagle Turbo Ford.

Mario thus capped a brilliant season, winning nine races and the USAC title. He also became the first man ever to top 5,000 points on a circuit. Yesterday's victory gave him a total of 5,025.

Top 10 finishers:

Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., STP Hawk Ford, 109.44 miles an hour, $19,650.
Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., Lola Ford, 120 laps, $13,250.
Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif., Eagle Ford, 120 laps, $9,900.
Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., Eagle Turbo Ford, 119 laps, $5,625.
Johnny Rutherford, Ft. Worth, Tex., Eagle Ford, 118 laps, $4,050.
Swede Savage, Santa Ana, Calif., Eagle Ford, 117 laps, $3,000.
Wally Dallenbach, East Brunswick, N.J., Eagle Turbo Offy, 115 laps, $2,550.
Bill Simpson, Torrance, Calif., Gilbert Chevrolet, 113 laps, $2,150.
Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., Eagle Ford, 113 laps, $1,775.
Jerry Grant, Solana Beach, Calif., Eisert Ford, 107 laps, $1,550.

COAST COLLEGE BASKETBALL

UCLA Coach: 'We're Overrated'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend basketball was good for most West Coast teams meeting eastern rivals, but UCLA Bruin Coach John Wooden modestly feels his team was overrated while still taking Minnesota 72-71 in overtime.

"I know Bill Fitch felt like he just had his pocket picked losing a game where he was leading with 23 seconds to play," Wooden said of the Gophers' coach.

Wooden noted UCLA lost "four of our top six scorers, including three regulars and Lew Alcindor. We're playing a different style than what we played with Alcindor. This will take time to develop."

Fitch says, "I think it was a tremendous effort by UCLA. They've got a great ball club."

In overtime, Minnesota's Ollie Shannon hit a field goal and one free throw to put the Gophers on top 71-70 with a minute to play, but UCLA took home the cake when Henry Bibby hit a jump shot for the final margin.

Southern California took an early lead in Los Angeles where visiting Vanderbilt couldn't catch up. It was 108-89 for Vanderbilt's first loss in three starts.

Dennis "Moe" Layton led the Trojan attack with 23 points, but five other USC players also scored in double figures, staving off a Vanderbilt rally that cut USC's 23-point lead early in the second half to 81-73 with 6:43 to play.

Two University of Washington players scored more than 20 points to lead the Huskies in an 88-68 win over Montana State

California narrowly took it from Brigham Young University 77-75, when a BYU player was called for goal tending.

Oregon pivot man Stan Love dropped in seven fast points as the Ducks nipped New Mexico 60-59. Love finished with 25 points.

Washington State Cougars stopped Hawaii 96-80 for their second consecutive victory of the season. Cougar Rick Erickson and Rainbow John Penebacker led their teams with 20 points each.

The University of San Francisco pulled off its second straight win, 84-71, over St. Peter's of New Jersey. Dons' guard Rich Ames, out last season with a broken arm, led San Francisco with 22 points. Stanford meets USF at San Francisco tonight.

SPORTS SHORTS

Leotis Eyes Boxing Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Leotis Martin, winner of a stuning upset over Sonny Liston; is trying to get a fight fith Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis for a piece of the world heivyweight title.

"I'll take either one, any time or any place," Martin said.

The World Boxing Association recognizes as champion, Ellis, who defeated Martin early in the WBA heavyweight elimination series Aug. 5, 1967. Frazier is champion of five states.

The North American Boxing Association, composed of nine states and Mexico, now recognizes Martin as North American champion.

Martin, 29, a 13-5 underdog, suddenly knocked out the 37-year-old former champion Saturday with a left hook and right cross in 1:28 of the ninth round.

It was the first loss in 15 starts for Liston since his second defeat by Cassius Clay in 1965.

Liston was still out cold, flat on his face, several minutes after the fight. After he was revived he said he would be "doing better next time."

Martin said of the fourth-round knockdown: "He caught me up high but didn't hurt me. He's old but he's good. I tried to pace myself for 12 rounds."

BASEBALL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The Washington Senators conditionally purchased second baseman Bob Schroder from San Francisco's Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

GOLF

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand — Australian Kel Nagle edged New Zealand's John Lister for the first prize in the Christchurch Garden City Classic Golf Tournament with a final round 1-under-par 72 and a 72 hole score of 272.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK — Texas was named winner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame's MacArthur Bowl, awarded to the top college football team of the nation.

BOWLING

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — Mike McGrath of El Carrito, defeated Bill Allen of Fresno, 212-211 in the final game to capture the $65,000 Professional Bowlers Association Championshp.

FOOTBALL

PASADENA — John Featherstone, a diminutive end who could have been sitting on the bench, instead won the honors as top offensive player in Saturday's Pasadena Bowl football game.

The 160-pounder who stands just 5-feet-8, gathered in two long scoring passes as San Diedo State finished a perfect season, 11-0, with a 28-7 victory over Boston University before 41,276 in the Rose Bowl.

HOUSTON — The New York Jets clinched the Eastern Division title in the American Football League with a 34-26 victory over the Houston Oilers Saturday.

MIAMI — Hubert Ginn scored two touchdowns as Florida A&M edged Grambling, 23-19, in the Orange Bowl football classic Saturday.

HORSE RACING

NEW YORK — Arts And Letters was named the Thoroughbred Racing Association's 1969 American champion. Arts And Letters also was named 3-year-old champion colt by the TRA.

AUTO RACING

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Bobby Isaac won the $93,150 Texas 500 auto race with an average speed of 144.265 miles an hour.

St. Louis Soccer Team Tops USF

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Maybe the NCAA should start a special classification for the St. Louis University soccer team.

The Billikens won their seventh straight championship Saturday with a 4-0 victory over the University of San Francisco.

After a scoreless first period, Al Trost and Garry Rensing tallied goals on penalty kicks, Joe Leeker booted in a six-yarder and Mike Seerey scored from 11 yards out to account for the St. Louis scoring.

The victory gave the Billikens a perfect 13-0 season record. The Dons wound up at 7-2-4.

The NCAA champions also captured two individual honors with Pat Leahy named the top defensive back and Trost picked as the best offensive player.

Coach Fills In As Sad Warriors Nurse Wounds

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The battered San Francisco Warriors, riddled with bruises and breaks, face the Atlanta Hawks tomorrow night in sad shape.

How many Warriors will be able to play is a question. That was evident from the number of players who worked out—sort of—before the team left San Francisco today.

There were only six on the court, "and I," said coach George Lee, "was one of them."

Joe Ellis is getting a splint on his tendon-tender right-shooting-hand and his appearance is iffy.

Jerry Lucas and Al Attles, both with broken hands, will be out another two weeks. Fact is, the Warriors are down to three forwards.

Andretti Climaxes Brilliant Season

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Mario Andretti had won eight U.S. Auto Club championship races this year but the pre-race favorite for the final race of the tour — the Rex Mays 300 — just had to be Dan Gurney.

Gurney seems to own the Riverside course. He lives not far away in Costa Mesa and for 99 laps yesterday it seemed that Andretti, suffering early mechanical troubles, would be defeated by the local pro.

The favored Gurney took over the lead early in the race after Mario, of Nazareth, Pa., was forced to make an unscheduled pit stop to fix a broken wheel and failing rear brakes. But Gurney, unlike other races here, failed to pull away with authority, as is his custom.

MARIO'S HORSES

And Andretti was the one with the horses. He drove his STP Hawk Ford to an average speed of 109.44 miles an hour and won the race and first money of $19,650 when Gurney-as is his custom — suffered mechanical troubles.

With less than eight miles to go, on the 117th lap, Gurney's Olsonite Eagle Ford suffered a broken half shaft and slowed almost to a halt. On came Andretti for the victory and right back of him for second and $13,250 was Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M.

Gurney finished third with Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, fourth in an Eagle Turbo Ford.

Mario thus capped a brilliant season, winning nine races and the USAC title. He also became the first man ever to top 5,000 points on a circuit. Yesterday's victory gave him a total of 5,025.

Top 10 finishers:

Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., STP Hawk Ford, 109.44 miles an hour, $19,650.

Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., Lola Ford, 120 laps, $13,250.

Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif., Eagle Ford, 120 laps, $9,900.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerue, N.M., Eagle Turbo Ford, 119 laps, $5,625.

Johnny Rutherford, Ft. Worth, Tex., Eagle Ford, 118 laps, $4,050.

Swede Savage, Santa Ana, Calif., Eagle Ford, 117 laps, $3,000.

Wally Dallenbach, East Brunswick, N.J., Eagle Turbo Offy, 115 laps, $2,550.

Bill Simpson, Torrance, Calif., Gilbert Chevrolet, 113 laps, $2,150.

Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., Eagle Ford, 113 laps, $1,775.

Jerry Grant, Solana Beach, Calif., Eisert Ford, 107 laps, $1,550.

Case In Point: Swindle Should Fail, But It Works

There's no reason why anybody should fall for a swindle; there's almost always something that gives the show away. Still, the world is full of prosperous confidence men and no-so-propserous victims. If you're wondering what this has to do with bridge, study the hand shown today.

KING COVERS

West opens the jack of clubs, South hopefully plays dummy's queen, but East covers the king. South must win with the ace of clubs and must eventually lose a club and a diamond. South can make his game only if he can limit the trump loss to one trick.

The square way to play the trumps is to lead a low trump to dummy's king and then return a low trump, playing low also from the South hand. This will succeed if West started with the doubleton ace, since he will have to play his ace "on air" at the second trump trick. South will be able to keep his queen to draw the last outstanding trump.

This method will not work if West has three trumps to the ace, but South may be able to swindle West if South is clever and West is gullible.

FAKE DISCARD

South should pretend that he is desperately trying to get to dummy in order to discard a loser. If West believes the act, he may step up with the ace of trumps to thwart South's plan.

South cashes the ace and king of hearts at the second and third tricks. Then he leads a low trump. If West thinks that South wants to get to dummy with the king of spades in order to discard a loser on the queen of hearts, West may step up immediately with the ace of trumps. And that will give South his contract.

NOTICE SIGNAL

West shouldn't fall for this plot, especially if East plays high-low in hearts to show an even number of cards in the suit. But how many of the bridge players you know would notice this signal? Try this kind of swindle and find out.

♠ Q 8 7 5 4
♥ A K J
♦ K Q 10
♣ A 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 no-trump.

Even if partner has only six points in high cards the combined count will be 25 points; and it is likely to be somewhat higher since partner may have more than the bare minimum. There will probably be a reasonable play for game no matter how weak a hand partner has. It pays to bid aggressively in such situations.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Dec. 8, the 342nd day of 1969 with 23 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1776 George Washington crossed the Delaware River, near Trenton, N.J.

In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln announced his plan for reconstruction of the South. It provided amnesty for all who supported the Confederacy except the highest leaders,

In 1886 delegates from 25 unions founded the American Federation of Labor at Columbus, Ohio.

In 1949 the Chinese Nationalist Government, defeated by the Communists, moved its headquarters from the mainland to Formosa.

A thought for the day: President Lincoln said, "Truth is generally the best vindication against slander."

Canadian Pair Raises Their Second Family

BURNABY, B.C. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of this Vancouver suburb found it wasn't enough to raise their own family so now they have another.

The six girls, aged 12 to 16, living in the Brown home are all truants placed by the Elizabeth Fry Society. Mrs. Brown says she treats them all like she did her own daughters and they are attending school regularly.

"Placemaker's Bible" was a name given to the second edition of the Geneva Bible because a printer's error made a verse of Matthew read: "Blessed are the placemakers (peacemakers) for they shall be called the children of God."

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

It's Nearly Time Again To Put The Brain Power To Work

Wikel

It's hard to believe, but this country was founded as a protest against taxation!

It has been said that the United States is the only country in which it requires more brains to prepare the income tax return than it does to earn the income.

It would also help a great deal to have knowledge of forthcoming events. Personally, I'm shopping for a crystal ball.

Meade Whitaker, tax legislative counsel for the U. S. Treasury Department, speaking before the 82nd annual meeting of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants in Los Angeles on Oct. 7, stated, in effect, that nobody knew at that time whether or not we would have a new revenue law for 1969. It could be that there would be a new revenue law passed in November or December, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1969, or it could even be that there would be a revenue law passed in January or February of 1970 that would affect 1969. He didn't know, and neither does anyone else.

PRINTING PROBLEM

The IRS had to start printing the 1969 Federal Income Tax forms by Oct. 15 if they were to be in the hands of the taxpayers in time to file their 1969 income tax returns. After all, this is a rather large printing and distributing job.

These forms are based on the law as it is now written.

In the meantime, Congress is working hard to produce a new law which will change many rules.

The forms package to be received ty taxpayers operating a business will contain, among other things, a form for deducting the investment credit. If Congress deletes the investment credit effective any date prior to Jan. 1, 1970, the IRS is going to have a problem because many taxpayers will follow instructions in the tax return package and claim the investment credit.

NO NEW LAW

It may well be that there will be no new law for 1969 and if so this would be a good thing because you could go ahead and prepare your return just exactly like it says in the return and the instructions.

But what if there is a new law?

If there is a new, law, then the forms and the instructions will be wrong.

What do you do then to keep from overpaying your taxes?

READ YOUR PAPER

This is one place where your daily newspaper becomes an invaluable source of information.

The Revenue Service will undoubtedly use every means at its disposal to make the changes in the laws known immediately.

Suppose the personal exemption is increased from $600 to $1,000. Suppose the tax rates are changed. Suppose the investment credit is eliminated, what are you the taxpayer supposed to do.

What happens if you overpay your tax? If IRS notices this overpayment, a check will be issued for the refund due you.

What if you underpay your tax? If IRS notices this underpayment, and chances are they will because they will be looking for just exactly this type of thing, you will be billed for the additional tax due.

You should read your daily newspaper right up to tax filing time to see if there has been any changes that affect you.

Trading Is Moderate On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prospects of lower-than-expected corporate profits in 1970, concern over tight credit and normal year-end tax selling weighed heavily on the stock market today following a sharp setback last week. Trading was moderate.

A turnover of approximately 9,500,000 shares was running well below Friday's pace.

In the news background, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans hinted that tight money conditions may continue for another six months, while the Bankers Trust Co. predicted a sharp drop in corporate profits next year.

On the profits outlook, Stans noted that the nation's corporations will have difficulty in making profits as a result of Washington's efforts to halt inflation.

Litton, a heavily traded issue, also was one of the softest spots on the list, plunging 8 points before the close. Analysts said the issue was affected by lower profits for the October wuarter and by an unfavorable comment in a leading business publication.

Steels traded narrowly.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in moderate turnover.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Disney Park Stock Is Sure Fire Bet

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought shares of Walt Disney Productions at $6. What would your opinion be of selling 50 or 100 shares at this time? — L. B.

A. Although at 34x fiscal 1969 results of $3.49 a share, Disney is currently selling at a record high multiple, shares should be retained for continued appreciation. Long-term prospects are enhanced by several successful new movies, an extensive library of old films and Disneyland.

In fiscal 1968, 9 million paying customers spent $6.97 per person at Disneyland. Recent strong counter-trend action in these shares is attributed to investor evaluation of potential earnings from the Florida Disney World complex opening late in 1971. Given a modicum of success — on the order of half of what Disneyland has experienced — Disney World could add as much as 60 cents a share to earnings.

Work on the Mineral King Resort in California, temporarily halted by objections from the Sierra Club, should resume after a compromise agreement is reached.

Q. Our 2-year-old son received 25 shares of All American Fund. Should we add to these holdings? — G. W. R.

A. This small fund with asset value of $2.9 million ranks 319th in asset value among 369 funds tabulated by Fundscope. Its record has not been outstanding although its goal is growth and its classification, performance.

Founded in 1964, All American showed a drop in net asset valus for 1965 and 1966 and gains in the following two years. In the first 10 months of this year its performance has been well below average for its group. In the first quarter of 1969, 11 cents a share in capital gains were distributed — a substantial increase from the one cent a share realized in 1968 from this source.

A heavy concentration of airlines and cyclical industrial issues in All American's portfolio has held back growth. However, prospects for other holdings appear good. In view of the limited interest in this fund I would not add to these shares.

To Purchase Firm

CHICAGO (UPI) — Borg-Warner Corp. has agreed in principle to buy Tillotson Manufacturing Co. of Toledo, maker of carburetors for small gasoline engines. Tillotson has annual sales of about $13 million. Terms were not disclosed.

Kaiser Cement Sets Dividends

OAKLAND, (BW) — Directors of Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corp., have declared regular quarterly dividends on the Oakland-based corporation's common, preferred and preference stocks.

The dividend on the common stock is 20 cents per share; The preferred dividend is 62.5 cents, and the preference dividend is 34 and ⅜ cents.

All three dividends are payable Jan. 31, 1970, to shareowners of record Jan. 16, 1970.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Former Policeman Opens New Driving School In San Rafael

Former San Rafael police officer John A. (Jack) Loane now has his own business — Aalst Driving School, operating from 2845 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Loane, who was six years with the San Rafael Police Department and for a time after that a special agent with Crocker-Citizens National Bank, is a state licensed instructor. His school handles both driver education and driver training. The full operation extends throughout Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties.

THE WILDFLOWER beauty salon has moved from its small upstairs location at 78 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, to 35 Throckmorton. These are much larger quarters, once occupied by Beltone of Marin and located next to the Sequoia Theater. Owners are Sandy Trinka, Susan Gordon, Sally Mays and Jane Loomis.

CORRECTION: The new Wig Palace at 4 Front Street, Novato, I am told, is not a beauty salon as previously stated in this column. Its only functions are the selling and styling of wigs. Co-owner Cary Kalstrom of San Mateo is the experienced wig stylist.

FERNANDO (FRED) A. NUTI of Larkspur has been promoted to vice president and manager of Bank of America's Day and Night office in San Francisco. He replaces Alfred Horrer, also of Larkspur, who was recently announced as being elevated to vice president at the main San Francisco office. Nuti joined the bank in 1938 and has served in a number of branches and departments. He was made a vice president and assistant manager of the Day and Night office in 1964.

Nuti

Settles

JAMES R. SETTLES of San Rafael has been elected vice president of Allied Packers, Ltd., San Francisco. He has been with the company for five years. Allied Packers is an importer and marketer of meats from Australia and New Zealand.

THE TOWNHOUSE hair styling salon at 844 Third Street, San Rafael, has been taken over by Jaime Plunkett of Berkeley, who has renamed it Jaime's Townhouse. The sale was handled through Earl Shuttleworth of Fox and Carskadon, Realtors.

Plunkett had experience in New York and in Europe before coming to Berkeley.

Plunkett

DeMattei

ROBERT L. DeMATTEI of Marinwood has been promoted by Wells Fargo Bank to assistant vice president in charge of operations at the 464 California Street office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1957 and has served in several of its major San Francisco offices.

JAMES W. GRUENIG of Mill Valley has joined the newly established firm, Centrol Systems, Inc., at 22 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, as chief electronic engineer. He was formerly with Chevron Research Co.

Centrol Systems is developing a new burglar alarm which should be ready for marketing about the first of the year. It is for use in commercial and industrial establishments and in the home.

PACEMAKER CORP. has announced the appointment of Thorstand Yachts in Alameda as new Northern California dealer for the Pacemaker cruisers. In the past the line has been carried by Bauman Bros. and Dick Miller Associates in Sausalito.

S K MARINE SALES AND SERVICE, 28 Mark Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, is now showing a new line of Maherajah competition water skis. Since leaving Sausalito, Maherajah has been located at Healdsburg.

RADIO STATION KTIM is sponsoring a series of spot announcements daily prepared by the Better Business Bureau to advise and educate Marin County residents on good consumer practices.

For several months the bureau has been very active in the county lining up new member firms and uncovering illegal or questionable business tactics.

ONE WILL GET YOU TEN... OR MORE in CAPITAL INVESTORS
Systech Financial Corporation's newest limited partnership venture
In Capital, one limited partnership interest will make you part owner of at least 10 apartment houses with more than 600 units in prime Northern California communities, including Concord, Sacramento, San Jose and San Mateo. And with none of the maintenance and management responsibilities and headaches which usually accompany investment property ownership. All this and tax shelter, too.
General partner: Systech Financial Corporation, syndicators of more than 2500 apartment house units in Northern California.
Minimum investment: $10,000
Closing date: December 31, 1969.
This announcement is neither an offer to sell nor a solicitation of an offer to buy any of these securities. The offering is made only by the authorized investment circular, copies of which may be obtained from Systech Financial Corporation. The offering is restricted to bona fide residents of California who meet the financial requirements defined by the California Department of Corporations. INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

It's Nearly Time Again To Put The Brain Power To Work

Wikel

It's hard to believe, but this country was founded as a protest against taxation!

It has been said that the United States is the only country in which it requires more brains to prepare the income tax return than it does to earn the income.

It would also help a great deal to have knowledge of forthcoming events. Personally, I'm shopping for a crystal ball.

Meade Whitaker, tax legislative counsel for the U. S. Treasury Department, speaking before the 82nd annual meeting of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants in Los Angeles on Oct. 7, stated, in effect, that nobody knew at that time whether or not we would have a new revenue law for 1969. It could be that there would be a new revenue law passed in November or December, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1969, or it could even be that there would be a revenue law passed in January or February of 1970 that would affect 1969. He didn't know, and neither does anyone else.

PRINTING PROBLEM

The IRS had to start printing the 1969 Federal Income Tax forms by Oct. 15 if they were to be in the hands of the taxpayers in time to file their 1969 income tax returns. After all, this is a rather large printing and distributing job.

These forms are based on the law as it is now written.

In the meantime, Congress is working hard to produce a new law which will change many rules.

The forms package to be received ty taxpayers operating a business will contain, among other things, a form for deducting the investment credit. If Congress deletes the investment credit effective any date prior to Jan. 1, 1970, the IRS is going to have a problem because many taxpayers will follow instructions in the tax return package and claim the investment credit.

NO NEW LAW

It may well be that there will be no new law for 1969 and if so this would be a good thing because you could go ahead and prepare your return just exactly like it says in the return and the instructions.

But what if there is a new law?

If there is a new, law, then the forms and the instructions will be wrong.

What do you do then to keep from overpaying your taxes?

READ YOUR PAPER

This is one place where your daily newspaper becomes an invaluable source of information. The Revenue Service will undoubtedly use every means at its disposal to make the changes in the laws known immediately.

Suppose the personal exemption is increased from $600 to $1,000. Suppose the tax rates are changed. Suppose the investment credit is eliminated, what are you the taxpayer supposed to do.

What happens if you overpay your tax? If IRS notices this overpayment, a check will be issued for the refund due you.

What if you underpay your tax? If IRS notices this underpayment, and chances are they will because they will be looking for just exactly this type of thing, you will be billed for the additional tax due.

You should read your daily newspaper right up to tax filing time to see if there has been any changes that affect you.

Trading Is Moderate On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prospects of lower-than-expected corporate profits in 1970, concern over tight credit and normal year-end tax selling weighed heavily on the stock market today following a sharp setback last week. Trading was moderate.

A turnover of approximately 9,500,000 shares was running well below Friday's pace.

In the news background, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans hinted that tight money conditions may continue for another six months, while the Bankers Trust Co. predicted a sharp drop in corporate profits next year.

On the profits outlook, Stans noted that the nation's corporations will have difficulty in making profits as a result of Washington's efforts to halt inflation.

Litton, a heavily traded issue, also was one of the softest spots on the list, plunging 8 points before the close. Analysts said the issue was affected by lower profits for the October wuarter and by an unfavorable comment in a leading business publication.

Steels traded narrowly.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in moderate turnover.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Disney Park Stock Is Sure Fire Bet

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought shares of Walt Disney Productions at $6. What would your opinion be of selling 50 or 100 shares at this time? — L. B.

A. Although at 34x fiscal 1969 results of $3.49 a share, Disney is currently selling at a record high multiple, shares should be retained for continued appreciation. Long-term prospects are enhanced by several successful new movies, an extensive library of old films and Disneyland.

In fiscal 1968, 9 million paying customers spent $6.97 per person at Disneyland. Recent strong counter-trend action in these shares is attributed to investor evaluation of potential earnings from the Florida Disney World complex opening late in 1971. Given a modicum of success — on the order of half of what Disneyland has experienced — Disney World could add as much as 60 cents a share to earnings.

Work on the Mineral King Resort in California, temporarily halted by objections from the Sierra Club, should resume after a compromise agreement is reached.

Q. Our 2-year-old son received 25 shares of All American Fund. Should we add to these holdings? — G. W. R.

A. This small fund with asset value of $2.9 million ranks 319th in asset value among 369 funds tabulated by Fundscope. Its record has not been outstanding although its goal is growth and its classification, performance.

Founded in 1964, All American showed a drop in net asset value for 1965 and 1966 and gains in the following two years. In the first 10 months of this year its performance has been well below average for its group. In the first quarter of 1969, 11 cents a share in capital gains were distributed — a substantial increase from the one cent a share realized in 1968 from this source.

A heavy concentration of airlines and cyclical industrial issues in All American's portfolio has held back growth. However, prospects for other holdings appear good. In view of the limited interest in this fund I would not add to these shares.

To Purchase Firm

CHICAGO (UPI) — Borg-Warner Corp. has agreed in principle to buy Tillotson Manufacturing Co. of Toledo, maker of carburetors for small gasoline engines. Tillotson has annual sales of about $13 million. Terms were not disclosed.

Kaiser Cement Sets Dividends

OAKLAND, (BW) — Directors of Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corp., have declared regular quarterly dividends on the Oakland-based corporation's common, preferred and preference stocks.

The dividend on the common stock is 20 cents per share; The preferred dividend is 62.5 cents, and the preference dividend is 34 and ⅜ cents.

All three dividends are payable Jan. 31, 1970, to shareowners of record Jan. 16, 1970.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Former Policeman Opens New Driving School In San Rafael

Former San Rafael police officer John A. (Jack) Loane now has his own business — Aalst Driving School, operating from 2845 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Loane, who was six years with the San Rafael Police Department and for a time after that a special agent with Crocker-Citizens National Bank, is a state licensed instructor. His school handles both driver education and driver training. The full operation extends throughout Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties.

THE WILDFLOWER beauty salon has moved from its small upstairs location at 78 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, to 35 Throckmorton. These are much larger quarters, once occupied by Beltone of Marin and located next to the Sequoia Theater. Owners are Sandy Trinka, Susan Gordon, Sally Mays and Jane Loomis.

CORRECTION: The new Wig Palace at 4 Front Street, Novato, I am told, is not a beauty salon as previously stated in this column. Its only functions are the selling and styling of wigs. Co-owner Cary Kalstrom of San Mateo is the experienced wig stylist.

FERNANDO (FRED) A. NUTI of Larkspur has been promoted to vice president and manager of Bank of America's Day and Night office in San Francisco. He replaces Alfred Horrer, also of Larkspur, who was recently announced as being elevated to vice president at the main San Francisco office. Nuti joined the bank in 1938 and has served in a number of branches and departments. He was made a vice president and assistant manager of the Day and Night office in 1964.

Nuti

Settles

JAMES R. SETTLES of San Rafael has been elected vice president of Allied Packers, Ltd., San Francisco. He has been with the company for five years. Allied Packers is an importer and marketer of meats from Australia and New Zealand.

THE TOWNHOUSE hair styling salon at 844 Third Street, San Rafael, has been taken over by Jaime Plunkett of Berkeley, who has renamed it Jaime's Townhouse. The sale was handled through Earl Shuttleworth of Fox and Carskadon, Realtors.

Plunkett had experience in New York and in Europe before coming to Berkeley.

Plunkett

DeMattei

ROBERT L. DeMATTEI of Marinwood has been promoted by Wells Fargo Bank to assistant vice president in charge of operations at the 464 California Street office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1957 and has served in several of its major San Francisco offices.

JAMES W. GRUENIG of Mill Valley has joined the newly established firm, Centrol Systems, Inc., at 22 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, as chief electronic engineer. He was formerly with Chevron Research Co.

Centrol Systems is developing a new burglar alarm which should be ready for marketing about the first of the year. It is for use in commercial and industrial establishments and in the home.

PACEMAKER CORP. has announced the appointment of Thorstand Yachts in Alameda as new Northern California dealer for the Pacemaker cruisers. In the past the line has been carried by Bauman Bros. and Dick Miller Associates in Sausalito.

S K MARINE SALES AND SERVICE, 28 Mark Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, is now showing a new line of Maherajah competition water skis. Since leaving Sausalito, Maherajah has been located at Healdsburg.

RADIO STATION KTIM is sponsoring a series of spot announcements daily prepared by the Better Business Bureau to advise and educate Marin County residents on good consumer practices.

For several months the bureau has been very active in the county lining up new member firms and uncovering illegal or questionable business tactics.

Fire In Forest Knolls Has A Sinister Aspect

Another attempt was made last week to burn down a little building in Forest Knolls which formerly housed a cafe.

Fires in vacant buildings are not unusual. Many are started by tramps who use the buildings for shelter, others by careless young people. But this particular building has a history which makes the latest attempt to burn it a bit more sinister.

It housed what was last known as the Us Cafe, before that as Shirley's Kitchen, and earlier as the Country Kitchen.

Robert Taverna of the Marin County Fire Department reported two windows had been broken and a packing carton stuffed with paper had been placed inside and set afire. Because Taverna fortunately discovered the blaze — at 4:11 a.m. — it was put out with a little damage.

LAST APRIL 21, a fire which was started in a trash can and had eaten into the kitchen of the same building was discovered by a passing motorist — at 3:21 a.m.

At that time, the cafe was being operated by Richard Green. He had subleased it from Shirley Aguirre, who leased it from the owner, Roma Weaver, a San Geronimo Valley resident. It had been the target of complaint because of loud Sunday rock concerts outside it, arranged or at least encouraged by the operator.

Shortly after the first arson attempt, two shots were fired through a window.

The cafe closed in May, when Green was returned to Los Angeles County to serve a term for probation violation for failure to register as a narcotics offender when he moved to Marin.

It may be only coincidence that the latest arson attempt came as word was passed in the valley that Green, his term completed, plans to return and reopen the cafe.

FOREST KNOLLS has a history of arson.

In February, 1966, a fire which was blamed on an arsonist destroyed the building housing the Moulton Mercantile Co. there. That building also was owned by Roma Weaver.

In March, 1965, an arsonist set a fire that destroyed the Valley Garage, operated by Roney Dewel Robertson Jr. in a building leased from a Napa owner.

There have been other such Forest Knolls fires running back through the years.

THE SAN GERONIMO Valley — and Forest Knolls in particular — has been "up tight" in recent years in a clash of life styles between some of its older residents and a recent influx of "hippies." Depth of the feelings first came to light in confrontations over an attempt to make the valley a War on Poverty "target area."

A few years ago there was national distress over the burning of Negro churches in the South by elements that chose this violent method to try to "put the Negro back in his place."

Is there much difference between intimidating the Negro by burning his churches and intimidating the hippie by burning his gathering places — which may be cafes, stores, or service stations?

What Happened To That Cider?

Man, this is crazy cider! So said a teen-age friend of ours. And he was right. Cider goes slowly at our house. By a natural fortutious circumstance, the proper yeast found its way out of the air into the cider jug. Soon we began hearing loud pops and finding the lid halfway across the room. We inadvertently were making hard cider. It did not last long enough to ferment enough to be very strong.

Now, since a cider high is as American as Old Glory and as old as Johnny Appleseed, we decided to put our old wine making expertise to work. We dumped a little dry yeast in a gallon jug of cider, put a baggie over the mouth and secured it with a rubber band. Two days later it was frothy as beer, and much more tasty. We drink it before it gets too hard and sour.

The Russians make their beverage, apple kvaass, in a similar manner, and drink it while it is still working. It is the mildest of alcoholic beverages and quite delicious with meals.

We think it's legal, but in case it isn't, don't tell the feds we told you.

State's Salary Bite To Grow —But Not Enough, Says Lynch

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Bulk of outlay by the state for the activities of government is disbursed in salaries and wages, and the picture for the 1970-71 is not expected to be changed.

The state personnel board has reported that for the next fiscal year, the state will need to disburse $45,485,000 from its general fund and $40,752,000 from its special funds for salary adjustments.

In other words, taxpayers will be asked, if the board's recommendations are approved by the legislature and accepted by Gov. Ronald Reagan, to spend an additional $86 million for their civil servants.

Of this $86 million, $58 million would provide a 5 per cent increase for virtually all the civil service employees in California. And $27 million would be used to provide special adjustments for classes that are in "urgent need" of such adjustments.

This would not include revisions in executive salaries — that is, persons who fill exempt jobs, which are filled by appointment of the governor or by persons who he has appointed — nor would it include the raise the state legislators voted themselves at the last session.

This is the season for the protrayal of "injustices" in the salary structure of the state.

One of the first to take advantage of the season's opening was Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who says his deputies are earning from $100 to $300 a month less than attorneys with comparable jobs as counsels for cities and counties.

Lynch has deputies in different ranges of classification, the highest salary pegged at $2,076 per month and the lowest starting salary at $905 per month.

Lynch says he cannot get any satisfaction from the administration or the personnel board, so he has decided to "present the issue to the people of California."

"The scope, varity, and intensity of our efforts on behalf of the citizens of California are seriously threatened by the question of how much Californians want to pay their lawyers," he declared.

Despite the ptitful state of the salaries in the attorney-general's office, Lynch contends it is "generally recognized as the finest in the nation."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

There Are Other Kinds Of Atrocities

Let us beware of making the unfortunate American soldiers caught in the Song My massacre scapegoats for the rest of our nation.

Their crime is that they saw the vulnerability of the people whom they murdered. But those of us who read the newspapers or watch television have no less a knowledge of the destruction we are wreaking on the Vietnamese people — not only killing them, but relocating them (in crowded, disease-ridden slums), interfering with their government, ruining their economy, bombing their land, defoliating their countryside in sum, destroying the Vietnamese nation in ways far more devastating than our soldiers destroyed the village of Song My.

The tragedy of these few American soldiers is that until we can see as clearly what we are doing as they were able to see, they must bear a nation's guilt.

This, too, is our tragedy — and the world's.

Majority Silence Blamed For Murders

The massacres in Nazi Germany could happen only because the German majority kept silent and belived it to be patriotic to support their leader.

It was the silence of the German majority which murdered women and children in Dachau. It is the silence of the American majority which murdered women and children in Song My.

Smog Official Sends Up Smoke

Smog district technical chief, Milton Feldstein, is on the warpath again, verbally "tomahawking" the Independent-Journal for one of its excellent editorials. As usual, Mr. Feldstein belches out a smokescreen of irrelevant rhetoric to obscure the real issues. He says, for example, that "district regulations have succeeded in preventing from entering the atmosphere 5,000 tons per day of pollutants . . ." If Mr. Feldstein expects the people to be thankful for tons of smog removed by paperwork calculation, then he is rather naive. What the people are concerned about is the poison NOW in the air they must breathe! And despite the statistical and other verbal tranquilizers which Mrs. Feldstein asks us to swallow, most people find present air pollution levels intolerable . . . and growing worse.

Mr. Feldstein also says ". . the district . . . has disclosed for the past 12 years what it has done about industrial pollution." What he fails to mention is that published BAAPCD data is so general that it conceals the identities of the major polluters and the kinds and amounts of contaminants they are dumping in the public airstream.

The CAAP lawsuit now facing the smog district aims at giving people the facts about the poisons they are breathing and who is putting them there. In contrast, BAAPCD heads insist people do not have the right to know the kinds and amounts of poison entering their lungs. . .IF this poison comes from industrial stacks. . .

Tax-Free Financing For Revolution

Yes, it is hard to believe; but the tax-free foundations are financing, with their "free" money, the revolution that is threatening to merge us into the communist one-world empire. As an example, the "New Left" political movement was launched in August, 1965, at Santa Barbara, under the auspices of the tax-exempt Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which is financed by the tax-exempt Fund for the Republic; which in turn was created in 1954 by a $15 million dollar grant from the tax-exempt Ford Foundation. In 1967 this same Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions sponsored a three-day conference of student militants who drew up plans for disruptions on college campuses nation-wide with the aim of destroying the educational processes at these universities. Numerous other examples can be cited showing the financing of the riots, turmoil and blatant immorality can be laid at the door of tax-free foundations.

What can we do to correct this proposterous situation? I suggest all possible pressure should be brought to bear upon our congressmen and senators to support the House-passed version of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 requiring all foundations to pay a 7½ per cent tax on investment income. Surely, all foundations should have to pay taxes on income just as all businesses have to do. And while this current legislation won't solve all the problems created by the foundations, it will be a step in the right direction.

Cartoons Discredit President Nixon

Over the period of time which the new administration has occupied the high offices in our federal government, I have noticed your paper has consistently carried illustrated cartoons to discredit Mr. Nixon and the administration in general. . .

There are many elements and organizations in our country who are doing their level best to discredit this administration and Mr. Nixon. However a newspaper such as you publish is normally credited with having people who are intelligent, not stooping to the low level of the radical organizations. . .

If your paper cannot come up with something better I suggest you leave the space blank. Perhaps someone within your organization might be able to come up with something which would highlight some of the better things being done by this administration.

THE BASEBALL team representing a certain high school in Oregon suffered a double indignity one day last spring. Not only did the scheduled opponents fail to show up, but the cheerleaders of the missing team volunteered to fill in for them — and beat the home team 14 to 2!

JACK BENNY, who has raised over five million dollars at benefits for musicians and musical scholarships, plays the violin faithfully but with frequent wanderings from the correct pitch. After one of his more venturesome solos, an anguished lady exclaimed, "He's lost an ear!" Ever since Benny likes to refer to himself as "the Van Gogh of the violin."

'No More Vietnams' May Not Preclude Another War In Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a heavy layer of fuzzy thinking around the catch phrase "no more Vietnams."

Nobody wants any more Vietnams — civilian or military, dove or not. But we will need to draw the lessons from Vietnam very lucidly, if we are to succeed.

Some already are beginning to draw the lessons loosely. One high Nixon administration official avows: "We have learned one lesson and that is that we are not going to fight any major war on the mainland of Asia."

PRESIDENT NIXON hasn't said that. On his Pacific trip he told the non-Communist Asian nations that they must rely first on their own self-defense, that collective defense with their neighbors is urgently needed and that only as these conditions are brought into being would the United States be likely to extend assistance.

The intention — a right one — is to avoid imprudent involvement, but no President can determine that under no circumstances in the future would American security dictate that the United States would never come to the aid of an Asian nation which was a victim of aggression.

Take another example of dangerous misstatement. An administration spokesman said on television recently: "We are not going to send American troops to Asia."

We don't want to; we don't intend to; we hope not ti. But can we be sure of what the future may require, and isn't such a flat prediction the kind that starts a credibility gap?

THE UNITED STATES is committed under a security treaty to defend Japan if it is attacked. After World War II we wanted to keep Japan militarily weak, so today that country is without adequate forces to defend itself. If Red China attacked Japan — improbable but not impossible — can we be sure that we "wouldn't send American troops to Asia" to defeat the attack at its source? We couldn't be sure, and officials should not talk as if they were. It misleads our friends, our adversaries and ourselves. It is an invitation to aggression.

It is all to the good to have Secretary of State William Rogers affirming that we will not "slide" into foreign commitments without seeking the consent of the Senate and that the administration will not send troops to Asia "unless we have the American public and Congress behind us."

The assumption is that we slid into the Vietnamese war without congressional approval. Congress did approve. But misstatements to the contrary have been asserted so often and unchallenged so long that they have come to be more widely accepted than the truth.

With specific reference to Vietnam, the Southeast Asia Resolution, passed overwhelmingly Aug. 7, 1964, states that "congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attacks against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression." The resolution authorized the President "to take all necessary steps including the use of armed force" to carry out the stated objections of the resolution which includes the maintenance of "peace and security in Southeast Asia."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S handling of our entry into the Korean war is often cited as a model of procedure as compared to President Johnson's alleged misuse of presidential power in Vietnam. The comparison is invalid. Lyndon Johnson sought and got congressional approval. Harry Truman never did.

There are many questions still to be answered. The three central ones are:

Was it wrong in principle for the United States to go to the defense of South Vietnam?

If right in principle, did we make the mistake of assuming that the war could be won easily and quickly using limited military force?

In retrospect, were the rewards of defending South Vietnam worth the ultimate cost?

Only when we answer these questions will we be starting to learn the lessons of Vietnam.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Way Found To Appoint Senator To High Court

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Those high-level disclaimers notwithstanding, a member of Congress may be named to fill the Supreme Court vacancy, after all.

Under serious consideration is an ingenious plan that conceivably would clear the way for that, despite the constitutional prohibition against appointing a member of Congress to a job for which he voted an increase in salary.

Earlier this year Congress raised the pay of associate justices of the Supreme Court from $39,500 to $60,000. As a consequence, members of the current Congress (91st) are barred from being named to the tribunal. But high-placed constitutional lawyers have come up with what they contend is a legal way to overcome this obstacle.

AS PROPOUNDED by them in inner administration councils, it's very simple:

A "rider" (amendment) could be attached to some pending legislation authorizing a member of Congress to take the vacant court seat at the previous salary — $39,500. He would draw that pay until this Congress expires — Dec. 31, 1970. In January 1971, when the new (92nd) Congress becomes operative, he would start receiving the higher scale of $60,000.

It is readily conceded that opponents of a congressional nominee might very likely undertake to challenge his appointment in the courts. What would happen then is anyone's guess.

But there is one point on which all are firmly agreed — the appointee would be quickly confirmed by the Senate.

THREE LEGISLATORS reportedly are under serious consideration, as follows:

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., 68, graduate of Virginia Law School, served 10 years on the Mississippi Circuit Court before being elected to the Senate in 1947.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., 65, graduate of Chicago Law School, served one term in the House, and has been in the Senate since 1954.

Rep. Richard Poff, R-Va., 46, bomber in World War II, a graduate of the Virginia Law School. He has been in Congress since 1952. All three are "strict constructionists" in the full sense of President Nixon's concept of that term.

SIGNIFICANTLY, Sen. John Tower, Tex., chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, has asked the Library of Congress for a study on members of Congress named to the Supreme Court. The library's researchers don't have to go far to find one.

Justice Hugo Black, while a senator from Alabama, was appointed by President Roosevelt in 1937. Now nearing 84, Black is still vigorous and active, and giving no indication of quitting.

It is noteworthy that he was appointed on Aug. 12 and confirmed by the Senate five days later — Aug. 17.

Another Southern senator was named to the court by Roosevelt — James Byrnes, D-S.C.

FOREST KNOLLS has a history of arson.

In February, 1966, a fire which was blamed on an arsonist destroyed the building housing the Moulton Mercantile Co. there. That building also was owned by Roma Weaver.

In March, 1965, an arsonist set a fire that destroyed the Valley Garage, operated by Roney Dewel Robertson Jr. in a building leased from a Napa owner.

There have been other such Forest Knolls fires running back through the years.

THE SAN GERONIMO Valley — and Forest Knolls in particular — has been "up tight" in recent years in a clash of life styles between some of its older residents and a recent influx of "hippies." Depth of the feelings first came to light in confrontations over an attempt to make the valley a War on Poverty "target area."

A few years ago there was national distress over the burning of Negro churches in the South by elements that chose this violent method to try to "put the Negro back in his place."

Is there much difference between intimidating the Negro by burning his churches and intimidating the hippie by burning his gathering places — which may be cafes, stores, or service stations?

What Happened To That Cider?

Man, this is crazy cider! So said a teen-age friend of ours. And he was right. Cider goes slowly at our house. By a natural fortutious circumstance, the proper yeast found its way out of the air into the cider jug. Soon we began hearing loud pops and finding the lid halfway across the room. We inadvertently were making hard cider. It did not last long enough to ferment enough to be very strong.

Now, since a cider high is as American as Old Glory and as old as Johnny Appleseed, we decided to put our old wine making expertise to work. We dumped a little dry yeast in a gallon jug of cider, put a baggie over the mouth and secured it with a rubber band. Two days later it was frothy as beer, and much more tasty. We drink it before it gets too hard and sour.

The Russians make their beverage, apple kvaass, in a similar manner, and drink it while it is still working. It is the mildest of alcoholic beverages and quite delicious with meals.

We think it's legal, but in case it isn't, don't tell the feds we told you.

State's Salary Bite To Grow —But Not Enough, Says Lynch

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Bulk of outlay by the state for the activities of government is disbursed in salaries and wages, and the picture for the 1970-71 is not expected to be changed.

The state personnel board has reported that for the next fiscal year, the state will need to disburse $45,485,000 from its general fund and $40,752,000 from its special funds for salary adjustments.

In other words, taxpayers will be asked, if the board's recommendations are approved by the legislature and accepted by Gov. Ronald Reagan, to spend an additional $86 million for their civil servants.

Of this $86 million, $58 million would provide a 5 per cent increase for virtually all the civil service employees in California. And $27 million would be used to provide special adjustments for classes that are in "urgent need" of such adjustments.

This would not include revisions in executive salaries — that is, persons who fill exempt jobs, which are filled by appointment of the governor or by persons who he has appointed — nor would it include the raise the state legislators voted themselves at the last session.

This is the season for the protrayal of "injustices" in the salary structure of the state.

One of the first to take advantage of the season's opening was Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who says his deputies are earning from $100 to $300 a month less than attorneys with comparable jobs as counsels for cities and counties.

Lynch has deputies in different ranges of classification, the highest salary pegged at $2,076 per month and the lowest starting salary at $905 per month.

Lynch says he cannot get any satisfaction from the administration or the personnel board, so he has decided to "present the issue to the people of California."

"The scope, varity, and intensity of our efforts on behalf of the citizens of California are seriously threatened by the question of how much Californians want to pay their lawyers," he declared.

Despite the ptitful state of the salaries in the attorney-general's office, Lynch contends it is "generally recognized as the finest in the nation."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

There Are Other Kinds Of Atrocities

Let us beware of making the unfortunate American soldiers caught in the Song My massacre scapegoats for the rest of our nation.

Their crime is that they saw the vulnerability of the people whom they murdered. But those of us who read the newspapers or watch television have no less a knowledge of the destruction we are wreaking on the Vietnamese people — not only killing them, but relocating them (in crowded, disease-ridden slums), interfering with their government, ruining their economy, bombing their land, defoliating their countryside in sum, destroying the Vietnamese nation in ways far more devastating than our soldiers destroyed the village of Song My.

The tragedy of these few American soldiers is that until we can see as clearly what we are doing as they were able to see, they must bear a nation's guilt.

This, too, is our tragedy — and the world's.

Majority Silence Blamed For Murders

The massacres in Nazi Germany could happen only because the German majority kept silent and belived it to be patriotic to support their leader.

It was the silence of the German majority which murdered women and children in Dachau. It is the silence of the American majority which murdered women and children in Song My.

Smog Official Sends Up Smoke

Smog district technical chief, Milton Feldstein, is on the warpath again, verbally "tomahawking" the Independent-Journal for one of its excellent editorials. As usual, Mr. Feldstein belches out a smokescreen of irrelevant rhetoric to obscure the real issues. He says, for example, that "district regulations have succeeded in preventing from entering the atmosphere 5,000 tons per day of pollutants . . ." If Mr. Feldstein expects the people to be thankful for tons of smog removed by paperwork calculation, then he is rather naive. What the people are concerned about is the poison NOW in the air they must breathe! And despite the statistical and other verbal tranquilizers which Mrs. Feldstein asks us to swallow, most people find present air pollution levels intolerable . . . and growing worse.

Mr. Feldstein also says " . . the district . . . has disclosed for the past 12 years what it has done about industrial pollution." What he fails to mention is that published BAAPCD data is so general that it conceals the identities of the major polluters and the kinds and amounts of contaminants they are dumping in the public airstream.

The CAAP lawsuit now facing the smog district aims at giving people the facts about the poisons they are breathing and who is putting them there. In contrast, BAAPCD heads insist people do not have the right to know the kinds and amounts of poison entering their lungs. . .IF this poison comes from industrial stacks. . .

Tax-Free Financing For Revolution

Yes, it is hard to believe; but the tax-free foundations are financing, with their "free" money, the revolution that is threatening to merge us into the communist one-world empire. As an example, the "New Left" political movement was launched in August, 1965, at Santa Barbara, under the auspices of the tax-exempt Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which is financed by the tax-exempt Fund for the Republic; which in turn was created in 1954 by a $15 million dollar grant from the tax-exempt Ford Foundation. In 1967 this same Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions sponsored a three-day conference of student militants who drew up plans for disruptions on college campuses nation-wide with the aim of destroying the educational processes at these universities. Numerous other examples can be cited showing the financing of the riots, turmoil and blatant immorality can be laid at the door of tax-free foundations.

What can we do to correct this proposterous situation? I suggest all possible pressure should be brought to bear upon our congressmen and senators to support the House-passed version of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 requiring all foundations to pay a 7½ per cent tax on investment income. Surely, all foundations should have to pay taxes on income just as all businesses have to do. And while this current legislation won't solve all the problems created by the foundations, it will be a step in the right direction.

Cartoons Discredit President Nixon

Over the period of time which the new administration has occupied the high offices in our federal government, I have noticed your paper has consistently carried illustrated cartoons to discredit Mr. Nixon and the administration in general. . .

There are many elements and organizations in our country who are doing their level best to discredit this administration and Mr. Nixon. However a newspaper such as you publish is normally credited with having people who are intelligent, not stooping to the low level of the radical organizations. . .

If your paper cannot come up with something better I suggest you leave the space blank. Perhaps someone within your organization might be able to come up with something which would highlight some of the better things being done by this administration.

'No More Vietnams' May Not Preclude Another War In Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a heavy layer of fuzzy thinking around the catch phrase "no more Vietnams."

Nobody wants any more Vietnams — civilian or military, dove or not. But we will need to draw the lessons from Vietnam very lucidly, if we are to succeed.

Some already are beginning to draw the lessons loosely. One high Nixon administration official avows: "We have learned one lesson and that is that we are not going to fight any major war on the mainland of Asia."

PRESIDENT NIXON hasn't said that. On his Pacific trip he told the non-Communist Asian nations that they must rely first on their own self-defense, that collective defense with their neighbors is urgently needed and that only as these conditions are brought into being would the United States be likely to extend assistance.

The intention — a right one — is to avoid imprudent involvement, but no President can determine that under no circumstances in the future would American security dictate that the United States would never come to the aid of an Asian nation which was a victim of aggression.

Take another example of dangerous misstatement. An administration spokesman said on television recently: "We are not going to send American troops to Asia."

We don't want to; we don't intend to; we hope not ti. But can we be sure of what the future may require, and isn't such a flat prediction the kind that starts a credibility gap?

THE UNITED STATES is committed under a security treaty to defend Japan if it is attacked. After World War II we wanted to keep Japan militarily weak, so today that country is without adequate forces to defend itself. If Red China attacked Japan — improbable but not impossible — can we be sure that we "wouldn't send American troops to Asia" to defeat the attack at its source? We couldn't be sure, and officials should not talk as if they were. It misleads our friends, our adversaries and ourselves. It is an invitation to aggression.

It is all to the good to have Secretary of State William Rogers affirming that we will not "slide" into foreign commitments without seeking the consent of the Senate and that the administration will not send troops to Asia "unless we have the American public and Congress behind us."

The assumption is that we slid into the Vietnamese war without congressional approval. Congress did approve. But misstatements to the contrary have been asserted so often and unchallenged so long that they have come to be more widely accepted than the truth.

With specific reference to Vietnam, the Southeast Asia Resolution, passed overwhelmingly Aug. 7, 1964, states that "congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attacks against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression." The resolution authorized the President "to take all necessary steps including the use of armed force" to carry out the stated objections of the resolution which includes the maintenance of "peace and security in Southeast Asia."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S handling of our entry into the Korean war is often cited as a model of procedure as compared to President Johnson's alleged misuse of presidential power in Vietnam. The comparison is invalid. Lyndon Johnson sought and got congressional approval. Harry Truman never did.

There are many questions still to be answered. The three central ones are:

Was it wrong in principle for the United States to go to the defense of South Vietnam?

If right in principle, did we make the mistake of assuming that the war could be won easily and quickly using limited military force?

In retrospect, were the rewards of defending South Vietnam worth the ultimate cost?

Only when we answer these questions will we be starting to learn the lessons of Vietnam.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Way Found To Appoint Senator To High Court

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Those high-level disclaimers notwithstanding, a member of Congress may be named to fill the Supreme Court vacancy, after all.

Under serious consideration is an ingenious plan that conceivably would clear the way for that, despite the constitutional prohibition against appointing a member of Congress to a job for which he voted an increase in salary.

Earlier this year Congress raised the pay of associate justices of the Supreme Court from $39,500 to $60,000. As a consequence, members of the current Congress (91st) are barred from being named to the tribunal. But high-placed constitutional lawyers have come up with what they contend is a legal way to overcome this obstacle.

AS PROPOUNDED by them in inner administration councils, it's very simple:

A "rider" (amendment) could be attached to some pending legislation authorizing a member of Congress to take the vacant court seat at the previous salary — $39,500. He would draw that pay until this Congress expires — Dec. 31, 1970. In January 1971, when the new (92nd) Congress becomes operative, he would start receiving the higher scale of $60,000.

It is readily conceded that opponents of a congressional nominee might very likely undertake to challenge his appointment in the courts. What would happen then is anyone's guess.

But there is one point on which all are firmly agreed — the appointee would be quickly confirmed by the Senate.

THREE LEGISLATORS reportedly are under serious consideration, as follows:

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., 68, graduate of Virginia Law School, served 10 years on the Mississippi Circuit Court before being elected to the Senate in 1947.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., 65, graduate of Chicago Law School, served one term in the House, and has been in the Senate since 1954.

Rep. Richard Poff, R-Va., 46, bomber in World War II, a graduate of the Virginia Law School. He has been in Congress since 1952. All three are "strict constructionists" in the full sense of President Nixon's concept of that term.

SIGNIFICANTLY, Sen. John Tower, Tex., chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, has asked the Library of Congress for a study on members of Congress named to the Supreme Court. The library's researchers don't have to go far to find one.

Justice Hugo Black, while a senator from Alabama, was appointed by President Roosevelt in 1937. Now nearing 84, Black is still vigorous and active, and giving no indication of quitting.

It is noteworthy that he was appointed on Aug. 12 and confirmed by the Senate five days later — Aug. 17.

Another Southern senator was named to the court by Roosevelt — James Byrnes, D-S.C.

Why Set Salaries Far In Advance? There's Reason That Makes Sense

Why must salaries of elected county officials be set four or five years in advance, long before we know who might be running for such posts as sheriff, assessor, tax-collector, etc?

It's required by law, which say supervisors must set salaries before filing opens next March for elective terms that will start in January of 1971 and run through 1974. Considerable crystal-balling is required to estimate what each position should be paid five or six years from now.

As the county counsel explained it, there's justification for requiring that pay be fixed before candidates even file.

Without such a requirement, a board of supervisors could keep the salaries at the present level, thus discouraging potential candidates from running against an incumbent, then give the incumbent a big raise after he was re-elected.

Another possibility: A board of supervisors could give him a healthy raise, whereas if the winner turned out to be someone not to their liking, they could ignore a pay raise.

Thus, state saw helps to remove personalities from salary setting.

RANDALL PREVO of the Marin County Employees association puts it this way: Salaries should be commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of each elective post, and not based on the office holder's personality or popularity. It would then be up to the voters to elect a man (or woman) of the caliber to fill each post.

The antithesis of this would be to fill each post first, look the man over, and then set salary on the basis of the man rather than the position he fills.

MARCEL LUSINCHI, member of the Marin County Retirement Board, has long been an advocate of investing retirement funds in oil stock.

Since he'll be retiring from the board this month, his friends gave him a big dinner. Appropriately enough, the farewell gift was one share of British Petroleum stock, worth $16 when presented. Lusinchi beamed when they wished him many big returns on the stock.

Soon thereafter, the stock dropped to $14.50

THE EMERGENCY ambulance contract, under which a private ambulance firm provides emergency service to the county, gives an erroneous impression of the cost of ambulance service.

Under the contract, the county guarantees $14.95 per emergency run if a patient can't or won't pay. This doesn't mean that $14.95 is the going rate by a long shot.

If you get clobbered on the highway and are rushed to the hospital by ambulance, you will get a bill for the full private rate, which is anywhere from $30 to $50. It's only if you're penniless and can't pay, or if you skip the area without paying, that the county guarantees the $14.95 to the ambulance firm.

Without the minimum guarantee, a private ambulance firm would be understandably reluctant to pick up a patient unless he looked reasonably affluent. Thus, the county guarantees the $14.95 so that the ambulance will rush you to the hospital without having to rouse you from your unconscious state to ascertain your bank accounts and credit rating.

APPARENTLY, there's nothing to the rumor that the county communications equipment that's being installed in the new Hall of Justice is obsolete and will cost the county a pretty penny to replace or update.

County Communications Director John Atkinson says he foresees no major difficulty — only the usual minor adjustments needed in any new installation such as this.

Lagunitas Board Weighs Finances

Lagunitas School District trustees will receive a report on organization of a citizens finance advisory committee when it meets at 7:30 p.m., today in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

The citizens committee last Wednesday heard Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff report that the district reserves would drop to $8,000 or $10,000 by the end of the school year. Year-ending reserves had been estimated at $15,000.

The committee is studying ways of cutting the educational program, or obtaining more money either through the state funds or a local tax increase.

The board also will hold a closed meeting, at the request of board president Audrey A. Miller, who could not be reached to determine purpose of the meeting. It was listed in the agenda as a "personnel session."

Cyclist Hurt In Shoreline Accident

The California Highway Patrol reported that York veered onto the shoulder in the fog at 11 p.m. He was treated at Hamilton Air Force dispensary.

Scientists Achieve Discovery, But Feel Like Dr. Frankenstein

The front page of my newspaper recently reported the important and the not so important events of the day: the Vietnam war, a piece on the coming Rose Bowl game between USC and Michigan, something about a tidal wave that didn't happen, and a provocative article about Mr. Agnew's ghost writer. Hidden in the back pages there was a press release reporting that a team of scientists at the Harvard Medical School had succeeded in isolating a single type of gene, a heredity unit, for the first time.

It seemed hardly newsworthy. Its significance might have escaped me if the story hadn't added that two of the scientists who had worked on the project were now expressing serious reservations about their discovery.

"I FEEL THE BAD far outweighs the good in this particular work," Dr. Jonathan Beckwith is quoted as saying. "I feel that is more frightening than hopeful. It is obvious that it raises the possibility of genetic engineering."

Dr. James Shapiro, who headed the team of scientists, didn't appear jubilant over the occasion. "We don't necessarily have the right to pat ourselves on the back," he commented.

Scientists aren't noted as doomsayers, so the question naturally arises — why is their discovery "more frightening than hopeful?"

PERHAPS the answer may be found in Dr. Beckwith's "genetic engineering," a euphemism for tampering with human heredity traits. Putting it another way, this is the scientists' manner of saying that their ability to isolate a single type of gene opens the door to eventually making it possible for scientists to be able to predetermine and manipulate the traits a child will have.

Well, what's wrong with that? At first glance the idea seems full of merit but then the mind begins poking at it as a small boy pokes with a stick at a turtle. The imagination comes into play and soon forebidding visions arise.

The ability to isolate genes enables tomorrow's parents to choose the sex of their child. But why stop at that? How about physiological and even psychological traits that make each of us what we are?

PERHAPS THIS, in itself, may not be cause for alarm. Few problems would result if men grew to be six footers, sporting full heads of hair. The economic and social problems, however, could be extremely acute if everyone had high IQ and were more fitted to being a physicist than a stevedore. Even the thought of a land overrun by intellectuals is more than the mind can bear.

The culturally induced idea of the ideal male or female would tend to make for a terrible sameness. If parents could choose the traits of their children, the similarity of their choices would be astonishing.

The government, undoubtedly, would find it expedient, "for the public good," to set up a "sexual cybernetics program." Computorized planning would establish the kind of individuals needed in various fields for the following generation.

Those couples desiring a child would make an appropriate application. The state would prescribe the desired traits. What we're talking about is test tube babies — and a brave new world.

SCIENCE-FICTION? Inconceivable?

Remember, the inconceivable of 50 years ago is the commonplace of today.

Or why are these good scientists so frightened?

Supervisors To Consider Health Advisers Merger

Possible merger of the Emergency Medical Care Committee with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 9 a.m., tomorrow in the supervisors' chamber of the Civic Center.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will suggest the merger at a joint workshop meeting between the supervisors and the 30-member council.

Last September, when Bruce first made the merger suggestion in his controversial report on the reduction of county commissions and committees, two members of the medical care committee, Dr. Elmer Weden Jr. of San Anselmo and Thomas Larke Jr. of Fairfax, resigned. County supervisors, however, did not accept the resignations and asked them to reconsider.

Bruce will reccomend that members of the committee be absorbed into the planning council.

The committee is responsible for studying and reporting on ambulance services, emergency care and first aid practices. The council has broader responsibilities covering the entire health field.

The workshop session will be followed by the regular supervisors' agenda, when Bruce will recommend that sale of the Courthouse square be put to public bid for at least $750,000, the amount of an informal offer received from a Marin businessman.

Five years ago, experts feared the El Molo tribe of Kenya would perish from malnutrition. The tribe had dwindled to about 150. The Kenya Government and private relief groups helped out and now the tribe numbers almost 300.

Under the contract, the county guarantees $14.95 per emergency run if a patient can't or won't pay. This doesn't mean that $14.95 is the going rate by a long shot.

If you get clobbered on the highway and are rushed to the hospital by ambulance, you will get a bill for the full private rate, which is anywhere from $30 to $50. It's only if you're penniless and can't pay, or if you skip the area without paying, that the county guarantees the $14.95 to the ambulance firm.

Without the minimum guarantee, a private ambulance firm would be understandably reluctant to pick up a patient unless he looked reasonably affluent. Thus, the county guarantees the $14.95 so that the ambulance will rush you to the hospital without having to rouse you from your unconscious state to ascertain your bank accounts and credit rating.

APPARENTLY, there's nothing to the rumor that the county communications equipment that's being installed in the new Hall of Justice is obsolete and will cost the county a pretty penny to replace or update.

County Communications Director John Atkinson says he foresees no major difficulty — only the usual minor adjustments needed in any new installation such as this.

Lagunitas Board Weighs Finances

Lagunitas School District trustees will receive a report on organization of a citizens finance advisory committee when it meets at 7:30 p.m., today in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

The citizens committee last Wednesday heard Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff report that the district reserves would drop to $8,000 or $10,000 by the end of the school year. Year-ending reserves had been estimated at $15,000.

The committee is studying ways of cutting the educational program, or obtaining more money either through the state funds or a local tax increase.

The board also will hold a closed meeting, at the request of board president Audrey A. Miller, who could not be reached to determine purpose of the meeting. It was listed in the agenda as a "personnel session."

Cyclist Hurt In Shoreline Accident

The California Highway Patrol reported that York veered onto the shoulder in the fog at 11 p.m. He was treated at Hamilton Air Force dispensary.

Scientists Achieve Discovery, But Feel Like Dr. Frankenstein

The front page of my newspaper recently reported the important and the not so important events of the day: the Vietnam war, a piece on the coming Rose Bowl game between USC and Michigan, something about a tidal wave that didn't happen, and a provocative article about Mr. Agnew's ghost writer. Hidden in the back pages there was a press release reporting that a team of scientists at the Harvard Medical School had succeeded in isolating a single type of gene, a heredity unit, for the first time.

It seemed hardly newsworthy. Its significance might have escaped me if the story hadn't added that two of the scientists who had worked on the project were now expressing serious reservations about their discovery.

"I FEEL THE BAD far outweighs the good in this particular work," Dr. Jonathan Beckwith is quoted as saying. "I feel that is more frightening than hopeful. It is obvious that it raises the possibility of genetic engineering."

Dr. James Shapiro, who headed the team of scientists, didn't appear jubilant over the occasion. "We don't necessarily have the right to pat ourselves on the back," he commented.

Scientists aren't noted as doomsayers, so the question naturally arises — why is their discovery "more frightening than hopeful?"

PERHAPS the answer may be found in Dr. Beckwith's "genetic engineering," a euphemism for tampering with human heredity traits. Putting it another way, this is the scientists' manner of saying that their ability to isolate a single type of gene opens the door to eventually making it possible for scientists to be able to predetermine and manipulate the traits a child will have.

Well, what's wrong with that? At first glance the idea seems full of merit but then the mind begins poking at it as a small boy pokes with a stick at a turtle. The imagination comes into play and soon forebidding visions arise.

The ability to isolate genes enables tomorrow's parents to choose the sex of their child. But why stop at that? How about physiological and even psychological traits that make each of us what we are?

PERHAPS THIS, in itself, may not be cause for alarm. Few problems would result if men grew to be six footers, sporting full heads of hair. The economic and social problems, however, could be extremely acute if everyone had high IQ and were more fitted to being a physicist than a stevedore. Even the thought of a land overrun by intellectuals is more than the mind can bear.

The culturally induced idea of the ideal male or female would tend to make for a terrible sameness. If parents could choose the traits of their children, the similarity of their choices would be astonishing.

The government, undoubtedly, would find it expedient, "for the public good," to set up a "sexual cybernetics program." Computorized planning would establish the kind of individuals needed in various fields for the following generation.

Those couples desiring a child would make an appropriate application. The state would prescribe the desired traits. What we're talking about is test tube babies — and a brave new world.

SCIENCE-FICTION? Inconceivable?

Remember, the inconceivable of 50 years ago is the commonplace of today.

Or why are these good scientists so frightened?

Supervisors To Consider Health Advisers Merger

Possible merger of the Emergency Medical Care Committee with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 9 a.m., tomorrow in the supervisors' chamber of the Civic Center.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will suggest the merger at a joint workshop meeting between the supervisors and the 30-member council.

Last September, when Bruce first made the merger suggestion in his controversial report on the reduction of county commissions and committees, two members of the medical care committee, Dr. Elmer Weden Jr. of San Anselmo and Thomas Larke Jr. of Fairfax, resigned. County supervisors, however, did not accept the resignations and asked them to reconsider.

Bruce will reccomend that members of the committee be absorbed into the planning council.

The committee is responsible for studying and reporting on ambulance services, emergency care and first aid practices. The council has broader responsibilities covering the entire health field.

The workshop session will be followed by the regular supervisors' agenda, when Bruce will recommend that sale of the Courthouse square be put to public bid for at least $750,000, the amount of an informal offer received from a Marin businessman.

Five years ago, experts feared the El Molo tribe of Kenya would perish from malnutrition. The tribe had dwindled to about 150. The Kenya Government and private relief groups helped out and now the tribe numbers almost 300.

Although construction of the $12.5 million Highway 101 bypass at Novato won't begin until 1971, the state Division of Highways keeps busy with preliminary chores — such as purchase of property and demolition or sale of homes in the path of the bypass.

With the departure of residents, the area in East Novato has a ghostly look.

The state has bought 100 parcels of property in the path of the road for nearly $2.9 million and expects to pay about $666,000 for the remaining 28 pieces.

The bypass will begin north of the junction of 101 and Highway 37, swing to the northeast, cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks, interchange at De Long Avenue to serve downtown Novato, cross Orange and Olive avenues at Kentwood Court, interchange again at Atherton Avenue and rejoin 101 near San Marin Drive. Result: evasion of local Novato traffic.

Things Seen Differently By Artist

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Like some mad, disoriented idea, the tortured content in Carole Culver's brush and ink drawings is unexpected and inexplicable.

The form it comes in is just the opposite. It is clear and organized as it also is in her photographs, all of which are displayed through Dec. 19 at the Jewish Community Center on North San Pedro Road. in Santa Venetia.

Miss Culver's minutely detailed drawings are like nightmares. One almost recognizable object suddenly becomes another and all are cuaght in a tautly anxious vise of form which floats in limbo.

This limbo area is the weakest part of her work. Whereas the intricate central shape is drawn with dedicated care, the area behind it is frequently messy or incompatibly shaped or sized

If you can relate the things Miss Culver draws to anything, it could be fish with hair, dragons, teeth, bone, plaster and stone, tire treads, vertebrae and peacock feathers, all tangling like a subterranean root system.

Frankly, it doesn't matter what her symbolism symbolizes. The minute twists and tortures of line which jumble and cram themselves within that floating shape all belong to an almost-is area that is much too intriguing to insist on definition. And whatever she has in mind is her business.

The other aspect of Miss Culver's work belongs to the quite real area of photography where subjects are as concrete as her drawn ones are imagined. A few deal with faces. More often they concentrate on strong designs or blocky chunks of things as discovered in crumbling buildings, stairwells, fire escapes and, in one singularly striking instance, massive chains cutting diagonally through space.

The community center doesn't have the greatest viewing arrangement but in showing Miss Culver's work they are offering an opportunity to tap a mind that sees things differently.

New Pulitizer Prize Announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Columbia University said yesterday a new Pulitzer Prize for distinguished criticism or commentary will be awarded for the first time next year.

Eligible for the prize which carries a $1,000 honorarium are all forms of critical writing, columns on public affairs and other forms of commentary, except editorial writing, published in a U.S. newspaper during 1969.

The award, which replaces a fellowship in critical writing, will be given in May by the Trustees of Columbia upon recommendation of the Advisory Board on Pulitzer Prizes.

Memorable Program By Community Band

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Very strong brass and percussion in the 70-member College of Marin Community Band concert Saturday night in the Fine Arts Theater resulted in a program memorable for brilliance and dynamic force.

Woodwinds were not weak, for they held their own in the total tonal fabric and contributed some of the most beautiful passages, but the sheer numbers in the brass and percussion sections, added to their naturally penetrating timbres, made them outstanding.

The first two numbers, Sousa's "The Beau Ideal" march and "Jubilation" overture by Robert Ward were played with such wide open throttle that the sound was overwhelming, and I feared finesse might be lacking. However, John H. Myers, who conducted, later proved that the band could produce a wide variety of dynamic nuances.

Best performances were in the most interesting works, seven of the "Pictures at an Exhibition" Mussorgsky suite directed by Myers, and Symphony for band by Vincent Persichetti, directed by guest conductor Dr. Edwin D. Kruth. He is director of bands and coordinator of instrumental music at San Francisco State College.

Both works used a rich palette of percussive instruments requiring eight players.

Myers conducted Mussorgsky in the rugged Slavonic tradition of the composer that brought out grotesque humor, robust power and especially the surging drive of "The Great Gate at Kiev."

There were flaws, such as the bad trumpet opening of the "Promenade," but on the whole performance in "Pictures" was exciting. Erik Leidzen did for the band transcription what Ravel did for the orchestral version.

The Persichetti Symphony, new to me, was a complex work of acerbic contemporary harmonies and intricate rhythms that had some players visibly counting time. Dr. Kruth produced some of the more finely etched effects of the evening and kept all musicians "on their toes"

One could almost hear their relief as they swung afterward into the simpler "A Step Ahead March" by Harry L. Alford.

Before the "Pictures" Myers conducted the "Pieces of Eight" march by Jenkins and Neff on themes from Beethoven's 8th Symphony. Instrumentation was so different that the relationship escaped me.

Myers concluded with the flamboyant "Victory at Sea," adapted by Richard Rogers from the TV score by Richard Russell Bennett.

The only encore, the "Rolling Thunder" circus march, was notable for how surprisingly fast the musicians could play without missing the notes.

'Messiah' Rings Out At College

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Hallelujah! for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth."

These are familiar words that ring out this time of the year on concert stages and in churches throughout the nation.

Yesterday in the Sonoma State College gymnasium these magnificant words by George Frideric Handel reached to the rafters as the joint Sonoma State Collegiate Chorale, the Napa College Concert Choir and the Sonoma State Philharmonic presented "The Messiah."

While the gymnasium is not the most ideal setting for the Handel oratorio, the effort was on the grand scale with director David R. Sprung getting near perfection from his singers and players.

Appearing as guest soloists were Doris Young, a Petaluma soprano; Florence Bierman, a San Anselmo contralto; Victor Parker, a Petaluma tenor, and Glenn Brizee, bass, also of Petaluma.

Miss Young and Brizee were a cut above the other two guests in the difficult airs and recitatives. However, Parker and Miss Bierman must be commended for their worthy efforts in the vast chamber. Perhaps in a smaller setting their voices would have faired a little better.

Sprung had complete control of the choir and the orchestra in the difficult score.

The presentation was the third in three days for the Sonoma State contingent. The oratorio was presented Friday night at the Yountville Veteran's Home and again on Saturday night at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Youth Commission On Fairfax Agenda

A proposal to form a youth commission in Fairfax will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the city council in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council will also consider a recommendation to give the parks and recreation commission authority to grant use of the city park after sunset. The authority is now with the city clerk.

DRAMA REVIEW

'House Of Bernarda Alba' Gives Actresses The Spotlight

By KARL BARRON

The College of Marin Drama Department is giving its women their dramatic chance in "The House of Bernarda Alba," following the all-male "Royal Hunt of the Sun."

And the ladies do well by Federico Garcia Lorca's lowering study of sexual repression in Spain at the turn of the 20th Century. This is not an easy play, for the slighest false note in the ating can throw it into totally unbelievable melodrama.

A cast of 16 girls under the direction of H. J. Susser manages to carry it off creditably in what at times becomes a searing indictment of the system of (a) Spain, 1900 and (b) any society which allows blind prejudice to overcome its sense of justice and human rights.

As Bernarda rules her household of five daughters with the mailed fist of suppression, and the girls struggle to attain a modicum of happiness, their miserable plight is epitomized in Lorca's line, "Inside we rot because of what people may say."

While three daughters struggle desperately for the love of one available man, Bernarda eventually drives one to suicide, and then maintains her savage morality with the announcement that "Adela died a virgin," and that she and the remaining daughters will "drown in a sea of mourning." It is not a pretty plot and yet is one that is still to be seen in slightly less melodramatic form in the world around us.

Staged in the Studio Theater's three-quarter-round stage, the drama is played in a severely effective set by Alonso D. Gonzalez. Susser sets the mood almost immediately with the entrance of 12 mourning women, black garbed and veiled. Although they are women without men, there is a constant reminder of the male — voices of workmen in the distance, constant reference to men, a stallion in heat crashing his hooves against the wall.

Karen Garrison in the lead role is obviously too young for a realistic interpretation, but achieves such a fine sense of dignity and restraint that I found myself accepting her. Her portrayal shows remarkable measured strength and stage presence.

Also outstanding in the large cast are Carla Sarvis for her machiavellian servant, Poncia, who stirs trouble with the relish of a witch; Mary Little, perhaps the best in the cast with her club-footed, anguished Martirio; Jane Goodwin, appealing and sincere as Adela; and Petra Chambers and Cynthia Keener for well-thought out characterizations that ring true.

Close proximity causes make-up problems and literally destroys Donna Germain's try at the very old mother Bernarda. Although there is little to cause technical hangups, numerous sound cues were late in Saturday night's performance, leaving the actresses on stage holding the bag. On the other hand, Pat Ryan's lighting design was excellent, and well operated.

Well worth seeing, especially since Lorca is now regarded as a classic writer in our time, "Bernarda Alba" will re repeated at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Six-Band Benefit Set For Switchboard

Seven rock bands will play for a dance benefitting Switchboard of Marin Saturday at 5 p.m. in California Hall, Polk and Turk streets in San Francisco.

The bands are Dan Hicks and His Hot Licks, Pyewacket, Bronze Hog, Ice, Canterbury Fair, Backwater Rising and Free and Easy.

The program will include magic, music and a light show by Dr. Zarkov. Refreshments will be served.

There were flaws, such as the bad trumpet opening of the "Promenade," but on the whole performance in "Pictures" was exciting. Erik Leidzen did for the band transcription what Ravel did for the orchestral version.

The Persichetti Symphony, new to me, was a complex work of acerbic contemporary harmonies and intricate rhythms that had some players visibly counting time. Dr. Kruth produced some of the more finely etched effects of the evening and kept all musicians "on their toes"

One could almost hear their relief as they swung afterward into the simpler "A Step Ahead March" by Harry L. Alford.

Before the "Pictures" Myers conducted the "Pieces of Eight" march by Jenkins and Neff on themes from Beethoven's 8th Symphony. Instrumentation was so different that the relationship escaped me.

Myers concluded with the flamboyant "Victory at Sea," adapted by Richard Rogers from the TV score by Richard Russell Bennett.

The only encore, the "Rolling Thunder" circus march, was notable for how surprisingly fast the musicians could play without missing the notes.

'Messiah' Rings Out At College

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Hallelujah! for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth."

These are familiar words that ring out this time of the year on concert stages and in churches throughout the nation.

Yesterday in the Sonoma State College gymnasium these magnificant words by George Frideric Handel reached to the rafters as the joint Sonoma State Collegiate Chorale, the Napa College Concert Choir and the Sonoma State Philharmonic presented "The Messiah."

While the gymnasium is not the most ideal setting for the Handel oratorio, the effort was on the grand scale with director David R. Sprung getting near perfection from his singers and players.

Appearing as guest soloists were Doris Young, a Petaluma soprano; Florence Bierman, a San Anselmo contralto; Victor Parker, a Petaluma tenor, and Glenn Brizee, bass, also of Petaluma.

Miss Young and Brizee were a cut above the other two guests in the difficult airs and recitatives. However, Parker and Miss Bierman must be commended for their worthy efforts in the vast chamber. Perhaps in a smaller setting their voices would have faired a little better.

Sprung had complete control of the choir and the orchestra in the difficult score.

The presentation was the third in three days for the Sonoma State contingent. The oratorio was presented Friday night at the Yountville Veteran's Home and again on Saturday night at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Youth Commission On Fairfax Agenda

A proposal to form a youth commission in Fairfax will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the city council in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council will also consider a recommendation to give the parks and recreation commission authority to grant use of the city park after sunset. The authority is now with the city clerk.

DRAMA REVIEW

'House Of Bernarda Alba' Gives Actresses The Spotlight

By KARL BARRON

The College of Marin Drama Department is giving its women their dramatic chance in "The House of Bernarda Alba," following the all-male "Royal Hunt of the Sun."

And the ladies do well by Federico Garcia Lorca's lowering study of sexual repression in Spain at the turn of the 20th Century. This is not an easy play, for the slighest false note in the ating can throw it into totally unbelievable melodrama.

A cast of 16 girls under the direction of H. J. Susser manages to carry it off creditably in what at times becomes a searing indictment of the system of (a) Spain, 1900 and (b) any society which allows blind prejudice to overcome its sense of justice and human rights.

As Bernarda rules her household of five daughters with the mailed fist of suppression, and the girls struggle to attain a modicum of happiness, their miserable plight is epitomized in Lorca's line, "Inside we rot because of what people may say."

While three daughters struggle desperately for the love of one available man, Bernarda eventually drives one to suicide, and then maintains her savage morality with the announcement that "Adela died a virgin," and that she and the remaining daughters will "drown in a sea of mourning." It is not a pretty plot and yet is one that is still to be seen in slightly less melodramatic form in the world around us.

Staged in the Studio Theater's three-quarter-round stage, the drama is played in a severely effective set by Alonso D. Gonzalez. Susser sets the mood almost immediately with the entrance of 12 mourning women, black garbed and veiled. Although they are women without men, there is a constant reminder of the male — voices of workmen in the distance, constant reference to men, a stallion in heat crashing his hooves against the wall.

Karen Garrison in the lead role is obviously too young for a realistic interpretation, but achieves such a fine sense of dignity and restraint that I found myself accepting her. Her portrayal shows remarkable measured strength and stage presence.

Also outstanding in the large cast are Carla Sarvis for her machiavellian servant, Poncia, who stirs trouble with the relish of a witch; Mary Little, perhaps the best in the cast with her club-footed, anguished Martirio; Jane Goodwin, appealing and sincere as Adela; and Petra Chambers and Cynthia Keener for well-thought out characterizations that ring true.

Close proximity causes makeup problems and literally destroys Donna Germain's try at the very old mother Bernarda. Although there is little to cause technical hangups, numerous sound cues were late in Saturday night's performance, leaving the actresses on stage holding the bag. On the other hand, Pat Ryan's lighting design was excellent, and well operated.

Well worth seeing, especially since Lorca is now regarded as a classic writer in our time, "Bernarda Alba" will re repeated at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Six-Band Benefit Set For Switchboard

Seven rock bands will play for a dance benefitting Switchboard of Marin Saturday at 5 p.m. in California Hall, Polk and Turk streets in San Francisco.

The bands are Dan Hicks and His Hot Licks, Pyewacket, Bronze Hog, Ice, Canterbury Fair, Backwater Rising and Free and Easy.

The program will include magic, music and a light show by Dr. Zarkov. Refreshments will be served.

REINDEER AND HORSEPOWER — Santa's amazing passenger sleigh arrives — perhaps still with a snowflake or two aboard — at the Mall-Northgate today, for a week of furnishing rides and interviews with Santa for the youngsters.

Santa's Arriving, Super-Sleigh Too

"Santa Claus is coming to town."

And thousands of children from Marin County will have an opportunity to ride with Santa Claus in his big, colorful sleigh today through December 16.

The Merchants Association of The Mall at Northgate is sponsoring Santa's visit here . He will be giving free rides at the Mall located off Highway 101 at the Terra Linda turnoff from 12 noon until 9 p.m. each day.

Santa's sleigh is a beautiful creation valued at $15,000. It is 40 feet long complete with mechanized, life-size reindeer that go through running motions. The sleigh has 140 colored, flashing lights, two mail slots for "letters to Santa," a record player for Christmas music, and a public address system.

From 40 to 50 children at a time can sit on the leather-padded seats in the back of the sleigh as they ride around the Mall singing, dancing and talking with Santa Claus. Grownups may accompany their youngsters if they wish, and Santa claims that many of them enjoy the ride as much as the boys

"Santa Claus is coming to town."

And thousands of children from Marin County will have an opportunity to ride with Santa Claus in his big, colorful sleigh today through December 16.

The Merchants Association of The Mall at Northgate is sponsoring Santa's visit here . He will be giving free rides at the Mall located off Highway 101 at the Terra Linda turnoff from 12 noon until 9 p.m. each day.

Santa's sleigh is a beautiful creation valued at $15,000. It is 40 feet long complete with mechanized, life-size reindeer that go through running motions. The sleigh has 140 colored, flashing lights, two mail slots for "letters to Santa," a record player for Christmas music, and a public address system.

From 40 to 50 children at a time can sit on the leather-padded seats in the back of the sleigh as they ride around the Mall singing, dancing and talking with Santa Claus. Grownups may accompany their youngsters if they wish, and Santa claims that many of them enjoy the ride as much as the boys

There's Clothing Aplenty For Any Fashionable Boy This Yule

What can you buy for those boys on your Christmas list who are too old for toys and not yet old enough for a bottle of "holiday cheer?" The Men's Fashion Association suggests gifts of wearables, because the youngsters are now as fashion-counscious as their Dads and big brothers.

To help you select fashionable gifts for boys, MFA offers the following check-list along with information on the styles youngsters are currently wearing.

SWEATERS: First decide on the type. Select from bulky knit "ski-types," lightweight lambs wool and rugged shetland types.

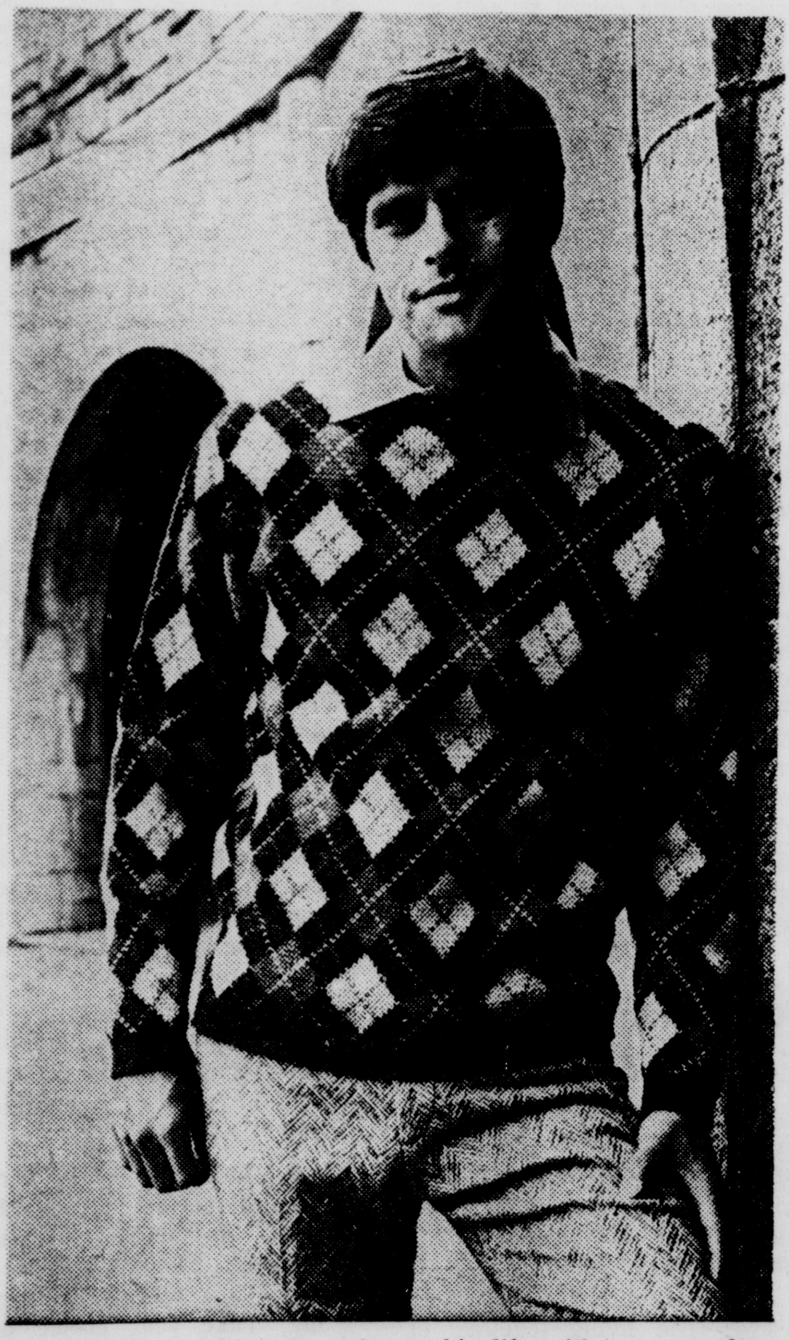
'ROUND AND 'ROUND — Striples make a popular boy's sweater style, says the Men's Fashion Association. This bold colored turtleneck will be under many a Christmas tree. It features thick and thin stripes and body-hugging fit.



BRIGHT IDEA — Add some color to his life with an up-to-date argyle sweater. This pullover model teams up with herringbone flared pants for a distinctive casual look, notes the Men's Fashion Association.

A LASTING GIFT

Outerwear Shows An Outdoor Look

Give him something to wear this Christmas and extend his holiday cheer throughout the winter. The new ideas in men's fashion are easy to live with, handsome to look at and fun to wear.

In outerwear, the key word is "shape" and many are in the maxi-lengths, according to the Men's Fashion Association. Big military collars, broad sweeping lapels, belts and double-breasted models add a difinite 1970 look to those coats.

Select his outerwear from rugged leathers, luxurious suedes, handsome wools in patterns or plain colors as well as the popular furs and fake furs. The latter have scored with unprecedented speed as men, influenced by the fashions of the ski slopes, have taken the fur look into the city for cold weather wear.

If the budget permits, you can overwhelm him with mink, nutria or a coonskin great coat. Those with more modest purses, however, can still have the fur look. Many of the man-made or "fake" furs look real enough to fool a trapper.

What's a fur, or fake fur, coat without a hat to match? There are "Trooper" models, "Diplomat" styles, some with visors or in fedora shapes to top-off the fur look coats. Fur headgear will be worn with everything from lumberjack shirts and pea coats to dressy business coats.

Felt hats are making their shape of fashion news, too. Brims are wider, shapes are new, the look is youthful and definitely masculine. There are styles for leisure and styles for business in an assortment of colors to flatter his complexion and complement his coats.

Here's a tip on how to present him with a smart country suit or sportcoat. Select one in his favorite color and pattern, be sure that it has the new shape, today's wider lapels, broad pocket flaps and deeper vents — then give him a gift certificate so that he can be properly fitted.

Gift certificates are an excellent way to give him any item that must be precisely fitted. This includes good looking, broad, square-toe shoes or smart new boots, or glove-soft moccasins — all of which he must try on.

If you are looking for new fashion ideas, the sweater counter is where the action is. Belted models offer a youthful look, and very different. Colorful argyles are back in trickier than ever patterns. Sweater-shirts — with either collars and plackers or with collared crew necks — are a unique garment. There's one word to describe today's business shirt — and that word is change. Shirts are still colorful, but lighter hued. Frosted tones of blue, tan, pink, gray, melon and green are your Christmas selection. Changes in style include longer-point collars, double-button cuffs and higher, wider neckbands.

If you decide to fill-in his sport shirt wardrobe, you will have to choose between knit or a woven shirt. Knit shirts have dominated the fashion scene for many years. Now wovens have been gaining popularity in a variety of fabrics, in new patterns and models. In knits, the fashion focus is on placketed collars, mock turtlenecks and some novelty styles that give the appearance of a layered look.

Pajamas, some dressy enough to be called "host suits," are another Christmas favorite. The assortment of styles and fabrics is staggering. Take your choice of a range of fabrics in His'n Hers sets, matching p-j's and robes, and the previously mentioned dressy host suits.

Australian Movement For Interdependence

SYDNEY (AP) — Syndneysider Jim Leacock chose his 90th birthday to launch a new political party, the Australasian Independent Movement. About 30 people were present.

Jim wants a "symbiotic" world: The living together of human beings, not all alike, but in close union based on interdependence, integrity, goodwill, and cooperation.

and girls.

The jolly old gentleman makes a special point to talk to every child that gets on the sleigh. He is also ready to answer thousands of questions asked by the youngsters about the Christmas spirit.

The sleigh is a motorized unit driven by one of Santa's helpers while Santa rides in the back with the children.

This unique unit to be in Marin County is operated by Santa's Sleighs, Inc. of Sierra Madre, Los Angeles County.

President of the firm is the founder, Robert J. George, reputed America's most famous Sant Claus.

Formerly a barber in Cozad, Neb. George in 1949 began to spend his own money to play the part of Santa Claus because of a recurring dream that he should do so. During his first season, he used an old wagon as a sleigh, pulled by one horse instead of eight reindeer. In 1954, he began devoting all his time as the Nation's No. 1 Santa Claus.

Santa's Sleighs, Inc. has appeared three consecutive years in the Pageant of Peace, Washington, D.C., and George has been featured on the Jack Parr, and To Tell The Truth television shows as the Nation's No. 1 Santa Claus.

The sleighs have played in hundreds of cities throughout the Midwest, East, North and Southern parts of the United States since his corporation began.

No Man Really 'Has Everything'

You may be mistaken about that "man who has everything." According to the Men's Fashion Association, the feeling of desperation that takes the fun out of your Christmas shopping is probably needless. This year there are so many sparkling new fashion ideas that nobody — but nobody — has everything.

For example, does your hard-to-please man have one of those popular 6-feet scarves? If he does — you can top it with the newest 12-foot length! Sure, he has a drawer full of handkerchiefs — but does he have them monogrammed in assorted letter styles — or does he have some with his first name or nickname spelled out?

How about silk pocket squares? Those colorful bits of silk go a long way toward "making" a business or sports outfit and a man never has too many. Silk squares also come in sets with ties to match. Some match exactly, others have the ties in the same design but in reduced size and others have completely different designs with the relationship left to the color scheme.

Obviously, the man who has everything has plenty of underwear but, does he have shorts or briefs tailored of luxurious nylon jersey? They wash like a handkerchief and are great for travel. How bright and bold can undershorts be without causing a ruckus in the locker room? Well, in these days of the male fashion explosion, they can be as loud and as masculine as authentic Scottish tartans; they can be in the vibrant "designer" colors that mark men's shirts or they can be in bright blazer stripes.

If your man is a skier or winter sports enthusiast, he will appreciate warm "long johns" in cotton, cotton blended with wool, or all-wool. Most spectacular and appropriate of the long johns are the bright reds.

Did you ever feel like giving

Stamp Plan To Save Cricket At Somerset

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Somerset County Cricket Club, more than 16,000 pounds ($38,400) in the red, hopes to clear off most of its debts by a sale of stamps.

A life-long Somerset fan died recently and left his stamp collection to the club. "They have been auctioned, and we hope to receive more than 10,000 pounds ($24,000), said club secretary Richard Robinson. "We never thought that stamps might help cricket."

MATADOR MAGIC

'Most any Christmas Miss would happily take a whirl in the satin-bloused dress with bolero jacket and pleated skirt in acetate and rayon crepe. The gilt chain belt adds even more dash. Petites by Carolyn, made in sizes 3-9. From the House of Nine at the Mall-Northgate.

Leeds Shoe Stores Keep Yule Bonus Tradition

For the 36th consecutive year, Leeds Shoe Stores, a division of Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., St. Louis, will award Christmas bonus checks to employees as an expression of thanks for outstanding achievement throughout the year.

This year, due to company growth, the bonus total sum for all divisions has increased to over $500,000.

The checks will be distributed about one week before Christmas.

Edison Brothers began this tradition in 1934 when the company had only 85 stores and 850 employees.

The company is the nation's largest retailer of women's fashion shoes with 684 stores and leased departments.

Choose A Thoughtful Gift

I CAN'T WAIT UNTIL TOMORROW: I GET BETTER LOOKING EVERYDAY
by Joe Willie Namath, with Dick Schaap

"This book is my story," writes Joe Namath, "of football, and of all the other important things in my life . . . It's about the way I live — my life style. I'm only twenty-six years old, so I haven't lived a long life yet, but I've led a busy one. This is a happy book." And his autobiographer adds: "This is the out-of-sight story of a 'Now' quarterback, a product and symbol of his own generation, a man who hates hang-ups and loves fun . . . the portrait of a superstar."

PRICE $6.95

JERRY KRAMER'S FAREWELL TO FOOTBALL
Edited by Dick Schaap
Introduction by Rod McKuen

As sports fans all over the country will testify, Jerry Kramer and Dick Schaap write "one helluva football book." Hot on the heels of the spectacular success of Instant Replay — comes this logical sequel: Jerry's inside look at the frustrating 1968 Green Bay season and his personal decision to give up the game he loves so much.

TOOTS
by Bob Considine

This biography of New York's most celebrated and expansive saloonkeeper (he'd say bum) is also a commentary, by one who knows, on a unique period in our history.

Toots Shore was born in Philadelphia, where he became a legendary figure in the legendary era of prohibition. After an apprenticeship as bouncer, guardian, and manager, he opened his own "joint" in 1940; the rest is history — and what history!

PRICE $5.95

THE INHERITORS
by Harold Robbins

1969-70 is Harold Robbin's year. In addition to the publication of The Inheritors, the films of The Adventurers and Stiletto will be released. The publicity will help make this book the biggest Robbins ever, the most talked about novel of our time.

PRICE $6:95

THE COLLAPSE OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC
An Inquiry into the Fall of France in 1940
by William L. Shirer

THIS IS THE HISTORY OF THE REPUBLIC that began in 1870, after one German military defeat, and ended in 1940.

William Shirer put eight years into researching, writing, and checking this book, in Washington, in Paris, in libraries and archives across two continents.

The result is a monumental achievement — a profound, totally original work of immense historical importance, distinguished by the same thorough scholarship, as the author's The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich.

PRICE $12.50

ALICE'S RESTAURANT COOKBOOK
by Alice Brock

This hit song and LP by Arlo Guthrie made Alice's Restaurant famous: the new movie directed by Arthur Penn will make Alice's vivacious spirit known across the world. Here is the real Alice, explaining the style of cooking that made Alice's Restaurant a byword to American youth. According to Alice, all it takes to be a good cook is "confidence", a sense of Humor, and a little nerve. The recipes range from Beef Stroganoff ("sour cream makes it Russian") to Heartburgers ("serve it and run"). Here at last is a cookbook designed for those that want to cook a spectacular meal without a lot of expense and/or trouble. An Arlo Guthrie record is bound in with the book.

Edited by Dick Schaap
Introduction by Rod McKuen

As sports fans all over the country will testify, Jerry Kramer and Dick Schaap write "one helluva football book." Hot on the heels of the spectacular success of Instant Replay — comes this logical sequel: Jerry's inside look at the frustrating 1968 Green Bay season and his personal decision to give up the game he loves so much.

TOOTS
by Bob Considine

This biography of New York's most celebrated and expansive saloonkeeper (he'd say bum) is also a commentary, by one who knows, on a unique period in our history.

Toots Shore was born in Philadelphia, where he became a legendary figure in the legendary era of prohibition. After an apprenticeship as bouncer, guardian, and manager, he opened his own "joint" in 1940; the rest is history — and what history!

PRICE $5.95

THE INHERITORS
by Harold Robbins

1969-70 is Harold Robbin's year. In addition to the publication of The Inheritors, the films of The Adventurers and Stiletto will be released. The publicity will help make this book the biggest Robbins ever, the most talked about novel of our time.

PRICE $6.95

THE COLLAPSE OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC
An Inquiry into the Fall of France in 1940
by William L. Shirer

THIS IS THE HISTORY OF THE REPUBLIC that began in 1870, after one German military defeat, and ended in 1940.

William Shirer put eight years into researching, writing, and checking this book, in Washington, in Paris, in libraries and archives across two continents.

The result is a monumental achievement — a profound, totally original work of immense historical importance, distinguished by the same thorough scholarship, as the author's The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich.

PRICE $12.50

IN SOMEONE'S SHADOW
by Rod McKuen

STANYON STREET and OTHER SORROWS, PRICE $3.95, LISTEN TO THE WARM, PRICE $3.95, LONESOME CITIES, PRICE $3.95 and TWELVE YEARS OF CHRISTMAS, PRICE $3.50, appeal to the heart as well as the mind.

A clarity of style and total communication characterize his works. This new volume consists of a long love poem told in diary form, and again allows us the unique experience of understanding how a poet thinks and feels.

ALICE'S RESTAURANT COOKBOOK
by Alice Brock

This hit song and LP by Arlo Guthrie made Alice's Restaurant famous: the new movie directed by Arthur Penn will make Alice's vivacious spirit known across the world. Here is the real Alice, explaining the style of cooking that made Alice's Restaurant a byword to American youth. According to Alice, all it takes to be a good cook is "confidence", a sense of Humor, and a little nerve. The recipes range from Beef Stroganoff ("sour cream makes it Russian") to Heartburgers ("serve it and run"). Here at last is a cookbook designed for those that want to cook a spectacular meal without a lot of expense and/or trouble. An Arlo Guthrie record is bound in with the book.

PRICE $5.95

EARTH SHINE
by Anne Morrow Lindbergh

Is there a bond between these two essays that they should be linked together in a book? Africa, a last stand of primitive life, and Cape Kennedy, summit of a scientific civilization. This distinguished author describes her experiences and meditates on the earth's life and man's reach to the moon.

PRICE $5.75

SEX AND THE SINGLE CHILD
by Sam Levenson, illus. by Whitney Darrow, Jr.

Sam Levenson, the most beloved, the most beguiling of all American humorists, aided and abetted by the incomparable cartoonist Whitney Darrow, has discovered what the birds and the bees really do — as seen from a child's wide-eyed view. Sam has woven them all together with his own magical brand of humor and wisdom in what is the most joyous exposé in years.

PRICE $3.50

THE HOUSE ON THE STRAND
by Daphne du Maurier

A stunning new novel by the author of Rebecca and My Cousin Rachel. The story concerns a young man experimenting with hallucinogenic drugs. On his trips, he travels into the past to 14th century Cornwall, where his existence is far more exciting than his real life. This spellbinding tale is, as always with Miss du Maurier, impossible to put down.

PRICE $5.95

THE HONEYCOMB
by Adela Rogers St. Johns

As a reporter and feature writer for the Hearst newspapers and a protegée of William Randolph Hearst, she covered most of the great news stories of the 20th century. She fell in and out of love; married, divorced, and remarried; bore, adopted and reared children; conquered incipient alcoholism and at last discovered the heart of life.

Adela Rogers St. Johns is a writer, teacher, lecturer, radio and television performer.

Cricket Match Called On Account Of Fire

EAST HALTON, England (AP) — Rain is a frequent hazard in cricket, but fire doesn't often hold up play. It did when farmer Lawrence Blanchard captained a cricket team playing in a meadow at his Lincolnshire farm.

A fire broke out in a haystack and the white-flannelled players dropped their bats and put out the blaze.

Cricket Match Called On Account Of Fire

EAST HALTON, England (AP) — Rain is a frequent hazard in cricket, but fire doesn't often hold up play. It did when farmer Lawrence Blanchard captained a cricket team playing in a meadow at his Lincolnshire farm.

A fire broke out in a haystack and the white-flannelled players dropped their bats and put out the blaze.

A GREAT DISH — A dish of red caviar topped with Granat Brothers' $143,000 heart-shaped diamond ring can be quite a surprise for someone's favorite girl.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

Jewelry Catalog Full Of Surprises

Anthony's Pier 4 of Boston, the Old Original Bookbinder's of Philadelphia, The Windsor of Los Angeles and Le Pavillon of New York to name only a few.

The list of establishments runs the gamut, from Maxim's de Paris to Nathan's Famous Frankfurters of New York.

As a "for instance", one page in the catalog features a dish of caviar topped with the Granat Brothers $143,800 heart shaped diamond ring. The "gift wrap" is a trip for two to historic Chateau Gue Pean in France's Loire Valley. At the appropriate moment, the diamond in the roe is presented to the lucky girl as she enjoys breakfast on the centuries old terrace.

Another page, "Especially designed for the adventurous woman", features a fresh coconut holding within its shell a $325,000 pear shaped rare pink diamond. This tasty morsel is presented while on safari at Tiger Tips Hotel in the heart of the Nepalese Jungle. And Granat Brothers arranges the whole shebang.

If it's a quiet little dinner you're after, Granat Brothers offers an imaginative restaurant selection. No less than dinner at Maxim's de Paris, where her favorite hors d'oeuvres comes complete with a $65,950 octagon cut diamond solitaire.

And for the "out of doors" type girl, Granat Brothers has arranged for the poshest picnic of them all. A whirlwind flight on American Air lines to a secret spot where she'll be wined and dined to the tune of Gypsy violins. And for dessert, a $17,400 black opal and diamond ring.

It's all available for real, and all the arrangements can be made by Granat Brothers' personal shopper, Dorothy Clayton.

Of course, the catalog is also filled with other tempting morsels such as sapphires and diamonds displayed over oyster shells, diamond rings atop a cream puff swan, a ruby pin nestled in a bowl of rich red cherries and so much more you simply have to see it to appreciate. Who could resist!

Undercover Man Notes Robbers

SURBITON, England (AP) — Inspector Michael Hyans, who wears $230 suits and handmade shirts from Prince Philip's tailor, doesn't look like a policeman.

Four men casing a dairy in this Surrey community didn't notice him, but he saw them acting suspiciously and noted their car license number on a laundry bag.

When the store was robbed several weeks later, two of the raiders were traced and arrested.

There's Clothing Aplenty For Any Fashionable Boy This Yule

A TOUCH OF FASHION — The Men's Fashion Association suggests a handsomely striped double-breasted sports jacket. Team it up with a styling high-collared shirt and wide tie.

Look at turtle-necks, mock-turtles, V-necks, crew-necks and boat-necks. Button front sweater vests are making news right now. Boldly patterned argyles are the fashion story for the season. Cable stitches, stripes, intaglio-type designs and ribbed effects round out the sweater scene.

SPORT COATS: Sport coats styled for the young set have all the dash and verve of the current fashion explosion. Double-breasted models in a host of variations have the "in" look wanted by boys. Plaids and checks are the key patterns.

Both single- and double-breasted blazers are among the favored sport coats and the darker shades make excellent dress-up garments, too.

SLACKS: Was there ever a boy who couldn't use extra slacks? The newest have either flared or stove-pipe bottoms. Select solid fabrics for wear with plaid, striped or checked sport coats — and give him boldly patterned slacks to team-up with his plain coats and blazers.

Another very smart choice are the colorful tartans in authentic Scottish clan patterns. The latter coordinates very well with both blazers and sweaters.

FOOTWEAR: You can strike a responsive chord in most young men by geting him a pair of boots. Boots and boys are made for each other. Choose from ankle-high chukkas in strap or lace models or calf-high Wellingtons in either pull-ons or zipper-fastened styles.

Oxfords and moccasins with squared toes and metal decorations make the young style scene this season, and are worn with suits as well as slacks.

SOCKS: Brightly colored crew socks, dressy plain hose and warm woolen socks in patterns or plains are other good gift ideas. The popular "one-size" stretch sock takes the guess-work out of the sizing problem. Select his socks in colors and patterns to harmonize with his dress-up and casual outfits. Color coordinated socks also make an interesting "extra" for wear with his new sweaters.

SHIRTS: There are vibrantly colored and richly striped shirts that look just like Dad's. Junior will get a kick out of wearing those man-type shirts with his sport coats and suits. The newest colors include rich blues, browns, tans, melons, greens and reds.

For his casual outfits, sport shirts are the thing he wears to achieve that cool, sporty look. The woven shirts feature new long point collars, ton-sowns and modified spreads. Knits come in polo collars, mock-turtles and turtle-necks.

Most of the boys' shirts are easy-care wash'n'wear constructions, a feature that helps keep them neater longer and simplifies laundering.

OUTERWEAR: Warm, rugged outerwear garments are an essential part of every active boy's wardrobe. The variety of styling in those good looking coats is almost endless. They range from fleece lined poplins and gabardines to dressy woolens and — get this — "real fake furs" like those worn by the big guys.

Double-breasted styles are popular and so are zip-up ski coats, the classic pea coats and the warm wool C. P. O. shirts, some of which have added fleece linings for extra protection. Then there are the longer stadium coats, the serviceable duffle coats and some junior-sized interpretations of the classic British "short warms."

GLOVES: Knit mittens in warm wools and leather-palmed "drivers" are always useful gifts. For skiers, skaters and snowball throwers the lined nylon gloves and mittens are the answer to keeping hands both warm and dry. For dress-up, give him capeskins or pigskins in plain or lined styles.

UNDERWEAR: Boxer shorts, knitted briefs and T-shirts are for school wear. Warm "long johns" for outdoor winter sports.

TIES: Wider, bolder and brighter. Select from solids, stripes, plaids and other patterns keyed to new shirting shades or in classic colors.

MUFFLERS: Long, bulky wool scarves, in patterns and solids are part of the current young look. In smaller sizes there are knits with gloves to match. For the bigger boys, Apache scarves and neckerchiefs add a bit of flare.

PAJAMAS AND ROBES: Traditional gifts for under the tree. Sleek broadcloth pajamas or cozy flannelettes. Robes range from terry cloths to woolens, corduroys and sets of p.j.s with robes to match.

SPECIAL IDEAS: Junior sizes in bush coats, jump suits; vest, shirt and slacks sets; ski outfits; golf jackets; jeans; Western jackets; knitted "toboggan hats" with scarves to match; and wallets.

Steel And Salami Haul For Canadian Thieves

MONTREAL (AP) — In two major thefts in one night here recently thieves went from one extreme to the other taking 20 tons of steel and a ton of salami.

Police reported that the steel, valued at $14,000, was stolen while it was loaded on an express company truck. The $3,250 worth of salami was taken by burglars who broke into the premises of a city meat company.

Steel And Salami Haul For Canadian Thieves

MONTREAL (AP) — In two major thefts in one night here recently thieves went from one extreme to the other taking 20 tons of steel and a ton of salami.

Police reported that the steel, valued at $14,000, was stolen while it was loaded on an express company truck. The $3,250 worth of salami was taken by burglars who broke into the premises of a city meat company.

FAKE FUR FOR HIM

Make it a real Christmas with a fake fur for your man, says the Men's Fashion Association. This brown model in the currently popular belted style is worn well above the knee. To keep the look casual, team it up with an all-wool turtleneck and herringbone flared pants.

Your Man 'Has Everything'? Why Not Try Giving A Boot

him a boot? The fashionable look in men's footwear features boots of all types and all heights. They range from ankle-high chukka boots — some secured by straps, others that lace — to other models that are calf-high and are fastened with concealed zippers. Warmly lined stadium boots and after-ski boots are other possibilities. If in doubt as to size, boot him with a gift certificate.

Slippers are a traditional Christmas gift. Depending on his needs and tastes, there are cozy fleece-lined styles, dressy opera models and easy-going backless mules for wear during his leisure hours.

There's a real sock in men's hosiery this year. Patterns are colorful such as the new argyles, intarsia effects, panels and stripes. They are all part of the current fashion look.

Give him bright patterns for sports and casualwear and modestly patterned hose in business-like colors for his dress-up outfits. Remember that dress hose range from over-the-calf lengths to knee-high. If your man walks a lot or spends much of his time standing, support hose is a possibility.

Today's fashion-conscious fellow no doubt has at least one drawer full of the popular deep-tone shirts but — has he a collection of the newest frosted tones? These have a brand new look in both solids and stripes via the addition of white "frosting yarns" that soften the vivid solid shades. French cuffs, double-button cuffs and longer-point collars

After-Shave Lotion Now Low On The Grooming List

Does he or doesn't he . . . have the necessary products to keep tanned, virile and healthy looking? Just about every man today has a bottle of after-shave lotion in the medicine chest.

But the grooming industry has found new worlds to conquer, and now there's a product for every area of the body.

How is his grooming I.Q.? If it needs a little boost, fill in his fragrance wardrobe this Christmas. Get the man in your life some of the new and unusual grooming aids that make him look better and feel better.

To help you make your selections in the ever-widening range of products, the Men's Fashion Association provides you with this handy checklist:

Special treatment shampoos (for dandruff, etc.), tonic to make hair look thicker, hair coloring — permanent dyes and temporary rinses, hair control spray (regular hold and super), hair straightener and hair pieces — sideburns, moustaches, beards.

Soaps — glycerine, whale oil, milk, lemon, shaving cream — pre-electric, foam, soap crock, toilet water, bronzers and tanners, moisturizers, lip pommade, blemish cover-up cream, face masks, eye pads, night creams and astringents.

Deodorant — aerosol spray or stick, rubdown friction lotion for after-shower, spray talc, spray shower oil, bath oil, suntan lotion and hand cream.

In addition, grooming companies strive to present their products in a handsome, masculine way. This Christmas, you'll find leather travel kits that contain compact bottles of shampoo, deodorant and after-shave lotion. For those with more expensive tastes, there's a lucite chest or alligator attache case filled with good groomers. And for fun, you can get him bath powder that features a puff with a brass knuckle grip.

And if all else fails, and he still wants that old bottle of cologne — then get it for him — there's the kind that comes packaged as a gun.

HOW DO YOU LIKE MY SLEIGH?

Jolly Santa interviews young and older passengers in his special sleigh, which is giving rides today through next Monday at the Mall-Northgate. The motorized version of St. Nick's vehicle can carry up to 40 passengers at a time.

Christmas Can Be Marred By Thoughtlessness Of Littering

An estimated 400 million pounds of wrapping paper, boxes, ribbon and tags will delight litterbugs on Christmas morning.

Officials of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., notes that most people properly dispose of gift wrappings, but too many are careless.

That not only creates unsightly litter but is a major fire hazard in the home and can cause accidents on streets and highways.

The orgainization lists four basic steps to brighten the holidays by eliminating litter:

1. Refrain from littering streets and stores when Christmas shopping.

2. Place discarded wrappings in proper rubbish receptacles as soon as presents are opened.

3. Store reusable decorations and wrapping materials safely so they don't become a fire hazard.

4. Don't dump old Christmas trees and wreaths in the street, a vacant lot or back yard. If in doubt about how to get rid of them, check with your local department.

Accidental firearm fatalities in the Mountain Division of this country average 2.7 per 100,000, more than twicd the national average.

CLASSIC SWEATERS

This season's knitwear is classic—with a difference. It applies to both cardigans and knit shirts. Updated to look brand new, are (left) gold three-button placket pullover with fuller, longer collar trimmed in gold and matching gold-trimmed waistband. (Right) Desert sun cardigan is coordinated with matching two-button placket pullover that has gray and white stripes and fall's longer point collar.

Timesaving Tips For The Holidays

The bustle of holiday entertaining often is no fun for the housewife who is faced with unexpected guests and the problem of cleaning up after they leave. You can keep your house from turning into a shambles after Christmas if you remember a few simple hints.

It's a good idea to keep the closet well stocked with quick, easy-to-fix items for drop-in guests. Children especially are likely to turn up at all times and then stay for lunch and dinner.

And here's some advice that's handy in the kitchem.

To remove chocolate stains from colored tablecloths without fading the fabric, mix rubbing alcohol and luke-warm water.

To remove crayon marks from enameled surfaces or linoleum, apply silver polish with a damp cloth. For regular cleaning of ceramic tile, use detergent and warm water. Plain soap may leave a film on the tile.

If cigaret burns or nail polish mar rubber flooring, try removing them by rubbing gently with steel wool.

Add corn syrup to holiday fudge to make it stay creamy.

And for extra-special popcorn balls, add food coloring to the syrup mixture before mixing with the popcorn. You'll get pastel popcorn and the coloring won't affect the flavor.

are back in a big way.

The man-who-has-everything may have several robes ranging from practical terry cloths to luxurious silks. Chances are, however, he doesn't have one of the new popular kimonos. These come in a wide range of patterns and solid colors and they include striped twills, washable knitted velours, paisleys and some that reverse from solid color wool to striped acetate twills. One of the advantages of giving him a kimono is that one size fits all.

Now that French cuffs are back he will need some extra cuff links. Select from small, neat classic links, larger baroque designs and initial-types. Most will have tie tacs or tie bars to match. And, with wider ties back, he may want some longer tie clasps.

If his jewelry is scattered helter-skelter on his dresser top or in his bureau drawers, he really needs one of those handsome and practical jewel boxes. You have a choice of fine leathers, grained woods and combinations of both in a wide selection of shapes and sizes.

No man ever had too many belts. Choose his gift belt from colorful webbings combined with leather (there are wallets, key cases and accessories to match), sleek leathers and sporty styles in waxy finishes. Or, go all out with a sophisticated "designer" belt in patent leather fastened by a novel buckle.

Finally, you can "glad hand" him with a gift of gloves. The choices range from sporty driving gloves that are the delight of both sports car fans and pilots of the family sedan, to dressy capeskins, mochas and suedes. Pigskin is always in style.

Because of heavy fishing, eastern inshore lobsters average one pound whereas lobsters caught on the edge of the continental shelf 75 to 150 miles off the New England Coast weigh as much as 25 pounds.

Cong In New Overture To Viet Peace

Six-Month Withdrawal Period In New Proposal

PARIS (AP)—A Viet Cong spokesman said today that if the United States and its allies agreed to an uncondtional withdrawal from Vietnam over a six-month period, the parties would then discuss "guarantees for safety during the withdrawal."

The mentioning of a six-month period was a new element in the Paris peace talks scene but the demand for an unconditional withdrawal—a stumbling block—remained. Previously the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had spoken of a rapid withdrawal over a period of a few months.

The Viet Cong position was put forward by Ly Van Sau at a news conference.

THEN DISCUSSION

He said, "If the United States says that it will unconditionally withdraw all its troops from South Vietnam in a period of six months and the members of the American camp follow suit, the parties will discuss the calendar for the withdrawal and guarantees for security during the withdrawal."

Sau said the United States had the means to rapidly pull out its troops and referred to a statement he attributed to an American commander that a withdrawal could be made in three or four months.

"We give them six months," Sau said. "How can we show a more comprehending attitude? I think this is reasonable."

COULD BENEFIT

Sau suggested that allied troops could benefit from the same "no fire" declaration that the Viet Cong has for Philippine troops who are to leave Vietnam this month. Sau dismissed the contention that the Philippine contingent was not a fighting unit and said they had "committed numerous crimes" under the name of the pacification program.

He went on to say that if the Australian government said it would immediately withdraw its force then "I an certain that our commanders will have a policy of clemency and humanity toward them which would allow them to return to their country rapidly and in conditions of safety." Australia has about 8,000 men in Vietnam.

U.S. Firm On Viet Turnover

PARIS (AP) — In the absence of a breakthrough in the Paris peace talks, the United States looks to Vietnamization as the fastest way to get Americans out of Vietnam and the best way to achieve the U.S. objective there, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today.

At the same time, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told an interviewer here President Richard M. Nixon has no plans for thei mmediate appointment of a successor to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. negotiator in Paris who has quit. Rogers seemed to suggest he saw no prospects at this time for a break in the Paris deadlock.

Laird spoke at a news conference.

"Barring a breakthrough in Paris, for which we all hope, Vietnamization still provides the best and quickest route to achieving our objective," Laird said.

Vietnamization is Nixon's program for turning over to the South Vietnamese military forces the burden of carrying on the fight against the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

Laird contended this provides a means for the orderly disengagement of U.S. troops from combat "without impairing our objective—the right of self-determination of the people of South Vietnam."

He described this as an alternative to a negotiated settlement. He added that in 1970 the United States would pursue

Sirhan Goes On A Hunger Strike In Isolation Protest

The lonely isolation of his special cell on San Quentin's Death Row has apparently got to Sirhan Bishara Sirhan.

Protesting one facet of his severe seclusion, the 25-year-old killer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has gone on a hunger strike, according to Associate Warden James W. l. Park.

Since Nov. 28, Sirhan has eaten nothing and has drunk only instant cocoa and coffee, Park said.

Early last month, Sirhan sent Park a note protesting "tyranny, sadism and so-called benevolent despotism." He asked that alight outside his cell be dimmed and that he be permitted to exercise with the other Death Row inmates.

Prison officials put a shade on his light, but refused the second request because there has been at least one threat on his life from within the row, Park said.

Prior to his hunger strike, Sirhan sent another note to Park who is in charge of Death Row. It said, "Fxxx you and your prison. I am going on a hunger strike to protest this Nazi concentration camp-like treatment of yours. Hitler had more mercy than you do."

He also replaced his exercise request with one asking removal of a screen so he could talk more easily with other prisoners.

Sirhan's cell, No. 33, is isolated by two empty cells on either side and two steel mesh screens 15 feet apart between his cell and the corridor. He asked that the screen nearest his cell be removed, Park said.

Park said prison officials are concerned about his safety but Sirhan is not and even offered to sign a waiver taking the respossibility on himself.

However, Park said removing the screen would put Sirhan

Tate Grand Jury Hears Lab Expert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles police crime lab specialist was the first of 10 scheduled witnesses to take the stand today in what the district attorney's office hoped will be the final day of a grand jury investigation into the slaying of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

Sgt. M.F. McGann was the lead off witness at 9:37 a.m. in the second day of the grand jury probe which began Friday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron H. Stovitz said he may also call four unidentified female material witnesses, "but only if we get information that they have something to say."

Los Angeles Panthers, Police Stage Shootout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police fired tear gas into Black Panther headquarters for more than four hours today — drawing automatic weapons fire and blasts from homemade grenades — before eight to 10 occupants surrendered.

Three officers were wounded, one critically, at the start of a series of raids aimed at serving warrants in connection with an alleged cache of illegal weapons.

Three of those inside the Panther headquarters were reported injured, none seriously.

A force of 300 officers surrounded the building. Police said two were shot as they first tried to serve a warrant. The other was hit in later gunfire.

A standoff of more than four hours ensued.

The raid was one of three on locations of the militant Negro organization. Police said they had information that machine guns and other weapons had been stored there and they wanted to serve warrants on two persons.

At one point officers issued an ultimatum by bullhorn to those in the headquarters: "Come out with your hands up" or we'll come in." One man came out. Finally the others followed.

The wounded officers were not immediately identified.

One was reported hit in the chest and groin. Another was reported hit in the foot and the third in the leg.

A 16-block area was sealed off during the confrontation. Police deployed themselves along wide, shop-lined Central Avenue and stayed under cover.

The area is south of downtown Los Angeles, near Wrigley Field, former home of the California Angels baseball team. Homes line adjoining streets and residents clustered on lawns to listen to shots and blasts.

About 14 persons were arrested in raids at two other locations, where no resistance was encountered.

"Those guys have automatic weapons and they're throwing grenades," a police inspector told newsmen during the morning.

Officers said that homemade grenades were then tossed toward police from the building, bursting in the street. No one was hurt by the grenades.

A police spokesman said the building had been sandbagged at doors and windows by the Panthers.

A contingent of police blocked off the entire area. Classes were dismissed for the day at a nearby school.

The downtown police building was put under heavy guard. Officers with shotguns were sta-

REBUFF TO NIXON

Neighborhood Peace Walks Planned

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — "Neighborhood peace walks and educational rallies" to rebuff the Nixon administration's contention that the "silent majority" supports its Vietnam War policy will be held Saturday in 14 Marin communities.

Plans for the demonstrations were announced today by three Marin residents who said they thought up the idea to meet the need for the "silent majority" to show it opposes the war policy of the administration.

The three, who appeared at a press conference in the St. Francis Hotel, are Rev. Gene W. Burris, pastor of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church; William M. Taylor of San Anselmo, an investment-insurance broker, and Richard M. Adams of Belvedere, an attorney.

The aim of the demonstrations, Adams said, will be to urge President Richard M. Nixon to make "a clear, unequivocal, irreversible commitment to withdraw all our forces." The timetable of this complete withdrawal would be up to Nixon, he said, adding it should be "as soon as is possible, consistent with the safety of the American troops."

Nixon's speech on the war last month "spoke of peace, but not of taking us out of the war," Admas said. The President mentioned withdrawal only of "ground combat troops," he said, "but the withdrawal should include all support forces, naval and air forces, too."

Adams stressed that it was "more meaningful to stand up in our own community than to bury ourselves in San Francisco among a few hundred thousand people" in massive peace marches.

Burris added that "it's more important for me to be a face than a body. We want him (Nixon) to know we'll no longer be the 'silent majority.'

"A lot of people have a very difficult time disagreeing with their president," he acknowledged, adding he also had been silent until last month, when he led about 130 "middle-class, professional" Sleepy Hollow residents in a community Moratorium Day march.

"Given an opportunity," Burris predicted, "a lot of people will be willing to stand up in their community. I believe most people are pretty disenchanted with the war — they want out of this war, and they want out fast."

He estimated that 2,000 people would attend the 14 rallies.

Taylor termed the trio "all moderates." He said "millions of Americans are too intimidated to oppose the President because it seems to be the unpatriotic thing to do. But it is important to say where we stand. We are hopeful this will have some impact."

Petitions on a letter to the President will be circulated at each rally stating that "leadership doesn't belong to the office of the President alone, and the United States needs to discover that a great nation can face her mistakes.

"Human lives are more importatnt than past commitments that were never intended to stand forever and that certainly have proven to be undesirable for us and the Vietnamese people," the letter declares.

Nixon Is Urged To Name Massacre Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has been urged by two influential Democrats to appoint an independent fact-finding panel to investigate the alleged massacre of civilians by U.S. soldiers at the South Vietnam village of My Lai.

The proposals came separately yesterday from Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Stennis said the panel should be composed of persons "outside the government and outside the military" and should survey the March 1968 incident, determine the facts and make a special report to the President.

Humphrey told newsmen the panel should be similar to the Warren Commission, which probed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The former vice president said in Los Angeles "enough has been said that there needs to be an examination."

Stennis said the special panel's probe could be undertaken while trials of the accused are under way.

But the senator spoke against a full-scale congressional investigation, saying "if we in the Congress go to holding a hearing now and before that trial is over, it will go off in different directions, be highly confused and totally unfair to the defendants."

Stennis spoke on the ABC interview program "Issues and Answers."

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., a platoon leader in the company which led the assault on My Lai, faces a court-martial on charges of killing 109 Vietnamese civilians. A staff sergeant also is charged with assault to commit murder.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg and a group of jurists Thursday urged Nixon to appoint such a commission. But they suggested the probe go beyond My Lai to the entire area of American conduct in Vietnam.

The Army is investigating the My Lai charges and a special panel headed by Lt. Gen. William Peers is holding closed hearings to determine whether there was a coverup of the incident by military officials in Vietnam.

Secretary of the Army Stanley J. Resor also said yesterday the Army's general counsel is studying two possible ways of trying soldiers who were at My Lai—one by military commission, the other by a general court-martial.

Panel Splits On Kinds Of Disobedience

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bare majority of the National Violence Commission—publicly divided for the first time—condemned today the use of massive civil disobedience as a tactic to change the law.

A six-member minority of th commission—including its two Negroes—contended that the tactic, when practiced without violence, is perhaps the only effective means of overturning unjust laws.

The commission divided over the kinds of disobedience—restaurant sit-ins and violation of segregation laws—that led to enactment of major civil rights legislation in the 1960s.

Speaking for the seven-man majority, Houston attorney Leon Jaworski said its views were a direct result of those instances of disobedience.

"We suggest," the majority said, "that if in good faith the constitutionality of a statute, ordinance or a court decree is to be challenged, it can be done ef-

Tribunal Upholds Power To Punish Major Drug Sellers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the government's power to punish unregistered sellers of heroin and marijuana.

A 6-2 decision, delivered by Justice Byron R. White, swept away as illogical the argument that sellers are subjected to unconstitutional self-incrimination.

The only danger of incrimination, White said for the court, was to the purchaser who is supposed to obtain an order form from the government.

Since a purchaser is unlikely to do this, White said, "there is no real and substantial possibility" that the seller's name would be given to the government.

Justices William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black dissented. They said that since the government provides order forms only for lawful heroin sales it should not have the power to punish a man for making a sale without such a form.

The ruling, in two related cases, upheld the conviction of James Minor and Michael Buie of New York City. Minor sold unregistered heroin and Buie unregistered marijuana to undercover narcotics agents in separate transactions in 1967.

Last May, in voiding a conviction of drug experimenter Timothy F. Leary, the court held purchasers and importers of marijuana are protected by the

WORK CUT OUT—Piles of debris litter the Altamont Speedway—near Livermore—scene of Saturday's rock concert featuring the Rolling Stones which attracted 300,000. Officials figure it will take a week to clear up the area. (UPI Telephoto)

Aftermath Of West's Biggest Rock Concert: Tons Of Debris

LIVERMORE (UPI) — Tons of debris and a few hundred cleanup volunteers remained today from the biggest one-day musical bash ever held.

Dick Carter, manager of the motorcyle race track where the free concert was given Saturday by the Rolling Stones and 20 other rock groups, figured it would take a least a week to clean up the mess made by 300,000 young rock fans.

Four deaths, two births, hundreds of "bad trips" on drugs, and trouble by "Hell's Angels" motorcycle toughs marred the concert.

"I have about 200 youngsters staying to help me clean up but I could use thousands," Carter said.

Tons of empty wine bottles and garbage were strewn on the hills around the Altamont Speedway, 50 miles southeast of San Francisco.

"My neighbors will probably want to shoot me," Carter said. "I stopped by some people's houses and told them if there was any damage I'd help fix it up. They called me a Communist. You'd think I was Hitler."

Carter had less than 24 hours to prepare for the huge crowd, which also heard such groups as the Jefferson Airplane, Grateful Dead and Santana.

"I expected about 10,000. I was surprised how orderly things went."

John Jaymes, president of Young American Enterprises which promoted the Stones American tour, said the musicians were also "very happy and pleased in the way things went. Particularly how everybody left orderly."

It was doubtful law enforcement officers would agree. Sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen investigated a fatal stabbing, a drowning and two traffic deaths.

Detective Sgt. Bill Foster of the sheriff's office said Meredith Hunter, 18, Berkeley, was stabbed to death in a scuffle near the stage while the Rolling Stones performed. The policeman said Hunter pulled a revolver after five or six "Hell's Angels types" knocked him down.

Witnesses said Hunter was flung to the ground again and when his attackers climbed off he had been stabbed. However, Foster said the witnesses didn't see the knife and couldn't identify the assailants.

An unidentified young man drowned in an irrigation ditch near the race track and two men were killed when a car ran them down as they sat around aroadside campfire after the concert. The driver fled after hitting Richard Salov, 22, and Mark Feiger, 19, both of Berkeley, and seriously injuring another man and a woman.

Thousands got high on wine and drugs openly peddled in the crowd.

A few men and women danced naked in front of the bandstand. One youth on a "bad trip" broke his pelvis after leaping 40 feet off a freeway overpass.

Cars were backed up for 20 miles on the main road from San Francisco and youths hiked up to 10 miles after abandoning their cars.

Writer To Prison

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syria's Supreme State Security Court sentenced a Lebanese journalist, Jalal el-Turk, to six years and three months in prison for spying for Israel. The journalist confessed during his trial to passing information to Israel about Arab guerrilla organizations.

Best Actress

LONDON (UPI) — The British magazine Films and Filming named Shirley MacLaine as its choice for the year's best actress yesterday for her role in "Sweet Charity." It named the movie "True Grit" as the best Western for 1969 and "The Night They Raided Minsky's" as the best comedy.

Sierra Club Announces Ecology Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Sierra Club announced yesterday it will seek federal and state constitutional amendments insuring the right to a "clean, healthy environment."

Michael McCloskey, upon his appointment as executive director at a national meeting of the conservationist group's board of directors, said the campaign would be launched in the near future.

McCloskey had served as chief of staff since last May, when Executive Director Davis Bower left his post.

The directors called for a ban on the manufacture and use of DDT and similar pesticides.

They also asked that stringent limits be placed on vehicles so that by 1975 "adequate air purities will be insured." If necessary, the directors said, the internal combustion engine should be banned.

A policy resolution was adopted that urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to reject a California Department of Water Resources report on the peripheral canal. McCloskey said the proposal recommended by the department "releases too little water into the Delta."

Dumke Asks More Power To Govern

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State Colleges Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke is asking the trustees to give him more power to help the 19-campus system better cope with "the turbulence of a revolutionary society."

Dumke recommended to trustees in a recent memo that they "confront the issue of centralization versus decentralization at an early meeting."

Dumke said the "traditional system of academic governance has proved its inability to cope with the bigness of modern institutions, systemwide organization . . . and the turbulence of a revolutionary society."

CURRENT CRISIS

He added that "the present situation, where the campus has the authority, but (my) office and the trustees must assume the responsibility, is becoming less and less tenable."

Dumke said he knows his proposals to place some activities on the often troubled campuses under closer supervision of his office would bring charges that campus autonomy is being challenged.

But he repeated his goal to leave most administrative decisions at the campus level. "I have no brief for bureaucracy. We should have as little of it as possible.

"But if the trustees are to hold the chancellor responsible for the running of the system, then they must give him the means and authority to do it, and stand behind him in his efforts," Dumke said.

Dumke's five-page memo dealt with the centralization issue in general terms. Dumke said the absence of a strong central agency has led to "numerous problems."

He said the problems include strong independent faculty political pressure groups, an overemphasis on growth with an under-emphasis on faculty quality, and enrollment of some unqualified students.

Saying the admissions systems of some colleges is "frankly sloppy," Dumke recommended a centralized admissions system for state colleges.

Dumke also recommended that each college campus' advisory board be asked to become involved in matters deemed of "public concern." Dumke said issues could receive the determination from himself, the college board chairman or a campus president.

Lodge Rules Out Any Politics

BOSTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge says he does not plan to become involved in politics but has left the door open to further diplomatic work.

Lodge, returning home after resigning as chief U.S. delegate to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, said Saturday at Logan International Airport: "I am not going to run for public office"

Lodge

There had been speculation that Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., might ask Lodge to run against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy next year. Lodge lost the seat to the late John F. Kennedy in 1952.

Lodge, an ambassador at large, said Saturday he expected to "stay in Massachusetts the rest of my life," but would not rule out the possibility of another ambassadorial assignment.

Lodge makes his home in Beverly, a community north of Boston.

Leadership Hunt

TOKYO (AP) — A "cultural revolution" to raise a crop of "reliable successors" to the present Communist Party leadership is under way in North Korea.

The official Korean Central News Agency said North Korean schools have become a "base for training a large contingent of reliable national party cadres, a powerful weapon of the ideological revolution and base of the cultural revolution."

The program is the result of the "great ideas and original theory" of party secretary Kim Il Sung, the report said.

Few Incumbents

NAIROBI (UPI) — Voters in Kenya's first general election in nine years returned only 35 per cent of the incumbents to Parliament in balloting that appeared to reflect mounting opposition to President Jomo Kenyatta.

Kenyatta lost five of his 20 cabinet ministers and 13 of his 30 junior ministers as they failed to retain their seats in 158-man parliament.

Because the president banned the opposition Kenya People's union in October, everyone elected to the new Parliament was a member of his Kenyan African National Union.

Kenyatta himself was unchallenged but many of the incumbents faced opposition from as many as five opponents.

Joint Talks

TRIPOLI (UPI) — Joint talks begin today on the evacuation of British bases in Libya. Announcement of the negotiations was made Saturday by the Libyan government.

Asking Advance

MANILA (AP) — The Phillippine government has asked the United States to make an immediate advance deposit of $100 million the U.S. government is expected to spend next year at its bases in the islands. The money is needed to bolster dwindling reserves of foreign exhange.

A presidential spokesman said the money would not be payment for the bases because there is no rental fee. He said it would be an advance of the money the United States will spend during the year on goods, services and salaries of Filipines employed by the bases.

During the first eight months of the year, imports into the Phillippines exceeded exports by $200 million, and the foreign exchange reserve dropped $50 million, to $145 million at the end of October.

Is Zodiac Killer In Oklahoma?

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—A man claiming to be the "Zodiac" slayer, who has bragged of killing seven persons in the San Francisco area, told an Oklahoma City radio talk show last night he left California because "it got too hot for me."

KTOK New Director Larry LaMotte said the caller was "an awfully good imitator" of a man who called a San Francisco television talk show on Oct. 22, claiming to be Zodiac.

NOT THE MAN

Authorities in California said they are convinced the October caller was not the man who has claimed seven killings in a series of letters and cryptograms to police and newspapers.

Newsman Tony Garrett of KTOK said he reported last night's call to Oklahoma City police, who felt that call may also be a hoax.

The man called the station during a regular talk program last night when people are given an opportunity to express their views on unlimited subjects.

The man was breathing heavily and spoke emotionally.

BECOME TOPIC

Police said they had calls from people who heard the conversation. The call became the topic of the next few callers to the radio station.

At the start of the conversation, the man asked LaMotte if he knew who he was.

LaMotte told the caller he sounded like "an awfully good imitator" of the man who had called a broadcast media in California.

"Oh," the caller said, "I left California because it got too hot for me."

"Are you trying to tell me," LaMotte asked, "that you are the Zodiac killer?"

The caller said "I could be" and added it was better for him in Oklahoma because so many people were killing themselves on the highways and "that makes it legal."

U.S. Vietnam Troop Count Is Lowest In 25 Months

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. headquarters said today 8,800 GIs have left Vietnam in addition to the 60,000 involved in President Richard M. Nixon's pullout program, reducing American troop strength to its lowest level in 25 months.

This coincided with reports of nine clashes along the Cambodian border Saturday, yesterday and today, with U.S. troops counting 158 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed against three Americans slain and 16 wounded.

TROOP REPORT

The troop strength report said 4,300 U.S. servicemen left the number of GIs in Vietnam to 475,200, fewest since November of 1967.

It meant the number of war zone GIs is 8,800 lower than the 484,000 ceiling authorized by President Nixon once his two-phase withdrawal of 60,000 men is completed by Dec. 15.

Those 8,800 troops left the war zone at the end of their tours of duty and were not replaced.

ISSUES STATEMENT

A spokesman for the U.S. command issued this statement in answer to speculation that the withdrawal of American troops was continuing past the 60,000 mark without an announcement from the White House:

"This decline in strength below the authorized 484,000 results from a temporary slowdown in the replacement flow and does not represent an additional redeployment increment."

President Nixon was to hold a nationally televised news conference tonight amid reports he might be ready to announce a further troop cutback from Vietnam.

'TO CONTINUE'

Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard said Friday withdrawals of American troops "are going to continue" in line with the progress made in the program to turn over the war to the South Vietnamese.

As part of the "Vietnamization" program, headquarters announced that the Saigon government would assume command Tuesday of a U.S. Coast Guard cutter, the sixth turned over to the South Vietnamese for patrolling the South China Sea coast.

On the battlefield, headquarters reported 44 overnight shellings against Allied targets, killing two Americans and wounding six. Official sources said there were 25 attacks in the provinces surrounding Saigon, the most in two months.

NORTH OF SAIGON

Troopers of the U.S. First Air Cavalry Division fought all nine of the clashes reported from the Cambodian frontier north and northwest of Saigon, including a two-hour fight this morning that left 33 North Vietnamese dead against no American losses.

Headquarters sent eight waves of B52 bombers on raids along the frontier during the night in an attempt to head off an expected "high point" of Communist activity around Christmas.

Novato Council To Eye De Long Avenue Extension

Alignment of the easterly extension of De Long Avenue will be discussed by the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

When the freeway bypass is constructed, the De Long Avenue interchange will be the main one for downtown Novato. The state Division of Highways wants to plan the exact route of de Long eastward to Olive Avenue.

There are two routes under consideration. A lower route on the hillside would approach existing houses and connect to Rosalia Drive to Olive Avenue. The higher route over the hilltop would not connect to Olive Avenue until 3,000 feet east of Rosalia. Gnoss Estates Association insists on the higher route.

Other items to come before the council include the rezoning of 710 acres south of Highway 37 west of Black Point to planned community for John E. Kenney; a poll on a park bond issue; reorganization of the street maintenance department; San Marin Drive overlay and appointments to the planning, parks and recreation downtown study, beautification and plan review committees.

Mink Stole Taken

A mink stole valued at $1,500 was stolen Friday from a coat rack in the San Pablo Room of the San Rafael Holiday Inn, San Rafael police reported today. The theft was reported by Warren Alexander Copp of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, police said.

Bible Policy Change Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California School Boards Association asked the state Board of Education yesterday to reconsider its decision to include the Bible's version of man's beginning in public schools curriculum.

The association's convention here approved the action by voice vote, but stopped short of endorsing court action.

A compromise resolution by president-elect Alfred W. Newman, a Vallejo attorney, was approved to say:

"The CSBA expresses concern about the introduction of religious beliefs in the scientific curricula, in contrast to the study of religious in other proper area of curricula."

The resolution also urges the state board to "reconsider the inclusion of Genesis theory in science texbooks."

Santa Rosa Man Jailed In Pot

A Santa Rosa man was arrested yesterday by Petaluma police on suspicion of possession of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphrenalia.

Larry Lee McGraw, 29, was booked into the city jail and scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Muncipal Court.

Police said McGraw was stopped at 12:30 p.m. while walking on Petaluma Boulevard North and that a record check showed a $10 traffic warrant had been issued by the San Mateo sheriff's office. While booking him on the traffic warrant, police said they found marijuana and narcotics equipment

Both Sides Say No To Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. and two unions leading a nationwide strike against the giant corporation have rejected each others' latest offers as the strike enters its seventh week.

The weekend exchange was the first significant development in negotiations to resolve the strike that began Oct. 27.

John R. Baldwin, chief G.E. negotiator, said the company was "extremely disappointed" that the unions immediately had refused G.E.'s offer, made Saturday, of a three-year contract.

PANTHERS

tioned at every entrance as a security precaution.

Charles Garry, legal counsel for the Black Panther group, denounced the police action. Of the police statement that the raids were unconnected with those made on Panthers in other cities he said: "That is an unadulterated lie. This is all part and package of a national scheme by the various agencies of government to destroy and commit genocide upon members of the Black Panther party."

When a newsman called Panther headquarters by telephone, a voice that sounded like that of a woman said: "The pigs are attacking us. Send the press and send us people."

Today's confrontation was the first of its kind in Los Angeles, although there have been individual clashes between officers and Panthers during or after street arrests.

Police said today's raids came after a two-week investigation. Officers carried warrantes for the arrest of Paul Rede and Elmer G. Pratt, charging assault with a deadly weapon against a police officer in connection with an incident a week ago.

In Illinois, meanwhile, demands were raised for an investigation of the shootout last week on Chicago's West Side in which two Panther leaders met death and four others were wounded along with two policemen.

Linda Heiser Is Selected Junior Miss

Linda Heiser, Novato High School senior, was chosen Junior Miss at the pagent in the Novato Community House Saturday night, sponsored by Novato jaycees.

She received a $150 scholarship and a trophy. She will go on to the state pageant in Santa Rosa in January. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heiser of 1316 Leafwood Drive, Apt. 11.

First runnerup was Angela Spells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curnel Spells of 377 Alameda Del Prado. She received a $75 scholarship and trophy.

Second runnerup was Laura Jane Kinard, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Kinard of 1490 San Jose Boulevard. She received $50 scholarship and trophy. Both are seniors at Novato High School.

Stinson Man Is Booked On Several Counts

A 22-year-old Stinson Beach man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of resisting an officer, on a bench warrant and on an Army hold.

Wtephen John Borner was arrested after sheriff's deputies were called to the home of Janice M. Kelly, 22 Seakeeper, No. 6, Stinson Bach, on a complaint that Borner had beaten her and threatened her with a sawed-off shotgun.

Deputies said they found Borner in a house a block away and that he resisted them as they attempted to make the arrest.

The bench warrant was issued last April 17 after Borner failed to appear to answer a charge of possession of dangerous drugs. He was originally arrested March 31 by Sausalito police who said he had 39 orange capsules in his pocket.

At that time the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Borner had been AWOL from the Presidio of San Francisco since October 1967. The Army hold was still outstanding.

Borner was held on bail of $1,625 to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Senate Passes Military Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today a $1.7 billion appropriation for military construction, including $15 million for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

There was no controversy as the bill cleared the Senate on an 82 to 0 roll call vote, whittling to six the number of appropriations bills for the current year still awaiting Senate action.

Three of those measures have not yet passed the House.

President Richard M. Nixon has warned he will summon Congress into session after Christmas unless the appropriations bills for the year which began July 1 have been completed before the holiday recess.

McAskill To Close Store In Novato

Harley A. McAskill, owner of McAskill's men's wear at 1559 South Novato Boulevard, is going out of the retail men's wear business.

He is liquidating his business in a sale that starts at 9 a.m. Thursday.

McAskill, mayor of Novato, said he is closing the business for personal reasons.

He has been in the men's clothing business for the past 17 years in Novato and with his father, Harley A. McAskill Sr. for eight years prior to that, in Petaluma.

McAskill said that he has no definite plans for the future, but will probably stay in the men's clothing trade, but not on the retail level. He said that his store may reopen later under a different name.

The mayor said that closing his store will not affect his position on the city council.

close enough to the other prisoners that one could stab him with a bedspring, a sharpened toothbrush or some other tool.

The death threat which prison official are convinced came from a Death Row inmate was intercepted before it reached Sirhan.

It was a newspaper clipping with his picture. A black hand was drawn over the photo, the word "doomed" written alongside and stick figure with a knife drawn in the margin.

Park said there are "one or two people" on Death Row who would be capable of such an action.

So far, the associate warden said, the hunger strike does not seem to have affected Sirhan. His weight now hovers between 105 and 106 pounds, the same as when he was committed May 23.

His normal diet, Park said, is one meal a day and he eats only one or two teaspoonsful of that.

A doctor visits Death Row daily and if there is any sign his health is deteriorating he will be force fed, Park said.

Rainstorm Pelts Marin

A rainstorm, probable harbinger of the long-awaited "winter rains," spread over Marin and Southern Sonoma Conties today, dumping up to .64 of an inch on some areas.

At 11 a.m. today, the rain, apparently spawned by an offshore weather front moving into the Pacific Northwest, had measured .64 of an inch in Larkspur and .51 in San Rafael.

Readings at other reporting statons at 8 a.m. were: Sausalito, .58; Terra Linda, .40; Bolinas, .59; Woodacre, .44; Novato, .35; Civic Center, .49; San Anselmo, .42; Petaluma, .53.

Tomorrow's forecast called for a 60 per cent chance of rain with mild winds.

For the record, it rained .65 of an inch on this date a year ago, taking the season's rainfall to 8.68 inches compared to 6.45 inches so far this season.

fectively by one individual or a small group. While the judicial test is in progress, all other dissenters should abide by the law involved until it is declared unconstitutional."

Disputing that argument, U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., who is black, said:

"If the majority's doctrine of 'everyone wait until the outcome of the one individual test case' had been applied by black Americans in the 1960s, probably not one present major civil rights statute would have been enacted. I fear that the majority's position ignores the sad actual history of some of the most tragic 'legal' repression of the civil rights of Negroes in this country."

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the commission, was on the minority side of the question but unlike four minority members did not issue a statement.

A source close to Eisenhower said he was strongly opposed to the majority view but took a neutral public stance in order not to dilute his authoruty over the 13-member panel.

To Study Future

The future plans of the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission will be discussed by the commission at 4 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center.

"further implementation of our phased program for turning over full responsibilities to the Republic of South Vietnam."

Rogers, in an interview with a correspondent of the American Broadcasting Co., was asked about reports here that Nixon was downgrading the peace negotiations.

"Well," Rogers said, "we're just looking at the peace talks in a practical way. At the moment there has been no reason to have any more people here.

"Having two or three negotiators here with nothing to negotiate doesn't make any sense," he added.

Rogers said Philip C. Habib, who will carry on for Lodge although he ranks below an ambassador, "is a very capable man and is perfectly able to handle any of the discussions that are taking place."

"If it should appear that there is a prospect for some more active negotiations, then we would want to consider sending another delegate," Rogers said.

When preliminary talks with the North Vietnamese began in May 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed W. Averell Harriman, a diplomat with long experience, to handle the American peace talks. Nixon followed suit by naming Lodge, another diplomat whose name reflected prestige.

Rogers and Laird are in Paris for conferences with the U.S. delegation to the peace talks. They attended the North Atlantic Treaty Orgnization meetings last week in Brussels, Belgium.

Laird said he does not anticipate that Nixon will announce any more troop cuts in Vietnam in his televised news conference in Washington tonight. He noted that the U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam had been lowered this year from 549,500 men to 484,000.

But he did not rule out a new withdrawal announcement before the end of the year.

Nixon To Meet Press Tonight On National TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon holds his first news conference in two and one-half months tonight and is certain to be asked of his news of the reported My Lai massacre.

(In New York the major television networks—NBC, CBS and ABC—announced they will carry the news conference live from Washington at 6 p.m. PST.)

As usual, Vietnam is expected to dominate the meeting with reporters. Asked this morning if the President might make any announcement of a new troop withdrawal, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "No."

The President spent Saturday night and yesterday at Camp David, in the Maryland mountains, where about two inches of snow fell yesterday as he alternated planning for the news conference and watching football on television.

Fifth Amendment from being compelled to give their names to the government.

Today's ruling reiterates that view, saying the Leary decision makes it even more unlikely that a seller's name would go to the government.

Under the federal marijuana tax law it is illegal to transfer marijuana unless the recipient has paid a transfer tax and filled out an order form carrying the name and the address of both the buyer and the seller and the amount dealt.

Buie argued that the law forces a seller to insist on an order from linking him to an illegal transaction and thereby incriminate himself.

White, in discounting this argument and related ones, said "we have concluded that there is no real and substantial possibility that Buie's purchaser or purchasers generally would be willing to comply with the order form requirement even if their seller insisted on selling only pursuant to the form prescribed by law."

The justice explained: If a buyer applies for an order form he must announce he intends to purchase marijuana, a transaction which is illegal under both federal and state law if he is not a registered purchaser. Therefore, White said, a purchaser is unlikely to obtain a form, listing the seller, even if the seller insisted.

Therefore, White said, the seller of marijuana, unlike Leary or any buyer, does not face a Fifth Amendment dilemma.

Brother Antoninus Will Marry

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Brother Antoninus, the famed beat poet and Dominican monk, has announced he will not take his final vows and will marry a 22-year-old woman instead.

The 57-year-old monk, who helped spark San Francisco's literary revival in the 1950s, stripped off his habit and announced he would marry during a poetry reading at the University of California campus here yesterday.

The announcement came as Brother Antoninus was reading a series of poems of Pluto and Persephone, king and queen of nether earth.

"By now, you probably realize I am not writing about Pluto and Persephone, but about myself," he told an audience of 300. He said he planned to marry a woman he met four years ago but did not identify her.

"She came to me for counseling," he said. "Now I go to her for counseling."

Brother Antoninus, who lived in the Dominican Priory in Kentfield for several years, already had gained a reputation as a poet when he converted to Catholicism and entered the Dominican Order in 1951. His first major volume, "The Residual Years," had won the Guggenheim award in 1949.

Brother Antoninus currently is stationed at St. Albert's College in Oakland. A spokesman for the Western Dominican Province said today he had pronounced his first vows as a Dominican in 1964 and would have been eligible for final vows in 1970.

Alternate Ridge Plan On Tap

An alternate proposal for access to Mill Valley's North Ridge development will be studied when the Corte Madera Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

The original plan, for access onto Corte Madera Avenue at the ridge line, is strongly opposed by Corte Madera officials. The alternate would connect with Camino Alto 600 feet south of the Corte Madera town limit.

The commission also will hold public hearings on prezoning of an unincorporated Lucky Drive are for single family houses and prezoning of an unincorporated area off Paradise Drive for commerical use.

Robbers Take $450 At Gunpoint

Robbers forced the 21-year-old night attendant of a San Rafael firm last night at gunpoint to open the safe and escaped with $450 in cash.

According to police two men, one carrying a .38-caliber revolver, entered the Rail Tunnel office at 620 Second Street at 10 p.m., The man holding the gun jabbed it into the back of employee Gary Franklin Gunn, ordering him "not to move or turn around."

After Gunn opened the safe, he was taken to a rear storage area where his hands were tied with a rope and the men used his own belt to bind his feet.

After 15 minutes Gunn was able to free himself and summon police.

Planners To Eye Fence Heights

Possible revision of the city's fence height standards will be discussed by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The commission had scheduled the discussion for its Nov. 25 meeting, but postponed action until completion of a study of present fence heights throughout the city.

The commission also will consider a use permit to raise a freestanding sign at the Holiday Inn by 10 feet, for a total of 35.2 feet.

Architectural approval and a use permit are asked for a nine-unit apartment development at 16 Marion Court by B. and H. Construction Inc. The apartments would have 14 off-street parking spaces.

Summer School Budget On Agenda

A preliminary summer school budget for 1970 will be discussed by the Kentfield School District board at 8 p.m. today in the library at Wolfe Grade School.

Also on the agenda will be a progress report on construction of a building for educationally handicapped children in the county.

School Finance Report Is Due

A report on the district's finances will be given to Dixie School District trustees at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Frank Solomon, chairman of the citizens advisory group on the district's finances, will make the report.

The board will also hear reports from special teachers and principals on the special teacher program in the district.

The board will appoint Ruth Kilby to head the multi-ethnic studies program.

Other items to come before the board include discussion of negotiation procedures, the state mandated reading tests given last spring and setting a date for a closed meeting on nonreemployment of personnel.

Three Injured As Autos Crash

Marian Ida Copp, 42, of 385 Marin Oaks Drive, Novato, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for minor scrapes and bruises received when her car hit another at 6:55 p.m. on Nave Boulevard near the Ignacio Boulevard overcrossing.

Also injured were Nancy Jean Betts, 23, of Sacramento, with bruised knees, and Warren Betts, 59, of 65 Fairway Drive, Novato, a passenger in Miss Betts's car, with a cut forehead. Both said they would see their own doctor, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Mrs. Copp's car crossed the double yellow line, hitting Miss Betts's car, after making a right hand turn off the Ignacio Boulevard overpass onto Nave Boulevard.

Bolinas-Stinson Budget On Tap

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board will begin its 1970-71 budget considerations at its 8 p.m. meeting today at the Bolinas School.

Also on the board's agenda tonight is a review of the function of the board.

Point Reyes Lists Tripled Visitor Rate

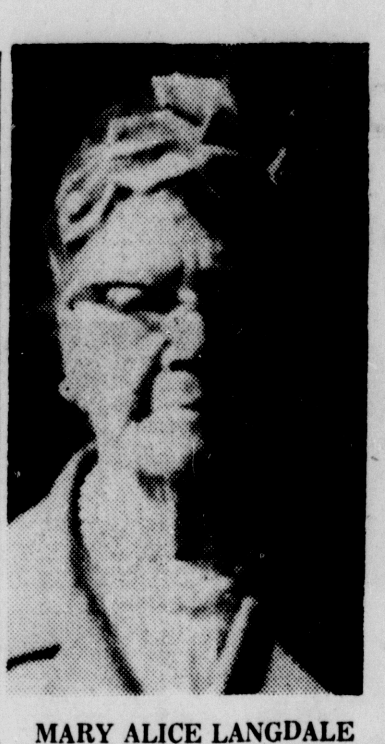
More than 79,000 persons visited Point Reyes National Seashore during November, more than three times the number who came during the same period last year, according to Supt. Edward J. Kurtz.

A total of 909,772 persons have visited the seashore this year, Kurtz said.

To Name Parkettes

Names for two parkettes along Manuel T. Freitas Parkway will go to the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission at 8 p.m. Wednesday at city hall. The commission is expected to choose names and announce winners of a contest held to name the miniparks.

An estimated 500,000 to 2,000,000 wombats inhabit Australia's southeastern state of Victoria. Authorities offer a bounty for each animal. The Wombat Preservation Committee, on the other hand, has suggested the creation of a national park to protect the animals.



MARY ALICE LANGDALE
Scion of Marin landowners

OBITUARIES

Mary Alice Langdale Dies At 91

Mary Alice Langdale, 91, the last direct descendant of the Lucas family, early pioneers of Marin County, died Friday in southern California, friends here learned today.

Mrs. Langdale, who lived most of her life in Marin County, had moved to Glendale, Los Angeles County, two months ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Bernard F. Darby. She had lived at 160 Palm Avenue in San Rafael.

A granddaughter of John Lucas, Mrs. Langdale spent her childhood years at the Lucas ranch, later the Freitas ranch, which is now Terra Linda. The Lucas home stood on the present site of St. Isabella's Catholic Church in Terra Linda.

Lucas was the heir of Don Timoteo Murphy, who was given a 22,000-acre land grant by the Mexican government in 1844.

Mrs. Langdale was preceded in death by three brothers and sisters.

Born in Oakland, Mrs. Langdale lived in Marin County all of her life except from 1927 to 1949 when she lived in Southern California. Her husband died in 1952.

She was graduated from the old Dixie School in 1891 and later attended Holy Name College in Oakland. She studied nursing at the Fabiola Hospital in Oakland but never practiced nursing because of her marriage.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

A requiem mass will be said at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

San Francisco Man Booked In A Drug Probe

A 20-year-old San Francisco man was arrested today on suspicion of possessing drug paraphernalia and littering after he was found hiding in the rear of a truck parked in the Delong Chevrolet yard, San Rafael police reported.

Willie Earl Snell was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $315 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today. Oakland police have issued a hold on Snell for a traffic warrant.

According to police, Snell was seen in the fenced area at the rear of Delong's at 550 Francisco Boulevard at 2:41 a.m. by a passing patrolman.

A pipe which could be used to smoke marijuana, two cigar boxes holding apparent marijuana debris and a switch blade pocket knife were found in Snell's car which was parked in the lot of the San Marin Lumber Co. at 600 Francisco Boulevard.

Annex Petition Before Trustees

The Sausalito School District board tonght will consider petitioning the Mill Valley School district for annexation of the entire Marinview development in Tennessee Valley.

Consideration of the matter is on the board's agenda for its 7:30 p.m. meeting at the district offices. The new Marinview development currently is split down the middle between the two districts, and board trustee David E. Freedheim has said he will ask that the entire development be put into the Sausalito district.

In other action tonight, the board will receive reports from its finance and salary committee and from Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato on the district's free breakfast program.

San Pedro Widening On Joint Agenda

The San Rafael City Council will meet with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m. today in San Rafael City Hall to follow the present route or to discuss the controversial next phase of San Pedro Road widening.

At issue is the alignment of the widened road, whether to put the widened road on marshland in Bayside Acres.

Parking On Agenda

Nonconforming uses in residential districts will be discussed when the San Anselmo mayor's committee on off-street parking and nonconforming uses meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

Jefferson Airplane Emerges On New Trip

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jefferson Airplane soars higher each trip, its six-man crew scanning the horizon for artistic satisfaction to go with their commerical success.

The Airplane, formed in 1965, bore the San Francisco brand of rock music to America and Europe. Two hit singles in 1967, "Somebody to Love" and "White Rabbit," made it one of the country's best-known groups.

But times have changed for Jefferson Airplane. Even as they play to sold-out concerts around the country, the Airplane pushes hard against criteria by which rock musicians are measured. Making money and selling records are unimportant now, the Airplane says.

The Airplane sings openly now of a generation's confrontation with convention. Its new, sixth album, "Volunteers," was delayed by a dispute with a record company over the lyrics of some songs. The Airplane won, the "obscene" words are clearly heard.

There are no stars in the Airplane, or six stars. They mesh and come apart and mesh again, each weaver working to his own vision of what the song should be. When it works, the audience is enveloped in a loud, lyrical web. When it's not working, onlookers are left to watch six struggling musicians trying to get together.

The Airplane is Grace Slick and Marty Balin, singing; Paul Kantner, singing and rhythm guitar; Jack Casady, bass guitar; Jorma Kaukonen, lead guitar, and Spencer Dryden, drums.

On their last visit to New York City, where they played to more than 15,000 people in three days at the Fillmore East, Paul Kantner and Grace Slick reflected on their music and philosophy in an interview. Excerpts follow.

Question: How do you work on stage?

Grace: It's hard for us to get it together, 'cause nobody plays the same thing twice. So you can't just assume the drummer is doing the same thing he did last night. We can on some songs, some are predictable, but most of 'em aren't.

Paul: You've got a vague idea of what's supposed to happen and you play what you feel like playing at the time and you sing like you feel like singing . . . Sometimes during a jam Grace or Marty or I will sing somebody else's song, or we'll pick up someone else's lyrics, like Grace last night singing one of Crosby, Stills and Nash's new songs.

Q: Jack and Jorma play to each other, don't they?

Paul: Well, we all do in a sense. Jack and Jorma probably more than the others, but everybody still playing to everybody else in a sense. There's no conscious direction, where it's all focused down on the drumbeat or anything like that. It just either works or it doesn't.

Grace: You move around the stage for a definite reason; to hear, to be physically close to imply something. The music is so loud and kinda strong that you often have to use your whole body to imply something to a member of the group. Like, Spencer will play with his head down and you'll have to bend down and do stuff like that to get his attention.

Q: Who decides the program for the night?

Grace: Paul's the only one who knows what we're gonna play, and he changes it in the middle of a set. That's why after we get through playing a song there are people wandering around the stage. That's his thing, keep it a secret until he's ready. Sometimes two members won't know what the song is and Paul will start playing and they'll say, 'Oh, that's it, okay.' It's very loose.

Q: What about the audience?

Paul: When you're on stage, it doesn't really matter whether there are four people watching us or nobody watching us or a million people watching us. We sorta feel the same.

Q: How does the group learn a song?

Paul: Whoever wrote it plays it. Then we just start playing it, learn the chord structure, change it if you want to.

Usually one person has the song, or the basic idea of the song.

Q: Do you care about selling records?

Grace: Selling records is no problem. You can go straight to something, build a freeway and go straight to it or you can travel around here and look at stuff on the way. Either way is all right. There are some people who make top 40 records; That's good, they go straight through and make that record. You know if you get on the freeway it's going to take a certain amount of time and you're gonna see certain things and you know where you're gonna get. You don't particularly know when you take a side road how you're gonna get there, or if you're gonna get there.

Q. Do you feel restricted by the confines of the group?

Grace: Sure, occasionally.

Q. Any chance of breaking up?

Paul: It seems to be working. When it stops working, everybody can do whatever they want, if Grace wants to go out and make an album, she can if she has the time.

Q. I guess at this point you've made it financially.

Paul: No. We don't save money, we spend a lot of money. I mean we spend a lot of money that we wouldn't otherwise have. We pay Glenn McKay's Head Lights to come out. We don't need a light show. We put more work on our album covers, it costs us more money. We carry all that sound equipment, the sound equipment costs a mint.

Grace: We don't have any money stashed anywhere, it's in constant use.

Q: For the first time, you've put politics in your songs. Why?

Paul: I don't see us as being political in our songs. "Volunteers" is not political, outlaws aren't political. That's what the song is about. . . . I don't get involved with crazy revolutionaries . . . they're spending all their time being paranoid when they could be out on the West Coast enjoying themselves, getting high, meeting lotsa people and ignoring it all.

Q: What about the song "Meadowlands"? That's the song of the Red Army.

Paul: We put it in there because we thought it would offend a lot of people. We also put it in there because it's really a beautiful melody, a beautiful song, nice and strong, great melody.

Grace: Musicians play music, other people impose political or leadership qualities on the musicians. The media has decided we're spokesman for this generation . . . we're not the ones who decided it. So when they ask us questions about politics, it's stupid.

Paul: Musicians are true anarchists, they just do what seems to be the thing to do that day.

Q: But aren't you leaders by setting an example, by the prestige that accrues to you? Doesn't your taking acid set an example?

Paul: That's not being a leader, that's saying a possibility for good. . . . Drugs are no more important to our scene than guitar strings. They're useful and they're enjoyable and they foster a certain way of thinking; they're not hardly at all a major factor, it's like 10 per cent.

Grace: You stay in a rut of what's around you. If I'd been around in 1910, I'd have written songs about cars or airplanes, they were new and interesting and hadn't been tried out.

Q: But you're aware that a lot of kids are trying these things out just because rock groups are doing them?

Paul: Yeah, good. Good.

Grace: I'm going to go around and be whatever I am and say whatever I please. If some guy wants to run up and jump off a cliff because I'm putting him on about it, there's nothing I can do about it.

Q: What's in the future for the Airplane?

Paul: We'd like to go to Japan, the Far East, the Iron Curtain countries. Don't know about that, might have trouble with both sides. Getting in, and our government probably doesn't think we're the best representatives to send abroad.

Tree Farms Reflect The Pioneer Spirit

Marin and Southern Sonoma residents with a pioneer spirit can cut their own Christmas trees at six tree farms in Marin and Southern Sonoma this holiday season.

The 1969 crop is excellent, according to Al Schleth, owner of Schleth's Tree Farms, at 210 Sprauer Road Petaluma. Schleth reported he has about 7,000 trees ready this year, compared with 4,000 last year. "They are better looking, too, because we pruned more extensively," he said.

"Our trees have good color and good growth," said Charles E. Hancock, manager of the Bolinas Bay Christmas Tree Ranch, located north of Stinson Beach on Shoreline Highway. Hancock, who has approximately 1,000 trees for sale, said he specializes in long needle pines, including Monterey and Bishop and Sequoia redwoods.

Other popular trees, according to farm owners, are Grandi and white firs, Douglasfir and Scotch pine.

Other area tree farms include Larsen's, 319 Marshall Avenue; Oluf's, 295 Sprauer Road; Rancho Petite, 1399 Springhill Road, and the Anderson's, 628 Marshall Avenue, all Petaluma.

At most farms, guides are available to direct tree hunters to choice cutting areas. Most also supply saws for cutting.

Tree prices range from 75 cents to $1 per foot. Hancock charges $5.95 for any tree, no matter what height.

On downtown lots in Marin and Sonoma, prices range from 95 cents to $2 per foot, depending on type and size of tree. Colored flocked trees cost about 75 cents more per foot.

BCDC May Be Given Sanitation Powers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill authorizing the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission to operate waste disposal facilities in the nine San Francisco Bay Area counties will be introduced next year by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig.

Dolwig, R-Atherton, said Friday if support cannot be obtained for making BCDC a multi-purpose regional agency, he will mend his measure to create a special agency to handle Bay Area waste disposal.

Two Big Fires Total $400,000

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Two spectacular fires, one in a restaurant and the other in a supermarket, erupted here yesterday within a five-hour period. Damage was estimated at nearly $400,000.

A one-alarm blaze caused about $100,000 damage at Caesar's Dining Room, where two previous fires have occurred in recent months.

Less than five hours later, a three-alarm fire brought more than 100 firemen to the Purity Market, where damage was estimated at "between $200,000 and $300,000."

Ending Of Rail Route Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Garner Shriver, R-Kan., protested today to the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission against the planned discontinuance of the Santa Fe Railroads' Grand Canyon Limited passenger trains between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Shriver wrote to Mrs. Virginia Mae Brown, ICC chairman, asking that the service be continued pending an ICC investigation of the matter.

Zoning Issues To Be Studied

Public hearings on prezoning two areas will come before the Corte Madera Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the town hall council chamber.

The commission will weigh zoning a portion of Lucky Drive single family zoning and the area between Paradise Drive and Koch Luggage Co. commercial.

It will review the ultimate boundary map of the city.

It will review the designs for a proposed Texaco Station at 150 Nellen Avenue, an addition to the Church of All Faiths at 5461 Paradise Drive and two signs on the Loch Luggage property for H. Koch and Sons on Highway 101.

Police Protect Patrons Of Opera

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — About 1,000 policeman ringed the La Scala Opera House last night to protect patrons from about 100 demonstrators on the season's opening night performance of "Ernani."

The demonstrators booed and hissed the patrons, claiming them to be the perpetuators of the "establishment."

Black Point Master Plan Due Review

The controversial Black Point planned community master plan will come before the Novato Planning Commission for the second time at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

John E. Kenney's plan for 1,800 mobile homes, 300 apartments, 200 single family homes, a shopping center and 75-acre lake on 710 acres south of Highway 101 west of Black Point was opposed by homeowners organizations at a Oct. 6 hearing.

At that time, the commission postpone any action on the master plan pending changes in it. Tonight's meeting is expected to bring out the same opposition.

Other items to come before the commission include applications for use permits for a veterinary clinic on Highway 101, north of Vallejo Avenue for John R. Glassmaker; for the Boys Club of Ameica to locate a clubhouse on the north side of Lamont Avenue, west of the Northwestern Pacifc Railroad, and for Taco Bell drive-in restaurant on the southeast corner of Highway 101 and Vallejo Avenue.

Marin Veterinarians To Install Officers

Dr. Charles W. Owens of Woodacre will be installed as president of the Marin County Veterinary Medical Association at a Christmas party and initiation dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday at the San Geronimo Country Club.

Other officers to be installed are Dr. Ray Johnston, vice president; Dr. G. Douglas Thye, secretary, and Dr. David L. Mohler, treasurer.

Tate Slaying Suspect Linked To 'Revolution'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Onetime friends of Charles Manson, leader of the hippie cult linked with the Sharon Tate slayings, say Manson spoke of a "revolution" using dune buggies mounted with machine guns to trigger a Negro vs. white war.

This was part of the portrait that emerged yesterday of the man who, according to one of his followers, ordered the Tate deaths and the carving-fork slayings of a wealthy supermarket owner and his wife the same weekend. The cult, also described as a "harem," is under suspicion in four other killings.

Manson's hippie friends, most of whom declined to be identified when interviewed at a Topanga Canyon hippie community, said the 35-year-old man began to talk of a "revolution" about eight months ago.

"He said he was building a bunch of dune buggies (stripped automobiles modified for desert travel). He said he was going to mount machine guns on them," one young man with long hair recalled.

"He said he'd take his army of dune buggies and kill every white mother—every white pig—between here and the desert." He then planned to take his followers to Death Valley and "sit back and watch the revolution," they said.

"You see, he hated the Establishment. It wasn't that he felt it owed him anything. He just didn't belong.

"He had strong antiblack feelings. They came from those years he spent in the penitentiary, I think," one of the hippies recalled.

Manson is in jail in Independence, Inyo County, on charges of possession of stolen dune buggies, pending action to return him here. He and his followers were arrested in October in Death Valley on charges of operating a car theft ring.

kHis friends weren't clear on exactly how Manson planned to blame blacks for the killings, but the bloody scrawling of variations of the word "pig" at the scene of the Tate killings and two other murder sites was believed to be an attempt to point a finger at black militants.

Passenger Is Hurt In Auto Accident

Paula Tagliareni of 706 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael, was to see her own physician for neck pain, according to police, as a result of a two-car collision yesterday in the Emproium parking lot in Northgate Shopping Center.

Mrs. Tagliareni was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Vito, 40, when it was struck from the rear at 3 p.m. by a car driven by Leroy Evan Coates, 21, of 1315 Leafwood Drive, Novato.

Middle Line Is Taken On Penalties

The president of College of Marin today took a middle line in ordering penalities for five students who disrupted an October meeting of the Marin Junior College District board.

Acting Supt. — President Louis H. Herkenhoff hardened the penalties recommended Nov. 26 by the student conduct committee, but did not go as far as those recommended by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond after the Oct. 16 incident.

Herkenhoff recommended disciplinary probation for the rest of the semester for Elena Badell and William Nason, and disciplinary probation for the rest of the school year for Del Mar Jackson and Brigardo Groves. He let stand the committee recommendation that William Acosta receive an official reprimand.

The committee had recommended probation for Groves and Jackson, but only for the semester. The committee had recommended only reprimands for Nason and Miss Badell.

Diamond had ordered disciplinary probation for Acosta and suspension for the other four.

The probation, Herkenhoff ordered. will include removal from all offices in college organizations, and a ban on participation in college or student sponsored activities. Jackson is parliamentarian of the Associated Students.

In a report for the board of trustees, Herkenhoff said he was "convinced I would be unable to satisfy anyone" if the case.

He said he believes that when possible "frustrations are better eased by early vocalization . . . than by later acts that might be violent. Unfortunately my tolerance of the language used and of the noise level of frequently raucous meetings gave the impression to at least some people that anything and everything would be tolerated.

"Let this statement set the record straight: not all angry behavior will be tolerated."

Herkenhoff disagreed with committee findings that Nason and Miss Badell did not sweep materials from the board table at the Oct. 16 meeting. Diamond and Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy reported seeing those actions, he said.

According to Diamond, Jackson, Miss Badell and Nason swept board materials to the floor, Groves shouted obscenities during the disruption, and Acosta took part in a chanting.

Teen Nabbed As Suspect In Narcotics

A screaming girl on a bad trip from mescaline led to the arrest Saturday afternoon of a 17-year-old El Cerrito youth who also was badly affected by the drug.

Sheriff's said they got a report at about 1 p.m. from the Pan Toll ranger station on Mount Tamalpais of a screaming girl being put into a camper atop a pickup truck.

Deputy Kenneth Froberg, with a description of the truck, halted it on Panoramic Highway, east of Sequoia Valley Road, and after hearing screams from the camper, located the girl, Pamela McNabb of Richmond, who was sent to the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

The driver, Kathleen Teresa Snider, 20, of El Sobrante, and a passenger, Mark R. Strandberg, 17, of El Cerrito told deputies that Laurence Irvin Rockwell, 17, also of El Cerrito, had given the girl mescaline.

Rockwell had fled while the deputy was attending to the girl, but he turned up about 15 minutes later at the yard of Donald Nordhoff, 687 Sequoia Valley Road.

He was in a bad way "on a trip," Nordhoff told deputies.

Rockwell was booked at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of furnishing narcotics to a minor, resisting arrest, being under the influence of narcotics and being beyond parental control.

Adoption Of Business License Next

San Anselmo's controversial new business license ordinance, which was approved by a split vote last Tuesday, will come up for adoption at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

If adopted, the watered-down version of the ordinance would go into effect on Jan. 1.

Last Tuesday's meeting had been billed as a work session and both Mayor Woodrow V. Caprurro and Councilman Robert M. Scott objected to taking a vote then. The ordinance now calls for a $20 business license plus 30 cents per $1,000 gross receipts. An earlier version of the ordinance had 40 cents per $1,000 gross receipts.

City Mgr. Alfred C. Kaeppel is asking authority to invest tax money when it comes in, in time deposit. New legislation allows cities to place greater amounts of tax money in time deposit and get more interest, he said.

The council will introduce an ordinance setting up new garbage collection rates which were agreed on at the Nov. 25 council meeting.

Other items to come before the council include amendment to the agreement with Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District, storm damage on Redwood Road, a form for keeping residential building records and undergrounding utilities on Greenfield and Red Hill Avenues.

Jilted Suitor Kills Bride, Husband, Himself

PORT CRANE, N.Y. (AP) — A bride of six days who screamed for help over a telephone was gunned down in her home yesterday by a rejected boyfriend who also killed her husband and himself, police said.

Broome County deputy sheriffs, eight miles away from the home of Mrs. Charles Jarrarde in this Binghamton suburb, said they were on the telephone in response to her call for help when they heard her yell to her husband:

"Don't open the door, don't let him in." After that, deputies said, they heard a commotion and shots.

They found Jarrarde, 37, dead from a shotgun blast in his chest. Mrs. Jarrarde, 35, had been shot several times and then clubbed with the butt of a 16-gauge shotgun.

The gunman, deputies said, was Arthur J. Reynolds, 37, of Port Crane, north of Binghamton, who they said died of a self-inflicted wound.

$30,000 Homestead Valley House Fire Also Claims Dog

Fire destroyed a Homestead Valley home Saturday night while the occupants were out to dinner and their dog died in the blaze.

The fire, of unknown orgin, destroyed the main living area of the home of Gerald H. Frank at 980 Greenhill Road, reported the Tamalpais Valley Fire Department.

A neighbor, M. N. Finisy, reported the blaze at 7:56 p.m. and when firemen arrived the house was totally involved, they said.

Damage to the two-story, three bedroom, wood frame house and contents was estimated at $30,000.

The only area not burned out was the family room in the bottom story and the foundation, firemen said.

Three engines and 20 men were sent to the scene.

Arizona has a water surface of only about 334 square miles.

$106 Is Taken From Youths

Two Southern Marin youths were accosted in Marin City Friday night by thieves who took $106 in cash from one of them, sheriff's deputies have reported.

John N. Murphy, 19, of 103 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry, told deputies, he and his companion, William Kelley Just, 19, of Midvale Way, Homestead Valley, were approached while walking near 261 Drake Avenue on their way to visit a home at 10:15 p.m.

Two men wearing scarves around their hair, approached and demanded their money, Murphy said.

The two men took $106 from Just and left, deputies reported.

Young Kennedy Greets Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy was smoothly narrating Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" at a Christmas concert of the Washington National Symphony yesterday when a voice from the audience interrupted her.

"Hi, Mommy," yelled out her 2-year-old son, Patrick, several times after recognizing his mother on stage.

His mother smiled and attempted to continue but lost her place momentarily. She recovered and her husband, Sen. Eward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., took Patrick on his lap and pacified him.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

Yesterday's dreamboats had enormous tail fins.

Today, it's fastbacks, racing stripes, and wall-to-wall chrome grilles.

Obviously, there are millions every year who are willing to buy a car that's "in vogue"—even though they know newer gimcracks and styling quirks will soon erode their investment.

But Mercedes-Benz refuses to play the "planned obsolescence" game.

At Mercedes-Benz, iron-willed engineers, not stylists, rule the roost. And they insist on putting value where they think it belongs: at the heart of their machines.

That's why Mercedes-Benz motor cars can cost anywhere from about $4,600* to $27,000* without, to some tastes, "looking" it.

Form follows function

Make no mistake. The perfectionists at Mercedes-Benz do not apologize for those classic lines—free of faddish touches—that will still be handsome years from now. They simply think form should follow function instead of fashion.

The contours of that 250 sedan at right were dictated by the need to provide proper headroom, hiproom, legroom and protective packaging for five adults. Dictated by the proportions required for nimble maneuverability.

The car is both shorter and leaner than its overweight rivals. Yet it bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans.

A superb machine

Too sophisticated, some critics say. Nonsense, retort Mercedes-Benz engineers. If a man can afford to invest thousands of dollars in a superb driving machine, he is entitled to get something superb.

What he gets in a Mercedes-Benz is legendary in automotive circles.

An expert from Car and Driver tested the "new" 250 when it was released early in 1968 after an incubation period of five years. His verdict: "Offhand, I can't think of any other 4-door sedan in the world—with the possible exception of the Maserati Quattroporte—that handles, steers and stops like the Mercedes."

Scrapping the solid rear axle system of most domestic cars, the 250 uses an all-independent suspension—plus anti-sway bars front and rear. This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels. Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks. Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this gruelling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

Full color brochure

If you'd like more facts on this remarkable $5,313* machine, mail the coupon for a full-color brochure.

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:

280S Sedan—the most road-worthy car you can buy in the luxury class, $6,408*.

280SL Roadster—a sports car for grown-ups, combines soul-stirring performance with comfort, $7,478*.

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,887*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $10,934*.

HONG KONG REUNION — Bessie Hope Donald, one of two Americans freed by Peking yesterday, throws her arms around a friend, C. F. Von Sydow, as she arrives in Hong Kong. Freed Americans Report Peking Mobilizing For Soviet-U.S. War

HONG KONG (UPI)—Two Americans realeased from 10 months in Communist Chinese captivity say Peking is mobilizing its population for a war with the Soviet Union and the United States.

The two, Simeon Baldwin, 57, a businessman formerly of Laguna Beach and Bessie Hope Donald, 47, a secretary formerly of Bristol, Va., were towed to Hong Kong on Baldwin's yacht by a Chinese junk yesterday.

"There are preparations for war everywhere," Baldwin said. "There are roadblocks and militia training everywhere and the Chinese told me they were preparing against American and Soviet invasions."

Baldwin, an aircraft engineering executive, and Mrs. Donald were among 15 persons detained by Chinese authorities Feb. 16 while on a pleasure cruise from Hong Kong to Macao, the Portugese territory 45 miles south west of here.

The Chinese released the others April 3. Baldwin said he and Mrs. Donald were suspected as spies and thus were held longer. He said they added to Chinese supicion by throwing their passports into the water just before capture and pretending to be of another nationality.

They said they were "well treated" by the Chinese, given sufficient food, cigarettes, medical care and were permitted to take walks to keep fit. Mrs. Donald said she was offered a teaching post at Canton University but rejected it.

Before their release, they signed statements "admitting our crime for illegally entering Chinese waters by mistake," Baldwin said. "We repeatedly wrote confessions because the Chinese said they wanted rewording of the confessions to their understanding."

A New China News Agency dispatch announcing their release Sunday said, "After the Chinese authorities concerned had examined and verified the facts, the two Americans admitted their mistakes of trying to conceal their identity and intruding into China's territorial sea."

Baldwin said they were held in solitary confinement, first in Heung Chau, a small town north of Macao, then in a place called the Happy People's Commune, 60 miles northwest of Canton. Finally, about a month ago, they were moved to the Red Star People's Commune outside of Canton.

Both Baldwin and Mrs. Donald said they lost weight during their ordeal but declined to say how much. Both appeared composed, in good health but tired.

Rockefeller Grants To Cal, Salk Institute

NEW YORK (AP) — The University of California and the Salk Institute of La Jolla are among various institutions named by the Rockefeller Foundation to receive more than $6 million in grants.

Noting that the United States is rapidly exhausting the capacity of air, water and soil to absorb wastes, the foundation said yesterday the grants included $1.85 million to begin a program to better the quality of environment.

The Berkeley and Riverside campuses of the University of California will share $600,000 with Cornell and Illinois Universities to search for pesticides that do not persist in toxic form for long periods of time.

The Salk Institute was granted $750,000 for reproduction research and UC Davis $200,000 to enable scholars to accept assignments in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Mrs. Jean C. Appleton, 28, of 77 Laurel Avenue, Larkspur, suffered a cut upper lip and a nose bleed yesterday in a one-car accident on Highway 101, a mile north of the Novato dump entrance, the California Highway Patrol reported.

She was a passenger in a southbound car driven by her husband, John W. Appleton, 36, when the right front tire blew out and the car struck a dirt embankment at 1:40 a.m. officers reported.

Appleton, building and planning superintendent for the city of Larkspur, was driving a city-owned sedan, officers reported. Mrs. Appleton told officers she would be treated by her own doctor.

Tamalpais Creek 'Funeral' Features Planting Of Tree

"Nobody's going to save the land for us," warned Marty Kent Jones Saturday, predicting Corte Madera Creek and other tributaries would go the way of Tamalpais Creek.

Mrs. Jones spoke at a "funeral" for Tam Creek in a scene much calmer than her last public appearance there last spring when she and dozens of others were arrested for trying to save the creek.

The work objected to — a concrete lining and fencing by the Army Corps of Engineers — is finished now and Saturday's happening was billed as Tam Creek's farewell.

"We said 'it can't happen here,' but it did," said Mrs. Jones, recalling events of the spring. She read from a book written by President Theodore Roosevelt's chief forester in 1910, noting it could well have been today.

She commented on the absence of the press from the Saturday event, noting news media was there when there was a confrontation. "They are missing the essence of the thing," she said, urging the 60 persons present to work individually for conservation. However, there were reporters present.

A tiny oak tree planted beside the creek was dedicated along with a plaque, commemorating the "destruction" of Tamalpais and Corte Madera creeks.

Mrs. Jones also reported a documentary on the spring effort is being prepared and is expected to be ready in January.

In the crowd Saturday were several who were at the creek in the spring, including Mrs. Jones's sister, Nancy Danielson, Lawrence Halprin, Kimo Campbell and Richard Beban. Others present included San Anselmo City Councilman James F. Reed, Pat Arrigoni, wife of Marin Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., and Betty Fleming, a grape strike activist.

British Public Opposes Ending Death Penalty

LONDON — (London Express News Service) — A survey carried out for the Daily Express by Louis Harris Research Ltd. reveals that 84 per cent of Britain's voters want the death penalty restored as the ultimate crime deterrent.

Supporters of the death peanlty for murder are planning a new campaign to stop parliament from rushing through an act to abloish hanging.

The leader of the drive, Duncan Sandys, Conservative member of Parliament, said he was not surprised by the results of the poll.

"This confirms once again that the citizens of this country want the protection of the death penalty for crimes of murder," Sandys said.

"On a straightforward issue like this, which is not a matter of party politics, the man in the street is able to form his own opinion as well as a member of Parliament and should be heard."

DESTINATION: HAWAII

Marinite Will Try Ocean Trip Aboard A Hydrofoil

By CHARLES YOAKUM

A few years ago, the Williwaw was an idea bouncing around in David Keiper's head.

Today Keiper was to pull anchor and set sail in his 31-foot "idea," trying to be the first man to sail a hydrofoil on an ocean voyage.

His destination: Hawaii.

"With any luck, I will make it in eight days, which would be a record," the tall, slender Sausalitan said Saturday.

The Williwaw is no ordinary boat. Keiper built the hydrofoil sailing yacht about three years ago in Black Point and his sailing ideas are considered pretty revolutionary. He's tested the boat in San Francisco waters for the past two years and has been able to hit 20 knots with only a 15 knot wind, due to the use of four special hydrofoils he designed himself.

ABOARD THE WILLIWAW—David Keiper, who hopes to be the first man to sail a hydrofoil on an ocean voyage, inspects his boat for final adjustments before leaving for Hawaii, a trip he expects will take eight days.

How did the Williwaw come to be?

"I was sailing back east several years ago," said the 38-year-old bachelor, "and our sailboat was bounding and bouncing in a heavy breeze, the sails were bent about double, but we were still only making about seven knots. I decided there must be a better way."

The Cornell University graduate attacked the problem with his physics background and gradually came up with the answer. The Williwaw came to be — after about seven months of hard work.

Keiper, who taught physics at College of Marin last semester, has had some experience with ocean sailing. Several years ago, he took an all-female crew on a voyage around the South Pacific on another boat he has since sold. This time he will have one crew member.

Male or female?

"I was afraid you'd ask that," he grinned. "Female."

The Williwaw has 380 square feet of sail and with any luck, Keiper hopes to make between 300 to 400 nautical miles per day on his Hawaiian voyage.

The boat is built for speed and while the living space — the compartment below deck — is not spartan-like, its not the Ritz Hotel either. Two single bunks, one on either side, are balanced amidships. There is also a small kerosene stove. The rest is used for storage.

"Eating is no problem," said Keiper. "We take a lot of canned things and eggs. Of course we can't take any fresh meats because it would spoil."

Keiper said he hopes to return to the mainland in the spring, again in the Williwaw.

"I'll probably charter the Williwaw out while I'm in Hawaii," he grinned. "After all, I've got to make some kind of a living."

The Williwaw has a plywood hull covered with fiberglass. It has two sails. When under full sail in a good breeze, the four hydrofoils lift the 16-inch hull almost completely out of the water.

While Keiper has had up to nine persons aboard the boat, it is designed for two or three people, plus supplies. It has no engine and relies on its sails. The helmsman and passengers are able to sit in a deep cockpit, having full visability, yet out of the elements.

Keiper admits that it will take a lot of luck to reach Hawaii in the eight days, noting that at this time of the year, the winds are inconsistant.

Keiper has somewhat distant plans for marketing his boat, which he said would cost $15,000 if he built it for someone else. He said the existing major boat companies haven't bought his idea or copied it "because they are too tradition bound."

But Keiper admits that he's somewhat less than an ambitious man. He prefers taking his own boat to Hawaii than building one for someone else.

Pope Orders Publication Of 1st Council Documents

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has ordered the publication of all the documents and letters pertaining to the First Vatican Council, which decreed papal infallibility, the Vatican announced today.

Many of the documents from the council had already been made public. But to mark the centenary of the council's opening — Dec. 8, 1869 — the pontiff declared that a new edition on the council be put out, containing all relevant documents.

Theologians, historians and other scholars have already been asssigned to the task. They will work from the files in the Vatican archives.

Vatican observers expect the work to take at least a year.

Vatican Council I was the first of 20 general councils of the Roman Catholic Church to be held in St. Peter's Basilica. About 800 cardinals, bishops, patriarchs and abbots took part, under the stewardship of Pius IX.

The council was filled with controversy on the question of papal infallibility. Most Roman Catholics at the time favored it but there was a good deal of confusion about its meaning.

Some wanted all papal pronouncements considered infallible. In the end, the council votes its approval of a document called Pastor Aeternus—Eternal Pastor—which said the Pope was infallible in making certain pronouncements on matters of dogma. To signal the use of the infallibility provision, a pontiff must make such pronouncements 'ex cathedra' — from the chair.

Since Vatican I the ex cathedra formula has been used only once, when Pope Pius XII proclaimed the dogma of the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary into heaven. He did this on Nov. 1, 1950.

The vote on the infallibility document took place July 18, 1870, with Pius XI presiding. It passed 433-2. Both Bishops who voted no accepted the document immediately afterward. They were Luigi Riccio of Italy and Edward Fitzgerald of Little Rock, Ark.

Petaluma Collision Injures Passenger

A woman was injured Saturday at 12:20 p.m. in a two-car accident at Weaverly and Crinella drives, Petaluma.

Catherine N. Esleeck, 46, of 1700 Weaverly Drive, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a head bruise. Petaluma police said she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Arthur V. Esleeck, 47, which collided with a car driven by David M. Gorlick, 17, of 1420 Colwood Drive, Petaluma.

Arms Talks Postponed For Today

HELSINKI (AP) — The eighth working session of the U.S. — Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, scheduled for today, was postponed at the request of the U.S. delegation.

The U.S. request seemed sure to give rise to speculation that trouble had developed in the talks, although an American spokesman insisted this was not the case. He said the session was postponed over the weekend by mutual agreement because "we did not have the required information."

The spokesman declined to explain further but said the session probably would be held tomorrow. There is "no issue, no setback," he insisted.

There was no public inkling of the postponement until the U.S. delegation failed to show up at the Soviet embassy this morning.

The U.S. and Soviet delegations have agreed not to give out substantive information about the talks, making it impossible to know whether the public displays of good will are being matched by any real agreement on specific points.

The talks are supposed to be working out arrangements for substantive negotiations on limitation of the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals. Conference sources had predicted that these preliminary talks would end in a week or 10 days with agreement to hold full-scale talks early in the new year.

The last working session was held Friday, but the two delegations saw each other Saturday at a ball given by President Urho Kekkonen for Finnish Independence Day.

The chief U.S. and Soviet delegates, Gerard Smith and Vladimir Semenov, chatted at length and amiably with each other, and other members of the two delegations spent much time together at the ball and seemed to be on the best of terms.

Potlatch totem poles were used to mark major ritualistic or festive occasions. Some towered 80 feet, emblazoned with brightly painted figures of land animals, birds, fish, and perhaps the owner's image.

for Wasser's Window Watchers

Our new window display features matching Love Seats in Paprika, a hot, zingy shade, with solid Walnut rails topping the arms and back.

A bronze plated steel coffee table with bronze glass and a shelf of leather straps rests on a hand woven area rug from Portugal. The slim console table is also bronze but has rosewood top and shelf.

A new Game Table design is of solid mahogany in a light shade and a top of rare burls. Tufted tub chairs are in light saddle vinyl. Chair legs and table base are antique white with the mahogany grain showing through.

An Etagere forms a room divider and is completely open. It holds both books and personal treasures and has shelves of cane covered with plate glass.

Completing the arrangement is a Curio Cabinet 38 in. wide by 81 high with glass doors full length. An original Dorothy Leibes designed motto rug in hot pinks and purples is used for a wall hanging along with a painting by Lucien Palue.

There's more to see inside.

Useful And Decorative Cats Make Her Giant Collection

MOST PRIZED of all Mrs. Henry F. Clouette's cats is this only live one — Vixen, a purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby. Some of Mrs. Clouette's collection will be seen at Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club. Independent-Journal photos)

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Guests and members visiting Thursday's "Treasure Chest" show of the Sausalito Woman's Club, in which members are exhibiting their cherished possessions, will see only a few things in the fabulous cat collection of Mrs. Henry F. Clouette.

To appreciate it fully, one must go to her home in Sausalito that is literally filled with more than 500 useful and decorative felines of all kinds Only one is live Vixen, a pampered purebred American Shorthair Red Tabby.

Wearing gold and pearl cat-head earrings and a gold pendant watch topped by a cat, Vera Clouette took me on a tour of the house that has cats in every conceivable place, including lampshades. They look down in smug complacency even from valances above the windows.

Yet, the effect is not one of clutter, for she apparently has a gift for organization.

The cats are in dimensions ranging from the thumb-tip sized one that started her collection in 1947, a year after she had completed a four-year tour of duty as a WAC captain and came to Sausalito in 1946, to two-foot-tall black iron andirons with shining eyes.

Some of the materials they are made of are Venetian glass, brass, resin, Spode china and ceramics, candles, iron and paper. There is even one fashioned from a fungus and some edible ones in chocolate and marzipan.

One small cupboard is filled with nothing but salt and pepper shaker cats. An especially cherished piece is a silver cat napkin ring that had belonged to Chlotilda Reed, the granddaughter of the famed Marin pioneer John Thomas Reed.

Some of the collection is in albums, such as the fancy little napkins and very impressive postage stamps from 31 countries, each having a cat head or other feline design on it. "There are none from the United States," Vera laments.

"I have been interested in cats ever since I was a child living on a farm, where everything was my pet," she says. "Recently I have had only two live cats, first a male I called Puma — because I like wild animal names. He lived 15 years. Vixen," she said, as she stroked the handsome gold-eyed animal, "is eight years old. She has her own dining room under the sink and opens the door herself."

Originally from Pennsylvania, Mrs. Clouette was a social worker before she was employed in personnel work as a WAC captain during World War II. Sent to the West Coast, she worked at Fort Mason two years in San Francisco before she settled in Sausalito, where she has been a member of the Sausalito Woman's Club many years.

Her WAC background led to her membership in the American Legion Post 284 in Mill Valley, for which she is oratorical contest chairman at present. She was county council commander when there were 12 posts in Marin, the only woman ever to hold that position, and she is a past commander of the now defunct Marin Women's Post of the American Legion.

While cats are her major hobby, Vera Clouette has many other interests. She and her husband, a retired official of the Northwest Pacific Railroad, are members of the California State and Marin Historical Societies. On the board of the Marin Society 12 years, she is deeply involved in the compiling of a history of Marin.

For many years she has been a member of the California Geneagological Society. A past regent of the El Marinero chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Vera was DAR state chairman for historical spots.

Pointing to a tall ceramic cat, she said, "that one was an engagement present from the DAR when Henry and I announced our engagement."

Completely different interests of this remarkable woman are weaving and music. She is just learning to play her Wurlitzer console organ, and she is an accomplished weaver. Evidence of that was some handsome material she is making for a coat seen on her loom.

"I learned to weave in a class at the College of Marin,"

Eating On A Welfare Budget

(Last of a series on the six Marin families' experiment to live on the equivalent of a welfare food budget.)

By BARBARA HOSMER

"We're glad it's not for 52 weeks."

"I didn't make it."

"We gained weight."

"We lost two pounds."

"We never spend that much for food anyway."

"It takes so much time to plan."

"Horse meat helps, but it's illegal for people to eat it."

"Peanut butter saved us."

The six families who have just finished the Operation Tight-Belt project to live for two weeks within the equivalent of a welfare food budget sat around a table at the Marin Civic Center and compared their experiences with two mothers whose families actually receive public assistance.

Their problems were similar and their solutions and comments eagerly picked up by all.

ALL FELT a genuine interest in good nutrition for their families and found it rough to provide on a low budget. But it could be done with plenty of careful menu planning and shopping the specials.

"I really had to plan menus to balance them and include enough vitamin C and so forth," remarked Mrs. Bruce Stilson of San Rafael, whose family had just finished Operation Tight-Belt.

"I found I just couldn't feed the neighborhood kids — I had to send them home. Then I devised snacks such as carrots for them," she said.

The mother of two young boys, Val Stilson fed her family a lot of peanut butter during the two weeks experiment.

"The children love it," she said.

"We do too," chimed in Mrs. Florence Gardner, whose family actually does live on a public assistance budget. "We buy the biggest jar we can get — the old fashioned kind that is not hydrogenated and lower in cholesterol."

If you can get it on sale so much the better, they agreed.

Cocoa with skim milk was another good way to fill the hungry void, Mrs. Stilson commented.

"Yes, I buy the unsweetened cocoa because I found that it's cheaper to add the sugar yourself," added Mrs. Jocelyn Bell, whose family receives Aid to Families With Dependent Children assistance. The mother of six children under 16, she said, "The kids drink up a large container in no time. But you have to cook it first for better taste."

"We use concentrated liquid milk," put in Mrs. E. B. Johnson of Novato, whose family of nine found the Operation Tight-Belt food budget quite possible, as she is used to planning her menus very carefully.

The use of the cheaper, powdered milk for drinking was vetoed by most, who found their families simply didn't like it.

But it's good to use in recipes, said Mrs. Kenneth Behnken, wife of the Peace Lutheran Church pastor in Mill Valley. They and their three daughters found the Tight-Belt experiment not too difficult.

A RETIRED couple who also were on the experiment, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beans of Forest Knolls, said that they prefer a high protein diet and drink the reconstituted powdered milk by strengthening the mixture a bit.

Mrs. Beans said she couldn't have stayed anywhere near the food budget for the two weeks if she hadn't had a fairly large refrigerator and a car to shop in Fairfax instead of a market near their Forest Knolls home.

"And of course I had the flu one day and didn't feel like eating anything, so that helped."

Her husband remarked that bananas were good and inexpensive, and that they also liked whole grain cereal mixtures.

"We're older people and can't eat a lot of starch or we'd put on weight. We stayed on a high protein diet," said his wife. Following the low income food budget for two weeks "I was more tired and had to sleep longer. When you get older you can't sponge on food," she said.

The experiment caused the wives to shop around more than usual and they found quite a difference in prices around the county for certain foods.

But you have to have a car to do that, they agreed, and families on a welfare budget or with an equivalent low income often cannot afford one.

Mrs. Bell remarked that her family of eight persons relies on a 1959 car that cost $200, "But it uses so much gas."

The Johnsons did a careful study over a year and found that it costs them $62 a month to run their car.

The state welfare department estimates the average car cost is $60 a month, pointed out Betty Presley, director of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, which sponsored the experiment with the Volunteer Bureau.

"Yes, and the welfare allotment for transportation is one dollar per person a month," Mrs. Merall Roth of Greenbrae added.

EACH FAMILY had been given the figure of what public assistance would be for various household expenses when the Tight-Belt project began.

"Did anybody have an emergency in the household?" asked Betty Presley.

"I got a parking ticket," Mrs. Roth said, "and that would have to come out of the food money."

A super-planner with her husband and seven children to feed, Mrs. Johnson said that the public assistance food budget was reasonable. "We got along well — it's about what I normally spend," she said. "If a welfare family could spend the food allowance for food it would be all right, but," she said, "when anything comes up the only place you can get the money for it is from the food budget. Rent and utilities you can't cut — they're constant."

Had they been on welfare the total monthly grant for the nine members of the Johnson family would have been $542.

"It's just not realistic," Mrs. Johnson said, citing housing, transportation and utility costs especially.

The Johnsons managed to come out $5 ahead on their two weeks food budget, took the children out for tacos, cold

Can Fashion's Latest Fad Be Domesticated Cat Fur Coats?

DEAR HELEN:

I heard on television that the latest fad is fur coats out of cat fur. I mean domesticated cats. Could anyone sink that low?

I get visions of catnappers who would steal children's pets to sell them to furriers. Would you wear a cat coat? REVOLTED

DEAR REV:

No way!

But then I don't wear a sable coat either — and for different reasons. —H

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is the kind of man any woman would want. That's the trouble. They do.

Especially at the annual Christmas party given by his office. The secretaries who plan these brawls make it clear that wives aren't invited, and at least three of them are eager divorcees who have made unsuccessful plays for my man. He is resistive but he is human. He has to attend as he is one of the bosses.

He even has to contribute money for the liquor that those gals hope will start a "beautiful relationship" — with somebody else's husband. I happen to know as I was a secretary once myself and listened in on the plans. Many an office affair got its start at the Christmas party.

Well, this year things will be different. Today I called every one of the wives, disguising my voice. I said I was "Miss Smith, in charge of the Christmas party, and we were making wives the special guests of honor this year, so be sure to come." All but one accepted immediately.

There wil be a lot of surprised men at the dinner table tonight. By the time the secretaries hear about the hoax, it will be too late. I can't imagine even the most brazen calling up the wives and saying, "It was a mistake — you aren't wanted at our party."

I write this in hope that you'll put in in your column and give other disgruntled wives an idea about how to squash the annual Christmas orgy. — SMART AND SNEAKY

DEAR S AND S:

Do let me know how things turn out. I'm a patsy for happy endings — H

DEAR HELEN:

We've heard how terrible townspeople act toward the hippies, but how about the other side of the story?

I have a country store near a hippie commune. They'd wander in barefooted and ragged, with clothes so dirty they were stiff. If that wasn't enough to drive off other customers, they'd unscrew the lids of jelly and peanut butter, dip their fingers in and lick them. Their "share the wealth" policy meant they would pick up anything loose and put it under their ponchos.

Finally, I made a rule that one one member of the commune could buy for all. That way, I could watch him — STOREKEEPER

DEAR HELEN:

I agreed with the middle-aged lady who stood up for the hippies. My husband is in business where he comes in contact with these people. We have noticed that they are kind, not only to each other but even to people who don't treat them very well. They are consistently polite and have some of the best mannered children around. Also, they are nice to talk to. — I.F.K.

Terry J. Bergeron To Wed Haleen Young In June

A June wedding in San Rafael is planned by Haleen Young of San Rafael and Terry J. Bergeron of San Anselmo.

The future bride is the daughter of Mrs. Aileen Young of Vallejo and Harold J. Young of Concord. She is the sister of Donald, Karen and Charlotte Young of Vallejo and Jay and Kevin Young of Concord. Haleen was graduated from St. Vincent Ferrer High School in Vallejo and attended Solano College and College of Marin. She is employed in the personnel department of Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. Her local grandmother is Mrs. Aileen Adriansen of Vallejo.

Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rumburg of Sacramento. He is a graduate of Armijo Joint Union High School in Fairfield. The future bridegroom attended American River College in Sacramento and College of Marin and is employed in the nursing department of Kaiser Foundation Hospital. Francis X. Bergeron of Mill Valley is his brother.

DEEP STEAM Carpet Cleaning

OFFERS YOU:

GENTLE ACTION used no brushes or scrubbing action, so it does not distort the pile of the carpet.
CLEANS DEEP actually removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing.
RESTORES PILE the powerful extraction process removes moisture immediately, thus avoiding shrinkage, and lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance.
SAFE PROCESS scientifically developed specially for the professional carpet cleaner. It is completely safe for all carpet fibers.
ECONOMICAL reduces the need for frequent professional cleaning because it removes the deeply embedded soil and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.
SOIL RETARDING AND MOTH PROOFING are included at no extra cost.
The DEEP STEAM process is GUARANTEED to be completely safe on all fabrics and under all conditions.

Two Weeks On A Welfare Budget

drinks and ice cream, and the parents dined alone at a smorgasbord restaurant one night.

"We have a rural background and we eat well but not fancy. We had a nice Thanksgiving, but I saved toward that," Mrs. Johnson explained.

Mrs. Behnken said that the food allotment was realistic for her family of five.

"I never spend that much anyway. I'm a frugal shopper, I bargain hunt and am a coupon saver."

The Behnkens managed to have flank steaks bought on sale, London broil and stroganoff.

"We like casseroles and the children love hotdogs and beans," Mrs. Behnken said. "But there's nothing worse than a bad hotdog," she said with a wry laugh, raising the whole discussion about hotdog quality brands and fat content along the table.

MANY OF the families had lived in other parts of the country before Marin and find housing, some food and transportation costs higher, but utilities lower.

Out in West Marin where the housing costs are cheaper, utilities and transportation costs rise, Betty Presley put in.

"So many people think welfare people live high on the hog — it's impossible!" remarked Sue Roth.

The Tight-Belt families talked about the psychological effect it would have on them to know that they had to live poor.

"You couldn't own your own home because you could never make the payments. You would have to give up all your insurance policies. By the time you get down to the value of your own family the psychological factors are defeating," remarked Val Stilson.

"And it would be hard on a child to know that he could never — not even some day — have something of his very own new to wear," Mrs. Johnson said.

"It's a way of life for us," commented Mrs. Bell, who works part-time and whose husband works and whose older children she has taught to save half their baby-sitting money for times of need.

"We never get anything new except shoes. Clothes are from the secondhand store," she said.

"I never tried to buy new clothes. I couldn't do it and I think I budget very well," commented Mrs. Gardner, who has nine children.

"It's the style now to look funky, but when the children were younger they were unhappy about their clothes," Jocelyn Bell said.

SPEAKING ABOUT the low income situation in Marin, Betty Presley estimated that some 5,000 persons received public aid, and that average length of time persons stay on welfare is 21 months. Most live around San Rafael and Novato; with the Ross Valley area and Marin City ranking behind them.

She pointed out that, in contrast to city areas, low income families are scattered among average and upper middle income families in Marin which means that low income children go to school along with those of much greater means.

All of the Operation Tight-Belt families felt that they have gained a greater awareness that such low income families exist — and what they must exist on. And many hoped to get together again and trade a few tips and recipes.

she says. "I'm vice president of the Tamalpais Weavers Guild and a member of the weavers' section of the Marin Society of Artists.

"Recently I joined the Cruikshank Tapestry Weavers, a new group in Marin. I've just started a piece of tapestry on that small loom." The subject? What else? A cat.

Then there are the cat organizations in which Vera is active.

"I've been a member of the Marin County Cat Fanciers since its organization over 20 years ago and served as its treasurer six years," she says. "I also served as treasurer of the American Shorthair Cat Association three years. This was founded in San Francisco and is now a national association.

"You know, now that I think of it," she laughed, "I guess I must be a joiner."

it's the cut and the comb-out that really make a hair style!

That's why the "best-tressed" woman you know probably comes to our salon. Haircutting is our specialty! First we study the way your hair wants to go. Next, the texture. Thin? Thick? Whatever. We study your face, the shape of your head, nose, chin. Equally important, the way you want to look. Then we cut! The result? A hairdo that holds its line for weeks. Come see the difference real talent can make. The cut, 3.50; the permanent wave, $10. Slightly higher in the styling salon.

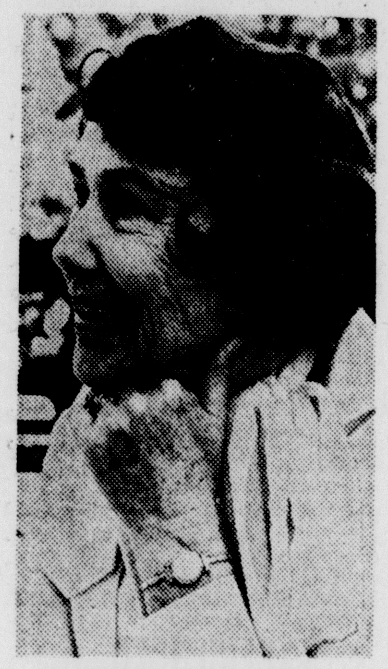
ON THE AGENDA

Marion Hayes Cain To Present Program Of Poetry In Mill Valley

Members of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will hear dramatic readings by Marion Hayes Cain at a Christmas tea to be held Thursday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Cain, actress, director and writer, will present a short play by Irish poet William Butler Years, "The Hour Glass" and a dialogue from Menotti's opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors."



MARION HAYES CAIN

Born and educated in San Francisco, Mrs. Cain moved to Marin in 1949. She is the mother of three grown sons and has been constantly involved in theater and children's education. For 22 years she has taught from nursery school to college level and is now teaching "Creativity Through Drama" in Marin schools and to teens and children at the Marin Art and Garden Center.

She has directed Little Theater and Marin Junior Theater and has been president of the Mountain Play for the last eight years. She has organized "The Magic Circle" and tour plays for children each year around the Bay Area.

Club members will bring gifts for distribution to the convalescent homes in Mill Valley, Santa Venetia and Novato.

Mrs. Mary Marsh will decorate the clubhouse and tea will be prepared and served by Mmes. William Moen and Charles McAuliffe, assisted by Mmes. Fred Wight, John Norris, William Niedecker, Paul Thompson, Roy Simpkin and Richard Smith.

A PREVIEW of new dental health movies will be combined with a Christmas cookie and candy recipe exchange when the Dental Hygienists of the Redwood Component meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marinwood home of Mrs. George Unsoeld.

THE DECEMBER Christmas luncheon of Welcome Wagon will be tomorrow at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda at 11 a.m. A Christmas auction will follow. Mrs. Melvin Mitchell is chairman.

A VIGIL SERVICE and caroling in the church will preceed the annual Christmas party of St. Patrick's Guild tomorrow at 8:15 p.m., at the church in Larkspur. There will be a gift exchange and wassail bowl.

MEMBERS OF Our Lady of Mount Carmel Women's Club in Mill Valley will hear a talk on professional uses of stitchery by Mrs. Charles Patera at their meeting Wednesday at noon in the rectory.

A resident of Mill Valley, Mrs. Patera started stitchery in 1965 and has won awards in shows throughout the state. Her work is currently appearing in "Better Homes and Gardens," "Christmas Ideas," "Family Circle" and "Holiday Helps" and is being sold in retail stores in the Bay Area.

Mrs. Patera received her education in art at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio, and the Central Academy of Commercial Art in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her professional work included package design, graphic design for films and slide presentations, five years in Chicago, Ill., and eight years in San Francisco.

THE NOVA Marin Grandmothers Club members will have a Christmas party at the Green Mill Restaurant in Cotati on Wednesday.

A "happy hour" will be at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at noon. Mrs. Robert Farrell is chairman and Mrs. Ross Stangle is in charge of decorations. A gift exchange will also be held.

The Grandmothers Club is sponsoring an 8-year-old Navajo Indian girl. Lena Helen Natoni lives at the Navajo Gospel Mission at Oraibi, Ariz. Club members will also be sending clothing and other items during the year when they learn of the ages of other family members.

THE PETER Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society will visit clinic day at the Oakland Children's Home Society Wednesday to present layette items for babies to be used as they are placed for adoption and go into foster homes.

At 12:30 p.m., a champagne luncheon will be held to honor the charting of the Society in 1891. Mrs. James Reese is chairman.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS of the Golden West will welcome Nancy J. Conens, grand president, when she makes an official visit at the Veterans Memorial in Sonoma tonight. Hosting the affair will be Sonoma Parlor 209 and Petaluma Parlor 222.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged at the next meeting of the Petaluma Parlor tomorrow at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma.

ZERO POPULATION Growth, Inc., will meet at the Community Church, Olive and Throckmorton in Mill Valley on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Mr. T. W. Wooster with the Dept. of Fish and Game and Planned Parenthood will speak on "The Population Explosion and Family Size."

WOODWARDIA CIRCLE of the Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold its annual Christmas Party Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Temple, San Rafael. There will be singing of carols and exchanging of gifts. Mr. George Hall acting as Santa Claus will distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO High School Parent-Faculty Club executive board will meet at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the high school.

The board meetings are open to the general membership and plans for a holiday booth for a bazaar will be made.

PETALUMA REBEKAH Lodge 86 will hold its annual Christmas dinner Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn in Cotati. Following dinner, the group will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. George for a gift exchange.

Newly nominated officers are Mrs. Robert Megaw, noble grand; Mrs. James Swan, vice grand; Mrs. Ivan Stice, recording secretary; Mrs. Hattie Dane, treasurer; and Mrs. Gladys Pollock, financial secretary.

"ASTROLOGY AND You" will be the subject of a two-hour lecture given by Mrs. Ruth Moscrop, at the Marin Y-Wives meeting at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Church of the Redeemer in San Rafael.

Mrs. Moscrop will discuss the history of astrology, the signs, symbols and planets of the zodiac and give individual thumbnail sketches of members and their guests.

STUDENTS OF the Petaluma Parent Cooperative Nursery School will visit the Pine Tree Farm on Queens Lane, Petaluma, Wednesday to select Christmas trees for the three and four year old students' rooms at the school.

The 45 youngsters who will go to the farm in a school bus, will be permitted to pet the tame animals kept on the farm for that purpose.

When Santa Claus visits the school on Friday, he will see the decorations they are making for the trees, including popcorn and cranberry chains. Santa will distribute Christmas cookies and candies as well as present each child with a gift.

The Christmas party for the mothers will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at McNear Elementary School in Petaluma, according to the school directors, Mrs. Beth Peters and Mrs. Harriett Johnson.

3001 BRIDGEWAY, SAUSALITO

We were pleasantly fascinated by the phenomenal response to our first real sale: brought in more dough in 3 days than we usually see in a month, just because we slashed prices beyond all reason. Therefore, and herewith, let it be known to all those buying presents: the ridiculous low prices on everything in the store—leather, leather accessories, natural skin area rugs, fabrics, garments, jewelry, all of it, not just clearance items.

WHO KNOWS WHAT EVIL LURKS IN THE HEARTS OF USED CARS?

We invite you to compare our cars with others. Because we at Felton's know a used car can be a thing of beauty on the outside and a mass of corruption on the inside. Our 16-point inspection takes us to parts of the car rarely traveled by used car dealers. When we find it pure at heart . . . then it's ready for you.

NOTICE OF DATE FIXED FOR SUBMITTING ARGUMENTS ON SCHOOL DISTRICT MEASURE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an election to be held in FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT of Marin County, California, on February 17, 1970, there will be submitted to the voters the following measure:

Shall the proposed increase in the maximum tax rate from Two Dollars and five cents ($2.05) to Three Dollars and five cents ($3.05), such rate to be in effect in the Fairfax School District for an indefinite period, the revenues of which are to be used for general school district purposes, be authorized?

Arguments for or against this measure may be submitted to the County Superintendent of Schools at his office at 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, California, not later than December 29, 1969, which has been determined by the County Superintendent of Schools under the authority of Section 1462 of the Education Code to be a reasonable date based upon the time reasonably necessary to prepare and submit the arguments. No argument shall exceed 300 words in length. Arguments may be submitted by the Governing Board of the district or a member or members authorized by it, any individual voter, any bona fide association of citizens or any combination of such voters and citizens.

Pursuant to Section 1461 to 1463 of the Education Code, one argument for and one argument against said measure will be selected for printing and distribution to the voters with the card notice of election. Preference and priority in selection will be given to arguments of the following, in the order named:

(1) A member or members authorized by the Governing Board.

(2) Bona fide associations of citizens.

(3) Individual voters.

All arguments submitted must be verified. The proper form of verification is available from the County Superintendent of Schools.

12-Foot Waves Leave A Layer Of Sand And Mud

VENTURA, (UPI)—Waves up to 12-feet high flooded homes and streets and left a layer of sand and debris in at least five beach cities in Southern California during the weekend.

Major damage was reported to at least two of 39 homes flooded in the Rincon Beach area near here and a fire station was evacuated as 12-foot waves pounded the coast.

At one point along the Pacific Coast Highway here, where the freeway is separated from the sea by only a retaining wall and narrow strip of beach, breakers covered the four-lane highway with sand and seaweed. Traffic backed up for three miles as workers cleared the thoroughfare.

Fifty homes were flooded at Surfside Colony and Seal Beach and water again crossed the Pacific Coast Highway in the area one-third of a mile inland.

A police spokesman said residents along a five-block area in Seal Beach constructed a three-foot high wall of sand bags to protect their homes. The Seal Beach Fire Department used large pumps to clear flooding water out of the five-block residential area.

In the Rincon area, 38 firemen were evacuated when the surf began swirling through their stationhouse. Fire equipment was removed and the men put to work sandbagging the facility to keep it in service.

In Oxnard, police said a group of residents rented a bulldozer to build a sand wall to retain the unusually high waves and tides. Five homes were flooded earlier in the area and streets in a six-block area were covered with sand from the rushing water.

In Newport Beach, a police spokesman said there was shallow water up to 20-inches in a residential area next to the main beach area. The water backed up in storm drains as waves up to seven-feet high were recorded.

At Sunset Beach, waves swept inland across the beach, flooding the Pacific Coast Highway a third time and a residential street.

Attorney's Car Believed Stolen

A car, believed parked at San Francisco International Airport by an attorney bound for Los Angeles, was found at 9 a.m. Saturday at Bay View Road and Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley.

Mrs. George T. Choppelos told authorities the car must have been taken from the airport, where it had been left by her husband who was to fly to Los Angeles.

Missing from the car were personal possessions valued at $177, according to Marin sheriff's deputies.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

TV REVIEW

ABC To Start A Half-Hour News Series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Everyone in network television news wants more prime time programming to deal with topical issues. One of the single greatest problems of video, it is generally agreed, is the lack of a weekly news series in the prime viewing hours.

There used to be a number of such weekly shows, and they added much solidity to the program schedules—"Eyewitness," "David Brinkley's Journal," "Chet Huntley Reporting," the lengthy ABC-TV series on Vietnam, and other notable offerings.

SEPTEMBER FINALE

Now comes some good news: Starting Monday, March 23, ABC-TV will start up once more a weekly, half-hour prime time news series that seems intent on dealing, at least partly, with immediate issues. Although the series will end in September, when ABC-TV begins broadcasting pro football games in Monday prime time each week, it is nevertheless a step back toward the right direction.

And considering recent criticism from various quarters about networks and their coverage of topical, controversial issues, it is a step that required some backbone to take.

According to Elmer Lower, boss of ABC news, the network's new 26-week series will examine such subjects as race relations, narcotics addiction, education, public health and environmental pollution. The broadcasts will be on from 10:30 to 11 p.m. EST.

THE FORMAT

"The half-hour format of these weekly programs permits ABC news to deal specifically and forthrightly with more of the pressing subjects of today," says Lower.

Happy holidays?

Happiness is speaking a kind word when it's least expected. Happiness is seeking the good in everyone. Happiness is not turning your back when you see injustice. Happiness is befriending the unfriendly, welcoming the lonely, listening to the troubled. Happiness is giving something out of your heart, not your pocket. Happy holidays? It doesn't take money. All it takes is you.

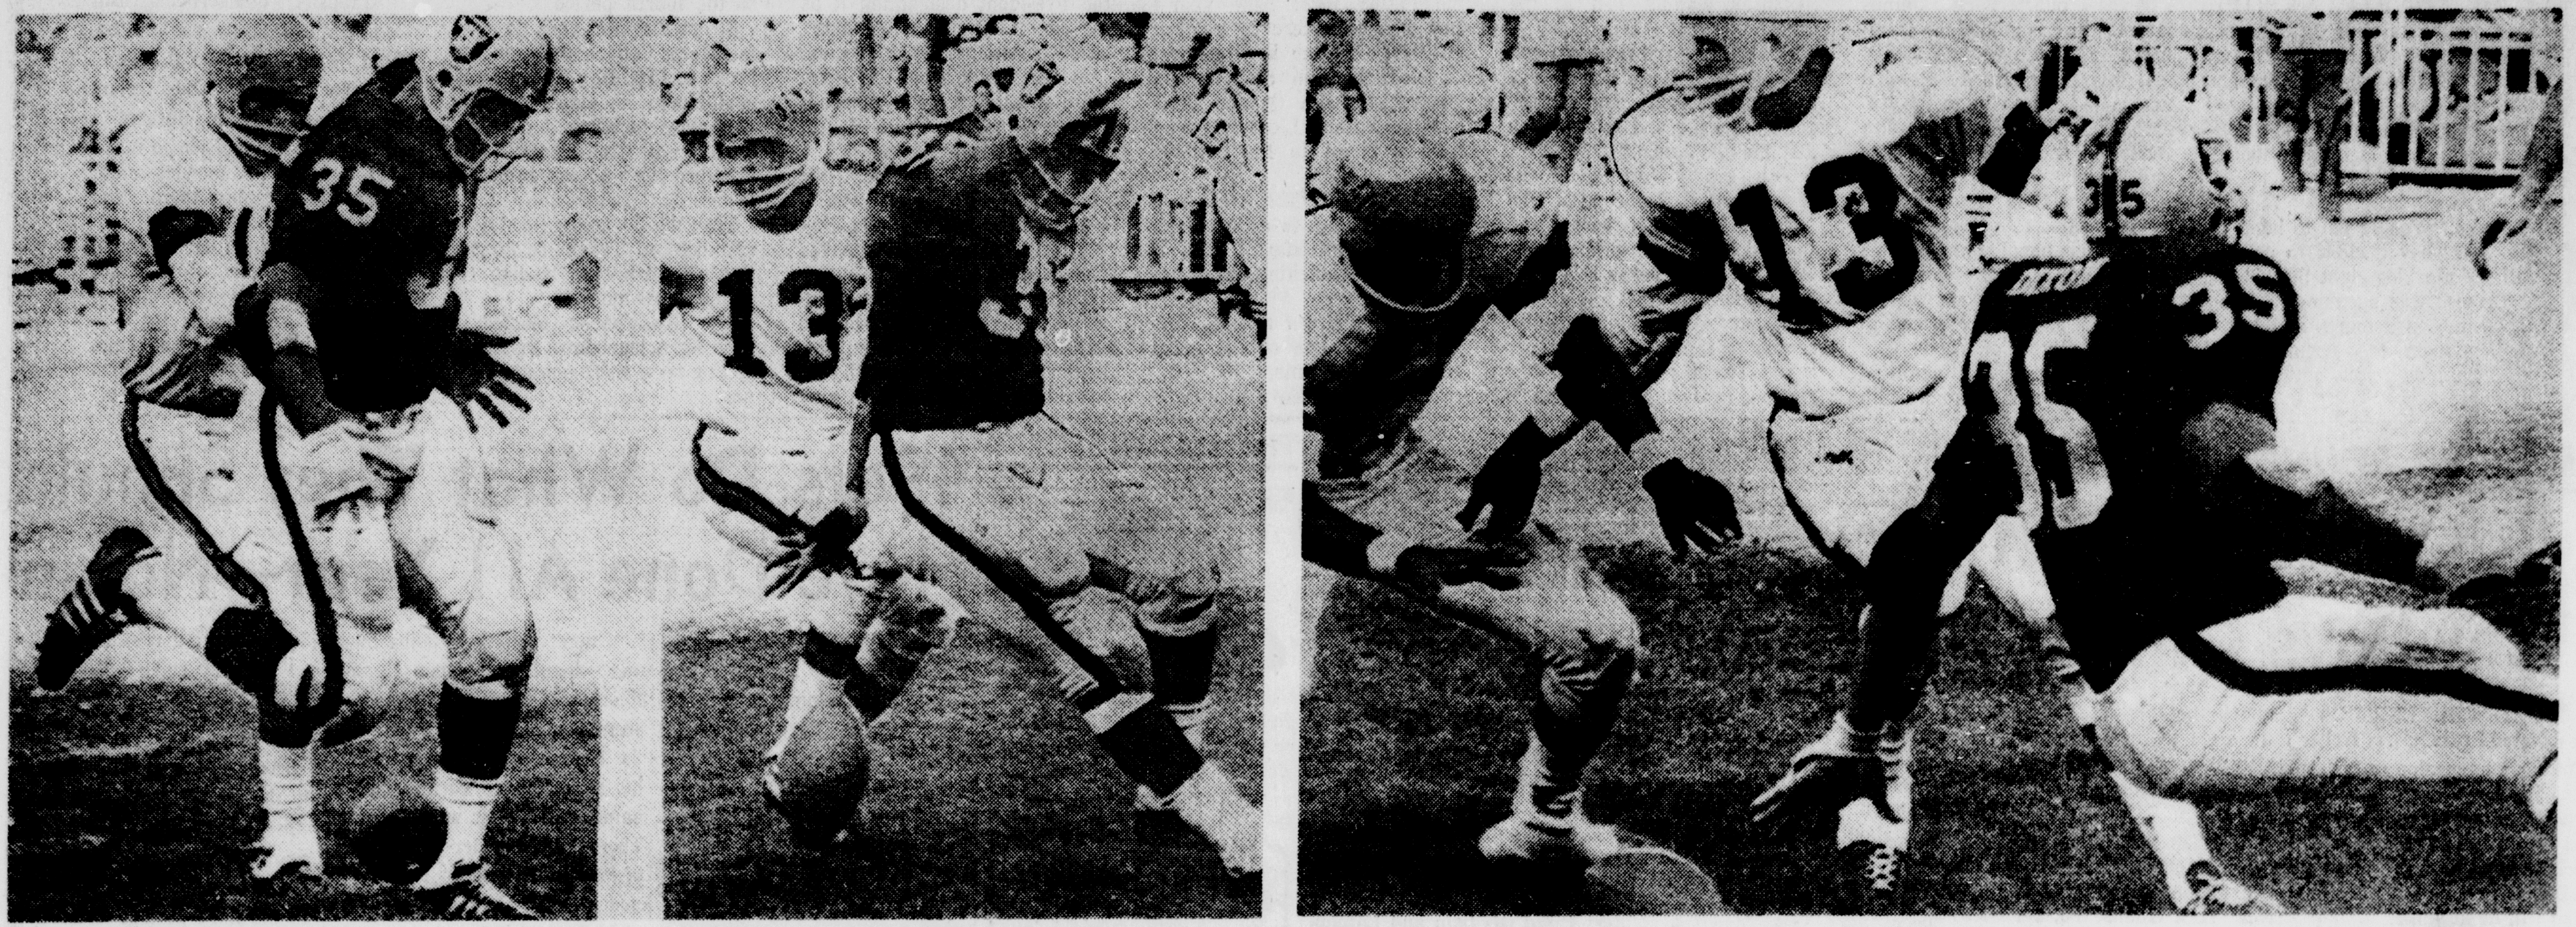
Raiders Gunning For Kansas City Showdown



Oakland's Hewritt Dixon has the ball knocked out of his hands by Cincinnati's Ken Riley (13) and Bengal Alvin Coleman (23), trailing the play, falls on ball in end zone for a touchback.

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Raiders gained a measure of revenge over the Cincinnati Bengals, but found themselves without the time to bask in its glow.

Raider Coach John Madden had his thoughts on the future after Oakland's 37-17 victory yesterday over the Bengals, the only team to beat the Raiders this year.

"It used to be," he said, "that you'd take an hour or so to think about the game you've just won.

"But I started thinking about Kansas City as soon as the gun went off."

Oakland and the Kansas City Chiefs will clash here for the American Football League's Western Division title Saturday and though both clubs have clinched a spot in the league playoffs, both will want to win.

"It's very important to win this one next week," said Raider tackle Tom Keating, "because we want to play those other games at home."

A Raider victory Saturday would make them the hosts for the first playoff game against the runner-up in the Eastern Division and, if they win that one, they would also play the AFL championship game here.

"Our preparation for Kansas City is tough," said Madden, "because they give you such a wide variety of formations both on offense and defense. It's not a special preparation, but it's tough because they give you a lot of things no one else does and you've got to be ready for them."

Daryle Lamonica threw three scoring passes yesterday to come within three of the pro football record shared by George Blanda and Y. A. Tittle. Warren Wells caught two of those passes, for 51 and 16 yards, and another 16-yarder from Blanda. Fred Biletnikoff caught one from Lamonica, also for 16 yards.

Lamonica spent the night before the game in the hospital getting treatment for a shoulder pain. Earlier he was hospitalized with the flu the night before leading the Raiders past San Diego.

"I couldn't believe it," said Lamonica of the injury. "This is the first week I've really felt sound all

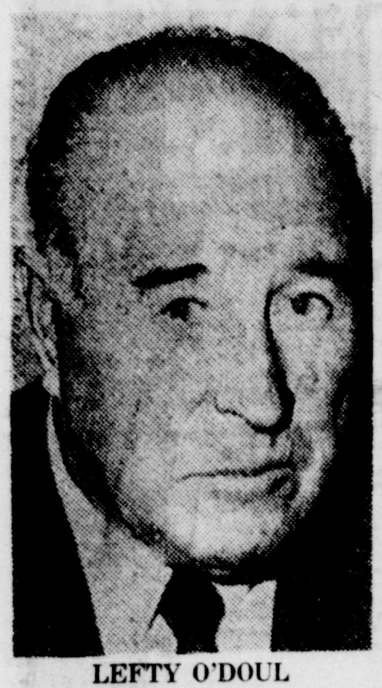
O'Doul Dies; Ex-Bat King

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Joseph "Lefty" O'Doul, who twice won the National League batting championship during his 40 years in baseball and help-introduce the game in Japan, is dead at 72.



LEFTY O'DOUL
Dead at 72

He was "coming along fine" at French Hospital here where he had been since Nov. 12, recovering from a stroke, when a massive heart attack ended his life yesterday afternoon, Dr. P. Edmund Stalteri said.

Only a half hour before the fatal attack he had talked at length by phone with friends, telling them he wanted to visit Japan again "as soon as I get out of here — probably in the spring."

It was in 1931 on a tour with Babe Ruth that he helped get baseball started in Japan, and he had been back there 30 times to promote the game's growth.

O'Doul had the highest lifetime batting average of any living major leaguer, .349 for 10 seasons. The honor now passes to Ted Williams, whose lifetime average is .344.

PITCHED, TOO

O'Doul's baseball career began in 1917 with Des Moines of the Western League and he started in the major leagues as a pitcher for the New York Yankees in 1919. He batted and threw left-handed.

After a 1923 season with the Boston Red Sox he went back to the minors with arm troubles, but returned in 1928 with the New York Giants. In the following year, as an outfielder, he won his first National League batting crown with Philadelphia.

He won the batting title again in 1932 with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who traded him to the Giants in the following season.

SEALS MANAGER

After ending his playing career, O'Doul returned to his native San Francisco to manage the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League from 1935 to 1951. He stayed in the PCL and managed at San Diego, Oakland and Seattle until 1957.

Since 1958 he had operated a restaurant here — Lefty O'Doul's.

During his PCL managerial days he was credited with developing Joe and Dom DiMaggio, Joe Marty, Ferris Fain, Bob Chesnes, Larry Jansen and many others.

HOW ABOUT THAT!—Arnold Palmer wears his famous grin after winning the $125,000 Danny Thomas Golf Classic by coming from behind to nick Gay Brewer. (UPI Telephoto)

'THIS MEANS EVERYTHING'

Palmer's Finest Hour

MIAMI (AP) — The charge was there, the shouting, stampeding gallery was there and it was the Palmer of old.

"Charge, Arnie, Charge," they shouted, and Arnold Palmer grinned that infectious grin, hitched up his britches with a characteristic gesture, and responded.

He responded like the Palmer of years gone by, charging up from six strokes off the pace with a seven-under-par 65 that brought him the title in the $125,000 Danny Thomas-Diplomat Golf Classic and left Gay Brewer—the front-runner for three days—panting in the dust of Arnie's whooping army.

"This thing, this winning, means everything to me," said Palmer, a non-winner for more than a year and now author of consecutive triumphs, the only player to score that feat this year.

"Getting it going again is probably the thing I wanted most in my life. I knew I was going to play again, but I didn't know how successfully. There were some doubts in my own mind."

If anyone had any lingering doubts, any thoughts that last week's victory was a fluke, the old master dispelled them with a game from out of his past, a game in the tradition of the dramatic style that was his trademark in the decade he dominated the game.

The gallery was relatively small, about 10,000, but they all were with Palmer.

"Go, Baby, Go," they pleaded. He started to move on the fifth hole, canning a 10-foot birdie putt while Brewer, with a six-shot lead going into the day's play and playing one twosome back, took the first of three consecutive bogeys.

Palmer put a wedge six feet from the pin on the next hole and canned the putt. He just missed a hole in one on the ninth, tapped in for another bird, and turned just one shot back.

"You have a feeling, a sixth sense sort of thing when it's going to happen," Palmer said.

Drake Quintet Off To A Flying Start

Drake High School, which usually gets off to a slow start in basketball, is off and running to a speedy one this season.

The Pirates won their second game in two days, nicking Analy at Sebastopol, 58-53, Saturday on some steady free-throw shooting, to give them a 2-0 won-lost record going into this week's Drake Invitational Tournament at San Anselmo, Wednesday through Saturday.

The Pirates trailed at the half, by a point, but seven straight free throws in the final period nailed down the verdict.

Lanky Jeff Meeker of Drake poured in 27 points to lead all scorers.

In other games, San Marin evened up its season record at 2-2 with a 65-53 win over visiting Healdsburg, the Mustangs' second win of the season over Healdsburg; and Marin Catholic lost to Cardinal Newman High at Santa Rosa, 66-47.

Gary Howard and Dana LaFerriere combined for 46 points to lead San Marin with the 6-foot-7 LaFerriere getting 25 points and Howard 21.

Tim Stone topped Marin Catholic scoreres with 12 points.

Marin Booters Win

College of Marin's soccer team pushed its season record to 6-5-1 with a 5-3 win over a San Quentin team at San Quentin yesterday.

Fred Chardt scored four goals for Marin.

USF Frosh Too Much For Marin

College of Marin's basketball team shot well, rebounded well, and generally played well but lost to a super-talented University of San Francisco freshmen team in San Francisco Saturday night, 82-73.

The Tars, now 1-3, on the won-lost ledger led most of the first half, fell behind by five points at the end of the half, and ten points early in the second half, closed it to two points midway through the final half and finally faded.

USF ONSLAUGHT

They fell under an onslaught led by Bob Murphy, star of Sacred Heart High School's Tournament of Champions team last year as well as Castlemont ace Mike Quick, the TOC's most valuable player last spring. Murphy pumped in 25 points and Quick had 20.

Pat Schafer poured in 23 points for the Tars and steady Bob Tate got 13 points and topped the rebounders with 10 grabs.

Gambling, Gutsy Texans Await Notre Dame Challenge

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —It was hours after the sting of defeat and Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was reflecting on the play that turned Texas into the probable national champion and gave the Longhorns a ticket to the Cotton Bowl.

"It was real gutsy," said Broyles. "You've got to hand it to 'em. They decided to go for all the marbles right there."

Broyles was speaking of Texas' bomb on a fourth and 3 situation from the Longhorn 43 with less than five minutes remaining.

Texas quarterback James Street, who has guided the Longhorns to 19 consecutive victories, found end Randy Peschel with a 44-yard strike to the Razorback 13. Two plays later Jim Bertelsen scored from the two and Happy Feller kicked the point for a 15-14 victory.

"That Street is one of the most exceptional players I've ever seen," said Broyles, who hosted a group of sports writers for dinner although he wasn't in the most festive of moods.

Texas coach Royal admitted the play was a bold gamble with Arkansas leading 14-8 at the time.

"Every now and then you just have to suck it up and pick a number," Royal said. "You don't use logic and reason. You just play a hunch."

With the victory over the second-ranked Razorbacks, who swarmed the Longhorns and shut down their offense for three quarters, Texas is a shoo-in to finish at the top of the Associated Press final regular season poll.

But Texas must uphold the ranking against Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day because there is another poli after all the bowl games. Undefeated Penn State meets Missouri in the Orange Bowl and the Nittany Lions feel they have a claim to the national title.

Broyles said "The game was a fitting climax to college football's 100th birthday. I know it was the most exciting day of my life."

President Nixon agreed, saying it "was one of the great games of all time."

Texas was given a plaque by the President designating it as the No. 1 team and this didn't settle too well in Pennsylvania.

In fact, editors of the Penn State newspaper sent hundreds telegrams to the White House, protesting Nixon's action.

President Nixon said "the fact that you (Texas) won a tough game and the fact that you didn't lose your cool makes you deserving of No. 1."

There will be hot stove arguments over the game in the Ozarks for years to come, particularly on Street's 42-yard touchdown run on the first play of the fourth period.

Street dropped back to pass, failed to find a receiver and broke tackles. He picked up several blocks, including one that was close to being a clip, and dashed to the score that breathed life into the embattled 'Horns.

Then there was the third down situation on Texas' seven-yard line with Arkansas leading 14-8 in the fourth quarter.

The Razorbacks elected to pass for a touchdown instead of setting up a short pop at a field goal.

Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery threw slightly behind Chuck Dicus on a "safe" slant-out pattern and Danny Lester leaped in to intercept.

"We had the decision to make and made it," Broyles said. "You can't replay them. You have to live with them."

Broyles said he isn't certain whether he would want to set back next year's Texas-Arkansas game to December for it to be nationally televised although ABC-TV estimated 50 million persons saw Saturday's game.

Rams Lost It On Kickoff; Cowboys Clinch Division

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

An early happening in Los Angeles helped shatter the Rams' dreams of an unbeaten season and left them thinking about a Dec. 27 date in the Minnesota northland when a lot more than pride will be at stake.

"That kickoff return was something that just happened," Minnesota Coach Bud Grant said yesterday after the Vikings handed the Rams their first defeat of the season after 11 straight victories.

What happened on the return of the kickoff—the opening one of the game—was a 78-yard run by Charlie West to the Los Angeles 22 to set up Dave Osborn's four-yard touchdown run that gave the Vikings a lead they never lost.

It was the 11th straight victory after a season-opening loss for the Central Division champion Vikings, who will play the Coastal Division champion Rams for the Western Conference title Dec. 27 in Minnesota.

Dallas, 9-2-1, struggled through the rain and snow in Pittsburgh to edge the Steelers, 1-10, and clinch the Capitol Division and the right to meet Century Division winner Cleveland for the Eastern Conference championship.

In other NFL action Sunday, Washington, 6-4-2, outlasted Philadelphia, r-7-1, 34-29; the New York Giants, 4-8, smashed St. Louis, 4-8-1, 49-6; Cleveland, 9-2-1, topped Green Bay, 6-6, 20-7; Atlanta, 4-8, drubbed New Orleans, 4-8, 45-18, and Detroit, 7-4-1, tied Baltimore, 7-4-1, 17-17. San Francisco, 3-7-2, walloped Chicago, 1-11, 42-21 Saturday.

Kansas City edged Buffalo 22-19, San Diego downed Boston 28-19, Oakland took Cincinnati 37-18 and Miami nipped Denver 27-24 Sunday and the New York Jets defeated Houston 34-26 Saturday in the American Football League.

17-7 AT HALF

After Osborn scored, Minnesota took a 14-0 lead on Bill Brown's one-yard touchdown run. Bruce Gossett then kicked a 37-yard goal and the Vikings' Fred Cox booted a 39-yarder as Minnesota built up a 17-7 halftime lead.

Cox and Osborne exchanged second half field goals and then Roman Gabriel brought the Rams their touchdown on a four-yard pass to Larry Smith with about three minutes left. The Rams got the ball again but couldn't move out of their own territory.

Dallas built a 10-0 halftime lead on Mike Clark's 32-yard field goal and quarterback Craig Morton's 12-yard touchdown run, then held off Pittsburgh the fourth quarter. The Steelers' touchdown came on a 29-yard pass from Dick Shiner to Jon Henderson.

LOMBARDI WINNER

Vince Lombardi, in his first season as Washington coach, was assured of at least a .500 season when the Redskins got past Philadelphia. Trailing 16-13 at halftime, Washington came back as rookie defensive end John Hoffman recovered a Norm Snead fumble for a touchdown, Sonny Jurgensen fired his second scoring strike and Larry Brown scored from one yard out. Snead passed for two Philadelphia touchdowns.

season and then this had to happen. I figured I must not be living right or something."

But a rubdown before the game and heat-pad treatments on the sidelines during the contest eased the pain and Lamonica completed 11 of 22 passes for 199 yards and the touchdowns.

Blanda got in at the end of the game and completed two tosses for 36 yards, moving past the 20,000-yard mark with 20,029 yards for his career. Only Jack Kemp of Buffalo has thrown for more yards in the AFL.

Blanda also kicked three field goals and four extra points, giving him 153 conversions in a row, a league record.

But the Raiders' running game was even more potent than its passing.

Led by Pete Banaszak with 81 yards, Hewritt Dixon with 78 and Charlie Smith with 60, Oakland rolled to a club rushing record of 309 yards far surpassing its previous mark of 265 set here against the Bengals last year.

Cincinnati's Paul Brown was not unhappy with his team's performance even though it couldn't repeat its earlier victory over the Raiders.

49ers Do What They Should Have Done All Year—Nolan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "This," said San Francisco 49er Coach Dick Nolan, "is what we should have been doing all year."

The 49ers, led by a couple of runners who have spent most of the season on the bench, posted their biggest score of the season Saturday, beating the down-and-out Chicago Bears 42-21.

Rookie Jimmy Thomas scored twice on spectacular plays and Bill Tucker went in for three more touchdowns as the 49ers rolled up 186 yards on the ground.

Virgil Carter, Chicago's quarterback for the first time this season, collected about 300 yards passing but three interceptions undid him and the Bears.

In addition, the 49ers recovered a Chicago fumble and blocked two field goal attempts by Mac Percival.

"I don't believe in going back and haunting anyone," said Roosevelt Taylor, whom the 49ers picked up in a trade with the Bears earlier this year. But his performance earned him a game ball along with the one Thomas got. Taylor blocked one of Percival's field goal attempts and Roland Lakes, who also picked up the fumble, went in to knock down the other one.

Thomas scored on a 75-yard dash from scrimmage in the second period. It was the longest San Francisco run since J. D. Smith went 80 yards against Green Bay in 1958.

In the third quarter, Thomas took a 25-yard pass from Steve Spurrier at the 50 and ran the rest of the way for the score.

Two other gallops by Thomas set up a second-quarter touchdown from one yard out by Tucker.

Later, John Brodie threw an 18-yard scoring pass to Tucker, a third-year runner from Tennessee State. And in the final period, Tucker scored on a 23-yard run.

Brodie suffered a knee sprain in the second period and may miss next week's game at Minnesota. Chicago receiver, Jerry Simmons broke and ankle in the third period.

Arnie's Army Roars Again

"I thought at six, when I birdied and Gay bogeyed, that I might have it going."

Brewer, who finished with a 73 for 272, and Palmer parred the next three holes but Gay went one more ahead with a birdie on 13. He might as well have waved a red flag at a bull.

Palmer put a four iron eight feet from the hole on 14 and made the putt. He was one stroke back. A nine iron to four feet on the 15 and it was even.

Gay bogeyed the 16th from the woods and Arnold was alone in front.

He nailed it down with birds on the last two holes, two-putting the par five 17th and running in a 12-footer on the last hole.

"Nothing went right," Brewer said.

Lee Trevino closed with a 66 to take third at 274 with Hal Underwood and Larry Hinson sharing fourth at 275, each with a final 69. Masters champion George Archer had a course record 64 and was alone at 276.

Palmer's victory pushed his earnings past $105,000 for the year and put him in the top 10. It was only the third time in his remarkable career—which now includes 55 tour victories—that he had scored consecutive triumphs. The last time was in 1962.

"I remember some tournaments like this before," he said, then grinned. "But not recently."

RON CERRUDO FALLS SHORT

Ron Cerrudo, ex-Marinite now living in Napa, failed in his bid to capture the No. 60 spot among this year's golf money winners.

Cerrudo, formerly of San Rafael, needed to win $617 in the Danny Thomas Diplomat Golf Classic in Miami this weekend, in order to overhaul Jack McGowan, who had held the No. 60 spot going into the tournament.

Cerrudo finished with a total of 72-71-73—288, good for only $194. The top 60 golf money winners are exempt from qualifying for the regular tournaments on the tour.

UCLA Coach: 'We're Overrated'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend basketball was good for most West Coast teams meeting eastern rivals, but UCLA Bruin Coach John Wooden modestly feels his team was overrated while still taking Minnesota 72-71 in overtime.

"I know Bill Fitch felt like he just had his pocket picked losing a game where he was leading with 23 seconds to play," Wooden said of the Gophers' coach.

Wooden noted UCLA lost "four of our top six scorers, including three regulars and Lew Alcindor. We're playing a different style than what we played with Alcindor. This will take time to develop."

Fitch says, "I think it was a tremendous effort by UCLA. They've got a great ball club."

In overtime, Minnesota's Ollie Shannon hit a field goal and one free throw to put the Gophers on top 71-70 with a minute to play, but UCLA took home the cake when Henry Bibby hit a jump shot for the final margin.

Southern California took an early lead in Los Angeles where visiting Vanderbilt couldn't catch up. It was 108-89 for Vanderbilt's first loss in three starts.

Dennis "Moe" Layton led the Trojan attack with 23 points, but five other USC players also scored in double figures, staving off a Vanderbilt rally that cut USC's 23-point lead early in the second half to 81-73 with 6:43 to play.

Two University of Washington players scored more than 20 points to lead the Huskies in an 88-68 win over Montana State

California narrowly took it from Brigham Young University 77-75, when a BYU player was called for goal tending.

Oregon pivot man Stan Love dropped in seven fast points as the Ducks nipped New Mexico 60-59. Love finished with 25 points.

Washington State Cougars stopped Hawaii 96-80 for their second consecutive victory of the season. Cougar Rick Erickson and Rainbow John Penebacker led their teams with 20 points each.

The University of San Francisco pulled off its second straight win, 84-71, over St. Peter's of New Jersey. Dons' guard Rich Ames, out last season with a broken arm, led San Francisco with 22 points. Stanford meets USF at San Francisco tonight.

SPORTS SHORTS

Leotis Eyes Boxing Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Leotis Martin, winner of a stuning upset over Sonny Liston; is trying to get a fight fith Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis for a piece of the world heivyweight title.

"I'll take either one, any time or any place," Martin said.

The World Boxing Association recognizes as champion, Ellis, who defeated Martin early in the WBA heavyweight elimination series Aug. 5, 1967. Frazier is champion of five states.

The North American Boxing Association, composed of nine states and Mexico, now recognizes Martin as North American champion.

Martin, 29, a 13-5 underdog, suddenly knocked out the 37-year-old former champion Saturday with a left hook and right cross in 1:28 of the ninth round.

It was the first loss in 15 starts for Liston since his second defeat by Cassius Clay in 1965.

Liston was still out cold, flat on his face, several minutes after the fight. After he was revived he said he would be "doing better next time."

Martin said of the fourth-round knockdown: "He caught me up high but didn't hurt me. He's old but he's good. I tried to pace myself for 12 rounds."

St. Louis Soccer Team Tops USF

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Maybe the NCAA should start a special classification for the St. Louis University soccer team.

The Billikens won their seventh straight championship Saturday with a 4-0 victory over the University of San Francisco.

After a scoreless first period, Al Trost and Garry Rensing tallied goals on penalty kicks, Joe Leeker booted in a six-yarder and Mike Seerey scored from 11 yards out to account for the St. Louis scoring.

The victory gave the Billikens a perfect 13-0 season record. The Dons wound up at 7-2-4.

The NCAA champions also captured two individual honors with Pat Leahy named the top defensive back and Trost picked as the best offensive player.

Coach Fills In As Sad Warriors Nurse Wounds

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The battered San Francisco Warriors, riddled with bruises and breaks, face the Atlanta Hawks tomorrow night in sad shape.

How many Warriors will be able to play is a question. That was evident from the number of players who worked out—sort of—before the team left San Francisco today.

There were only six on the court, "and I," said coach George Lee, "was one of them."

Joe Ellis is getting a splint on his tendon-tender right-shooting-hand and his appearance is iffy.

Jerry Lucas and Al Attles, both with broken hands, will be out another two weeks. Fact is, the Warriors are down to three forwards.

Andretti Climaxes Brilliant Season

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Mario Andretti had won eight U.S. Auto Club championship races this year but the pre-race favorite for the final race of the tour — the Rex Mays 300 — just had to be Dan Gurney.

Gurney seems to own the Riverside course. He lives not far away in Costa Mesa and for 99 laps yesterday it seemed that Andretti, suffering early mechanical troubles, would be defeated by the local pro.

The favored Gurney took over the lead early in the race after Mario, of Nazareth, Pa., was forced to make an unscheduled pit stop to fix a broken wheel and failing rear brakes. But Gurney, unlike other races here, failed to pull away with authority, as is his custom.

MARIO'S HORSES

And Andretti was the one with the horses. He drove his STP Hawk Ford to an average speed of 109.44 miles an hour and won the race and first money of $19,650 when Gurney-as is his custom — suffered mechanical troubles.

With less than eight miles to go, on the 117th lap, Gurney's Olsonite Eagle Ford suffered a broken half shaft and slowed almost to a halt. On came Andretti for the victory and right back of him for second and $13,250 was Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M.

Gurney finished third with Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, fourth in an Eagle Turbo Ford.

Mario thus capped a brilliant season, winning nine races and the USAC title. He also became the first man ever to top 5,000 points on a circuit. Yesterday's victory gave him a total of 5,025.

Top 10 finishers:

Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., STP Hawk Ford, 109.44 miles an hour, $19,650.
Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., Lola Ford, 120 laps, $13,250.
Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif., Eagle Ford, 120 laps, $9,900.
Bobby Unser, Albuquerue, N.M., Eagle Turbo Ford, 119 laps, $5,625.
Johnny Rutherford, Ft. Worth, Tex., Eagle Ford, 118 laps, $4,050.
Swede Savage, Santa Ana, Calif., Eagle Ford, 117 laps, $3,000.
Wally Dallenbach, East Brunswick, N.J., Eagle Turbo Offy, 115 laps, $2,550.
Bill Simpson, Torrance, Calif., Gilbert Chevrolet, 113 laps, $2,150.
Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., Eagle Ford, 113 laps, $1,775.
Jerry Grant, Solana Beach, Calif., Eisert Ford, 107 laps, $1,550.

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Case In Point: Swindle Should Fail, But It Works

There's no reason why anybody should fall for a swindle; there's almost always something that gives the show away. Still, the world is full of prosperous confidence men and no-so-propserous victims. If you're wondering what this has to do with bridge, study the hand shown today.

KING COVERS

West opens the jack of clubs, South hopefully plays dummy's queen, but East covers the king. South must win with the ace of clubs and must eventually lose a club and a diamond. South can make his game only if he can limit the trump loss to one trick.

The square way to play the trumps is to lead a low trump to dummy's king and then return a low trump, playing low also from the South hand. This will succeed if West started with the doubleton ace, since he will have to play his ace "on air" at the second trump trick. South will be able to keep his queen to draw the last outstanding trump.

This method will not work if West has three trumps to the ace, but South may be able to swindle West if South is clever and West is gullible.

FAKE DISCARD

South should pretend that he is desperately trying to get to dummy in order to discard a loser. If West believes the act, he may step up with the ace of trumps to thwart South's plan.

South cashes the ace and king of hearts at the second and third tricks. Then he leads a low trump. If West thinks that South wants to get to dummy with the king of spades in order to discard a loser on the queen of hearts, West may step up immediately with the ace of trumps. And that will give South his contract.

NOTICE SIGNAL

West shouldn't fall for this plot, especially if East plays high-low in hearts to show an even number of cards in the suit. But how many of the bridge players you know would notice this signal? Try this kind of swindle and find out.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one spade, and partner has responded 1-no-trump. It is up to you again, holding:

♠ Q 8 7 5 4
♥ A K J
♦ K Q 10
♣ A 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 no-trump.

Even if partner has only six points in high cards the combined count will be 25 points; and it is likely to be somewhat higher since partner may have more than the bare minimum. There will probably be a reasonable play for game no matter how weak a hand partner has. It pays to bid aggressively in such situations.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Dec. 8, the 342nd day of 1969 with 23 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1776 George Washington crossed the Delaware River, near Trenton, N.J.

In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln announced his plan for reconstruction of the South. It provided amnesty for all who supported the Confederacy except the highest leaders,

In 1886 delegates from 25 unions founded the American Federation of Labor at Columbus, Ohio.

In 1949 the Chinese Nationalist Government, defeated by the Communists, moved its headquarters from the mainland to Formosa.

A thought for the day: President Lincoln said, "Truth is generally the best vindication against slander."

Canadian Pair Raises Their Second Family

BURNABY, B.C. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of this Vancouver suburb found it wasn't enough to raise their own family so now they have another.

The six girls, aged 12 to 16, living in the Brown home are all truants placed by the Elizabeth Fry Society. Mrs. Brown says she treats them all like she did her own daughters and they are attending school regularly.

"Placemaker's Bible" was a name given to the second edition of the Geneva Bible because a printer's error made a verse of Matthew read: "Blessed are the placemakers (peacemakers) for they shall be called the children of God."

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

It's Nearly Time Again To Put The Brain Power To Work

Wikel

It's hard to believe, but this country was founded as a protest against taxation!

It has been said that the United States is the only country in which it requires more brains to prepare the income tax return than it does to earn the income.

It would also help a great deal to have knowledge of forthcoming events. Personally, I'm shopping for a crystal ball.

Meade Whitaker, tax legislative counsel for the U. S. Treasury Department, speaking before the 82nd annual meeting of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants in Los Angeles on Oct. 7, stated, in effect, that nobody knew at that time whether or not we would have a new revenue law for 1969. It could be that there would be a new revenue law passed in November or December, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1969, or it could even be that there would be a revenue law passed in January or February of 1970 that would affect 1969. He didn't know, and neither does anyone else.

PRINTING PROBLEM

The IRS had to start printing the 1969 Federal Income Tax forms by Oct. 15 if they were to be in the hands of the taxpayers in time to file their 1969 income tax returns. After all, this is a rather large printing and distributing job.

These forms are based on the law as it is now written.

In the meantime, Congress is working hard to produce a new law which will change many rules.

The forms package to be received ty taxpayers operating a business will contain, among other things, a form for deducting the investment credit. If Congress deletes the investment credit effective any date prior to Jan. 1, 1970, the IRS is going to have a problem because many taxpayers will follow instructions in the tax return package and claim the investment credit.

NO NEW LAW

It may well be that there will be no new law for 1969 and if so this would be a good thing because you could go ahead and prepare your return just exactly like it says in the return and the instructions.

But what if there is a new law?

If there is a new, law, then the forms and the instructions will be wrong.

What do you do then to keep from overpaying your taxes?

READ YOUR PAPER

This is one place where your daily newspaper becomes an invaluable source of information.

The Revenue Service will undoubtedly use every means at its disposal to make the changes in the laws known immediately.

Suppose the personal exemption is increased from $600 to $1,000. Suppose the tax rates are changed. Suppose the investment credit is eliminated, what are you the taxpayer supposed to do.

What happens if you overpay your tax? If IRS notices this overpayment, a check will be issued for the refund due you.

What if you underpay your tax? If IRS notices this underpayment, and chances are they will because they will be looking for just exactly this type of thing, you will be billed for the additional tax due.

You should read your daily newspaper right up to tax filing time to see if there has been any changes that affect you.

Trading Is Moderate On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prospects of lower-than-expected corporate profits in 1970, concern over tight credit and normal year-end tax selling weighed heavily on the stock market today following a sharp setback last week. Trading was moderate.

A turnover of approximately 9,500,000 shares was running well below Friday's pace.

In the news background, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans hinted that tight money conditions may continue for another six months, while the Bankers Trust Co. predicted a sharp drop in corporate profits next year.

On the profits outlook, Stans noted that the nation's corporations will have difficulty in making profits as a result of Washington's efforts to halt inflation.

Litton, a heavily traded issue, also was one of the softest spots on the list, plunging 8 points before the close. Analysts said the issue was affected by lower profits for the October wuarter and by an unfavorable comment in a leading business publication.

Steels traded narrowly.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in moderate turnover.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Disney Park Stock Is Sure Fire Bet

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought shares of Walt Disney Productions at $6. What would your opinion be of selling 50 or 100 shares at this time? — L. B.

A. Although at 34x fiscal 1969 results of $3.49 a share, Disney is currently selling at a record high multiple, shares should be retained for continued appreciation. Long-term prospects are enhanced by several successful new movies, an extensive library of old films and Disneyland.

In fiscal 1968, 9 million paying customers spent $6.97 per person at Disneyland. Recent strong counter-trend action in these shares is attributed to investor evaluation of potential earnings from the Florida Disney World complex opening late in 1971. Given a modicum of success — on the order of half of what Disneyland has experienced — Disney World could add as much as 60 cents a share to earnings.

Work on the Mineral King Resort in California, temporarily halted by objections from the Sierra Club, should resume after a compromise agreement is reached.

Q. Our 2-year-old son received 25 shares of All American Fund. Should we add to these holdings? — G. W. R.

A. This small fund with asset value of $2.9 million ranks 319th in asset value among 369 funds tabulated by Fundscope. Its record has not been outstanding although its goal is growth and its classification, performance.

Founded in 1964, All American showed a drop in net asset valus for 1965 and 1966 and gains in the following two years. In the first 10 months of this year its performance has been well below average for its group. In the first quarter of 1969, 11 cents a share in capital gains were distributed — a substantial increase from the one cent a share realized in 1968 from this source.

A heavy concentration of airlines and cyclical industrial issues in All American's portfolio has held back growth. However, prospects for other holdings appear good. In view of the limited interest in this fund I would not add to these shares.

To Purchase Firm

CHICAGO (UPI) — Borg-Warner Corp. has agreed in principle to buy Tillotson Manufacturing Co. of Toledo, maker of carburetors for small gasoline engines. Tillotson has annual sales of about $13 million. Terms were not disclosed.

Kaiser Cement Sets Dividends

OAKLAND, (BW) — Directors of Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corp., have declared regular quarterly dividends on the Oakland-based corporation's common, preferred and preference stocks.

The dividend on the common stock is 20 cents per share; The preferred dividend is 62.5 cents, and the preference dividend is 34 and ⅜ cents.

All three dividends are payable Jan. 31, 1970, to shareowners of record Jan. 16, 1970.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Former Policeman Opens New Driving School In San Rafael

Former San Rafael police officer John A. (Jack) Loane now has his own business — Aalst Driving School, operating from 2845 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Loane, who was six years with the San Rafael Police Department and for a time after that a special agent with Crocker-Citizens National Bank, is a state licensed instructor. His school handles both driver education and driver training. The full operation extends throughout Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties.

THE WILDFLOWER beauty salon has moved from its small upstairs location at 78 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, to 35 Throckmorton. These are much larger quarters, once occupied by Beltone of Marin and located next to the Sequoia Theater. Owners are Sandy Trinka, Susan Gordon, Sally Mays and Jane Loomis.

CORRECTION: The new Wig Palace at 4 Front Street, Novato, I am told, is not a beauty salon as previously stated in this column. Its only functions are the selling and styling of wigs. Co-owner Cary Kalstrom of San Mateo is the experienced wig stylist.

FERNANDO (FRED) A. NUTI of Larkspur has been promoted to vice president and manager of Bank of America's Day and Night office in San Francisco. He replaces Alfred Horrer, also of Larkspur, who was recently announced as being elevated to vice president at the main San Francisco office. Nuti joined the bank in 1938 and has served in a number of branches and departments. He was made a vice president and assistant manager of the Day and Night office in 1964.

Nuti

Settles

JAMES R. SETTLES of San Rafael has been elected vice president of Allied Packers, Ltd., San Francisco. He has been with the company for five years. Allied Packers is an importer and marketer of meats from Australia and New Zealand.

THE TOWNHOUSE hair styling salon at 844 Third Street, San Rafael, has been taken over by Jaime Plunkett of Berkeley, who has renamed it Jaime's Townhouse. The sale was handled through Earl Shuttleworth of Fox and Carskadon, Realtors.

Plunkett had experience in New York and in Europe before coming to Berkeley.

Plunkett

DeMattei

ROBERT L. DeMATTEI of Marinwood has been promoted by Wells Fargo Bank to assistant vice president in charge of operations at the 464 California Street office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1957 and has served in several of its major San Francisco offices.

JAMES W. GRUENIG of Mill Valley has joined the newly established firm, Centrol Systems, Inc., at 22 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, as chief electronic engineer. He was formerly with Chevron Research Co.

Centrol Systems is developing a new burglar alarm which should be ready for marketing about the first of the year. It is for use in commercial and industrial establishments and in the home.

PACEMAKER CORP. has announced the appointment of Thorstand Yachts in Alameda as new Northern California dealer for the Pacemaker cruisers. In the past the line has been carried by Bauman Bros. and Dick Miller Associates in Sausalito.

S K MARINE SALES AND SERVICE, 28 Mark Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, is now showing a new line of Maherajah competition water skis. Since leaving Sausalito, Maherajah has been located at Healdsburg.

RADIO STATION KTIM is sponsoring a series of spot announcements daily prepared by the Better Business Bureau to advise and educate Marin County residents on good consumer practices.

For several months the bureau has been very active in the county lining up new member firms and uncovering illegal or questionable business tactics.

Fire In Forest Knolls Has A Sinister Aspect

Another attempt was made last week to burn down a little building in Forest Knolls which formerly housed a cafe.

Fires in vacant buildings are not unusual. Many are started by tramps who use the buildings for shelter, others by careless young people. But this particular building has a history which makes the latest attempt to burn it a bit more sinister.

It housed what was last known as the Us Cafe, before that as Shirley's Kitchen, and earlier as the Country Kitchen.

Robert Taverna of the Marin County Fire Department reported two windows had been broken and a packing carton stuffed with paper had been placed inside and set afire. Because Taverna fortunately discovered the blaze — at 4:11 a.m. — it was put out with a little damage.

LAST APRIL 21, a fire which was started in a trash can and had eaten into the kitchen of the same building was discovered by a passing motorist — at 3:21 a.m.

At that time, the cafe was being operated by Richard Green. He had subleased it from Shirley Aguirre, who leased it from the owner, Roma Weaver, a San Geronimo Valley resident. It had been the target of complaint because of loud Sunday rock concerts outside it, arranged or at least encouraged by the operator.

Shortly after the first arson attempt, two shots were fired through a window.

The cafe closed in May, when Green was returned to Los Angeles County to serve a term for probation violation for failure to register as a narcotics offender when he moved to Marin.

It may be only coincidence that the latest arson attempt came as word was passed in the valley that Green, his term completed, plans to return and reopen the cafe.

FOREST KNOLLS has a history of arson.

In February, 1966, a fire which was blamed on an arsonist destroyed the building housing the Moulton Mercantile Co. there. That building also was owned by Roma Weaver.

In March, 1965, an arsonist set a fire that destroyed the Valley Garage, operated by Roney Dewel Robertson Jr. in a building leased from a Napa owner.

There have been other such Forest Knolls fires running back through the years.

THE SAN GERONIMO Valley — and Forest Knolls in particular — has been "up tight" in recent years in a clash of life styles between some of its older residents and a recent influx of "hippies." Depth of the feelings first came to light in confrontations over an attempt to make the valley a War on Poverty "target area."

A few years ago there was national distress over the burning of Negro churches in the South by elements that chose this violent method to try to "put the Negro back in his place."

Is there much difference between intimidating the Negro by burning his churches and intimidating the hippie by burning his gathering places — which may be cafes, stores, or service stations?

What Happened To That Cider?

Man, this is crazy cider! So said a teen-age friend of ours. And he was right. Cider goes slowly at our house. By a natural fortutious circumstance, the proper yeast found its way out of the air into the cider jug. Soon we began hearing loud pops and finding the lid halfway across the room. We inadvertently were making hard cider. It did not last long enough to ferment enough to be very strong.

Now, since a cider high is as American as Old Glory and as old as Johnny Appleseed, we decided to put our old wine making expertise to work. We dumped a little dry yeast in a gallon jug of cider, put a baggie over the mouth and secured it with a rubber band. Two days later it was frothy as beer, and much more tasty. We drink it before it gets too hard and sour.

The Russians make their beverage, apple kvaass, in a similar manner, and drink it while it is still working. It is the mildest of alcoholic beverages and quite delicious with meals.

We think it's legal, but in case it isn't, don't tell the feds we told you.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State's Salary Bite To Grow —But Not Enough, Says Lynch

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Bulk of outlay by the state for the activities of government is disbursed in salaries and wages, and the picture for the 1970-71 is not expected to be changed.

The state personnel board has reported that for the next fiscal year, the state will need to disburse $45,485,000 from its general fund and $40,752,000 from its special funds for salary adjustments.

In other words, taxpayers will be asked, if the board's recommendations are approved by the legislature and accepted by Gov. Ronald Reagan, to spend an additional $86 million for their civil servants.

Of this $86 million, $58 million would provide a 5 per cent increase for virtually all the civil service employees in California. And $27 million would be used to provide special adjustments for classes that are in "urgent need" of such adjustments.

This would not include revisions in executive salaries — that is, persons who fill exempt jobs, which are filled by appointment of the governor or by persons who he has appointed — nor would it include the raise the state legislators voted themselves at the last session.

This is the season for the protrayal of "injustices" in the salary structure of the state.

One of the first to take advantage of the season's opening was Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, who says his deputies are earning from $100 to $300 a month less than attorneys with comparable jobs as counsels for cities and counties.

Lynch has deputies in different ranges of classification, the highest salary pegged at $2,076 per month and the lowest starting salary at $905 per month.

Lynch says he cannot get any satisfaction from the administration or the personnel board, so he has decided to "present the issue to the people of California."

"The scope, varity, and intensity of our efforts on behalf of the citizens of California are seriously threatened by the question of how much Californians want to pay their lawyers," he declared.

Despite the ptitful state of the salaries in the attorney-general's office, Lynch contends it is "generally recognized as the finest in the nation."

"Disgusting! . . . Killing women and children point-blank with M-16 rifles!"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

There Are Other Kinds Of Atrocities

Let us beware of making the unfortunate American soldiers caught in the Song My massacre scapegoats for the rest of our nation.

Their crime is that they saw the vulnerability of the people whom they murdered. But those of us who read the newspapers or watch television have no less a knowledge of the destruction we are wreaking on the Vietnamese people — not only killing them, but relocating them (in crowded, disease-ridden slums), interfering with their government, ruining their economy, bombing their land, defoliating their countryside in sum, destroying the Vietnamese nation in ways far more devastating than our soldiers destroyed the village of Song My.

The tragedy of these few American soldiers is that until we can see as clearly what we are doing as they were able to see, they must bear a nation's guilt.

This, too, is our tragedy — and the world's.

Majority Silence Blamed For Murders

The massacres in Nazi Germany could happen only because the German majority kept silent and belived it to be patriotic to support their leader.

It was the silence of the German majority which murdered women and children in Dachau. It is the silence of the American majority which murdered women and children in Song My.

Smog Official Sends Up Smoke

Smog district technical chief, Milton Feldstein, is on the warpath again, verbally "tomahawking" the Independent-Journal for one of its excellent editorials. As usual, Mr. Feldstein belches out a smokescreen of irrelevant rhetoric to obscure the real issues. He says, for example, that "district regulations have succeeded in preventing from entering the atmosphere 5,000 tons per day of pollutants . . ." If Mr. Feldstein expects the people to be thankful for tons of smog removed by paperwork calculation, then he is rather naive. What the people are concerned about is the poison NOW in the air they must breathe! And despite the statistical and other verbal tranquilizers which Mrs. Feldstein asks us to swallow, most people find present air pollution levels intolerable . . . and growing worse.

Mr. Feldstein also says " . . the district . . . has disclosed for the past 12 years what it has done about industrial pollution." What he fails to mention is that published BAAPCD data is so general that it conceals the identities of the major polluters and the kinds and amounts of contaminants they are dumping in the public airstream.

The CAAP lawsuit now facing the smog district aims at giving people the facts about the poisons they are breathing and who is putting them there. In contrast, BAAPCD heads insist people do not have the right to know the kinds and amounts of poison entering their lungs. . .IF this poison comes from industrial stacks. . .

Tax-Free Financing For Revolution

Yes, it is hard to believe; but the tax-free foundations are financing, with their "free" money, the revolution that is threatening to merge us into the communist one-world empire. As an example, the "New Left" political movement was launched in August, 1965, at Santa Barbara, under the auspices of the tax-exempt Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which is financed by the tax-exempt Fund for the Republic; which in turn was created in 1954 by a $15 million dollar grant from the tax-exempt Ford Foundation. In 1967 this same Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions sponsored a three-day conference of student militants who drew up plans for disruptions on college campuses nation-wide with the aim of destroying the educational processes at these universities. Numerous other examples can be cited showing the financing of the riots, turmoil and blatant immorality can be laid at the door of tax-free foundations.

What can we do to correct this proposterous situation? I suggest all possible pressure should be brought to bear upon our congressmen and senators to support the House-passed version of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 requiring all foundations to pay a 7½ per cent tax on investment income. Surely, all foundations should have to pay taxes on income just as all businesses have to do. And while this current legislation won't solve all the problems created by the foundations, it will be a step in the right direction.

Cartoons Discredit President Nixon

Over the period of time which the new administration has occupied the high offices in our federal government, I have noticed your paper has consistently carried illustrated cartoons to discredit Mr. Nixon and the administration in general. . .

There are many elements and organizations in our country who are doing their level best to discredit this administration and Mr. Nixon. However a newspaper such as you publish is normally credited with having people who are intelligent, not stooping to the low level of the radical organizations. . .

If your paper cannot come up with something better I suggest you leave the space blank. Perhaps someone within your organization might be able to come up with something which would highlight some of the better things being done by this administration.

'No More Vietnams' May Not Preclude Another War In Asia

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a heavy layer of fuzzy thinking around the catch phrase "no more Vietnams."

Nobody wants any more Vietnams — civilian or military, dove or not. But we will need to draw the lessons from Vietnam very lucidly, if we are to succeed.

Some already are beginning to draw the lessons loosely. One high Nixon administration official avows: "We have learned one lesson and that is that we are not going to fight any major war on the mainland of Asia."

PRESIDENT NIXON hasn't said that. On his Pacific trip he told the non-Communist Asian nations that they must rely first on their own self-defense, that collective defense with their neighbors is urgently needed and that only as these conditions are brought into being would the United States be likely to extend assistance.

The intention — a right one — is to avoid imprudent involvement, but no President can determine that under no circumstances in the future would American security dictate that the United States would never come to the aid of an Asian nation which was a victim of aggression.

Take another example of dangerous misstatement. An administration spokesman said on television recently: "We are not going to send American troops to Asia."

We don't want to; we don't intend to; we hope not ti. But can we be sure of what the future may require, and isn't such a flat prediction the kind that starts a credibility gap?

THE UNITED STATES is committed under a security treaty to defend Japan if it is attacked. After World War II we wanted to keep Japan militarily weak, so today that country is without adequate forces to defend itself. If Red China attacked Japan — improbable but not impossible — can we be sure that we "wouldn't send American troops to Asia" to defeat the attack at its source? We couldn't be sure, and officials should not talk as if they were. It misleads our friends, our adversaries and ourselves. It is an invitation to aggression.

It is all to the good to have Secretary of State William Rogers affirming that we will not "slide" into foreign commitments without seeking the consent of the Senate and that the administration will not send troops to Asia "unless we have the American public and Congress behind us."

The assumption is that we slid into the Vietnamese war without congressional approval. Congress did approve. But misstatements to the contrary have been asserted so often and unchallenged so long that they have come to be more widely accepted than the truth.

With specific reference to Vietnam, the Southeast Asia Resolution, passed overwhelmingly Aug. 7, 1964, states that "congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attacks against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression." The resolution authorized the President "to take all necessary steps including the use of armed force" to carry out the stated objections of the resolution which includes the maintenance of "peace and security in Southeast Asia."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S handling of our entry into the Korean war is often cited as a model of procedure as compared to President Johnson's alleged misuse of presidential power in Vietnam. The comparison is invalid. Lyndon Johnson sought and got congressional approval. Harry Truman never did.

There are many questions still to be answered. The three central ones are:

Was it wrong in principle for the United States to go to the defense of South Vietnam?

If right in principle, did we make the mistake of assuming that the war could be won easily and quickly using limited military force?

In retrospect, were the rewards of defending South Vietnam worth the ultimate cost?

Only when we answer these questions will we be starting to learn the lessons of Vietnam.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Way Found To Appoint Senator To High Court

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Those high-level disclaimers notwithstanding, a member of Congress may be named to fill the Supreme Court vacancy, after all.

Under serious consideration is an ingenious plan that conceivably would clear the way for that, despite the constitutional prohibition against appointing a member of Congress to a job for which he voted an increase in salary.

Earlier this year Congress raised the pay of associate justices of the Supreme Court from $39,500 to $60,000. As a consequence, members of the current Congress (91st) are barred from being named to the tribunal. But high-placed constitutional lawyers have come up with what they contend is a legal way to overcome this obstacle.

AS PROPOUNDED by them in inner administration councils, it's very simple:

A "rider" (amendment) could be attached to some pending legislation authorizing a member of Congress to take the vacant court seat at the previous salary — $39,500. He would draw that pay until this Congress expires — Dec. 31, 1970. In January 1971, when the new (92nd) Congress becomes operative, he would start receiving the higher scale of $60,000.

It is readily conceded that opponents of a congressional nominee might very likely undertake to challenge his appointment in the courts. What would happen then is anyone's guess.

But there is one point on which all are firmly agreed — the appointee would be quickly confirmed by the Senate.

THREE LEGISLATORS reportedly are under serious consideration, as follows:

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., 68, graduate of Virginia Law School, served 10 years on the Mississippi Circuit Court before being elected to the Senate in 1947.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., 65, graduate of Chicago Law School, served one term in the House, and has been in the Senate since 1954.

Rep. Richard Poff, R-Va., 46, bomber in World War II, a graduate of the Virginia Law School. He has been in Congress since 1952. All three are "strict constructionists" in the full sense of President Nixon's concept of that term.

SIGNIFICANTLY, Sen. John Tower, Tex., chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, has asked the Library of Congress for a study on members of Congress named to the Supreme Court. The library's researchers don't have to go far to find one.

Justice Hugo Black, while a senator from Alabama, was appointed by President Roosevelt in 1937. Now nearing 84, Black is still vigorous and active, and giving no indication of quitting.

It is noteworthy that he was appointed on Aug. 12 and confirmed by the Senate five days later — Aug. 17.

Another Southern senator was named to the court by Roosevelt — James Byrnes, D-S.C.

Why Set Salaries Far In Advance? There's Reason That Makes Sense

Why must salaries of elected county officials be set four or five years in advance, long before we know who might be running for such posts as sheriff, assessor, tax-collector, etc?

It's required by law, which say supervisors must set salaries before filing opens next March for elective terms that will start in January of 1971 and run through 1974. Considerable crystal-balling is required to estimate what each position should be paid five or six years from now.

As the county counsel explained it, there's justification for requiring that pay be fixed before candidates even file.

Without such a requirement, a board of supervisors could keep the salaries at the present level, thus discouraging potential candidates from running against an incumbent, then give the incumbent a big raise after he was re-elected.

Another possibility: A board of supervisors could give him a healthy raise, whereas if the winner turned out to be someone not to their liking, they could ignore a pay raise.

Thus, state saw helps to remove personalities from salary setting.

RANDALL PREVO of the Marin County Employees association puts it this way: Salaries should be commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of each elective post, and not based on the office holder's personality or popularity. It would then be up to the voters to elect a man (or woman) of the caliber to fill each post.

The antithesis of this would be to fill each post first, look the man over, and then set salary on the basis of the man rather than the position he fills.

MARCEL LUSINCHI, member of the Marin County Retirement Board, has long been an advocate of investing retirement funds in oil stock.

Since he'll be retiring from the board this month, his friends gave him a big dinner. Appropriately enough, the farewell gift was one share of British Petroleum stock, worth $16 when presented. Lusinchi beamed when they wished him many big returns on the stock.

Soon thereafter, the stock dropped to $14.50

THE EMERGENCY ambulance contract, under which a private ambulance firm provides emergency service to the county, gives an erroneous impression of the cost of ambulance service.

Under the contract, the county guarantees $14.95 per emergency run if a patient can't or won't pay. This doesn't mean that $14.95 is the going rate by a long shot.

If you get clobbered on the highway and are rushed to the hospital by ambulance, you will get a bill for the full private rate, which is anywhere from $30 to $50. It's only if you're penniless and can't pay, or if you skip the area without paying, that the county guarantees the $14.95 to the ambulance firm.

Without the minimum guarantee, a private ambulance firm would be understandably reluctant to pick up a patient unless he looked reasonably affluent. Thus, the county guarantees the $14.95 so that the ambulance will rush you to the hospital without having to rouse you from your unconscious state to ascertain your bank accounts and credit rating.

APPARENTLY, there's nothing to the rumor that the county communications equipment that's being installed in the new Hall of Justice is obsolete and will cost the county a pretty penny to replace or update.

County Communications Director John Atkinson says he foresees no major difficulty — only the usual minor adjustments needed in any new installation such as this.

Lagunitas Board Weighs Finances

Lagunitas School District trustees will receive a report on organization of a citizens finance advisory committee when it meets at 7:30 p.m., today in the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

The citizens committee last Wednesday heard Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff report that the district reserves would drop to $8,000 or $10,000 by the end of the school year. Year-ending reserves had been estimated at $15,000.

The committee is studying ways of cutting the educational program, or obtaining more money either through the state funds or a local tax increase.

The board also will hold a closed meeting, at the request of board president Audrey A. Miller, who could not be reached to determine purpose of the meeting. It was listed in the agenda as a "personnel session."

Cyclist Hurt In Shoreline Accident

The California Highway Patrol reported that York veered onto the shoulder in the fog at 11 p.m. He was treated at Hamilton Air Force dispensary.

Scientists Achieve Discovery, But Feel Like Dr. Frankenstein

The front page of my newspaper recently reported the important and the not so important events of the day: the Vietnam war, a piece on the coming Rose Bowl game between USC and Michigan, something about a tidal wave that didn't happen, and a provocative article about Mr. Agnew's ghost writer. Hidden in the back pages there was a press release reporting that a team of scientists at the Harvard Medical School had succeeded in isolating a single type of gene, a heredity unit, for the first time.

It seemed hardly newsworthy. Its significance might have escaped me if the story hadn't added that two of the scientists who had worked on the project were now expressing serious reservations about their discovery.

"I FEEL THE BAD far outweighs the good in this particular work," Dr. Jonathan Beckwith is quoted as saying. "I feel that is more frightening than hopeful. It is obvious that it raises the possibility of genetic engineering."

Dr. James Shapiro, who headed the team of scientists, didn't appear jubilant over the occasion. "We don't necessarily have the right to pat ourselves on the back," he commented.

Scientists aren't noted as doomsayers, so the question naturally arises — why is their discovery "more frightening than hopeful?"

PERHAPS the answer may be found in Dr. Beckwith's "genetic engineering," a euphemism for tampering with human heredity traits. Putting it another way, this is the scientists' manner of saying that their ability to isolate a single type of gene opens the door to eventually making it possible for scientists to be able to predetermine and manipulate the traits a child will have.

Well, what's wrong with that? At first glance the idea seems full of merit but then the mind begins poking at it as a small boy pokes with a stick at a turtle. The imagination comes into play and soon forebidding visions arise.

The ability to isolate genes enables tomorrow's parents to choose the sex of their child. But why stop at that? How about physiological and even psychological traits that make each of us what we are?

PERHAPS THIS, in itself, may not be cause for alarm. Few problems would result if men grew to be six footers, sporting full heads of hair. The economic and social problems, however, could be extremely acute if everyone had high IQ and were more fitted to being a physicist than a stevedore. Even the thought of a land overrun by intellectuals is more than the mind can bear.

The culturally induced idea of the ideal male or female would tend to make for a terrible sameness. If parents could choose the traits of their children, the similarity of their choices would be astonishing.

The government, undoubtedly, would find it expedient, "for the public good," to set up a "sexual cybernetics program." Computorized planning would establish the kind of individuals needed in various fields for the following generation.

Those couples desiring a child would make an appropriate application. The state would prescribe the desired traits. What we're talking about is test tube babies — and a brave new world.

SCIENCE-FICTION? Inconceivable?

Remember, the inconceivable of 50 years ago is the commonplace of today.

Or why are these good scientists so frightened?

Supervisors To Consider Health Advisers Merger

Possible merger of the Emergency Medical Care Committee with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council will be discussed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 9 a.m., tomorrow in the supervisors' chamber of the Civic Center.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will suggest the merger at a joint workshop meeting between the supervisors and the 30-member council.

Last September, when Bruce first made the merger suggestion in his controversial report on the reduction of county commissions and committees, two members of the medical care committee, Dr. Elmer Weden Jr. of San Anselmo and Thomas Larke Jr. of Fairfax, resigned. County supervisors, however, did not accept the resignations and asked them to reconsider.

Bruce will reccomend that members of the committee be absorbed into the planning council.

The committee is responsible for studying and reporting on ambulance services, emergency care and first aid practices. The council has broader responsibilities covering the entire health field.

The workshop session will be followed by the regular supervisors' agenda, when Bruce will recommend that sale of the Courthouse square be put to public bid for at least $750,000, the amount of an informal offer received from a Marin businessman.

Five years ago, experts feared the El Molo tribe of Kenya would perish from malnutrition. The tribe had dwindled to about 150. The Kenya Government and private relief groups helped out and now the tribe numbers almost 300.

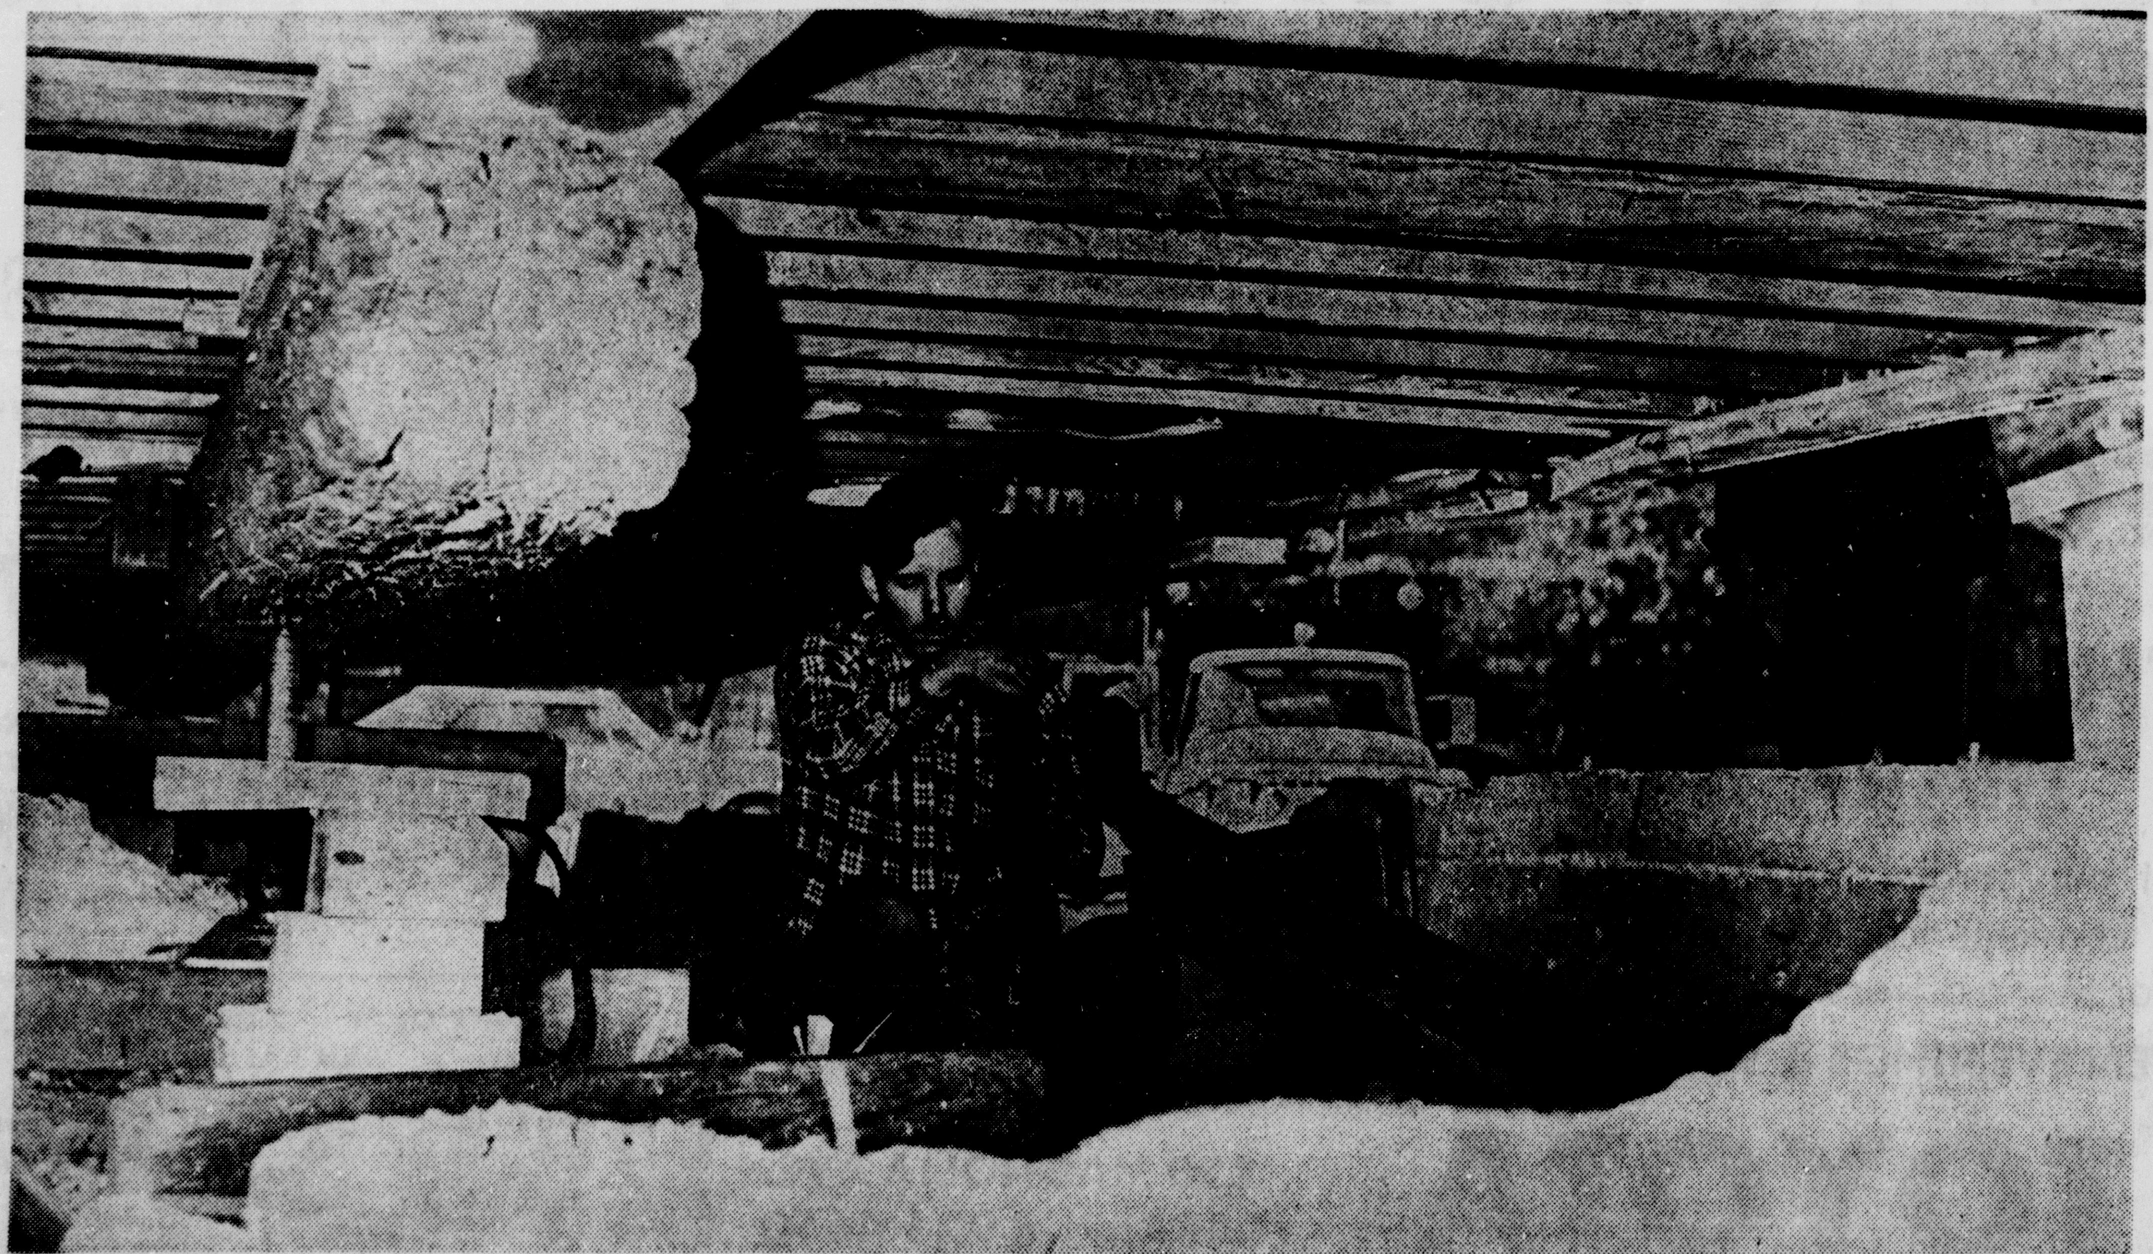
Although construction of the $12.5 million Highway 101 bypass at Novato won't begin until 1971, the state Division of Highways keeps busy with preliminary chores — such as purchase of property and demolition or sale of homes in the path of the bypass.

With the departure of residents, the area in East Novato has a ghostly look.

The state has bought 100 parcels of property in the path of the road for nearly $2.9 million and expects to pay about $666,000 for the remaining 28 pieces.

The bypass will begin north of the junction of 101 and Highway 37, swing to the northeast, cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks, interchange at De Long Avenue to serve downtown Novato, cross Orange and Olive avenues at Kentwood Court, interchange again at Atherton Avenue and rejoin 101 near San Marin Drive. Result: evasion of local Novato traffic.



This house is being moved. Workman Kelsey Reeves jacks it up.

ART REVIEW

Things Seen Differently By Artist

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Like some mad, disoriented idea, the tortured content in Carole Culver's brush and ink drawings is unexpected and inexplicable.

The form it comes in is just the opposite. It is clear and organized as it also is in her photographs, all of which are displayed through Dec. 19 at the Jewish Community Center on North San Pedro Road. in Santa Venetia.

Miss Culver's minutely detailed drawings are like nightmares. One almost recognizable object suddenly becomes another and all are cuaght in a tautly anxious vise of form which floats in limbo.

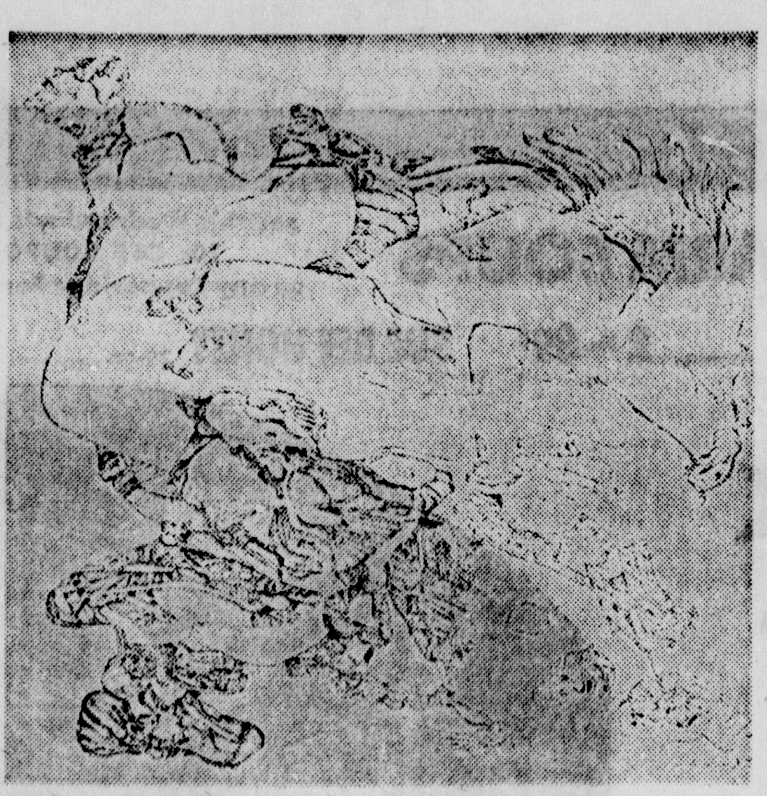
This limbo area is the weakest part of her work. Whereas the intricate central shape is drawn with dedicated care, the area behind it is frequently messy or incompatibly shaped or sized

If you can relate the things Miss Culver draws to anything, it could be fish with hair, dragons, teeth, bone, plaster and stone, tire treads, vertebrae and peacock feathers, all tangling like a subterranean root system.

Frankly, it doesn't matter what her symbolism symbolizes. The minute twists and tortures of line which jumble and cram themselves within that floating shape all belong to an almost-is area that is much too intriguing to insist on definition. And whatever she has in mind is her business.

The other aspect of Miss Culver's work belongs to the quite real area of photography where subjects are as concrete as her drawn ones are imagined. A few deal with faces. More often they concentrate on strong designs or blocky chunks of things as discovered in crumbling buildings, stairwells, fire escapes and, in one singularly striking instance, massive chains cutting diagonally through space.

The community center doesn't have the greatest viewing arrangement but in showing Miss Culver's work they are offering an opportunity to tap a mind that sees things differently.



PHANTASMAGORIA—While impossible to pinpoint, the subject matter in Carole Culver's drawings holds fascinating suggestions, which are quite dream-like compared to the photographs she also shows at the Jewish Community Center. (Independent-Journal photo)

New Pulitizer Prize Announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Columbia University said yesterday a new Pulitzer Prize for distinguished criticism or commentary will be awarded for the first time next year.

Eligible for the prize which carries a $1,000 honorarium are all forms of critical writing, columns on public affairs and other forms of commentary, except editorial writing, published in a U.S. newspaper during 1969.

The award, which replaces a fellowship in critical writing, will be given in May by the Trustees of Columbia upon recommendation of the Advisory Board on Pulitzer Prizes.

MUSIC REVIEW

Memorable Program By Community Band

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Very strong brass and percussion in the 70-member College of Marin Community Band concert Saturday night in the Fine Arts Theater resulted in a program memorable for brilliance and dynamic force.

Woodwinds were not weak, for they held their own in the total tonal fabric and contributed some of the most beautiful passages, but the sheer numbers in the brass and percussion sections, added to their naturally penetrating timbres, made them outstanding.

The first two numbers, Sousa's "The Beau Ideal" march and "Jubilation" overture by Robert Ward were played with such wide open throttle that the sound was overwhelming, and I feared finesse might be lacking. However, John H. Myers, who conducted, later proved that the band could produce a wide variety of dynamic nuances.

Best performances were in the most interesting works, seven of the "Pictures at an Exhibition" Mussorgsky suite directed by Myers, and Symphony for band by Vincent Persichetti, directed by guest conductor Dr. Edwin D. Kruth. He is director of bands and coordinator of instrumental music at San Francisco State College.

Both works used a rich palette of percussive instruments requiring eight players.

Myers conducted Mussorgsky in the rugged Slavonic tradition of the composer that brought out grotesque humor, robust power and especially the surging drive of "The Great Gate at Kiev."

There were flaws, such as the bad trumpet opening of the "Promenade," but on the whole performance in "Pictures" was exciting. Erik Leidzen did for the band transcription what Ravel did for the orchestral version.

The Persichetti Symphony, new to me, was a complex work of acerbic contemporary harmonies and intricate rhythms that had some players visibly counting time. Dr. Kruth produced some of the more finely etched effects of the evening and kept all musicians "on their toes"

One could almost hear their relief as they swung afterward into the simpler "A Step Ahead March" by Harry L. Alford.

Before the "Pictures" Myers conducted the "Pieces of Eight" march by Jenkins and Neff on themes from Beethoven's 8th Symphony. Instrumentation was so different that the relationship escaped me.

Myers concluded with the flamboyant "Victory at Sea," adapted by Richard Rogers from the TV score by Richard Russell Bennett.

The only encore, the "Rolling Thunder" circus march, was notable for how surprisingly fast the musicians could play without missing the notes.

'Messiah' Rings Out At College

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

"Hallelujah! for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth."

These are familiar words that ring out this time of the year on concert stages and in churches throughout the nation.

Yesterday in the Sonoma State College gymnasium these magnificent words by George Frideric Handel reached to the rafters as the joint Sonoma State Collegiate Chorale, the Napa College Concert Choir and the Sonoma State Philharmonic presented "The Messiah."

While the gymnasium is not the most ideal setting for the Handel oratorio, the effort was on the grand scale with director David R. Sprung getting near perfection from his singers and players.

Appearing as guest soloists were Doris Young, a Petaluma soprano; Florence Bierman, a San Anselmo contralto; Victor Parker, a Petaluma tenor, and Glenn Brizee, bass, also of Petaluma.

Miss Young and Brizee were a cut above the other two guests in the difficult airs and recitatives. However, Parker and Miss Bierman must be commended for their worthy efforts in the vast chamber. Perhaps in a smaller setting their voices would have faired a little better.

Sprung had complete control of the choir and the orchestra in the difficult score.

The presentation was the third in three days for the Sonoma State contingent. The oratorio was presented Friday night at the Yountville Veteran's Home and again on Saturday night at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Youth Commission On Fairfax Agenda

A proposal to form a youth commission in Fairfax will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the city council in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council will also consider a recommendation to give the parks and recreation commission authority to grant use of the city park after sunset. The authority is now with the city clerk.

DRAMA REVIEW

'House Of Bernarda Alba' Gives Actresses The Spotlight

By KARL BARRON

The College of Marin Drama Department is giving its women their dramatic chance in "The House of Bernarda Alba," following the all-male "Royal Hunt of the Sun."

And the ladies do well by Federico Garcia Lorca's lowering study of sexual repression in Spain at the turn of the 20th Century. This is not an easy play, for the slighest false note in the ating can throw it into totally unbelievable melodrama.

A cast of 16 girls under the direction of H. J. Susser manages to carry it off creditably in what at times becomes a searing indictment of the system of (a) Spain, 1900 and (b) any society which allows blind prejudice to overcome its sense of justice and human rights.

As Bernarda rules her household of five daughters with the mailed fist of suppression, and the girls struggle to attain a modicum of happiness, their miserable plight is epitomized in Lorca's line, "Inside we rot because of what people may say."

While three daughters struggle desperately for the love of one available man, Bernarda eventually drives one to suicide, and then maintains her savage morality with the announcement that "Adela died a virgin," and that she and the remaining daughters will "drown in a sea of mourning." It is not a pretty plot and yet is one that is still to be seen in slightly less melodramatic form in the world around us.

Staged in the Studio Theater's three-quarter-round stage, the drama is played in a severely effective set by Alonso D. Gonzalez. Susser sets the mood almost immediately with the entrance of 12 mourning women, black garbed and veiled. Although they are women without men, there is a constant reminder of the male — voices of workmen in the distance, constant reference to men, a stallion in heat crashing his hooves against the wall.

Karen Garrison in the lead role is obviously too young for a realistic interpretation, but achieves such a fine sense of dignity and restraint that I found myself accepting her. Her portrayal shows remarkable measured strength and stage presence.

Also outstanding in the large cast are Carla Sarvis for her machiavellian servant, Poncia, who stirs trouble with the relish of a witch; Mary Little, perhaps the best in the cast with her club-footed, anguished Martirio; Jane Goodwin, appealing and sincere as Adela; and Petra Chambers and Cynthia Keener for well-thought out characterizations that ring true.

Close proximity causes make-up problems and literally destroys Donna Germain's try at the very old mother Bernarda. Although there is little to cause technical hangups, numerous sound cues were late in Saturday night's performance, leaving the actresses on stage holding the bag. On the other hand, Pat Ryan's lighting design was excellent, and well operated.

Well worth seeing, especially since Lorca is now regarded as a classic writer in our time, "Bernarda Alba" will re repeated at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Six-Band Benefit Set For Switchboard

Seven rock bands will play for a dance benefitting Switchboard of Marin Saturday at 5 p.m. in California Hall, Polk and Turk streets in San Francisco.

The bands are Dan Hicks and His Hot Licks, Pyewacket, Bronze Hog, Ice, Canterbury Fair, Backwater Rising and Free and Easy.

The program will include magic, music and a light show by Dr. Zarkov. Refreshments will be served.

REINDEER AND HORSEPOWER — Santa's amazing passenger sleigh arrives — perhaps still with a snowflake or two aboard — at the Mall-Northgate today, for a week of furnishing rides and interviews with Santa for the youngsters.

Santa's Arriving, Super-Sleigh Too

"Santa Claus is coming to town."

And thousands of children from Marin County will have an opportunity to ride with Santa Claus in his big, colorful sleigh today through December 16.

The Merchants Association of The Mall at Northgate is sponsoring Santa's visit here . He will be giving free rides at the Mall located off Highway 101 at the Terra Linda turnoff from 12 noon until 9 p.m. each day.

Santa's sleigh is a beautiful creation valued at $15,000. It is 40 feet long complete with mechanized, life-size reindeer that go through running motions. The sleigh has 140 colored, flashing lights, two mail slots for "letters to Santa," a record player for Christmas music, and a public address system.

From 40 to 50 children at a time can sit on the leather-padded seats in the back of the sleigh as they ride around the Mall singing, dancing and talking with Santa Claus. Grownups may accompany their youngsters if they wish, and Santa claims that many of them enjoy the ride as much as the boys

There's Clothing Aplenty For Any Fashionable Boy This Yule

What can you buy for those boys on your Christmas list who are too old for toys and not yet old enough for a bottle of "holiday cheer?" The Men's Fashion Association suggests gifts of wearables, because the youngsters are now as fashion-counscious as their Dads and big brothers.

To help you select fashionable gifts for boys, MFA offers the following check-list along with information on the styles youngsters are currently wearing.

SWEATERS: First decide on the type. Select from bulky knit "ski-types," lightweight lambs wool and rugged shetland types.

'ROUND AND 'ROUND — Striples make a popular boy's sweater style, says the Men's Fashion Association. This bold colored turtleneck will be under many a Christmas tree. It features thick and thin stripes and body-hugging fit.

BRIGHT IDEA — Add some color to his life with an up-to-date argyle sweater. This pullover model teams up with herringbone flared pants for a distinctive casual look, notes the Men's Fashion Association.

Outerwear Shows An Outdoor Look

Give him something to wear this Christmas and extend his holiday cheer throughout the winter. The new ideas in men's fashion are easy to live with, handsome to look at and fun to wear.

In outerwear, the key word is "shape" and many are in the maxi-lengths, according to the Men's Fashion Association. Big military collars, broad sweeping lapels, belts and double-breasted models add a difinite 1970 look to those coats.

Select his outerwear from rugged leathers, luxurious suedes, handsome wools in patterns or plain colors as well as the popular furs and fake furs. The latter have scored with unprecedented speed as men, influenced by the fashions of the ski slopes, have taken the fur look into the city for cold weather wear.

If the budget permits, you can overwhelm him with mink, nutria or a coonskin great coat. Those with more modest purses, however, can still have the fur look. Many of the man-made or "fake" furs look real enough to fool a trapper.

What's a fur, or fake fur, coat without a hat to match? There are "Trooper" models, "Diplomat" styles, some with visors or in fedora shapes to top-off the fur look coats. Fur headgear will be worn with everything from lumberjack shirts and pea coats to dressy business coats.

Felt hats are making their shape of fashion news, too. Brims are wider, shapes are new, the look is youthful and definitely masculine. There are styles for leisure and styles for business in an assortment of colors to flatter his complexion and complement his coats.

Here's a tip on how to present him with a smart country suit or sportcoat. Select one in his favorite color and pattern, be sure that it has the new shape, today's wider lapels, broad pocket flaps and deeper vents — then give him a gift certificate so that he can be properly fitted.

Gift certificates are an excellent way to give him any item that must be precisely fitted. This includes good looking, broad, square-toe shoes or smart new boots, or glove-soft moccasins — all of which he must try on.

If you are looking for new fashion ideas, the sweater counter is where the action is. Belted models offer a youthful look, and very different. Colorful argyles are back in trickier than ever patterns. Sweater-shirts — with either collars and plackers or with collared crew necks — are a unique garment. There's one word to describe today's business shirt — and that word is change. Shirts are still colorful, but lighter hued. Frosted tones of blue, tan, pink, gray, melon and green are your Christmas selection. Changes in style include longer-point collars, double-button cuffs and higher, wider neckbands.

If you decide to fill-in his sport shirt wardrobe, you will have to choose between knit or a woven shirt. Knit shirts have dominated the fashion scene for many years. Now wovens have been gaining popularity in a variety of fabrics, in new patterns and models. In knits, the fashion focus is on placketed collars, mock turtlenecks and some novelty styles that give the appearance of a layered look.

Pajamas, some dressy enough to be called "host suits," are another Christmas favorite. The assortment of styles and fabrics is staggering. Take your choice of a range of fabrics in His'n Hers sets, matching p-j's and robes, and the previously mentioned dressy host suits.

Australian Movement For Interdependence

SYDNEY (AP) — Syndneysider Jim Leacock chose his 90th birthday to launch a new political party, the Australasian Independent Movement. About 30 people were present.

Jim wants a "symbiotic" world: The living together of human beings, not all alike, but in close union based on interdependence, integrity, goodwill, and cooperation.

SPECIAL DELIVERY — Santa's special sleigh, which will be giving rides daily through next Monday at the Mall-Northgate, even contains two mail receptacles so moppets can leave off written reminders of what they seek for Christmas, and at the same time whisper their desires in Santa's ear.

and girls.

The jolly old gentleman makes a special point to talk to every child that gets on the sleigh. He is also ready to answer thousands of questions asked by the youngsters about the Christmas spirit.

The sleigh is a motorized unit driven by one of Santa's helpers while Santa rides in the back with the children.

This unique unit to be in Marin County is operated by Santa's Sleighs, Inc. of Sierra Madre, Los Angeles County.

President of the firm is the founder, Robert J. George, reputed America's most famous Sant Claus.

Formerly a barber in Cozad, Neb. George in 1949 began to spend his own money to play the part of Santa Claus because of a recurring dream that he should do so. During his first season, he used an old wagon as a sleigh, pulled by one horse instead of eight reindeer. In 1954, he began devoting all his time as the Nation's No. 1 Santa Claus.

Santa's Sleighs, Inc. has appeared three consecutive years in the Pageant of Peace, Washington, D.C., and George has been featured on the Jack Parr, and To Tell The Truth television shows as the Nation's No. 1 Santa Claus.

The sleighs have played in hundreds of cities throughout the Midwest, East, North and Southern parts of the United States since his corporation began.

No Man Really 'Has Everything'

You may be mistaken about that "man who has everything." According to the Men's Fashion Association, the feeling of desperation that takes the fun out of your Christmas shopping is probably needless. This year there are so many sparkling new fashion ideas that nobody — but nobody — has everything.

For example, does your hard-to-please man have one of those popular 6-feet scarves? If he does — you can top it with the newest 12-foot length! Sure, he has a drawer full of handkerchiefs — but does he have them monogrammed in assorted letter styles — or does he have some with his first name or nickname spelled out?

How about silk pocket squares? Those colorful bits of silk go a long way toward "making" a business or sports outfit and a man never has too many. Silk squares also come in sets with ties to match. Some match exactly, others have the ties in the same design but in reduced size and others have completely different designs with the relationship left to the color scheme.

Obviously, the man who has everything has plenty of underwear but, does he have shorts or briefs tailored of luxurious nylon jersey? They wash like a handkerchief and are great for travel. How bright and bold can undershorts be without causing a ruckus in the locker room? Well, in these days of the male fashion explosion, they can be as loud and as masculine as authentic Scottish tartans; they can be in the vibrant "designer" colors that mark men's shirts or they can be in bright blazer stripes.

If your man is a skier or winter sports enthusiast, he will appreciate warm "long johns" in cotton, cotton blended with wool, or all-wool. Most spectacular and appropriate of the long johns are the bright reds.

Did you ever feel like giving

Stamp Plan To Save Cricket At Somerset

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Somerset County Cricket Club, more than 16,000 pounds ($38,400) in the red, hopes to clear off most of its debts by a sale of stamps.

A life-long Somerset fan died recently and left his stamp collection to the club. "They have been auctioned, and we hope to receive more than 10,000 pounds ($24,000), said club secretary Richard Robinson. "We never thought that stamps might help cricket."

Leeds Shoe Stores Keep Yule Bonus Tradition

For the 36th consecutive year, Leeds Shoe Stores, a division of Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., St. Louis, will award Christmas bonus checks to employees as an expression of thanks for outstanding achievement throughout the year.

This year, due to company growth, the bonus total sum for all divisions has increased to over $500,000.

The checks will be distributed about one week before Christmas.

Edison Brothers began this tradition in 1934 when the company had only 85 stores and 850 employees.

The company is the nation's largest retailer of women's fashion shoes with 684 stores and leased departments.

ALICE'S RESTAURANT COOKBOOK
by Alice Brock

This hit song and LP by Arlo Guthrie made Alice's Restaurant famous: the new movie directed by Arthur Penn will make Alice's vivacious spirit known across the world. Here is the real Alice, explaining the style of cooking that made Alice's Restaurant a byword to American youth. According to Alice, all it takes to be a good cook is "confidence", a sense of Humor, and a little nerve. The recipes range from Beef Stroganoff ("sour cream makes it Russian") to Heartburgers ("serve it and run"). Here at last is a cookbook designed for those that want to cook a spectacular meal without a lot of expense and/or trouble. An Arlo Guthrie record is bound in with the book.

by Daphne du Maurier

A stunning new novel by the author of Rebecca and My Cousin Rachel. The story concerns a young man experimenting with hallucinogenic drugs. On his trips, he travels into the past to 14th century Cornwall, where his existence is far more exciting than his real life. This spellbinding tale is, as always with Miss du Maurier, impossible to put down.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

Jewelry Catalog Full Of Surprises

Those Granat Brothers Christmas catalogs have almost become collector's items in their own time. Many people save the unique little books which present a veritable jewelry spectacular season after season.

This year's edition proves no exception. For the current Christmas season, the store has created an epicurean collection of fine jewels incorporated in a theme appropriately maned, "The Delicious World of Granat Brothers Jewelers".

From the cover which features solid gold measuring spoons brimming with diamonds, emeralds, sapphires and rubies, to the gourmet settings for precious stones within, Granat Brothers has again outdone itself in extraordinary good toaste.

To bring it all off in delicious style, the famed store enlisted the cooperation of such renowned restaurants as Antoine's of New Orleans, Ernie's of San Francisco, Maxim's of Houston,

Cricket Match Called On Account Of Fire

EAST HALTON, England (AP) — Rain is a frequent hazard in cricket, but fire doesn't often hold up play. It did when farmer Lawrence Blanchard captained a cricket team playing in a meadow at his Lincolnshire farm.

A fire broke out in a haystack and the white-flannelled players dropped their bats and put out the blaze.

A GREAT DISH — A dish of red caviar topped with Granat Brothers' $143,000 heart-shaped diamond ring can be quite a surprise for someone's favorite girl.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

Jewelry Catalog Full Of Surprises

Anthony's Pier 4 of Boston, the Old Original Bookbinder's of Philadelphia, The Windsor of Los Angeles and Le Pavillon of New York to name only a few.

The list of establishments runs the gamut, from Maxim's de Paris to Nathan's Famous Frankfurters of New York.

As a "for instance", one page in the catalog features a dish of caviar topped with the Granat Brothers $143,800 heart shaped diamond ring. The "gift wrap" is a trip for two to historic Chateau Gue Pean in France's Loire Valley. At the appropriate moment, the diamond in the roe is presented to the lucky girl as she enjoys breakfast on the centuries old terrace.

Another page, "Especially designed for the adventurous woman", features a fresh coconut holding within its shell a $325,000 pear shaped rare pink diamond. This tasty morsel is presented while on safari at Tiger Tips Hotel in the heart of the Nepalese Jungle. And Granat Brothers arranges the whole shebang.

If it's a quiet little dinner you're after, Granat Brothers offers an imaginative restaurant selection. No less than dinner at Maxim's de Paris, where her favorite hors d'oeuvres comes complete with a $65,950 octagon cut diamond solitaire.

And for the "out of doors" type girl, Granat Brothers has arranged for the poshest picnic of them all. A whirlwind flight on American Air lines to a secret spot where she'll be wined and dined to the tune of Gypsy violins. And for dessert, a $17,400 black opal and diamond ring.

It's all available for real, and all the arrangements can be made by Granat Brothers' personal shopper, Dorothy Clayton.

Of course, the catalog is also filled with other tempting morsels such as sapphires and diamonds displayed over oyster shells, diamond rings atop a cream puff swan, a ruby pin nestled in a bowl of rich red cherries and so much more you simply have to see it to appreciate. Who could resist!

Undercover Man Notes Robbers

SURBITON, England (AP) — Inspector Michael Hyans, who wears $230 suits and handmade shirts from Prince Philip's tailor, doesn't look like a policeman.

Four men casing a dairy in this Surrey community didn't notice him, but he saw them acting suspiciously and noted their car license number on a laundry bag.

When the store was robbed several weeks later, two of the raiders were traced and arrested.

A TOUCH OF FASHION — The Men's Fashion Association suggests a handsomely striped double-breasted sports jacket. Team it up with a styling high-collared shirt and wide tie.

There's Clothing Aplenty For Any Fashionable Boy This Yule

Look at turtle-necks, mock-turtles, V-necks, crew-necks and boat-necks. Button front sweater vests are making news right now. Boldly patterned argyles are the fashion story for the season. Cable stitches, stripes, intaglio-type designs and ribbed effects round out the sweater scene.

SPORT COATS: Sport coats styled for the young set have all the dash and verve of the current fashion explosion. Double-breasted models in a host of variations have the "in" look wanted by boys. Plaids and checks are the key patterns.

Both single- and double-breasted blazers are among the favored sport coats and the darker shades make excellent dress-up garments, too.

SLACKS: Was there ever a boy who couldn't use extra slacks? The newest have either flared or stove-pipe bottoms. Select solid fabrics for wear with plaid, striped or checked sport coats — and give him boldly patterned slacks to team-up with his plain coats and blazers.

Another very smart choice are the colorful tartans in authentic Scottish clan patterns. The latter coordinates very well with both blazers and sweaters.

FOOTWEAR: You can strike a responsive chord in most young men by geting him a pair of boots. Boots and boys are made for each other. Choose from ankle-high chukkas in strap or lace models or calf-high Wellingtons in either pull-ons or zipper-fastened styles.

Oxfords and moccasins with squared toes and metal decorations make the young style scene this season, and are worn with suits as well as slacks.

SOCKS: Brightly colored crew socks, dressy plain hose and warm woolen socks in patterns or plains are other good gift ideas. The popular "one-size" stretch sock takes the guesswork out of the sizing problem. Select his socks in colors and patterns to harmonize with his dress-up and casual outfits. Color coordinated socks also make an interesting "extra" for wear with his new sweaters.

SHIRTS: There are vibrantly colored and richly striped shirts that look just like Dad's. Junior will get a kick out of wearing those man-type shirts with his sport coats and suits. The newest colors include rich blues, browns, tans, melons, greens and reds.

For his casual outfits, sport shirts are the thing he wears to achieve that cool, sporty look. The woven shirts feature new long point collars, button-sowns and modified spreads. Knits come in polo collars, mock-turtles and turtle-necks.

Most of the boys' shirts are easy-care wash'n'wear constructions, a feature that helps keep them neater longer and simplifies laundering.

OUTERWEAR: Warm, rugged outerwear garments are an essential part of every active boy's wardrobe. The variety of styling in those good looking coats is almost endless. They range from fleece lined poplins and gabardines to dressy woolens and — get this — "real fake furs" like those worn by the big guys.

Double-breasted styles are popular and so are zip-up ski coats, the classic pea coats and the warm wool C. P. O. shirts, some of which have added fleece linings for extra protection. Then there are the longer stadium coats, the serviceable duffle coats and some junior-sized interpretations of the classic British "short warms."

GLOVES: Knit mittens in warm wools and leather-palmed "drivers" are always useful gifts. For skiers, skaters and snowball throwers the lined nylon gloves and mittens are the answer to keeping hands both warm and dry. For dress-up, give him capeskins or pigskins in plain or lined styles.

UNDERWEAR: Boxer shorts, knitted briefs and T-shirts are for school wear. Warm "long johns" for outdoor winter sports.

TIES: Wider, bolder and brighter. Select from solids, stripes, plaids and other patterns keyed to new shirting shades or in classic colors.

MUFFLERS: Long, bulky wool scarves, in patterns and solids are part of the current young look. In smaller sizes there are knits with gloves to match. For the bigger boys, Apache scarves and neckerchiefs add a bit of flare.

PAJAMAS AND ROBES: Traditional gifts for under the tree. Sleek broadcloth pajamas or cozy flannelettes. Robes range from terry cloths to woolens, corduroys and sets of p.j.s with robes to match.

SPECIAL IDEAS: Junior sizes in bush coats, jump suits; vest, shirt and slacks sets; ski outfits; golf jackets; jeans; Western jackets; knitted "toboggan hats" with scarves to match; and wallets.

Steel And Salami Haul For Canadian Thieves

MONTREAL (AP) — In two major thefts in one night here recently thieves went from one extreme to the other taking 20 tons of steel and a ton of salami.

Police reported that the steel, valued at $14,000, was stolen while it was loaded on an express company truck. The $3,250 worth of salami was taken by burglars who broke into the premises of a city meat company.

FAKE FUR FOR HIM

Make it a real Christmas with a fake fur for your man, says the Men's Fashion Association. This brown model in the currently popular belted style is worn well above the knee. To keep the look casual, team it up with an all-wool turtleneck and herringbone flared pants.

Your Man 'Has Everything'? Why Not Try Giving A Boot

him a boot? The fashionable look in men's footwear features boots of all types and all heights. They range from ankle-high chukka boots — some secured by straps, others that lace — to other models that are calf-high and are fastened with concealed zippers. Warmly lined stadium boots and after-ski boots are other possibilities. If in doubt as to size, boot him with a gift certificate.

Slippers are a traditional Christmas gift. Depending on his needs and tastes, there are cozy fleece-lined styles, dressy opera models and easy-going backless mules for wear during his leisure hours.

There's a real sock in men's hosiery this year. Patterns are colorful such as the new argyles, intarsia effects, panels and stripes. They are all part of the current fashion look.

Give him bright patterns for sports and casualwear and modestly patterned hose in business-like colors for his dress-up outfits. Remember that dress hose range from over-the-calf lengths to knee-high. If your man walks a lot or spends much of his time standing, support hose is a possibility.

Today's fashion-conscious fellow no doubt has at least one drawer full of the popular deep-tone shirts but — has he a collection of the newest frosted tones? These have a brand new look in both solids and stripes via the addition of white "frosting yarns" that soften the vivid solid shades. French cuffs, double-button cuffs and longer-point collars

After-Shave Lotion Now Low On The Grooming List

Does he or doesn't he . . . have the necessary products to keep tanned, virile and healthy looking? Just about every man today has a bottle of after-shave lotion in the medicine chest.

But the grooming industry has found new worlds to conquer, and now there's a product for every area of the body.

How is his grooming I.Q.? If it needs a little boost, fill in his fragrance wardrobe this Christmas. Get the man in your life some of the new and unusual grooming aids that make him look better and feel better.

To help you make your selections in the ever-widening range of products, the Men's Fashion Association provides you with this handy checklist:

Special treatment shampoos (for dandruff, etc.), tonic to make hair look thicker, hair coloring — permanent dyes and temporary rinses, hair control spray (regular hold and super), hair straightener and hair pieces — sideburns, moustaches, beards.

Soaps — glycerine, whale oil, milk, lemon, shaving cream — pre-electric, foam, soap crock, toilet water, bronzers and tanners, moisturizers, lip pommade, blemish cover-up cream, face masks, eye pads, night creams and astringents.

Deodorant — aerosol spray or stick, rubdown friction lotion for after-shower, spray talc, spray shower oil, bath oil, suntan lotion and hand cream.

In addition, grooming companies strive to present their products in a handsome, masculine way. This Christmas, you'll find leather travel kits that contain compact bottles of shampoo, deodorant and after-shave lotion. For those with more expensive tastes, there's a lucite chest or alligator attache case filled with good groomers. And for fun, you can get him bath powder that features a puff with a brass knuckle grip.

And if all else fails, and he still wants that old bottle of cologne — then get it for him — there's the kind that comes packaged as a gun.

Christmas Can Be Marred By Thoughtlessness Of Littering

An estimated 400 million pounds of wrapping paper, boxes, ribbon and tags will delight litterbugs on Christmas morning.

Officials of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., notes that most people properly dispose of gift wrappings, but too many are careless.

That not only creates unsightly litter but is a major fire hazard in the home and can cause accidents on streets and highways.

The orgainization lists four basic steps to brighten the holidays by eliminating litter:

1. Refrain from littering streets and stores when Christmas shopping.
2. Place discarded wrappings in proper rubbish receptacles as soon as presents are opened.
3. Store reusable decorations and wrapping materials safely so they don't become a fire hazard.
4. Don't dump old Christmas trees and wreaths in the street, a vacant lot or back yard. If in doubt about how to get rid of them, check with your local department.

Accidental firearm fatalities in the Mountain Division of this country average 2.7 per 100,000, more than twicd the national average.

CLASSIC SWEATERS

This season's knitwear is classic—with a difference. It applies to both cardigans and knit shirts. Updated to look brand new, are (left) gold three-button placket pullover with fuller, longer collar trimmed in gold and matching gold-trimmed waistband. (Right) Desert sun cardigan is coordinated with matching two-button placket pullover that has gray and white stripes and fall's longer point collar.

Timesaving Tips For The Holidays

The bustle of holiday entertaining often is no fun for the housewife who is faced with unexpected guests and the problem of cleaning up after they leave. You can keep your house from turning into a shambles after Christmas if you remember a few simple hints.

It's a good idea to keep the closet well stocked with quick, easy-to-fix items for drop-in guests. Children especially are likely to turn up at all times and then stay for lunch and dinner.

And here's some advice that's handy in the kitchem.

To remove chocolate stains from colored tablecloths without fading the fabric, mix rubbing alcohol and luke-warm water.

To remove crayon marks from enameled surfaces or linoleum, apply silver polish with a damp cloth. For regular cleaning of ceramic tile, use detergent and warm water. Plain soap may leave a film on the tile.

If cigaret burns or nail polish mar rubber flooring, try removing them by rubbing gently with steel wool.

Add corn syrup to holiday fudge to make it stay creamy.

And for extra-special popcorn balls, add food coloring to the syrup mixture before mixing with the popcorn. You'll get pastel popcorn and the coloring won't affect the flavor.

Frosted Tone Shirts Are Newest Idea In Menswear

are back in a big way.

The man-who-has-everything may have several robes ranging from practical terry cloths to luxurious silks. Chances are, however, he doesn't have one of the new popular kimonos. These come in a wide range of patterns and solid colors and they include striped twills, washable knitted velours, paisleys and some that reverse from solid color wool to striped acetate twills. One of the advantages of giving him a kimono is that one size fits all.

Now that French cuffs are back he will need some extra cuff links. Select from small, neat classic links, larger baroque designs and initial-types. Most will have tie tacs or tie bars to match. And, with wider ties back, he may want some longer tie clasps.

If his jewélry is scattered helter-skelter on his dresser top or in his bureau drawers, he really needs one of those handsome and practical jewel boxes. You have a choice of fine leathers, grained woods and combinations of both in a wide selection of shapes and sizes.

No man ever had too many belts. Choose his gift belt from colorful webbings combined with leather (there are wallets, key cases and accessories to match), sleek leathers and sporty styles in waxy finishes. Or, go all out with a sophisticated "designer" belt in patent leather fastened by a novel buckle.

Finally, you can "glad hand" him with a gift of gloves. The choices range from sporty driving gloves that are the delight of both sports car fans and pilots of the family sedan, to dressy capeskins, mochas and suedes. Pigskin is always in style.

Because of heavy fishing, eastern inshore lobsters average one pound whereas lobsters caught on the edge of the continental shelf 75 to 150 miles off the New England Coast weigh as much as 25 pounds.
